Perhaps there is no other department of the C. P. R. which has enlarged so rapidly as the floral, which is under the direction of Mr. N. Stewart Dunlop, the [illegible] commissioner of the company. Last autumn it sent bulbs to station agents, sectionmen and other employees, from one end of the system to the other. Some were for outdoor planting, and are expected to bloom this spring; others were for pots and boxes indoors, that they might bloom during the past winter. As a result of this generous distribution, there will be one million tulips, etc., flowering along the system this spring. Before the department was established, the only flowers and plants along the company's various lines were those planted and cultivated at the expense of those agents who wished them for their own enjoyment. Now the company bears all expense in connection with the purchase of thousands of the best bulbs procurable, and not only sends them to every employee who wishes them, but also issues folders giving information. In addition to this, seeds are sent every spring to employees along the system, who have exhibited an interest in flower culture. For this year the money appropriation made the company to its floral department is almost double that of last year, so that the coming summer should see the stations on the C. P. R. more attractive than ever.

The seeds—numbering over 25,000 packages—are being sent out now, and include as fine a collection as any gardener of the most refined taste could wish. Mr. Dunlop, to whose energies and fondness for flowers the success of the department is due, tells those to whom his circulars are sent to surround their station, section house or office building with pretty flowers, so that not only the employees may enjoy the fragrance and brilliancy of the blooms, but that passengers on entering stations from Vancouver to St. John may be welcomed by the beauty of flowers.

One of the features of railways in England is the attractiveness of the grounds and stations along railway system. Money is lavishly spent in even short mileage, so that the public will enjoy travelling. The C. P. R. is similarly disposed to make its system one of the most enjoyable for travel in America.

A WONDERFUL BOOM

Greatest Building Boom Ever Known in New York

New York, March 31.—New York has never witnessed such a building boom as is now in progress. There are not so many office buildings going up as there was a few months ago, but the building of houses, especially in Brooklyn and outlying sections that can or will be reached easily when the numerous transportation facilities now planned are provided, is tremendous. Last year, up to this time, buildings of an aggregate value of $10,000,000 had been planned in Manhattan and the Bronx. During the corresponding period of this year, the total is $23,500,000. In building operations last year was the biggest Brooklyn had ever known, the estimated cost of new buildings for the first ten weeks being $3,500,000. The corresponding figures of this year show the tremendous total of $7,000,000.

In addition to private building, municipal improvements are being carried out on a large scale, and with the tunnels being built by the Pennsylvania Railroad, the Blackwell's Island and the Manhattan bridges, the vast schemes of the Rapid Transit Commission and other corporate undertakings, it seems that no active man out of a job will have an excuse for not working.

CHAPTER FIVE

PROGRESS

The first annual meeting of the BOSTON & TEXAS CORPORATION was held at Crowther, and the following officers and directors elected for the ensuing year

President—GEO. C. BOGGS, of Finleyville, Pa
Vice-President—J. T. HOBBS, Boston, Mass.
Treasurer—S. A. HOPKINS, Boston, Mass.
Secretary—F. T. PARKS, New York.
ROBT. SHERWOOD, Brooklyn, N. Y.
H. U. EWING, East Walpole, Mass.
JOHN THOMSON, Quebec, Canada.

The first meeting of this board being held in New York City, February 4th, 1904, a full discussion of all things pertaining to the work of the property was entered into, and an economical line of development mapped out. The work at first was almost like starting a new company entirely as operations had entirely ceased for nearly eight months; the machinery had to be repaired and gotten into working shape once more. Order had to come from disorder, All this meant a lot of work and over five months going by before the conditions were such that active work sinking wells could be again entered into. Sheds had to be built for the tools, houses for the employees, and many things too numerous to mention. Active drilling on No. 9 well being the first begun by the new company in June, and being successfully finished in August, being considered very successful, producing as a flowing well some 5 barrels per day. This well has since increased to 7 to 12 barrels per day flowing, and has been tested by a three days trial, which showed the well to be better than expected, averaging 53⅓ barrels per day, with a possibility of its increasing under regular pumping. This let it be remembered is NATURAL LUBRICATING OIL. No. 13 well has also been finished, showing up early in January of this year. This well is the equal, if not the superior, of No. 9. No. 12 well produces both oil and gas, with an extraordinary gas pressure of 75 pounds to the square inch. No 10 well in the illuminating belt was unsatisfactory. No. 11 well has been finished up at the 380 foot stratum as a gas well. This well has a pressure of 35 pounds to the square inch, and will furnish fuel for drilling, also light and heat for the present needs of Crowther, Texas. We think a good deal has been accomplished in our first years labors. Transportation has taken definite shape, L. J. Polk, promoter of the new road running from San Antonio to Rio Grande City, connecting with the Mexican National, has already secured $136,000 and 25,000 acres of land as a bonus on construction, and expects to have the road in operation by the early part of 1906. The St. Louis, Brownsville & Mexico Railway, which has already built a portion of its road, is now building north to San Antonio from Brownsville, and should not pass more than 5 or 6 miles east of the Boston & Texas property. This road should be in active operation by the first of the year, if not before.

To-morrow will give you the probabilities and some of the possibilities of this corporations future.

WHAT WIRELESS IS —WHY IT WORKS

(This is the second chapter, of which there will be four, giving a simple explanation of the great scientific discovery known as wireless telegraphy.)

CHAPTER II.

Synopsis of Chap. 1: The first chapter told how wireless telegraphy was but a scientific method of taking advantage of or controlling a force which Nature had placed in the air. This force has existed since the creation of the world, but no one realized it until lately any more than a correct explanation was given of the "force of gravity" until a century ago. The electricity in the air makes wireless telegraphy possible. Too instruments which have now been invented force that electricity to move in certain ways at the direction of the user of the wireless instrument. The unseen current is set in motion as are the waves in a pond when a stone is thrown into it, and they travel on indefinitely.

The instrument which sets the electric waves in motion in the air and which controls them in certain directions is a somewhat complicated instrument, because it has to do many things, but the principle on which it works can be easily understood and a detailed or technical description of the instrument would be superfluous here. It was stated in the first chapter that extra electricity was forced into the air in order to set the electric waves in motion.

This electric power is supplied through the sending instrument by electric batteries if a current of moderate power only is needed, or, by dynamos if a current of such strength as would be needed to send a message across the Atlantic Ocean or to any distant point where wanted. Both the sending and the receiving instruments are connected by wires or other metal substances with the earth, and it may be well to explain right here why this is done. Electricity under control, as when used in sending messages, travels in an unbroken circle, so to speak. In the case of the telegraph, a wire connects the instruments at two given points and the circuit is completed by the earth, which acts as the second or return wire. The same with wireless, the earth serves to connect the two stations, as if a second or completing circuit was installed. The current passes through the air and returns by the earth just as if it followed the chain on a bicycle and had no end of interruption. You should keep in mind this help which the earth gives, without cost, as it is connected with a later consideration of the subject.

We have noted the batteries or dynamos which supply the current. The next consideration is the means by which the electricity from these sources is distributed in the air. Poles or towers are erected and supplied with wires. This is necessary so as to get the ends of the wires up above surrounding buildings and far enough from the ground so that the current going by the air and returning by the earth will not be near enough together to get mixed up and become short-circuited, as it is known.

Between the battery or dynamo and the tower comes the instrument. This is a mechanical device which serves to make and break the current passing through the air and returning by the earth. If the operator should hold a wire in one hand which ran up the tower and one in the other hand which was connected with the batteries and should keep touching and separating the ends of those wires, he would be making and breaking the current or doing what the instrument makes possible in a more perfect manner and without danger to those handling the powerful current. A part of the sending instrument is a lever known as a key, and when this is depressed the current is unbroken, but when the operator removes the pressure of his hand the lever is raised by a spring and the current is broken just as if he were touching and separating the ends of two wires. Each time that there is this break at the sending instrument, there is a break in the current throughout its entire distance, and is made to act on the receiving instrument as will be shown later. It is simple to see that the operator may keep the key depressed or released just as long as he wishes, or, in other words, he can regulate the making and breaking of the current at his own discretion. When the current is on for a material length of time it is called making a dash, while for a short time is termed making a dot. It is the making of these dashes and dots in a prearranged manner that makes it possible to send a message in which each letter of the alphabet is represented by a certain combination of dots and dashes.

There is another part of the sending instrument which is necessary in wireless telegraphy, and it is connected with the sending key or lever and between it and the wire going up the tower. Its object is simply to emphasize the breaks in the current and make more distinct the dots and dashes. It is so constructed that it sends the dots and dashes off the tip of the wire like the snap of a whip. This makes the circles of electric current leave the tower with greater distinctness and makes the transmission of the messages more simple and more easy to receive.

The receiving instrument is more simple than the sending instrument. The current passes down the wire from the tower at the receiving station and through the instrument into the ground, and on back to the sending station, thus making the complete circuit of current. In the receiving instrument is a lever balanced on springs and acted on by the current. When the current is passing through the instrument this lever is depressed, and at each break in the current, the lever is released and moves upward by the action of one of the springs. The movement of this lever is only about an eighth of an inch and it makes a distinct click each time it strikes the metal points which stop its rise and fall. It is by listening to these clicks and noting the length of them that the receiving operator detects the dots and dashes and thus reads the message. The waves of electricity which have been set in motion by the sending station may be considered to be flat-topped waves. Those with a broad top are dashes and those with a narrow top are dots, and the receiving instrument, through its lever, makes the distinction just as clearly as the sending instrument.

(Chapter 3, which will appear next week, will describe more fully how a single message is sent and received, and will make clear the simplicity of the long-delayed discovery.)

have given the stamp of their unqualified approval to wireless telegraphy.

Such great scientists as Lord Kelvin and Thomas A. Edison have not only acknowledged that the science has already attained a stage of commercial adaptability, but have become so imbued with the proofs of the progress already made that they now expand their predictions and openly state that wireless telegraphy will shortly girdle the world.

Rulers and leading officials of those nations which to-day represent progress have sanctioned the adoption of wireless telegraphy and are authorizing tremendous expenditures in order that their

Government may be immediately in possession of a complete wireless service.

The brainy men who control the world's shipping have installed wireless apparatus upon the great leviathans that ply the deep.

Commercial princes are constantly making use of wireless messages, as is evidenced by the fact that, within the past four years, over one hundred thousand wireless messages have passed between shore stations and vessels at sea, and the annual increase in this form of business is at a ratio hitherto inconceivable. The banker, the lawyer, the merchant, and the layman are all among the daily users of this modern scientific marvel.

THE POPE HAS ADOPTED WIRELESS

and ordered the apparatus installed in the Vatican Observatory. He has done this after a most exhaustive study of the subject of wireless telegraphy and because he has become convinced that the science has reached a practical and commercial stage. He has gone further and urgently requested the most famous wireless inventor, whose system he has adopted, to visit him at the Vatican at the earliest possible moment.

What system is it that these leading minds of the world have sanctioned and acknowledged to be a success beyond their extreme expectations?

it is the MARCONI SYSTEM in every case where real success is found and its present great lead in the new field of science makes it safe to say that it will be the Masonic system which will be adopted as the standard and exclusive system the world over. Lord Kelvin refers to the Marconi system as does Edison in all their predictions, England and Italy have adopted only the Marconi system, and the other Governments have made but little progress with any of the other systems with which they have experimented. It is the Marconi service which is installed on the ships which are handling all the ship to shore business from transatlantic liners.

It is the Marconi service which the Pope has ordered installed in the Vatican Observatory and it is Signor Marconi to whom the Pope has extended an invitation almost amounting to a command for the inventor to visit him. These things would not be so unless the Marconi system were an assured success already and gifted with promise of greater things to come.

THE MARCONI WIRELESS TELEGRAPH COMPANY OF CANADA, LTD.

works under the Marconi patents, and will share in every one of its successes. It already has tangible assets, largely in excess of capital and increasing yearly. The revenue from the stations built and building is increasing daily. The development of the Company has but started, and its assured success will lead to the erection of countless new stations and a revenue in excess of that enjoyed by any other similar enterprises in the history of the world.

Wealth and future happiness are knocking at the door of the investor

who is shrewd enough to take advantage of this opportunity which will not come again. Is it not better to invest money in this stock now, when the purchase can be made at $5 per share, than to wait until everybody else is aware of this success and its support by the world's leaders, when that will mean that the price will immediately be at least double what it now is? You will have no more to show for your money, a given investment will net you but one-half as many shares, the dividends will be also half as much, for you will have but half as much stock on which to draw dividends, and you will have lost the profits as your stock advances in value.

Remember that you can buy any number of shares, from one share to two hundred shares. Would it not be wise to make an investment immediately of your investment funds instead of leaving them idle or drawing but a small interest when this best of opportunities is slowly but surely slipping away from you?

You can not very well set yourself up as wiser than the men who guide the policies of the world. Make yourself thoroughly familiar with all the facts in regard to the Canadian Company and become a partner to share the profits of the great Marconi invention. Ask us any questions, write for particulars, but to make sure of an allotment, send your money NOW.

TO CANADIAN INVESTORS

Oregon-Idaho Gold Mining Co.

INCORPORATED

Capital $5,000,000. Shares $1.00 Each, Par Value, Fully Paid Up and Non-Assessable.

We have just secured the agency for the above splendid proposition, of which we have been allotted a block of Treasury stock. We can unreservedly recommend this as a safe and, we believe, exceedingly profitable investment. Every dollar of stock is guaranteed by twenty year, full paid, gold bond, delivered to purchaser of stock, from an Investment Company that has no interest whatever in the company, but who are disposing of the debentured bonds to the public, and, under their charter, they are compelled to deposit securities to an equal amount, to the State Treasurer under which they received their charter, there by doubly securing the payment of their gold bonds.

The Company's property, which is now past the project stage, is known to be marvellously rich in gold.

Following is the opinion of G. W. Miller, Mining Engineer, formerly with the Boston and Montana Consolidated Copper and Silver Mining Company, U. S.; Simmer and Jack Mining Co., Limited, Klerksfontein South Africa:—

"You have here a most valuable property and one of the strongest fissure veins that can be found in any part of the world.

"With the present development of the Monument Mine, I estimate that 100 tons per day can be extracted, which will mill from $15.00 to $20.00 per ton. The total cost of mining the ore, delivering and milling, I place at about $4.00 per ton. With the increased milling capacity, it is safe to say that the mine can furnish 100 tons of $15.00 ore, which would yield a clear profit of $11.00 per ton, or $1,100 00 per day (equal to $400,000.00 per annum). Estimated total value of ore in sight, $3,500,000."

During the past summer, a party of the Company Directors visited the property, taking with them, Amos P. Brown, Ph.D., Mining Engineer and Professor of Geology and Mineralogy at the University of Pennsylvania. Dr. Brown writes as follows:—

"In regards to the amount of ore available at the mines at Bleasher, I saw on the dumps several thousand tons, probably 5000 tons would be an under-estimate.

"As to the size of the ore body itself, from what I saw of the geological structure, I think that there is every indication that it will be found to extend underground as far as the out-croppings on the south side of the gulch. This would mean an ore body large enough to keep the present mill running for many years to come.

A write up of the proposition will appear in these columns in a few days. Watch for it. In the meantime we will be pleased to furnish full information to investors.

A HIGH GRADE INDUSTRIAL AND MINING INVESTMENT

We have thoroughly investigated it and found it to be right in every respect Did you ever have a chance to invest in a straight legitimate money making proposition? If not,

THIS IS YOUR OPPORTUNITY

We own a monopoly of the water right privileges in the Thunder Mountain mining district, State of Idaho, U.S.A.; seven water rights in all; one developed and in use. The property of the Company consists of over 1400 acres, with plenty of timber for building and mining purposes, a saw mill fully equipped and in operation, a 10-stamp mill now on its way from the R. R. Station to the property, and 40 additional stamps to be purchased at once and installed during the coming summer. This is the largest and most favorably situated property in the district. Some of the tunnels have been driven over 400 ft., cross-cutting many dikes, demonstrating that we have an inexhaustible body of ore. The ore bodies are sampled by an assayer every 10 ft., and assays run from 40c. to $200 per ton. The ore is free milling, and can be mined and milled for about $2.00 per ton.

This Company has had a phenomenal growth, and "The Thunder Mountain Prospector," published at Roosevelt, Idaho, where the property is located, states that this Company is three times as large as any other Company operating in the district. 20 men at work on the property. Over $60,000 worth of stock sold within the last 30 days. Only 100,000 shares more to be sold at 50c. per share. You cannot afford to miss this opportunity; investigate at once.

Catarrh Cannot be Cured by Dosing

IT IS A LOCAL DISEASE AND IF CURED MUST BE LOCALLY TREATED.

Seven people out of ten suffer from catarrh. There is no lack of medicines, and if dosing would cure, very few cases of catarrh would be found.

You probably have it yourself. How much benefit have you obtained so far from medicine-taking? A little relief is all that you have derived. You have spent lots of money and yet the catarrh is growing worse all the time.

Has it ever occurred to you how desirable and how successful a treatment would be that you could breathe to where the disease existed. Perhaps you have thought about this form of cure but you have been unable to find a remedy that could be pleasantly and safely used.

Try Catarrhozone, it can be broken up by the air and carried in small drops to every part of the breathing organism. It touches the catarrh with healing, that is why it cures.

This healing, balsamic, vegetable substance is so volatile that the air greedily takes up from the inhaler, so antiseptic that it instantly destroys the microbes which produce disease of the breathing organs, and so soothing that it relieves congestion subdues inflammation, and stops mucous discharges.

Plainly Catarrhozone is an ideal remedy for diseases of the throat, lungs and nasal passages. If you have catarrh, bronchitis or asthma all are equally curable by Catarrhozone. You have been told why this is so. These diseases are all modifications of an inflammatory condition of the lining membranes of the throat and nasal passages.

Now, bear in mind, you breathe Catarrhozone. Do you not think this is a rational treatment—a certain way of reaching the diseased surfaces which lie so far in the cavity of the body or in the head that they can be reached in no other way.

You cannot possibly fail to obtain quick cure from any of these maladies if you use Catarrhozone.

All dealers in medicine sell Catarrhozone. Trial, 25c., complete outfit, $1.00, which will last two months and is guaranteed to cure permanently. Sent postpaid to any address by N. C. Polson & Co., Kingston, Ont., and Buffalo, Conn., U.S.A.

CHANGE IN LAKEFIELD

Campers will This Year Miss Mr. W. H. Casement's Genial Welcome

As far back as the memory of three generations of Peterborough's visitors to Stony Lake can recall their [illegible] C.P.R. station to steamer or, in older days, canoes, it has been a usual thing with a large minority to call at the general store of Mr. W. H. Casement, or to that of Mr. W. Casement, his father before him. Many a thousand hook or bait, or some such needed or forgotten article has been bought at "Casement's."

This coming season a new face will greet such callers as Mr. Casement, according to the Lakefield News, has sold out his business to Mr. G. H. Fitzgerald, who will in future run this old established shop.

A NEW INDUSTRY

An English Expert Going to Ship Turtles From Peterborough and Vicinity

As many people know, the frog catching industry in and about Peterborough has assumed considerable proportions, and now an Englishman proposes to begin a kindred industry in the catching and shipping alive of mud and snapping turtles. Mr. William Wilkins was for 20 years employed in the turtle department of Chas. Painter, the great restaurant man, of Leadenhall street, London, England. His employers handled hundreds of sea turtles every week, and Mr. Wilkins was in charge of this branch of their business. He considers that our common mud turtles are edible, and would make equally good soup, with the green imported article. The turtle meat sells in London at one guinea ($5.25) a quart, and the turtles killed for this purpose, whilst running as high as 300 pounds each, are many of them no larger than the majority of those reptiles frequently seen in Mud, Rice, or the upper lakes.

Mr. Wilkins intends entering into correspondence with Montreal and Toronto commission men, and if sufficient market can be found, will likely start to catch and ship mud turtles from this district, as soon as the warm weather sets in. He also contemplates breeding the larger species of mud turtle.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

Change of Business

Brisk competition and change of proprietors in the various lines of business denotes that there is something doing, some one trying to get a finger into the financial pie. Mr. Milton W. Porter, who ran a successful meat market at 302 Rubidge street, has disposed of his interests and business to Messrs. Mullen Bros., of Nassau. The new proprietors are pushing, active and experienced men in this line, and intend to run a strictly first-class meat market, keeping only the choicest kinds of fresh and cured meats. They hope for a continuance of the patronage that was so generously given to their predecessor.

CATARRH THE MOST DANGEROUS OF ALL CHRONIC DISEASES.

"Pe-ru-na Is a Blessing to Those Troubled With Catarrh," Says United States Senator Corbin.

Ex. U.S. Senator D.Y. Corbin

Gentlemen—"The use of Peruna has been a blessing to those troubled with catarrh. So many of my acquaintances have been cured and benefited by its use that its curative qualities should be generally known. I do not hesitate to recommend it as the best remedy yet discovered for that disease."—D. Y. Corbin, 916 Chicago Opera House, Chicago, Ill.

Colds Not Promptly Cured Are Sure to Cause Catarrh.

Catarrh Improperly Treated Is Sure to Make Life Short and Miserable.

Many Wonderful Cures Are Made by Pe-ru-na.

CATARRH spares no organ or function of the body. It is capable of destroying sight, taste, smell, hearing, digestion, secretion, assimilation and excretion. It pervades every part of the human body.

Peruna also cures bronchitis, coughs, and consumption in the first stages with unfailing certainty.

Hon. D. Y. Corbin, is ex-United States Senator and cousin of Adjutant General Corbin of the United States Army. Judge Corbin is one of the best known lawyers in Chicago and stands high professionally and socially. The above endorsement coming from such a man cannot help but add weight and importance to the thousands of testimonials from the humbler walks of life.

Catarrh is the cause of at least one-half of the ills to which the human family is subject. Is there no way to escape from it? There is.

Peruna never fails to cure a cold. Peruna never fails to cure catarrh in the first stage. Peruna cures catarrh in the second stage, nine cases out of ten. Peruna cures catarrh in its last and worst stages in the majority of cases, and never fails to benefit every case, however bad.

A book on the cure of throat and lung diseases, and catarrh in all stages and varieties, sent free to any address by The Peruna Medicine Co., Columbus, O.

"My Life Hung by a Mere Thread, Pe-ru-na Cured Me."

Mrs. Sarah Smart, 276 Hayward St., Brooklyn, N. Y., writes:

"I can't tell in words how low I was. My life hung by a mere thread. I was waiting for months to die.

"My trouble was consumption or bronchitis. I suffered no pain when I was low, but coughing and breathing kept sapping what little strength I had. I could not eat, sleep or even lean back on a chair. I was a mere skeleton. I said to my husband, 'I can't last much longer.' My neighbors say they do not know how I ever recovered. It was almost a miracle.

"I took your medicine but three months, when I could do my housework and washing, and have been doing it ever since. Now I am able to do anything. You would never think I had been troubled with such a serious illness. I shall always keep your medicine in my house."—Mrs. Sarah Smart.

Despaired of Recovery.

Mrs. R. L. Aulich, Vice President American Genealogical Association, 904 H street, N. W., Washington, D. C., writes:

"I know whereof I speak when I say that Peruna is a wonderful remedy for colds and catarrhal trouble. Last fall I was very much debilitated from the effect of a cold contracted early in the summer and which I neglected. I knew that my system was in need of medicine and rest, but to find the right thing was the problem. Happily I gave Peruna a trial first and have no reason to complain of the results. Within a month I had entirely recovered my strength and good health and really felt better and stronger than before."—Mrs. R. L. Aulich.

If you do not derive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.

NEW THOUGHTS.

Are you growing more attractive as you advance in life?

"Given a healthy body," says Dr. R. V. Pierce, the specialist in woman's diseases, of Buffalo, N. Y., "and a healthy mind, and everyone can cultivate and enjoy happiness."

We must eat properly and digest well to be beautiful. It is a fact that any form of dyspepsia may in a few days transform a clear, white skin into a mass of pimples and black spots. A beautiful woman has the beauty of her stomach.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery maintains a person's nutrition by enabling one to eat, retain, digest and assimilate the proper nutritious food. It overcomes the gastric irritability and symptoms of indigestion, and thus the person is saved from those symptoms of fever, night-sweats, headache, etc., which are so common. A tonic made up largely of alcohol will shrink the corpuscles of the blood and make them weaker for resistance.

"This is to certify that I have used Doctor Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, think it's the grandest medicine in the world," writes Mrs. V. M. Young, of Weir, W. Va., "of bad dyspepsia in its worst form. I decided to try your medicine. I used five bottles, and now I am doing my own housework. A number of my friends also are using Dr. Pierce's medicines and they recommend it highly. May God bless you in your grand work."

Dr. Pierce believes that a tonic made with alcohol will shrink the red blood corpuscles and make the system weak for resistance; that is why he avoided the use of any alcohol or narcotics in his "Medical Discovery," which contains the pure extract from roots and herbs without a particle of alcohol.

Accept no substitute for "Golden Medical Discovery." There is nothing "just as good" for dyspepsia or debility.

Biliousness is cured by the use of Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets.

EUROPE IS HUMILIATED BY JAPANESE TRIUMPHS

Henri Rochefort Wants to Know, Russia Having Done no Better than She Has, What Could France, England or Germany do Against Armies of Japan?

Paris, April 3.—Henri Rochefort, the famous editor of l'Intransigeant, who has closely followed the warlike march of events in Manchuria, has just made a notable utterance concerning the situation.

"For one, at least," he said, "I cannot understand how any European, as such, can regard the amazing success of the Japanese without humiliation, for if the Russians have not won a single victory, is it probable to suppose that the Germans, the French, or the English would have done better, while any minor power would have been a mere mouthful? The Japanese have given a blow to our pride, not only in the present, but to the traditions of the past. Napoleon is supposed to have been the best soldier in the world, yet he lost a fair percentage of the battles he fought.

"It is certain that Oyama and Nogi, yellow-cheeked and gimlet-eyed, learning their military usage from us, would never have made Bonaparte's mistake at Marengo, where he got his troops so far apart that they were unavailable when wanted. Scrutinize all their operations, and you will nowhere find similar mistakes. Neither in modern nor in ancient times do records show such acts of heroism as these. The little men at whom we were wont to laugh, in attack or pursuit alike, seem as if a mysterious guiding hand indicated to them the exact spot where it was necessary to strike.

"In view of this, must not each European nation ask itself, 'What showing would we make under similar circumstances?'

"What are we to think of these Asiatic armies who do not know the meaning of running away? Where 30,000 men are killed without receding a foot, they are immediately replaced by 30,000 others, who go to death as we to a review in the Champs de Mars.

"What a shower-bath to European vanity this war is!

"Russia apparently refuses to discuss peace, not because she hopes for success of her arms, but in the belief that when their money is gone the Japanese will starve to death. But even such meager glory is unlikely when Oyama is reported to have captured sixty cannon, 20,000 guns, 150 wagons, thousands of ammunition wagons, 200,000 shells, 25,000,000 cartridges and more than a million bread rations. It costs the Czar enough to provision his own army with out undertaking to provide for that of the Mikado. He would do better to put shells and provisions aside for a second campaign."

KING EDWARD A GREAT MAN

Prominent Canadian Says He is Greatest in Europe

BUSINESS IN BRITAIN GOOD

Mr. D. M. Stewart Speaks of Conditions in the Northern Land

Montreal, April 3.—Mr. D. M. Stewart, general manager of the Sovereign Bank of Canada, with Mrs. Stewart, has returned to Montreal, after a three months' visit to Great Britain. During the first three days on their return voyage, the steamer Baltic encountered a terrific storm, dustrial outlook in England was forthcoming, and the crossing was accomplished with some comfort.

Mrs. Stewart states that the industrial outlook in England was quite good and especially in the Midlands, where there was considerable activity in the cotton industry. Last year owing to the shortage of the cotton crop in America, many of the cotton factories in England were closed down and thousands of operatives thrown out of employment. This year there was no lack of employment and the cotton district was prosperous. In London, as in all large cities, there prevailed a certain amount of poverty and destitution, but this was due more to the improvident character of the people in the congested districts, rather than to any general dullness in trade.

"Money has been easy in London," said Mr. Stewart, "and the opportunity to subscribe for gilt-edged securities has been eagerly seized. There was a regular scramble to get the latest Japanese loan, and our own Grand Trunk Pacific recent issue was underwritten in about two hours. The Ontario Government's issue of 3½-2 per cent. treasury bills in connection with the Temiskaming Railway, amounting to $6,000,000 was put on the market by Messrs. Coates, Son and Company, and immediately taken up by the largest banking houses in London, while the English people who bought Canadian Pacific securities have every reason to be satisfied with their investment."

When asked whether he had heard many comments upon the recent emigration from England to Canada, Mr. Stewart stated that he had.

"Great attention," he said, "is being paid to Canada as a field for emigration, and I think our population is likely to be increased materially in this way during the coming season. Our emigration department is doing good work, in selecting the better class of country people to come out here, especially those from Scotland and the North of England, where the best class of settlers we could desire, come from. The influx of immigrants into London from the continent, Poles, Germans, Italians, etc., has been greater than usual this winter, and there appears to be no doubt that they have displaced many British laboring men, who raise their protests by public gatherings, and through the labor unions, with such effect that the Government has been obliged to give the matter their serious attention."

PRESENTED TO KING.

When the reporter asked if it was not correct that he had been presented to the King, Mr. Stewart replied:

"Yes, I had the honor of presentation to His Majesty, who is without doubt the greatest man in Europe. They say that but for a timely communication which he sent to the Czar, we would have been involved in war with Russia, over the Dogger Bank affair. However, as a result of the King's intervention, Russia met every demand of Great Britain, and did so more promptly than she has ever been known to act in her dealings with any other nation."

Mr. Stewart had the pleasure of lunching with Lord and Lady Roberts, and they stated that they both would come out to Canada during the coming summer. They were looking forward with great interest to their visit.

"Lord Roberts," continued Mr. Stewart, "thought most highly of the colonial troops in South Africa, and took an especial interest in the Canadians. He recalled one of them, an officer in my own regiment, who won the Victoria Cross, and he looks forward to renewing his acquaintance with many of the officers and men who served with him during the Boer war.

"He remarked to me that he had a continuous service of over fifty-three years in the army and outranks Field Marshal Lord Wolseley by about six months, so that is the longest record of any officer or man now serving. He was extremely kind to me, and as a Canadian I took the liberty of telling him that with the exception of His Majesty himself, or some member of the royal family, there was no man in the Empire whom it would give the people of Canada greater pleasure to receive than himself. There will be no doubt about the welcome Roberts will receive when he arrives here."

HIGH COMMISSIONER'S WELCOME.

Lord Strathcona received Mr. Stewart at the Colonial Office. "He went out of his way," he continued, "to show Mrs. Stewart and myself much kindness. It seems absurd for me to speak of such a man, but his record is one of such inspiration to all Canadians, and his position is so exalted and respected in the Old Country that I scarcely think we in Canada half appreciate him. It is absolutely certain that there is no colony of the Empire that is so well represented in London as Canada."

CZAR ATTEMPTS SUICIDE

Unconfirmed Rumor That Comes From Paris

Paris, April 1.—An unconfirmed rumor from St. Petersburg is published here this morning to the effect that Emperor Nicholas made an attempt to commit suicide and wounded himself in the hand. The rumor further says that the Emperor's design was frustrated by the intervention of his mother, the Empress dowager.

The general replied emphatically, "Certainly. It is the Czar's will."

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

MR. MATTHEW FLEMING DEAD.

Death of a Highly Respected Smithtown Man

On Friday one of the most respected farmers in the Township of Smith, died in the Nicholl's Hospital, in the person of Mr. Matthew Fleming. Mr. Fleming was born in Smith, 59 years ago, and was a regular attendant at St. Paul's church for years. A few years ago he moved to North Smith, and since his removal to this part of the township, worshipped at a nearer church to his residence. The deceased went to the hospital about three weeks ago; the immediate cause of brain trouble. Besides a great many old friends he leaves to mourn his loss a wife, two sons and one daughter, all living at home.

The funeral will be held at eleven o'clock this morning from St. Paul's church to the Little Lake cemetery.

OBITUARY

Death of Mr. W. W. Campbell of the Township of Douro

One of the most highly respected young men in the township of Douro, in the person of Mr. William Wellington Campbell, died on Friday night at his home, lot 5, con. 9, from tuberculosis, from which dread disease he had been a sufferer for some time. The deceased was born 20 years ago in this township, and was the son of Mr. Robert Campbell. His mother died seventeen years ago. Mr. Campbell afterwards re-married, and his three small children of this union survive the deceased. These are Vernon, Roland and Lottie.

The funeral will leave the family residence, lot 5, concession 9, Douro township, to-day at two o'clock p. m., and proceed to Little Lake Cemetery for interment. The services will be conducted by Rev. Dr. Torrance.

A LIGHT PUNISHMENT

A Local Man Pays $20 and Costs for Illegal Feeding of Hogs

A case that has given rise to much unqualified denunciation of the conduct of a local man has been tried before the County Police Magistrate. It appears that this man keeps about 20 hogs on a plot of land he owns in North Monaghan, whether from economy or experiment, he has been feeding his porkers on the carcasses of horses that have passed the last mile-stone of ripe old age, and this, without boiling the aforesaid frameworks. On his property, in juxtaposition to the hogs, were found the remains of dogs, cats and other edibles not conscientiously recommended as articles of diet in Mrs. Beeton's Cook-book. The defendant claims that this is not the exclusive diet of his hogs, as he gives them garbage and other kitchen refuse. The defendant further swore that some of the hogs were brood sows, the progeny of such animals would surely exist on a diet of shingle nails and old horse shoes. This is a case that was well discovered and it is to be hoped for the credit of Peterborough, in particular, and humanity, at large, that never will there be a repetition of it. The Health Officer has ordered the hogs into quarantine for three months to ensure there being no danger of infection from tuberculosis or other diseases. The defendant was fined $20 and costs. He swore that it had been his intention to give up this branch of his business as soon as this lot of hogs was disposed of; let us hope his intentions are a fixture.

JOHN SAYS

"More of the New Coffee, Please."

A boy from the "Land of the Sky" in N. C., says:

"One winter while on a visit further down South where everybody seems to a move to coffee, I one day found my hostess prone on the cough. 'So godly, and Oh! how my head aches!' Quoth I, and was haughty. She suggested me, and what else could she drink? 'Why Postum' I replied. 'But that is so insipid and John does not like it. He calls it dish water.' I thought of the kind of Postum the darkey cook had served, and asked her if I might make her a cup. So into the kitchen I went and made Postum as we had it at home—rich, clear and fragrant, after good long boiling to bring out the flavor.

"I brought it to her in one of the daintest cups, and she drank under protest, declaring it might make her head worse. She exclaimed 'why how nice this is. You don't mean this is Postum?' I told her the difference was only in the making. She had had it before boiled only a few minutes and now she had it made according to directions that are plain enough in each package.

"In about an hour's time she sat up and laughlingly said her head felt nearly well and the giddiness was almost gone.

"The next morning we had Postum (made right) for breakfast. We told John it was new coffee we wanted him to try. He called for a second cup and the next morning called for some more of the new coffee.

"Quite a while after we had been serving it regularly, John spoke of feeling so much better. He had gotten over his nervousness, and only then did we dare tell him he had been steadily using the once despised Postum."

"Before I left off coffee my complexion was bad and sometimes my temper worse. The complexion has cleared up in a most remarkable way. I had better refer to the other members of the family for a testimonial as to a change in temper, leastwise we all abandoned coffee about two years ago for it affected us more like liquor, and every member of my family showed the affect of it in nervous, trembling sensations, occasional dizzy spells, and more or less liver complaint. All of these symptoms have disappeared since we made the change to Postum." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

Quebec Heirarchy Rules.

It is no justification of the Separate school clauses to say that they establish a system similar to that of Manitoba. The motto of the Liberals in 1896 was "conciliation, not coercion." The objection to remedial legislation was that a system was to be forced on West Territories have, of their own free will, established a system as fair to the minority as that of Manitoba, that is a reason, not for coercing them, but for leaving them alone. If the same object can be attained by complete Provincial autonomy as by Federal interference, surely the champions of Provincial rights ought to take the Provincial way.

I. D. C. CLUB

Spend an Interesting Evening in Long's Parlors

Mr. Long seems to be a focal point for both public and private entertainments. Among the many petits dejeuners held at his parlors, that of Friday night, was not the least successful. Twenty-six members and friends of the I.D.C. Club met there and held a euchre party. In due course an adjournment was had to the rooms below, when mine host served a most delicious supper. Mr. E. M. Beat was toast master. Many witty, well pointed toasts, jests, quips and quirks helped the evening to pass most swiftly and fired it as an evening of enjoyment on the memories of all present.

POWER WARNS JAPAN OF DANGER TO CHINA

Washington and Berlin Fear Plot to Divide Empire

WANT DIRECT NEGOTIATIONS

Belief That Count Lams orff and M. Delcasse are Planning an International Conference on Peace

Washington, April 3.—It is the feeling here that Russia and Japan should negotiate for peace directly and avoid an international conference. This opinion also prevails in Berlin.

Indeed, Japan has recently received an urgent warning from a neutral power against offers of mediation and indirect negotiations lest they lead to an international conference, the results of which might prove disastrous to the interests of both belligerents.

There is authority for the statement that France is diligently striving to end the war, and for six weeks past negotiations of the most confidential character have been in progress between Paris and St. Petersburg. Even diplomats of the highest rank have failed to obtain from M. Delcasse, the French Foreign Minister, the results of these negotiations, but it can be announced on the same authority that Count Lamsdorff, the Russian Minister for Foreign Affairs, has within a week admitted that he had in a general way outlined to M. Delcasse the general terms on which Russia might consent to consider peace.

Advices from Europe tell of the fear prevalent there in certain quarters that the activities of Count Lamsdorff and M. Delcasse are directed toward an international conference to be held in some neutral European capital, such as Stockholm, where peace negotiations might be conducted. It is said that this move has, in a measure, been blocked by the refusal of Japan to give any indication as to the peace terms she would accept until positively assured in the name of the Czar himself that Russia is prepared to negotiate in good faith for peace. Not only does Japan insist upon this assurance, but she prefers to negotiate directly with St. Petersburg.

With the United States, Germany, and Japan opposed to an international conference to end the war, the belief is strong in Washington that successful peace negotiations will date from the day St. Petersburg communicates with Tokio direct. The Washington Government is alertly watching for the opportunity to assist Russia and Japan in getting into diplomatic communication. An conference would thus be avoided, and the United States would be in a better position to insist upon the maintenance of the integrity and administrative entity of China. No negotiations involving an attack upon this principle can be acquiesced in by the United States.

Neither Russia nor Japan has asked President Roosevelt to assist in ending the war. So far as the Washington Government is aware, "Emperor Nicholas has not yet awakened in his unannounced decision "to prosecute the war to the bitter end."

The genuine wish of this Government for peace in the Far East is not based upon selfish interests. American financiers have not over-loaded themselves with the bonds of either of the belligerent nations. Washington believes that it is to the advantage of both belligerents that the Far Eastern war come to a speedy end, and anything that this Government can do, to bring that about will be done gladly.

From the outset of the war the President has taken the position, as has been repeatedly announced by Secretary Hay, that he will do anything in his power to assist Russia and Japan to a peace basis when his services shall be acceptable to the belligerents. But it is authoritatively stated that no official of the Washington Government is ambitious to pose as the mediator between the Czar and the Mikado.

A BANKER'S ARROGANCE

Who Owns a Cheque Previous to Payment, the Party in Whose Favor Drawn or the Bank?

A citizen with blood in his eye and a look pregnant with ire, was in the office of this journal on Saturday. It appears that, a day or two ago, this applicant for information, had taken a cheque to a local bank to draw his cash. Being unknown to the bank officials, a demand for identification was made. The gentleman returned to the bank with a friend, whom, unfortunately the bankers did not know either. Next the gentleman went to a Peterborough business man and told him his troubles. "You go and get your cheque back from the bank and I will chalk it for you," said the business man. On applying to the bank a third time, the officials refused to give him back his cheque, so that before the owner of the cheque could get his money he had to return once again with the business man. As this friend-in-need had the honor of being recognized by the officials the man at last got his money. Now although we tried to sooth the ruffled feelings of the gentleman who had all this run from red tape, we humbly offered a suggestion that the cheque belonged to its owner and should have been returned to him on request, in default of payment being granted.

THE PALACE OF SWEETS

Great Crowds Admire Messrs. Demetri Bros Magnificent New Store

For many weeks past public interest has centered in the coming opening of what was supposed to be one of the handsomest and best equipped candy stores in the Dominion. At noon on Saturday expectation was realized when the new store, corner of George and Charlotte streets was opened to the public, and for once anticipation was not disappointed.

Messrs. Demonti Bros., have fulfilled, to the letter, the promises made that their Peterborough branch would be fully equal to the establishments they operate in Montreal, Quebec, Ottawa, and Toronto. These enterprising gentlemen have given us a store and an industry that will make Peterborough, spoken of by every stranger visiting us, as having a confectionery store that is unique. The leading feature of the "Olympian Candy Works," is the beautiful onyx soda fountain, just to the right as one enters. This is a work of art and utility, exceptional in its make and appearance. The fountain, which has taps for 24 different fruit flavors, was made expressly for Demetri Bros. It is specially lighted with the most modern and artistic electric light globes. The cabinets lining the store walls are well adapted to showing their goods to best advantage, as are the counter cases. A long cabinet of hard wood, beautifully finished, adjoins the soda fountain for keeping the various flavors in ice cream. Back of the store proper, behind some large palms, is the refreshment room, containing a large number of hardwood tables and scores of chairs. It is the intention of the proprietors to pull down the partition back of this room and add still another refreshment room in the rear.

This firm makes all the candies sold on the premises, and the general verdict of buyers on Saturday was that the Olympian Candy Works turns out sweets that in flavor, make and appearance, equal the best to be found in the largest cities.

The store was crowded all afternoon, and at night, when the electric light was reflected a thousand fold by the French plate mirrors, covering the walls, the scene was lively and charming. It is needless to prophecy a successful business for these Belenists.

GENERAL LINEVITCH HAS POWERFUL ARMY YET.

Agrarian Risings Throughout Russia Are Assuming Such Serious Proportions That They Overshadow the War.

New York, April 3.—A St. Petersburg despatch to the Herald says that agrarian risings throughout Russia are assuming such serious proportions that they overshadow the war. These organized disorders are the result of the spread of revolutionary literature urging that such risings are the only means of preventing the breadwinners being sent to the war. As a matter of fact, the troubles render the proposed mobilization impossible. Around Riga the landowners have been told by the authorities that they are unable to send them help. Serious risings are reported from the Borpat, Dunaburg, Southom, Warsaw, Bialystok, Orel, Smolensk, Yoshtreenah, Bublin and Wenden districts.

A number of French citizens claim 150,000 roubles for damages to their property in the Yalta district.

A POWERFUL ARMY YET.

St. Petersburg, April 3.—A commission of general, under the titular presidency of Grand Duke Nicholas Nicholajewitch, appointed to report on the condition of the army in Manchuria as it was handed over to General Linevitch, has formulated its conclusions as regards the immediate future. These give General Linevitch's statements that a large number of the prisoners taken by the Japanese at Mukden were non-combatants, and that inquiries from St. Petersburg indicate to him that the extent of the Russian defeat has been exaggerated. The losses were heavy but the personnel and equipment under General Linevitch form a powerful combatant army.

Nobody in touch with Tsarskoe-Selo supports the peace suggestions.

GREEN STICK FRACTURE

Master Carlyle Potter, Son of Rev. J. G. Potter, Breaks His Other Leg.

The Rev. Mr. Potter has our sympathy over the addition to his recent trouble caused by his little boy Carlyle getting a leg broken. The boy was in Nicholl's Hospital, and was well on the way to recovery, when, on retaking to the use of his legs after lying for weeks in bed, had the misfortune to sustain a "green-stick" fracture of the other leg. This was caused by the bone between knee and thigh, breaking as does a green stick when bent, by his recently accustomed weight bearing too heavily on the sound limb.

Rev. Mr. Potter last night reported his son as doing comfortably, and no danger as apprehended.

FRAMERY'S NEW HOME

Mr. Dunslow Removes to Premises Near the Post Office

Mr. Dunslow, the well-known proprietor of the Framery, who was recently burnt out of his old quarters on George street, and who has since had temporary offices in Lieut.-Col. Miller's store, is about to move to a permanent location two doors west of the Post Office. He will use the premises at present occupied by Messrs. O'Connell & Co., the Real Estate Brokers on Hunter street. Messrs. O'Connell & Co., will occupy desk room in the central part of the Framery. The pluck and hustle shown by the phoenix-like survival of the Framery's owner from his recent burning, shows that he has the right stuff in him, and we lay odds that Framery redevivus will gets its share of patronage as of old.

WHARF WANTED

A Crying Need of This Town is a Better and Larger Dock Accommodation

The Government through the intelligent foresight and push of our local member, Mr. R. H. Hall, is to erect wharf accommodation at the south end of the town, which wharf will be of great assistance to excursionists travelling by street car to meet the boats. What are we to do however for nearer accommodation? We understand that this season thousands of cords of wood are to be brought to Peterborough via the T.V. Canal. Now, this wood, or the great bulk of it, will be distributed from the nearest point to owners or consignees, and that will naturally be from the nearest wharf to the town's center. The old wharf is too small and inadequate in every respect to the handling of large bulky freight or, for that matter, passengers. The Fifth Ward wharf is in a condition totally unfit for business of any importance. It would be well to have no stumbling block left in the path of this town's advancing industries.

THE SOVEREIGN SUNK

Last Year's New Steamer Gone to See Mellisty

Was the new steamer Sovereign launched on a Friday? Although built under auspicious circumstances this boat seems to have the halo of a hoodoo hovering over her. Last summer she seemed to be followed by hard luck, and now, to cap the climax, she has gone to the bottom. Anyone in need of a submarine vessel can apply to her owners. However, it does seem pretty hard luck for the enterprising gentlemen who added this boat to our home fleet to meet with this misfortune.

The cause of her descent to terra firma is attributed to the ice surrounding the boat being covered with water which flowed in and sunk her. This regrettable accident will limit the boat accommodation, for this lower waters, to the two excursion steamers of the Calcutt line. Everything points to a prosperous and busy season ahead for these boats, the lack of competition, popularity, and the fact that several dates are already secured.

SAD DEATH-BED STORY

Old Man Dead, His Wife Sick and the Home in Care of a Weak minded Daughter Chance to Liquor Lawn

Hamilton, April 2—Ralph Moore, an old man, who resided with his invalid wife and insane daughter at 90 Earl street, was found dead in bed by a neighbor.

Mrs. Moore has been confined to her bed for a number of years, and a couple of weeks ago her husband was taken ill. The only person in the house to attend to them was their weak-minded daughter. Neighbors called frequently to see how the old people were getting along. At noon yesterday a neighbor called and found the old man dead in bed.

Dr. Parry was summoned and when he found that Moore had been dead for several hours he notified Coroner McNichol. At the inquest the coroner questioned the daughter, and she said that she gave her father a cup of tea, Wednesday morning, and did not afterwards enter his room.

Asked why she had not looked after him she said that she was ordered by the Lord not to go near him. She also said that her father's death was the result of a blow on the stomach. Asked who it was that struck the old man she again replied that it was the Lord.

As the authorities could not get any satisfaction out of her it was decided to hold an inquest. Moore was 83 years of age.

GENERAL SPORTING GOSSIP

HOCKEY—THE TURF—BASEBALL—LACROSSE

LACROSSE.

THE SENIOR C.L.A. TEAM

(To the Editor of The Times)

Peterborough, April 3rd, 1905.

Dear sir,—In reply to a letter in Saturday's issue of the Review captioned "Encourage Home Brews" and signed "Lacrosse," allow me to say; First, while I suggested the organization of such a team, I am the least of its promoters. It was the intention of the promoters to keep the names in darkness, and I might say we succeeded in doing so until my name came out through a representative of the Review. Who informed 'Lacrosse" of my inexperience in athletics, or what does he know of my five years away from Peterborough?

I never have or neither do I intend to pose as an athlete and have not been gazetted as "Pilot" of the above mentioned team. In fact I could not afford the time. But Mr. Editor, the best and wisest' are not those who sound their own trumpet through the public press. "Lacrosse" refers me to the T.A.S. and Athletics for information on imported men. What a comparison! Would it be reasonable to expect the supporters of lacrosse in this town to exhibit as much enthusiasm over a game between the T.A.S. and Athletics, as one between a senior C.L.A. team and the Tecumsehs or St. Catharines? And who will pardon "Lacrosse" for placing Peterborough on a level with Port Hope and Oshawa. But, Mr. Editor, I do not propose to enter into newspaper discussion, but I wish to make clear that we do not intend to collide with any home team. And if such is to be organized, we will certainly drop out. In speaking to the officers of the Intermediate team a few days ago, they favored our proposal. We practically left them to decide, and "Lacrosse" was the first to raise any objection.

I venture to say that "Lacrosse" is no representative sport, but an amateur journalist writing anonymously, that he may the better note his mistakes. He is also a moralist as he desires to correct the great evil of importing professional lacrosse players. Thanking you, Mr. Editor, for your space, and "Lacrosse" for his "valuable advice."

Respectfully Yours,

GEORGE T. RICKERBY.

Getting Into the Game.

The Murray street school grounds was the scene of great activity on Saturday in the line of sports. About 30 baseball and equally as many lacrosse sports chased the ball. Peter Johnston was induced to turn out, and did great service behind the bat. Pete will be a great find for some team.

ANOTHER RETREAT

One Report Says Russians Have Evacuat d Gumbu Pass

Paris, April 1.—A despatch from St. Petersburg states that the Japanese have cut the railroad between Harbin and Vladivostock. They have sent Russian siege guns captured at Port Arthur, in the direction of Vladivostock.

The Russians after a severe fight, have evacuated Gumbu Pass.

TO KILL TREPOFF

Armed Man Arrested Admitted Such was Intention

St. Petersburg, April 1.—A detective noticed a man to-day loitering nervously and restlessly in the neighborhood of the house of Governor-General Trepoff. The officer approached the latter fled, after firing a shot from a revolver at the detective, who was slightly wounded. The man was subsequently arrested. He refuses to give his name, but admits that he planned to kill General Trepoff.

Another man was arrested to-day at the Hotel Palais Royal, and bombs were found in his rooms.

MOTIVE POWER ON G. T. P.

When the eastern division of the Grand Trunk Pacific is ready for operation it must solve a fuel problem. At Quebec it will leave tidewater and will take to the back country, heading straight for Winnipeg, 1,400 miles away, and for the prairies still further to the west. Coal can come from Nova Scotia and New Brunswick to Quebec, and there are mines at Edmonton and in the Rocky Mountains, but to what extent can it be carried to supply the middle districts? The Canadian Pacific draws its fuel from the Maritime Provinces for its eastern stretches, and for those portions of its line adjacent to the west of the Great Lakes it makes use of Pennsylvania coal, carried by water. It has great coal piles at Port William, and from them the line is supplied westward until it meets the coal from its Rocky Mountain mines. For adopting this policy the railway has railway has two good reasons. The first, and in itself sufficient reason, of course, is the cheapness of water transportation. This is reinforced by the heavy grades and awkward curves of the Canadian Pacific line on the north shore.

The Eastern division of the Grand Trunk Pacific will traverse the back country many miles away from the lakes. It will, of course, have a branch to Lake Superior. Will it get its coal for its central stretches by this route? First, its main line will be far away from water transportation. Secondly, always presuming that the very low grades necessary to the success of the project are attained—the task of hauling the coal westward from Quebec will be immensely lighter that it is on the earlier transcontinental road. The engineers of the Construction Commission hope to see trains of 1,500 tons hauled westward by great Mogul locomotives. The coal can be laid down in Quebec for $3.50 a ton, and carried in such loads, on a first-class line, they hope to see the railway able to ship as far as Winnipeg for $1.50 a ton. Coal at $5.00 a ton is cheap fuel as railway practice goes. This calculation throws light on the enormous incidental advantages enjoyed by a road which has first-class equipment. Its cars can have larger capacity, its train can carry a greater tonnage, its engines can be stronger, its fuel will be cheaper.

THE HUDSON BAY ROUTE

In a recent lecture in Montreal, Prof. J. H. Macoun describes the Hudson Bay route from Regina to Liverpool.

Mr. Macoun pointed out that distances favored the Hudson's Bay route. From Regina to Liverpool it is over 1,000 miles shorter via Fort Churchill to Liverpool than via Montreal. The route is open during three months of the year for ordinary ocean steamers, and for a long time for vessels especially constructed to contend with the ice. Although the bay would be frozen up for a considerable part of the year, the suspension of traffic through Fort Churchill would not be much longer than at Port Arthur on Lake Superior at present. It would mean also that a large part of the western outgate that now go down into the United States would be retained in Canada for shipment by the northern route. Even a considerable quantity of grain in the Western States would cross the boundary and be shipped through Canada. This is rendered easy of solution because of the character of the country extending northward. It is level and adapted for railway building. There is a good deal of lumber and minerals, too, in the country lying north of the western provinces that would develop traffic on railways running to Hudson's Bay. The continued growth of the West, the speaker said, warrants additional facilities for shipping the products out of the country.

TREASON TO CANADA

The country must not be blinded by partisan sophistry and interested reasoning to the essential character of the measure now before Parliament. At a time in the world's history when even Roman Catholic countries insist upon national systems of education, and when denominational cleavage is disappearing and creed rivalries weakening the world over, we are by deliberate action of the Parliament of Canada establishing and endowing sectarianism over a virgin territory of imperial extent, planting a dual school system among peoples separated by vital differences of speech and race, and legalizing the ascendency of a vigilant and aggressive clerical organization over raw and unformed communities where at best the work of national unification will be slow, painful and difficult. To do this is to stand convicted of treason to the permanent interests of Canada and to sow the seeds of certain strife and struggle in the future in order to serve the immediate ends of a set of embarrassed and scheming politicians.

RUSSIA'S CAPITAL CITY

The St. Petersburg census taken two years ago showed a population a trifle over 1,500,000. Of these about one-third are unable to read or write. Four-fifths, roughly speaking, are Catholics of the Greek rite; of Jews there are only 2 per cent., and of Roman Catholics only 3 per cent. Of the population, 40 per cent. are peasants and 20 per cent. householders. There are 250,000 workmen on wages, with upward of 87,000 employers. There are 425 churches and four state theatres. The principal manufactures are Gobelin tapestries, glass, gunpowder, surgical instruments, articles of malachite, embroideries, textiles, leather, paper, copper, iron, machinery, etc. Its health tables show the lowest mortality of all European cities. Nearly all its growth has been within the last century, but its progress has been nothing like that of many other Continental cities, some of which more than doubled their population with each generation in that period.

TOOK TWELVE MILLIONS

Insurance Companies Buy Japanese Bonds

Montreal, April 1.—It was said today that Canadian subscriptions to the new Japanese loan may amount to $12,000,000. The Bank of Montreal has been extremely busy taking applications which have been coming from all classes of people all over Canada. In fact the financial world has been greatly surprised at the way these bonds have been snapped up, although they say that the bonds look exceptionally attractive. The insurance companies have been heavy subscribers and other big institutions with money to invest have also gone into them, a glowing Canadian tribute to the enterprising Japanese. The list closed at the Bank of Montreal at 3 p.m. Bankers assert that if peace is declared shortly the bonds should sell at a premium of at least 5 per cent.

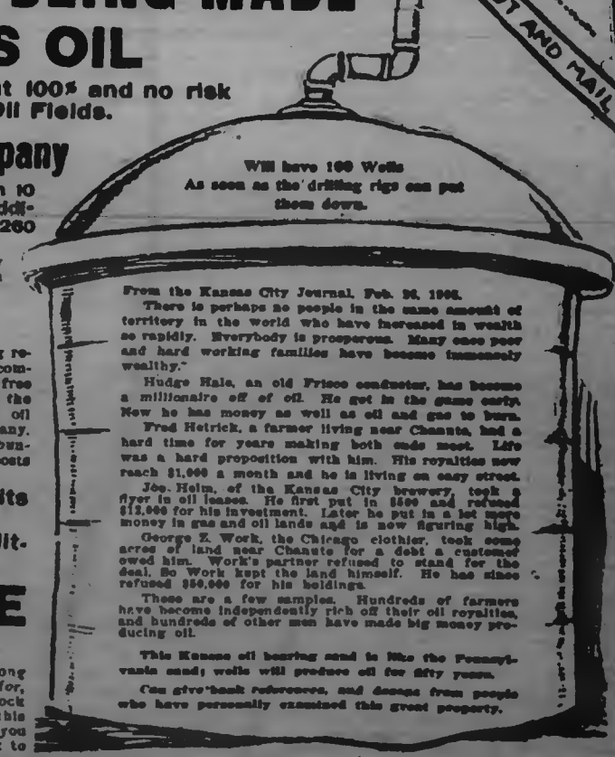
FORTUNES ARE BEING MADE IN KANSAS OIL

Here's a fortune for you. Not 10% but 100% and no risk of loss. Giant of the Oil Fields.



The Midland Oil and Gas Company

has over 180 acres of oil land and has put down 10 wells, so the land is proved up. An adjoining additional 80 was secured yesterday, making over 260 acres all in the proven belt. Just read this:

The U. S. report on the oil industry places the average daily production of Pennsylvania wells at only one-half a barrel each per day. The Midland wells are pumping

Sixty Barrels a Day Each.

The pumping plant has just been started and this is the surprising result. Nothing like it in the world. The officers and directors of this company are bank men and do not believe in debts, so the company is free from debt. They have nearly $20,000 in cash and bills receivable in the treasury and everything paid for—property, wells, pumping plant, oil tanks, well cleaning machine and everything connected with the company. Have two drilling rigs working night and day sinking wells. Have abundance of gas, which runs the drills and pumping plant, so it only costs about $5.00 a day to produce and market the oil.

The Company has about 33 per cent of its stock in the treasury as a reserve.

For a short time the Company will sell a little more of its stock at only

7½ CTS. A SHARE

Buy all you can raise money to pay for.

We could talk all day about it and not cover all the strong points. But as the company has this grand property paid for, there is only one side to it, and that is profit. Don't buy stock in a company that tells you what they will do, but buy in this company, that has proved its property, and every dollar you put in makes it better. From the Kansas City Journal, Feb. 26, 1905.

There is perhaps no people in the same amount of territory in the world who have increased in wealth so rapidly. Everybody is prosperous. Many once poor and hard working families have become immensely wealthy.

Hudge Hale, an old Frisco conductor, has become a millionaire off of oil. He got in the game early. Now he has money as well as oil and gas to burn.

Fred Hetrick, a farmer living near Chanute, had a hard time for years making both ends meet. Life was a hard proposition with him. His royalties now reach $1,000 a month and he is living on easy street.

Jos. Helm, of the Kansas City brewery, took a flyer in oil leases. He first put in $500 and refused $12,000 for his investment. Later he put in a lot more money in gas and oil lands and is now figuring high.

George Z. Work, the Chicago clothier, took some acres of land near Chanute for a debt a customer owed him. Work's partner refused to stand for the deal. So Work kept the land himself. He has since refused $50,000 for his holdings.

These are a few samples. Hundreds of farmers have become independently rich off their oil royalties, and hundreds of other men have made big money producing oil.

This Kansas oil bearing sand is like the Pennsylvania sand; wells will produce oil for fifty years.

Can give bank references, and always from people who have personally examined this great property.

VARICOCELE & STRICTURE

No other disease is so prevalent among men as Varicocele. As it interferes with the nutrition of the sexual organs it produces weakness, loss of semen through the urine, decay of the organs, pains in the loins, aching in the back, nervousness, despondency, bashfulness, palpitation of the heart, constipation, and a combination of these results in complete LOSS OF MANHOOD. Thousands of young and middle-aged men are troubled with STRICTURE. If you have reason to believe you are afflicted with it, don't neglect it. It will ruin you. Don't let doctors experiment on you by cutting, stretching or tearing it. Our NEW METHOD TREATMENT dissolves the stricture tissue, hence it disappears and can never return. We cure Varicocele and Stricture without operation or loss of time. The treatment may be taken at home privately. Send for our Free Illustrated Book on VARICOCELE and STRICTURE. WE GUARANTEE TO CURE OR NO PAY.

Kidneys & Bladder

All sexual complaints affect these organs, hence the kidneys are a great source of disease. Have you aching or weakness over the small of the back, tendency to urinate frequently, deposit in urine, coldness of hands or feet, a drowsy feeling in the morning. Don't neglect your kidneys. Our NEW METHOD TREATMENT is guaranteed to cure any disease of these organs or no pay.

WOLVES IN THE WEST

Ferocious Indians Gave Indians Great Trouble

Winnipeg, April 1.—Mail advices which have just reached Edmonton from Fort Resolution, which is a Hudson's Bay post situated on the southern shore of the Great Slave Lake, in the vast unexplored district of Mackenzie, states that the winter was marked by a very steady temperature, remaining about 30 degrees below throughout.

Wolves have become exceedingly plentiful, and of alarming boldness, making it necessary for the Indians to consolidate their camps for the purpose of protection. This is in the heart of a wild country, where magnificent specimens of wood buffalo are still at large. Wolves have attacked herds of these animals with unprecedented ferocity, and hundreds of them have been slaughtered. At Fort Smith this has been particularly the case, full grown bulls having been killed and devoured. The settlers and trappers of the district propose to memorialize the Dominion Government to take steps to preserve the wood buffalo, which, under the present arrangement, are going the way of the species which roamed over the whole northern continent in days gone by.

Russians Only Waiting for Ice to Clear Harbors

Tokio, April 1.—Nothing has occurred here to indicate the possibility of peace. The Ministry of War and the Ministry of Marine continue their activities as if preparing for war for years. New levies are being constantly sent to the front. It is officially stated that fighting columns are following the Russians northward. Interest here in the campaign is being partly transferred to the eastward. It is reported that the Russians are preparing to abandon the Island of Saghalien when its waters are free of ice.

The Russians are said to be concentrating points north of Tumen River, Korea, in the vicinity of Hunchun, northwest of Possiet Bay, and at points on the railroad in the vicinity of Ninguk, 160 miles east by north of Kirin. A good highway extends from Possiet Bay northward to Ninguk, which adjoins the Kirin Road.

No Serious Collision Has Occurred Since March 26

London, April 1.—A despatch to The Times from St. Petersburg says that several telegrams were received from Guntsuling Wednesday showing that if the Russian communications were interrupted, they have now been re-established. There apparently has been no serious collision since March 26, when there was a skirmish at Sipingai. The whereabouts of the Japanese flanking columns are not reported. Fifty more depot battalions have been formed in Russia. The seniors in all the military schools will be granted commissions in April instead of September.

CHAPTER SIX

FUTURE PROBABILITIES AND POSSIBILITIES

OF THE

Boston and Texas Corporation

I have entered pretty fully during the last few days into all the details connected with the BOSTON & TEXAS CORPORATION, from its discovery up to the present time. To-day I will give you in brief outline some of its probabilities. What are they? It is likely speaking conservatively that we will have another 6 wells operating by the first of next year. If three wells would pay a dividend of over 10 per cent, how much will nine wells pay. Our Kaolin Clay, which it is believed will answer in the manufacture of paper, as well as the English Clay, of which some 200,000 tons are imported annually into the United States for this purpose, and for which $18 per ton is paid. From shafts sunk it is estimated that we have 5,000,000 tons at least. With transportation established this clay could be sold at several dollars a ton profit. In fact enough to pay the issued capital stock over twice. Transportation seems to be getting into a better condition every day, and think you will agree on reading the following few lines, which came to hand to-day, issued by a Boston stockbroker. The Southwestern Colonization Company, of which S. P. Brundage, of St. Louis, Mo., is general manager. This concern is said to be closely connected with the St. Louis, Brownsville & Mexico Road, at whose head is B. F. Yoakum. This is the road which is building up north to San Antonio. This concern has purchased a large tract of land for colonization purposes on the Nueces River, some sixty-five miles due south of San Antonio and only a few miles south of our property. What does this indicate? Simply that the railway is an assured fact, as colonization would not be taken up unless there was railway connection.

Possibilities—These I would hardly dare enter into for fear of being called a dreamer. I simply ask you to keep these papers and see if the actual results of this Corporation are not far in advance of anything that has been stated. I thought the Peterborough people, and those living in that vicinity were alive to taking advantage of a genuine business proposition when it was presented, and had a few dollars at least to invest. I should like to get at least one reply to my advertisement, even if it is only a letter asking for more information. Unless I get some replies by the end of the month I certainly see no reason why I should continue advertising, as I am issuing in Quebec over 600 booklets about the BOSTON & TEXAS, and believe I can do better by following the sending of these by a personal visit. Am also sending quite a number to Montreal. If you want the stock say so. The price is

50 Cents per Share, Par Value $1.00

Perhaps my advertisements seem sensational. Whether they do or not they are the truth.

WHAT WIRELESS IS —WHY IT WORKS

(This is the second chapter, of which there will be four, giving a simple explanation of the great scientific discovery known as wireless telegraphy.)

CHAPTER II.

Synopsis of Chap. I: The first chapter told how wireless telegraphy was but a scientific method of taking advantage of, or controlling, a force which Nature had placed in the air. This force has existed since the creation of the world, but no one realized it until lately any more than a correct explanation was given of the "force of gravity" until a century ago. The electricity in the air makes wireless telegraphy possible. The instruments which have now been invented force that electricity to move in certain ways at the direction of the user of the wireless instrument. The unseen current is set in motion as are the waves in a pond when a stone is thrown into it, and they travel on indefinitely.

The instrument which sets the electric waves in motion in the air and which controls them in certain directions is a somewhat complicated instrument, because it has to do many things, but the principle on which it works can be easily understood and a detailed or technical description of the instrument would be superfluous here. It was stated in the first chapter that extra electricity was forced into the air in order to set the electric waves in motion.

This electric power is supplied through the sending instrument by electric batteries if a current of moderate power only is needed, or, by dynamos if a current of such strength as would be needed to send a message across the Atlantic Ocean or to any distant point where wanted. Both the sending and the receiving instruments are connected by wires or other metal substances with the earth, and it may be well to explain right here why this is done. Electricity under control, as when used in sending messages, travels in an unbroken circle, so to speak. In the case of the telegraph, a wire connects the instruments at two given points and the circuit is completed by the earth, which acts as the second or return wire. The same with wireless, the earth serves to connect the two stations, as if a second or completing circuit was installed. The current passes through the air and returns by the earth just as if it followed the chain on a bicycle and had no end or interruption. You should keep in mind this help which the earth gives, without cost, as it is connected with a later consideration of the subject.

We have noted the batteries or dynamos which supply the current. The next consideration is the means by which the electricity from these sources is distributed in the air. Poles or towers are erected and supplied with wires. This is necessary so as to get the ends of the wires up above surrounding buildings and far enough from the ground so that the current going by the air and returning by the earth will not be near enough together to get mixed up and become short-circuited, as it is known.

Between the battery or dynamo and the tower comes the instrument. This is a mechanical device which serves to make and break the current passing through the air and returning by the earth. If the operator should hold a wire in one hand which ran up the tower and one in the other hand which was connected with the batteries and should keep touching and separating the ends of those wires, he would be making and breaking the current or doing what the instrument makes possible in a more perfect manner and without danger to those handling the powerful current. A part of the sending instrument is a lever known as a key, and when this is depressed the current is unbroken, but when the operator removes the pressure of his hand the lever is raised by a spring and the current is broken just as if he were touching and separating the ends of two wires. Each time that there is this break at the sending instrument, there is a break in the current throughout its entire distance, and it is made to act on the receiving instrument as will be shown later. It is simple to see that the operator may keep the key depressed or released just as long as he wishes, or, in other words, he can regulate the making and breaking of the current at his own discretion. When the current is on for a material length of time it is called making a dash, while for a short time is termed making a dot. It is the making of these dashes and dots in a prearranged manner that makes it possible to send a message in which each letter of the alphabet is represented by a certain combination of dots and dashes.

There is another part of the sending instrument which is necessary in wireless telegraphy, and it is connected with the sending key or lever and between it and the wire going up the tower. Its object is simply to emphasize the breaks in the current and make more distinct the dots and dashes. It is so constructed that it sends the dots and dashes off the tip of the wire like the snap of a whip. This makes the choice of electric current leave the tower with greater distinctness and makes the transmission of the messages more simple and more easy to receive.

The receiving instrument is more simple than the sending instrument. The current passes down the wire from the tower at the receiving station and through the instrument into the ground, and on back to the sending station, thus making the complete circuit of current. In the receiving instrument is a lever balanced on springs and acted on by the current. When the current is passing through the instrument this lever is depressed, and at each break in the current, the lever is released and moves upward by the action of one of the springs. The movement of this lever is only about an eighth of an inch and it makes a distinct click each time it strikes the metal points which stop its rise and fall. It is by listening to these clicks and noting the length of them that the receiving operator detects the dots and dashes and thus reads the message. The waves of electricity which have been set in motion by the sending station may be considered to be flat-topped waves. Those with a broad top are dashes and those with a narrow top are dots, and the receiving instrument, through its lever, makes the distinction just as clearly as the sending instrument.

(Chapter 3, which will appear next week, will describe more fully how a single message is sent and received, and will make clear the simplicity of the long-delayed discovery.)

have given the stamp of their unqualified approval to wireless telegraphy.

Such great scientists as Lord Kelvin and Thomas A. Edison have not only acknowledged that the science has already attained a stage of commercial adaptability, but have become so imbued with the proofs of the progress already made that they now extend their predictions and openly state that wireless telegraphy will shortly girdle the world.

Rulers and leading officials of those nations which to-day represent progress have sanctioned the adoption of wireless telegraphy and are authorizing tremendous expenditures in order that their Government may be immediately in possession of a complete wireless service.

The brainy men who control the world's shipping have installed wireless apparatus upon the great leviathans that ply the deep.

Commercial princes are constantly making use of wireless messages, as is evidenced by the fact that, within the past four years, over one hundred thousand wireless messages have passed between shore stations and vessels at sea, and the annual increase in this form of business is at a ratio hitherto inconceivable. The banker, the lawyer, the merchant and the layman are all among the daily users of this modern scientific marvel.

THE POPE HAS ADOPTED WIRELESS

and ordered the apparatus installed in the Vatican Observatory. He has done this after a most extensive study of the subject of wireless telegraphy and because he has become convinced that the science has reached a practical and commercial stage. He has gone further and urgently requested the most famous wireless inventor, whose system he has adopted, to visit him at the Vatican at the earliest possible moment.

What system is it that these leading minds of the world have sanctioned and acknowledged to be a success beyond their extreme expectations?

It is the MARCONI SYSTEM in every case where real success is found and its present great lead in the new field of science makes it safe to say that it will be the Marconi system which will be adopted as the standard and exclusive system the world over. Lord Kelvin refers to the Marconi system as does Edison in all their predictions. England and Italy have adopted only the Marconi system, and the other Governments have made but little progress with any of the other systems with which they have experimented. It is the Marconi service which is installed on the ships which are handling all the ship to shore business from transatlantic liners.

It is the Marconi service which the Pope has ordered installed in the Vatican Observatory and it is Signor Marconi to whom the Pope has extended an invitation almost amounting to a command for the inventor to visit him. These things would not be so unless the Marconi system were an assured success already and gifted with promise of greater things to come.

THE MARCONI WIRELESS TELEGRAPH COMPANY OF CANADA, LTD.

works under the Marconi patents, and will share in every one of its successes. It already has tangible assets, largely in excess of capital and increasing yearly. The revenue from the stations built and building is increasing daily. The development of the Company has but started, and its assured success will lead to the erection of countless new stations and a revenue in excess of that enjoyed by any other similar enterprises in the history of the world.

Wealth and future happiness are knocking at the door of the investor

who is shrewd enough to take advantage of this opportunity which will not come again. Is it not better to invest money in this stock now, when the purchase can be made at $5 per share, than to wait until everybody else is aware of the success and its support by the world's leaders, when that will mean that the price will immediately be at least double what it now is? You will have no more to show for your money, a given investment will not you but one-half as many shares, the dividends will be also half as much, for you will have but half as much stock on which to draw dividends, and you will have lost the profits as your stock advances in value.

Remember that you can buy any number of shares, from one share to two hundred shares. Would it not be wise to make an investment immediately of your investment funds instead of leaving them idle or drawing but a small interest when this best of opportunities is slowly but surely slipping away from you?

You can not very well set yourself up as wiser than the men who guide the policies of the world. Make yourself thoroughly familiar with all the facts in regard to the Canadian Company and become a partner to share the profits of the great Marconi invention. Ask us any questions, write for particulars, but to make sure of an allotment, send your money NOW.

TO CANADIAN INVESTORS

Oregon-Idaho Gold Mining Co.

INCORPORATED

Capital $5,000,000. Shares $1.00 Each, Par Value, Fully Paid Up and Non-Assessable.

We have just secured the agency for the above splendid proposition, of which we have been allotted a block of Treasury stock. We can confidently recommend this as a safe and exceedingly profitable investment. Every dollar of stock is guaranteed by twenty year, full paid, gold bond, delivered to purchaser of stock, from an Investment Company that has no interest whatever in the company, but who are depositing of the debentured bonds to the public, and, under their charter, they are compelled to deposit securities to an equal amount, to the State Treasurer under which they received their charter, there by doubly securing the payment of their gold bonds.

The Company's property, which is now past the project stage, is known to be marvellously rich in gold.

Following is the opinion of G. W. Miller, Mining Engineer, formerly with the Boston and Montana Consolidated Copper and Silver Mining Company, U. S.; Simmer and Jack Mining Co.; Limited, Elandsfontein South Africa:—

"You have here a most valuable property and one of the strongest fissure veins that can be found in any part of the world.

"With the present development of the Monument Mine, I estimate that 100 tons per day can be extracted, which will mill from $15.00 to $30.00 per ton. The total cost of mining the ore, delivering and milling, I place at about $4.00 per ton. With the increased milling capacity, it is safe to say that the mine can furnish 100 tons of $15.00 ore, which would yield a clear profit of $11.00 per ton, or $1,100.00 per day (equal to $400,000.00 per annum). Estimated total value of ore in sight, $3,000,000."

During the past summer, a party of the Company Directors visited the property, taking with them, Amos P. Brown, Ph.D., Mining Engineer and Professor of Geology and Mineralogy at the University of Pennsylvania. Dr. Brown writes as follows:—

"In regards to the amount of ore available at the mines at Singiser, I saw on the dumps several thousand tons, probably 5000 tons would be an under-estimate.

"As to the size of the ore body itself, from what I saw of the geological structure, I think that there is every indication that it will be found to extend underground as far as the out-croppings on the south side of the gulch. This would mean an ore body large enough to keep the present mill running for many years to come.

A write up of the proposition will appear in these columns in a few days. Watch for it. In the meantime we will be pleased to furnish full information to investors.

IT MAY PAY YOU

A HIGH GRADE INDUSTRIAL AND MINING INVESTMENT

We have thoroughly investigated it and found it to be right in every respect. Did you ever have a chance to invest in a straight legitimate money making proposition? If not,

THIS IS YOUR OPPORTUNITY

We own a monopoly of the water right privileges in the Thunder Mountain mining district, State of Idaho, U.S.A.; seven water rights in all; one developed and in use. The property of the Company consists of over 1400 acres, with plenty of timber for building and mining purposes, a saw mill fully equipped and in operation, a 10-stamp mill now on its way from the B. R. Station to the property, and 40 additional stamps to be purchased at once and installed during the coming summer. This is the largest and most favorably situated property in the district. Scores of the tunnels have been driven over 400 ft., cutting many dikes, demonstrating that we have an inexhaustible body of ore. The ore bodies are sampled by an assayer every 10 ft., and assays run from 40c. to $900 per ton. The ore is free milling, and can be mined and milled for about $1.00 per ton.

This Company has had a phenomenal growth, and "The Thunder Mountain Prospector," published at Roosevelt, Idaho, where the property is located, states that this Company is three times as large as any other Company operating in the district. 30 men at work on the property. Over $60,000 worth of stock sold within the last 30 days. Only 100,000 shares more to be sold at 50c. per share. You cannot afford to miss this opportunity; investigate at once.

The Catarrhozone Dry Air Treatment

THE ONLY RATIONAL, SURE CURE FOR CATARRH AND DISEASES OF THE NOSE, THROAT AND LUNGS.

This only natural cure for catarrh is the dry air treatment which effects startling cures without resorting to drugs, dangerous snuff and noxious mixtures.

Catarrhozone kills the catarrh germs, soothes and heals the sore mucous membrane, clears the air passages of the nose and throat, cures chronic catarrh that has resisted all other treatments.

The reason why Catarrhozone cures is because it really gets at the cause of the disease. No matter how remote or long standing your catarrh may be you can place perfect faith in Ferrozone. It is Nature's Cure composed of the most healing balsamic antiseptics known to medical science.

MR. L. MURPHY, well known in West Medford, Mass., writes; "Catarrhozone cured my catarrh, after a score of doctors failed. I used to hawk and spit, my nose was continually stuffed up, and often I was sick at my stomach. Catarrhozone has removed every trace of catarrh from my system."

MISS EMMA PETERS, Highland Grove, N.B., writes; "I am more than pleased with the results from Catarrhozone. It cured me of the worst kind of nose and throat catarrh. Other friends using Catarrhozone are greatly pleased with it and agree that it is the only sure remedy for catarrh they ever used."

Mr. LAWRENCE KENNEDY, of West New Annan, says; "For three years I suffered from catarrh and throat trouble. I tried many remedies but they were of no avail. I got no relief till I tried Catarrhozone. Too much cannot be said of so valuable a medicine. I shall always recommend Catarrhozone to anyone troubled with catarrh; it is a positive cure."

MR. W. W. BEACH, of Chipman, Ont., who suffered for years from "systematic catarrh says; "Catarrhozone is the best remedy I have ever used for catarrh and I have used a lot of them. Catarrhozone was exactly suited to my case."

No intelligent person can doubt the merit of Catarrhozone which receives more praise from Medical Journals, doctors and the public than any other remedy; it is certain to cure every type of catarrh, lung and throat trouble. Two months' treatment, $1.00; sample size 25c. At druggists or by mail from N. C. Polson & Co., Hartford, Conn., U.S., and Kingston, Ont. Refuse substitutes for Catarrhozone.

TOWN AND COUNTY NEWS

GATHERED HERE AND THERE BY TIMES' REPORTERS

Who Knows Daniel Egan?

County Crown Attorney R. E. Wood is in receipt of a letter from Iowa, asking information for the whereabouts of Daniel Egan. Egan's friends say that he left the State last fall, saying that he intended to visit this town and near by places. There is a monetary consideration involved in his being found so his friends are anxious to get news from him.

Interesting Event at the S. A. Barracks

Brigadier W. J. H. Turner and Capt. McMillan, of Montreal, conducted special meetings in the Salvation Army Barracks yesterday. They will also hold special meetings to-day. Brigadier Turner has been in charge of the Army work in East Ontario and Quebec for about four years, and has had good success; he is well liked in Peterborough. The following officers will take part in the meeting to-night: Ensign J. Slater, Lieut. J. Davis, of Campbellford; Captain M. Lang, Lieut. Moor, of Cobourg; Ensign Gammaidge, of Port Hope; Captain Marshall, of Millbrook. The Army Brass Band will play selections.

SOCIETY EVENTS OF INTEREST

—Mr. R. R. Hall, M.P., is home from Ottawa for Sunday.

—Mrs. John Smith, of Otonabee, is visiting friends in Cobourg.

—Mr. D. B. Gillies, editor of the Canadian Grocer, was in town on Saturday morning.

—Miss Maggie McNichol left on Saturday morning for Rochester, where she intends taking a course in St. Mary's Hospital.

—Miss Dorothea G. Hincks, daughter of Rev. Canon Hincks, formerly of Windsor, is the guest of Miss Hayward, "Parkdale Nook."

—Dr. Singleton, Provincial Health Officer, has returned from Toronto, where he has been visiting his daughter, Mrs. Geo. Stevenson, Homewood avenue.

—Miss Alice Scott, who has been visiting her cousin, Miss Letetia Quinn, of Ashburnham, for the last six weeks, returned to her home in Waterloo Saturday morning.

—Michael Greer, in St. Joseph's Hospital, as a result of his terrible accident by falling across a circular saw in White's Mill, Lakefield, whereby the brain was exposed and his jaw almost cut in two last Friday, was reported late last night by the hospital officials as doing well.

After the Farmers' Dimes

A faker, with bland disregard of town by-laws, on Saturday afternoon stationed his buggy without a horse attached, in front of the Munro House, and gathered in the dimes from our rural neighbors, who, with open eyes, ears and mouth, listened to the voice of the charmer expatiating on the merits of his catarrh cure. An officer heard of this bold bid for the farmers' wealth, but arrived on the scene just as the faker had quit business

Child Lost Yesterday.

A little child about four years of age, a son of Mr. Sam Bebe, yesterday wandered away from the family residence on Antrim street to below the National Hotel on Water street. The father was greatly frightened for several hours, until the child was brought to the police station by a gentleman who found him crying and unable to give a comprehensive account of himself or his address. The father, when making another call at the station was rejoiced to find the small wanderer.

Collegiate Institute Tenders Too High

The Property Committee of the Board of Education has at last opened tenders for building the new Collegiate Institute. Whilst the gentlemen composing this committee are in possession of the figures demanded for this work, they are very reticent, and will only make known to the public what that same public are asked to pay for their construction work, when the Board meets. It is however, an open secret that the figures somewhat startled the committee, as the cloth on hand is somewhat short for the wished for suit. Either one of two ways of settling this difficulty must be chosen. If we are to have a new Collegiate Institute; property owners must face a good steep addition to their taxes for years to come or the plans for the building must be considerably modified, in fact the building will have to be cut down to a size and condition that will fill the requirements of its purpose and not a monument to ambition.

—The Lindsay Posts says; In our town park to become a dumping ground for tin scrag and garbage of all kinds? What would this paper say, could they see the piles of scrag and junk that are piled up on our market square?

A TRUE APPETIZER AND TONIC

Mi-o-na Will Make You Feel Hungry and Hearty, and Give Strength and Vitality

Ask any friend who looks thin, pale, and out of health, how many meals he or she eats a day, and the chances are that the answer will be 'Not over two, and I don't feel hungry then." The plump, rosy, and robust eat three square meals daily, and their perfect health is due to a strong stomach and digestive system, as such a system takes out of the food all those elements that make pure blood, and give nourishment and vitality to the body.

The one appetizer and tonic that should be taken is Mi-o-na, the only agent known that will strengthen the stomach and digestive system, and put them in perfect working order that they will digest easily and naturally all the food that is eaten, and send you to the table positively hungry for the next meal.

Without a strong stomach digestion will be poor, the blood impure, and serious liver and kidney troubles result, causing headaches, backaches, spots before the eyes, dizziness, sleeplessness, nervousness, irritableness, a furred tongue and bad breath, all of which can be readily overcome by the use of Mi-o-na, (costing but 50c. a box), as it goes right to the foundation of perfect health, the stomach.

Scores of leading people in this State, including editors, ministers, teachers, and their families, gladly testify to the tonic, strengthening, and health-giving effects of Mi-o-na. Furthermore, Wm. Medill, one of the most reliable Druggists in this section, sell Mi-o-na Under a guarantee to refund the money if it does not produce satisfactory results.

A CHEAP LOSS.

Defeated Candidate in East Peterborough Only Spent $24.25 on His Knees for a Seat

Mr. H. A. Moore ran an economical race in East Peterborough for a seat in the Ontario Legislature. Although Mr. Moore was defeated he has the satisfaction of documentary evidence, in the report made by Mr. B. Morrow, County Registrar, now made public that his campaign expenses only amounted to the insignificant sum of $24.25. This does away with even a hint or suspicion of bribery or corruption, and is probably the cheapest run election campaign ever made in Canada. The regret over defeat must be greatly palliated by this proof of economy and, inferentially, rebuke to illegal procedure.

SATURDAY'S MARKET

A Large Market and in Enough are Here Moderate Prices

The attendance at Saturday's market was notably larger than during preceding weeks. Farm produce was in abundance, and consequently prices took a tumble. Butter was offered in large quantities at 25c. Eggs of which also there was a large offering, sold at 15c and 16c. Chickens were quite plentiful, the usual price being about 80c a pair. Honey was 10c a pound.

On the outside market potatoes and apples were most in evidence, the former selling at 75c and 80c per bag and the latter at 60c. Pork, which has been advancing steadily for some weeks went at 9c and 10c, instead of 8 and 9c, the price which has been ruling for some weeks. A number of loads of hay were offered the price being $10.

Police Court

OFFICIALS

Chief of Police, G.I. Read
Magistrate, D.W. Deamble

Saturday's session of the Court was a short one. A local livery man who had neglected to pay us his license fee in time was assessed $4.50 costs for delay.

Allen Lindsay paid $2 for the degree of D. and D.

Mr. Metherall has recovered his bike. Last fall his wheel was stolen, and never seen by him again until Saturday. Mr. Metheral saw a lad riding a wheel, that recalled recollections of many a spin and scorch and, on closer examination, identified his stolen bicycle. The boy, by name Murphy, who lives with his father in the shed where the Peterborough Fuel and Cartage used to have their office, claimed that he bought it last fall from a man, whose name he forgot, that was working on the dredge, and refused to give it up. The Chief investigated the matter and told the lad he had better give up the wheel to its owner. Murphy argued that he had spent some money on repairs, and insisted on his outlay being refunded before surrendering the wheel. The Chief told the boy to make a quick transfer of the wheel or the boy and bicycle would together go to the station. This argument solved the trouble as far as Mr. Metheral getting his wheel was concerned, but the boy may yet have to find the man who sold him the bicycle, or prove his right to its temporary possession.

P.C. Adams leaves this morning to bring from Toronto a young lad charged with the theft of $50 from a member of his own family. The money is alleged to have been stolen early Saturday morning, and the party accused of appropriating the coin left early the same day for Toronto. A telegram sent Saturday by Chief Round, caused his arrest as he stepped off the train in Toronto.

Local Incidents

BY THE TIMES MAN ON THE STREET.

—The Chief has a watch chain on hand, awaiting a vest to hang it on. Who lost it?

—The Board of Directors of the Y.W.C.A., will meet this afternoon at 3 o'clock in the new building.

—Brick piers are being placed to the east of the Y.W.C.A. building for the verandah which will overlook Mr. Jas. Stevenson's garden.

—Many car loads of cinders have been emptied into the washout slot on the G.T.R. at Lily Lake. A new culvert is to be built to remedy the trouble.

—Married man — A good steady worker—wants permanent employment or would accept day work in the meantime. Leave word at this office or apply to 231 Park street.

—The back part of that house on the south-east corner of Simcoe and Aylmer streets, occupied by almond-eyed Mongolian laundrymen, is being pulled down preparatory to erecting a new addition that will stand up without outside support.

—The great increase in the Peterborough Custom House receipts for March, is partly attributable to duty paid on oats for the American Cereal Company, and a portion of this will be given back in rebates when the products of these oats are re-exported, the oats being merely ground "In Bond" so as to give Canadian industry the price of this work.

—In the euchre contest between members from No. 1 Ward, versus those from the balance of the town, held Friday night, in the Young Conservative Club, the town won. There were some fifteen or sixteen tables kept going, the play being greatly enjoyed. The town won by 78 points, the score standing; Town, 607; No. 1 Ward, 529.

—Mr. Joe. Murphy and Mr. James O'Toole, of Ottawa, are in town, on business and pleasure combined.

BASEBALL.

A CONFIDENTIAL CHAT.

"It's perfect nonsense, Bessie, for you to talk of being laid on the shelf. Why, it all depends on yourself. Forget your worries, your aches and ailments; do as I did, take plenty of out-of-door air, cultivate happiness by not allowing your mind to dwell on the trifles and the worries of life. I sent fifty one-cent stamps to Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., for his 'Common Sense Medical Adviser,' and found it contained much useful information about the [illegible] easy, and everything a woman should know. I then decided to write Dr. Pierce and tell him all about my ailments. I received such a nice, carefully considered and confidential letter, in reply, giving me advice about my diet, exercise and all. This advice is free to everyone and I wonder you don't write him at once. It didn't take me many months to regain my good looks. Ever since I was fifteen I have suffered untold agonies periodically but now I am free from pain, worry and bad temper. Occasionally I took Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets—this for the complexion, and to stimulate the liver. Then I took Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription three times a day for those womanly weaknesses I told you about. That's my secret of beauty. It's the easiest thing in the world to be happy and keep one's good looks. Look at the thousands of women who have been made well by Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription; look how they keep their good looks. Dr. Pierce offers $500 reward for any case of Leucorrhea, Female Weakness, Prolapsus, or Falling of Womb which he cannot cure. All he asks is a fair and reasonable trial of his means of cure."

HOMESTEAD REGULATIONS

Any even numbered section of Dominion lands in Manitoba or the North-west Territories, excepting 8 and 26, which has not been homesteaded, or reserved to provide wood lots for settlers, or for other purposes, may be homesteaded upon by any person who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years of age, to the extent of one-quarter section of 160 acres more or less.

ENTRY

Entry may be made personally at the local land office for the district in which the land to be taken is situate, or if the homesteader desires, he may, on application to the Minister of the Interior, Ottawa, or the Commissioner of Immigration, Winnipeg, or the local agent for the district in which the land is situate, receive authority for some one to make entry for him. A fee of $10 is charged for a homestead entry.

HOMESTEAD DUTIES

A settler who has been granted an entry for a homestead is required by the provisions of the Dominion Lands Act, and the amendments thereto, to perform the conditions connected therewith, under one of the following plans:

[1] At least six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each year during the term of three years. It is the practice of the Department to require a settler to bring 15 acres under cultivation, but if he prefers he may substitute stock; and 20 head of cattle, to be actually his own property, with buildings for their accommodation, will be accepted instead of the cultivation.

[2] If the father (or mother, if the father is deceased), of any person who is eligible to make a homestead entry under the provisions of this Act, resides upon a farm in the vicinity of the land entered for by such person as a homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence prior to obtaining patent may be satisfied by such person residing with the father or mother.

[3] If a settler was entitled to and has obtained entry for a second homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence prior to obtaining patent may be satisfied by residence upon the first homestead, if the second homestead is in the vicinity of the first homestead.

[4] If the settler has his permanent residence upon farming land owned by him in the vicinity of his homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence may be satisfied by residence upon the said land.

The term "vicinity" used above is meant to indicate the same township, or an adjoining or cornering township.

A settler who avails himself of the provisions of clauses [2], [3] or [4] must cultivate 30 acres of his homestead, or substitute 30 head of stock, with buildings for their accommodation, and have besides 80 acres substantially fenced.

The privilege of a second entry is restricted by law to those settlers only who completed the duties upon their first homesteads to entitle them to patent on or before the 2nd of June, 1889.

Every homesteader who fails to comply with the requirements of the homestead law is liable to have his entry cancelled and the land may again be thrown open for entry.

APPLICATION FOR PATENT

Should be made at the end of three years, before the Local Agent, Sub-Agent or the Homestead Inspector. Before making application for patent the settler must give six months notice in writing to the Commissioner of Dominion Lands at Ottawa of his intention to do so.

INFORMATION

Newly arrived immigrants will receive, at the Immigration Office in Winnipeg, or at any Dominion Lands Office in Manitoba or the North-west Territories, information as to the lands that are open for entry, and from the officers in charge, free of expense, advice and assistance in securing lands to suit them. Full information respecting the land, timber, coal and mineral laws, as well as respecting Dominion Lands in the Railway Belt in British Columbia, may be obtained upon application to the Secretary of the Department of the Interior, Ottawa; the Commissioner of Immigration, Winnipeg, Manitoba, or to any of the Dominion Lands Agents in Manitoba or the North-west Territories.

W. W. CORY,
Deputy Minister of the Interior.

N. B.—In addition to Free Grant Lands, to which the Regulations above stated refer, thousands of acres of most desirable lands are available for lease or purchase from railroad and other corporations and private firms in Western Canada.

BEST ADVERTISING MEDIUM IN EASTERN ONTARIO

VOL XXXIII NO 79 — PETERBOROUGH ONTARIO, TUESDAY APRIL 4 1905 — PRICE TWO CENTS

AN INFAMOUS PROPOSITION FROM ITALIAN PAPAL ABLEGATE AT OTTAWA

"You Change School System and We'll Extend Manitoba Boundary."

STARTLING CHARGE AGAINST THE QUEBEC HEIRARCHY.

Premier Roblin Will Base His Protest on Notorious Interference of the Italian Representative From Rome.

Ottawa, April 4.—It is believed that Manitoba's protest against the Autonomy Bill will contain startling revelations regarding the Autonomy Bill. It was no secret to those who closely watched events at Ottawa that Sir Wilfrid Laurier visited almost daily the papal delegate while the school clauses of the Autonomy Bill were under consideration by the executive, but it will be startling news to a great many at least that the latter has seen fit to interfere in provincial matters as well. It appears, however, that Mgr. Sbaretti's fine Italian hand is everywhere visible, and that the protest that will soon be heard from the Government of Manitoba, will be based on the charges that the Italian delegate is notoriously interfering with the legislation of the Dominion.

"If You will change your school system we will see that the boundaries of Manitoba are extended northwards."—The Papal Delegate.

The above is believed to be the proposal made by the Papal ablegate to the Attorney-General of Manitoba. It is needless to say that this is an exceedingly grave state of affairs in a British province, yet, according to the world, those who know declare that his excellency was speaking for the Laurier Government when he made this proposition to the representative of the Roblin administration.

MOST REV. DONATIUS SBARETTI

PRINCE OF WALES OPERAED ON

London, April 4.—The Prince of Wales underwent an operation this morning at Marlborough House, the nature of which was not divulged in the official statement subsequently issued. The public was assured that nothing serious was the matter by Sir Francis H. Laking and Sir Frederick Treves (the court physicians), whose signatures are appended to the statement as follows;

"Owing to a slight operation this morning, the Prince of Wales will be confined to his room for a few days. As his condition gives rise to no uneasiness, no bulletins will be issued."

As further evidence that nothing alarming is the matter with the Prince of Wales, he yesterday attended church, and visited an artist's private studio.

FIFTY FOUR MINERS ENTOMBED

Chicago, April 4. — It is reported here that an explosion has occurred in the Joseph Lester Mine at Ziegler, Ill., and that sixty men are entombed. Mr. Lester said that he had received no advices from the mine, and that he did not believe there was any truth in the story.

Carbondale, Ill., April 4.—Railway officials here say that fifty-four miner are entombed at Zeigler, Ill. According to reports received here the entire opening of the mine at the surface is wrecked. Although the explosion is attributed to gas, suspicion exists that there may have been another cause. Only non-union men are employed in the mine since the strike for increased wages some months ago, resulting in riots and the presence of militia and armed guards. The last of the troops were recently withdrawn, although reports were current that there had been attempts to bribe officials to permit outsiders to gain entrance to the mine. State Mine Inspector Atkinson reported at his last examination of the shaft that the men were employed in two shifts. The explosion is reported to have occurred as the two shifts were changing to-day.

Carbondale, Ill., April 4.—Later reports from the Joseph Lester Coal Mine at Zeigler, Ill., say that 20 miners are killed and 18 wounded.

have been vexed when using cream of tartar and soda to find their work uneven. If sometimes good, at others the biscuit and cake will be heavy or sour or full of lumps of soda that set the teeth on edge. Flour, eggs and butter wasted. This is because the cream of tartar is adulterated or cannot be used in the proper proportions.

DISCUSSING PEACE

Japanese Minister and Delcasse Hold Protracted Interview.

Paris, April 4.—It is reliably stated that Dr. Motono, the Japanese Minister to France, and Foreign Minister Delcasse, have been meeting twice a week at the latter's house, No. 11 Boulevard de Cichy, ever since the battle of Mukden, spending hours in discussing peace possibilities.

EXPECTS ATTACK

Residents Flee, and Troops Concentrating at the Fortifications

Wonsan, April 4. — The Herald courier who left Vladivostok a month ago reports that the residents there expect the Japanese investment early in the spring. Many, therefore, are leaving daily for Europe, while those who are compelled to remain are sending their valuables away. The number of non-combatant Europeans now in Vladivostok is approximately 100.

Practically no steamships succeed in running the Japanese blockade. All dockyard work has been suspended for thirty days, repairs to the warships being completed.

The defensive works, entanglements, pits and fortifications of large magnitude are completely hidden by transplanted trees, forming an effective screen. The same method has been used on the fortified islands at the entrance to the harbor.

Martial law has been proclaimed in the city, where a thousand men have been garrisoned. 25,000 additional troops being quartered in the fortifications. Re-enforcements were arriving daily when the courier left town.

It is reported that ultimately the garrison will be increased to 80,000.

The courier further reports that the Russian garrison formerly stationed at Possiet Bay has been withdrawn to Vladivostok, and that with the exception of 400 men on the Tumen River no new Russians between Vladivostok and Bong Chang, where the Japanese headquarters have been established.

General Kawamura has sent a strong column toward the headwaters of the Yalu to forestall a possible Russian move in this direction. Thus the Japanese army completely controls northeastern Korea, having accomplished this with practically no opposition.

PRINCESS IN A LOWLY HOME

Supposed Daughter of King Leopold Married to Bookkeeper-Prince

Milwaukee, April 4.—A woman believed to be a daughter of King Leopold of Belgium is living here in an unpretentious cottage, under the name of "Mrs. Alton." Her husband, who is said to be an Italian nobleman, is a bookkeeper in the Rockwell plant. "Mrs. Alton's" true name is given as Princess Velva Maria Von Dornberg. Her husband's name is said to be Phillip Louis Prelean. An ancestor was the last doge of Venice. "Mrs. Alton" said she and her husband had come to this country to live in peace.

ELOPED WITH TWO WOMEN

Omaha Man Said to Have Run Away With Kansas City Widow and Sister

Cincinnati, April 4.—Harriett L. Clark has brought suit for divorce from Charles M. Clark, a wealthy Indianapolis man, claiming he eloped with two Kansas City women.

At Kansas City, Mrs. Clark says, her husband became infatuated with a widow and her sister, eloping to Omaha with both, where they went into the restaurant business, but after living with them six months he returned and sought a reconciliation with his wife.

She forgave him, and afterwards brought suit for divorce, but Clark, she says, pleaded with her until she withdrew her suit.

They separated again Wednesday, and she is determined it ..e final this time.

Viceroy Curzon Sees Danger Along the Northern Frontier

London, April 4.—In spite of what is said about Russia, British statesmen are not acting on the assumption that she need be regarded no longer with apprehension. Lord Curzon is reported as saying she will rise from her humiliation with a more dangerous program than ever.

Curzon's keynote of administration is the theory that Russia will try conclusions some day with Britain along the north-west Indian frontier, and the police reorganization is part of the comprehensive arrangement reached between the viceroy and the Ameer for mutual assistance.

NO POLITICS IN LICENSES

All to be Treated Alike in Regard to Licenses

The Provincial Secretary was asked in the Legislature if it was the policy of the new License Commissioners to drive out of trade those liquor men who had voted Liberal on January 25th? A member said a report to this effect had gone about.

Hon. Mr. Hanna replied that instructions had been issued by the Department to all license inspectors and commissioners, that no liquor licenses should be granted or refused on account of the politics of the applicant. This will be good news to several license holders in Peterborough.

Report Submitted by Mr. H.P. Kennedy, Chairman Building Com.

Peterborough, Ont., April 3rd, 1905.

To the Chairman and Members of the Board of Education;

Gentlemen,—Your committee beg leave to report as follows;—

The plans and specifications for a new Collegiate Institute which we had prepared, were submitted for tenders in the early part of February, local contractors only being asked for tenders.

Tenders were opened at our meeting on March 3rd, and of the four submitted the lowest was for $69,700.

As this sum was very considerably in excess of the appropriation at the disposal of the Board, we deemed it advisable before making any report to take every step possible to secure lower tenders. The time for receiving tenders was therefore extended to March 31st, and the secretary was directed to advertise in the Toronto papers as well as in the local papers, that we might have the benefit of the widest competition.

On Friday, March 31st, the tenders received were opened, but it was found that no material change from the figures of former tenders had been secured. Copies of all tenders are herewith attached.

In submitting this report your committee desire to say that they have put forth every effort to secure the best possible plans for a Collegiate Institute that would be worthy in every respect of so prosperous and growing a city as Peterborough.

We have submitted the plans for criticism and suggestions to our Collegiate Institute Staff, and to the Provincial authorities, and have had our architect carry out as far as practicable all valuable suggestions received.

We have had moreover the most expert advice on heating, ventilating and sanitation, so that we feel the plans now submitted, are in keeping with, not only present needs, but the needs of a future city such as all progressive citizens of Peterborough hope to see, a city second to none in Eastern Ontario, with a population very much greater than we now have, and a population that will not care to be saddled with a school that we built with no thought for the future.

The plans here submitted we feel are in harmony with progressive educational ideals of school architecture, and school accommodation. To recommend plans of which this could not be said would be a retrograde step, and altogether out of harmony with every other progressive movement in our progressive city.

We believe therefore, that while the lowest tender is considerably above the appropriation of $50,000, a building suitable in every respect and worthy of its surroundings can hardly be erected at any very material reduction of cost, without such an alteration of plans, as would sacrifice much of the beauty, convenience and efficiency of the building, and render changes and alterations a responsible necessity in the not very distant future.

It is well for our citizens to understand that a very excellent feature of these plans is the provision for a large auditorium, for the holding of public meetings, school conventions, etc., in addition to the large and well equipped gymnasium. These are features now found in all up to date High Schools and Collegiate Institutes.

In submitting this report, your committee unanimously recommend that this Board take, at the earliest possible date, such steps as are necessary for the securing of sufficient additional funds for the carrying out of these plans.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

(Signed) H. P. KENNEDY,
Chairman of Building Committee.

SECOND TENDERS.

W. J. Henry, for plastering	3,560.00
A. A. McIntyre, contract, with exception of plumbing	70,000.00
T. Rutherford & Co., contract	72,975.00

Roberts & Hetherington, for painting and glazing	2,997.50
R. Carton & Co., for painting and glazing	1,800.00
R. Carton & Co., for glass...	1,500.00

A long discussion was held, nearly all present taking part in reference to ways and means.

Several suggestions were made on account of the great excess in tenders over appropriation, which included asking the Council for a further grant, which was opposed on the grounds that so many thousand dollars were now to be voted on by the people, such as the fire hall, etc. It was also suggested that the architect be paid for what he had done, and get out entire new plans. Mr. Rutherford made a long and strong appeal to go ahead and put up a handsome building even though it cost $100,000.

After the matter had been threshed out, inspected, and all kinds of explanations proffered, the report was unanimously adopted. Further particulars of the meeting, unfortunately, crowded out, will appear in our issue of to-morrow.

It is a matter of satisfaction that the Board unanimously decided to adopt the Building Committee's report, and that the town will have an opportunity to vote on this by-law, by which we will obtain a Collegiate Institute that will be a credit to the town. If $50,000 is to be spent on the building, it would be poor economy to spend it for the sake of a trifling $20,000 more.

HEARD ON THE CAR.

An Irish Lady on a George Street Car Discusses a Smart Alexander

Yesterday two young gentlemen were riding south on a George street car. As the car passed Hunter street an elderly Irish lady, armed with innumerable parcels boarded the car, and, just as she tried to take her seat, by the car starting rather suddenly, lost her footing, and scattered her packages broadcast. Shortly afterwards the conductor, who having previously taken fares from the two young men, passed them by and demanded the old lady's nickel. "Faith, and I do not see why them two men don't pay, and I have to," says the lady. "Oh," says one of the smart dudelets, "I don't have to pay, I travel on my good looks." The young man was not built after the form and features of an Apollo, in truth he, if we might whisper inclined to be homely in looks. This was made plain by the old lady, who after sizing him up, retorted "Well, sorr, you must be pretty near your journey's end."

OBITUARY.

Death of Mr. Thos. M'Cronsin, Father of Mr. Paul M'Cronsin

The many friends of Mr. Paul M'Cronsin, of the Canadian General Electric Company, will tender their condolences over the death, on the 20 inst., of his father, Mr. Thomas M'Cronsin, at his residence in Penetanguishene, Ont. Mr. Thos. M'Cronsin was born at Strabane, Co. Tyrone, Ireland, in 1827, and was a gentleman known and respected throughout this Province. He at one time was editor of the Tribune, a Catholic journal and resigned from this to assume the position of Superintendent of the Penetanguishene Reformatory for boys. The deceased was always a good adviser of the boys under his control and was the direct means of effecting a permanent change for the better in many of those under his charge. When the boys were, about a year ago, removed to the Industrial school at Mimico, Mr. M'Cronsin retired.

CHINA MAY DEFY RUSSIA WITHIN NEXT TEN YEARS

Baron Takahashi Declares Great Nation Is Awakening From Its Lethargy and Developing Rapidly Along Same Lines Japan Followed--Rapprochement Between Two Nations Steadily Being Affected--Army and Navy of China Being Recreated.

London, April 4.—Baron M. Takahashi, Japanese Minister, today spoke interestingly regarding the internal conditions in China since the China-Japanese war. He said China is awakening. The Government is making rapid strides along the lines on which Japan has developed.

China is sending pupils abroad to study and bringing in foreign instructors. Many of these are Japanese, the rest, and a rapprochement between the two countries is steadily being effected. The Manchus are delighted with the Japanese administration wherever it is in force, because they find no lawlessness and perfect justice.

Takahashi added, proposes reorganizing the army and recreating its navy. The Japanese believe that within ten The Chinese Government, M. Tak years China will be able to defy Russia.

In this connection a Foreign Office official said to the Associated Press today that he believed Japan would occupy Harbin and also maintain the nucleus of a garrison in Manchuria by an arrangement with China for a period of years after the war. He added that there was not the slightest doubt that the Japanese would maintain the open door and refrain from all active manipulation of the Manchurian Government, as they declared at the beginning of hostilities.

Police Court

OFFICIALS

Chief of Police, G.I. Reed
Magistrate, D.W. Dumble

There was no Court held yesterday. It speaks well for a police force consisting of only five members to have the morality and sobriety of 15,000 people under such control that from Saturday morning till Monday there should be no arrests or complaints involving a trial.

At this morning's court, a local hoteliman will be charged with a breach of the Liquor Law, by taking a watch in security for cash from a customer. The law on this point is stringent.

P.C. Adams yesterday evening brought back from Toronto, the young lad Hayes, who was arrested there on a telegram from Chief Hessel. He is charged with stealing $60 from his brother, who with himself, lives with their father on Water street north. When searched in the Toronto police station, Hayes had in his possession about $40, having, it is claimed, spent the balance on clothes and travelling expenses.

ROYAL ROMANCE WITH FLAVOR ING OF STATECRAFT

Pittsburg, April 5.—A cable from Paris to the Dispatch says; The engagement of Prince Gustavus Adolphus of Sweden to Princess Patricia of Connaught turns out to be not idyllic as was at first imagined, now that the facts are coming out. Princess "Patsy," as her intimates call her, didn't meet her Prince Charming by chance, but the Cairo encounter was carefully arranged by King Edward of England.

The King's object, it is said, was to checkmate Germany; which desired to get Sweden and Norway under its influence. The Kaiser hoped by a naval and military understanding to arrange for a new confederacy, with a view to its ultimate absorption. The Norwegians especially were opposed to the Kaiser's scheming, and an English Princess is to take some day her place in the Swedish and Norwegian thrones, when British influence will replace German, royal uncle having outwitted imperial nephew.

Preparations for the reception of King Alphonso are progressing, but not much enthusiasm is manifested, although tradesmen along the route of the procession expect heavy provincial business. The King will occupy the Quai d'Orsay apartments reserved for King Victor Emmanuel. He will be taken to the public monuments and then to Versailles, where he will find the portrait of the founder of the Bourbon dynasty in Spain, Philippe D'Anjou. This will about conclude the fetes. Parisians not being greatly descendant of Louise XIV.

—The Central Canada Loan and Savings Company, which is practically a Peterborough owned concern have bought 80 feet of land, on Victoria street, Toronto, beginning at No. 14, and going back to No. 84, from S. H. Janes, for $80,000. The company intends to put up a building to cost about $150,000, on this valuable lot, which is assessed at $450 per foot, or $36,000.

GENERAL SPORTING GOSSIP

HOCKEY—THE TURF—BASEBALL—LACROSSE

Brutal Sport Condemned.

Cornwall, April 5.—"The morals of Athletics" was the subject of Rev. N. H. McGillivray's sermon in St. John's Presbyterian Church last night. Athletics were a good thing, he said, when played by men, not ruffians. The whole British race owed much to athletics. The clear-skinned, fair-minded, moral young athlete was to be admired, and was a credit to Canada. He admired the good lacrosse or hockey player, who played honorably for sport and not for so much a week. In the younger days he had himself participated in athletics. He regretted that many clergymen took a different view from what he did, but many of them did not know what they were talking about. There were athletic cranks even as there were temperance cranks. He admired good lacrosse and good hockey, but when they were brought down to the brutal level of the bull-fight and prize ring, thereby endangering human life, it was high time for the legislators to intervene.

In the course of a sermon on "Vice" in Knox Church yesterday morning the pastor, Rev. Dr. Parkinson, spoke briefly on sport. Athletics, he said, were all right when they were played in the proper spirit, and for the pure love of the game, but they became a bad thing when this spirit was lost sight of and the issue of the winning became paramount, and unsportsmanlike, and unfair tactics were resorted to, to secure a victory. He could not understand ladies being so unwomanly as to remain in attendance at games were brutality was rampant and men used their playing sticks as weapons. He appealed to the Christian public to frown down ruffianism and brutality in all athletics.

A RUSSIAN REVOLUTIONIST

Times readers of The Times who failed to read the statement of Sasonoff, the slayer of Von Plehve, published in this paper, missed one of the most enlightening sources of information upon the internal condition of Russia which this year of Russian humiliation abroad and disturbance at home has opened. To read this statement of the tyrannicide is to understand, and for most of its readers to understand for the first time, how it can happen that a young man, brought up in comfort, belonging to the prosperous and educated classes, can come to think it a duty and a necessity to kill a Minister.

Schaumann, the slayer of the Russian Governor of Finland, left a letter in which he said he had taken the only means in his power of calling the Czar' attention to the condition of that country. Sasonoff might equally say that he had taken the only means in his power of calling the attention of the Czar to the condition of Russia. He does at least make it clear that, under the regime for which Von Plehve made himself responsible, it was impossible for a Russian to exercise what in all civilized countries are recognized as the primary rights of men. Sasonoff himself, according to his own account, was driven into revolutionism. His whole ambition and desire had been to fit himself for usefulness by becoming a physician for the poor, against the desire of his father, who wished for him a "career" under the Government as an engineer. At any rate, no ambition could be more blameless or more modest than that of the young man. As he studied he became more aware of the needs of the Russian people and of the manner in which they were hampered by the Russian bureaucracy in their endeavor to satisfy their needs. In other words, he was getting the education he sought. But he was still far from being an advocate of any violent measures against the Government of which he felt the oppressiveness.

The offense for which he suffered his first imprisonment was his reluctant signing of a protest against the illegal conscription of certain of his fellow-students. In no civilized country would this action have been accounted an offense at all. In Russia it earned for him a term of confinement, accompanied not only with severe hardships, but with intolerable and continual insults. It is plain that these things embittered him and that personal vindictiveness entered into his final act, thus depriving him of the position of what may properly be called an entirely patriotic and unselfish tyrannicide. But let those who are disposed to blame him on this account put themselves in his place and remember what he had gone through. Assassination was the one and sole mode of political agitation which the Government of Russia had left open to him.

What he says on this point is confirmed by an abundance of evidence already made public. "Only force is answered by force. Only when the Ministers and chinovniks refuse us the right to speak verbally do we speak another language. Only when all other means are exhausted we answer by death. * * * A revolutionary tribunal for the obligarchists who are not answerable before the law and the nation" is in truth the only tribunal which is possible in Russia.

The picture thus presented to us that of a nation writhing under oppression, a nation in which to think is to be discontented, and yet in which every expression of discontent is a crime to be punished, not by law nor in measure, but at the discretion of a gang of imbruted officials. The Czar and his bureaucracy are "sitting on the safety valve." All the worse for them when the inevitable explosion comes. Every Japanese victory and every stick stirring into the Russian attempts at a national life as Sasonoff's statement affords bring that explosion nearer.

KUROPATKIN'S BOAST

One year ago, on March 11, 1904, the Russian Commander-in-Chief made his famous boast, which was as follows:

"After crushing the Japanese in Corea and Manchuria, we will take their island. If I have anything to say in the matter, the treaty of peace will be signed in Tokio and nowhere else."

The boast, which was made the day Kuropatkin started for the front, created amusement even at the time of its delivery, and evoked the following from the newspaper rhymster:

There's a rumbling as of thunder far across Siberia's plain,
And the stricken earth is rocking and the mountains groan in pain;
The sky is rent asunder, and the sun is ashy grey
As it sinks away in terror—Kuropatkin's on the way.

He is coming with his legions and his weirdly grand moustache,
Rivers turn and flee before him at the snapping of his lash;
Forest trees are seared and blasted, and the flowers bright and gay
Wither forty miles around him—Kuropatkin's on the way.

He has asteroids for breakfast, he eats continents at noon;
Overnight he hangs his trousers on the pale and shrinking moon;
Field of grain are only mouthfuls when his hunger he would stay,
And with blazing red volcanoes Kuropatkin lights his way.

He is coming! He is coming! Lock the stars up safe and tight;
Cover up the shrinking planets; keep the comets from his sight.
He is rolling on like thunder, half a thousand miles a day;
Hold your breath, ye shrieking angels: Kuropatkin's on the way.

Oh! her army's just a nibble; o'er Japan he'll smack his lips.
And he'll pick his teeth with splinters from her blasted battleships;
With her islands on his watch charm, like a happy boy he'll play;
Fly, Japan, and seek the ocean—Kuropatkin's on the way.

MANITOBA'S PROTEST

The statement that the Manitoba Government may make a more serious protest than has yet been heard against that plucky little Province being kept as a mere "postage stamp" on the map of the Dominion for all time to come, will surprise no one. The wonder has been that fighting Manitoba has been so tame under the treatment it has received. Imperial Provinces are being carved out of the limitless prairies to the west of it, while it is denied even its own hinterland until some future time.

Manitoba should have been given a large section of the Territories which are now being raised to a provincial status. If there are to be three Provinces in the West, they ought to be somewhere nearly equal in size. The extension to the north which the Manitobans are now asking is but a poor make-shift for the extension to the west which was their due. And even this extension to the north is in doubt.

Time and again, this country has learned that, in the language of Sir John Macdonald, "we cannot cheek Manitoba;" and if Manitoba has today the right leadership, she will probably teach us the same needed lesson once more.

THEY LEARN RAPIDLY

Foreign Students in Night School Classes are Efficient

Toronto, April 3.—The foreign students who have been studying at the Elizabeth street night school were repaid their deposit of $1 as a guarantee of good conduct by Mr. Burns, bookkeeper to the Board of Education. There was $115 refunded, and the proceedings were almost formal in character. As soon as the students were seated with their wampum safely in their pockets, one of the young Germans addressed the official in fairly good English.

"Six months ago," he said, "the students of this class could speak scarcely a word of the language of his country. Now we can speak somewhat fluently. The credit for this is entirely due to the untiring efforts of Rev. P. W. Mueller and Mr. Carl Lehmann."

FORTUNES ARE BEING MADE IN KANSAS OIL

Here's a fortune for you. Not 10% but 100% and no risk of loss. Giant of the Oil Fields.

The Midland Oil and Gas Company

has over 180 acres of oil land and has put down 10 wells, so the land is proved up. An adjoining additional 80 was secured yesterday, making over 260 acres all in the proven belt. Just read this:

The U. S. report on the oil industry places the average daily production of Pennsylvania wells at only one-half a barrel each per day. The Midland wells are pumping

Sixty Barrels a Day Each.

The pumping plant has just been started and this is the surprising result. Nothing like it in the world. The officers and directors of this company are bank men and do not believe in debts, so the company is free from debt. They have nearly $20,000 in cash and bills receivable in the treasury and everything paid for—property, wells, pumping plant, oil tanks, well cleaning machine and everything connected with the company. Have two drilling rigs working night and day sinking wells. Have abundance of gas, which runs the drills and pumping plant, so it only costs about $5.00 a day to produce and market the oil.

The Company has about 33 per cent of its stock in the treasury as a reserve.

For a short time the Company will sell a little more of its stock at only

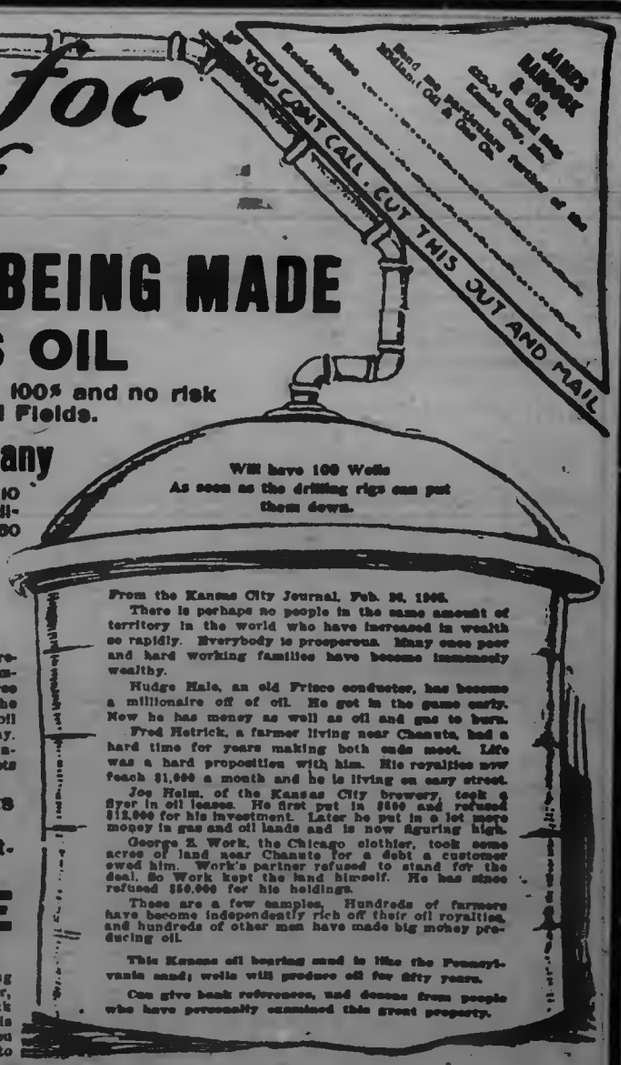
Buy all you can raise money to pay for.

We could talk all day about it and not cover all the strong points. But as the company has this grand property paid for, there is only one side to it, and that is profit. Don't buy stock in a company that tells you what they will do, but buy in this company, that has proved its property, and every dollar you put in makes it better. Send for particulars or mail check to



YOU CAN'T CALL. CUT THIS OUT AND MAIL
Will have 100 Wells
As soon as the drilling rigs can put them down.
From the Kansas City Journal, Feb. 26, 1905.
There is perhaps no people in the same amount of territory in the world who have increased in wealth so rapidly. Everybody is prosperous. Many once poor and hard working families have become immensely wealthy.
Hudge Hale, an old Frisco conductor, has become a millionaire off of oil. He got in the game early. Now he has money as well as oil and gas to burn.
Fred Hetrick, a farmer living near Chanute, had a hard time for years making both ends meet. Life was a hard proposition with him. His royalties now reach $1,000 a month and he is living on easy street.
Joe Helm, of the Kansas City brewery, took a flyer in oil leases. He first put in $500 and refused $12,000 for his investment. Later he put in a lot more money in gas and oil lands and is now figuring high.
George Z. Work, the Chicago clothier, took some acres of land near Chanute for a debt a customer owed him. Work's partner refused to stand for the deal. So Work kept the land himself. He has since refused $50,000 for his holdings.
These are a few samples. Hundreds of farmers have become independently rich off their oil royalties, and hundreds of other men have made big money producing oil.
This Kansas oil bearing sand is like the Pennsylvania sand; wells will produce oil for fifty years.
Can give bank references, and dozens from people who have personally examined this great property.

KING EDWARD A GREAT MAN

Prominent Canadian Says He is Greatest in Europe

BUSINESS IN BRITAIN GOOD

Mr. D. M. Stewart Speaks of Conditions in the Northern Land

Montreal, April 3.—Mr. D. M. Stewart, general manager of the Sovereign Bank of Canada, with Mrs. Stewart, has returned to Montreal, after a three months' visit to Great Britain. During the first three days on their return voyage, the steamer Baltic encountered a terrific storm.

Industrial outlook in England was forthcoming, and the crossing was accomplished with some comfort.

Mrs. Stewart stated that the industrial outlook in Englad was quite good and especially in the Midlands, where there was considerable activity in the cotton industry. Last year owing to the shortage of the cotton crop in America, many of the cotton factories in England were closed down and thousands of operatives thrown out of employment. This year there was no lack of employment and the cotton district was prosperous. In London, as in all large cities, there prevailed a certain amount of poverty and destitution, but this was due more to the improvident character of the people in the congested districts, rather than to any special dullness in trade.

"Money has been easy in London," said Mr. Stewart, "and the opportunity to subscribe for gilt-edged securities has been eagerly seized. There was a regular scramble to get the late Japanese loan, and our own Grand Trunk Pacific recent issue was underwritten in about two hours. The Ontario Government's issue of 3 1-2 per cent. treasury bills in connection with the Temiskaming Railway, amounting to $6,000,000 was put on the market by Messrs. Coutes, Son and Company, and immediately taken up by the largest banking houses in London, while the English people who bought Canadian Pacific securities have every reason to be satisfied with their investment."

When asked whether he had heard many comments upon the recent emigration from England to Canada, Mr. Stewart stated that he had.

"Great attention," he said, "is being paid to Canada as a field for emigration, and I think our population is likely to be increased materially in this way during the coming season. Our emigration department is doing good work, in selecting the better class of country people to come out here, especially those from Scotland and the North of England, where the best class of settlers we could desire, come from. The influx of immigrants into London from the continent, Poles, Germans, Italians, etc., has been greater than usual this winter, and there appears to be no doubt that they have displaced many British laboring men, who raise their protests by public gatherings and through the labor unions, with such effect that the Government has been obliged to give the matter their serious attention."

PRESENTED TO KING.

When the reporter asked if it was not correct that he had been presented to the King, Mr. Stewart replied:

"Yes, I had the honor of presentation to His Majesty, who is without doubt the greatest man in Europe. They say that but for a timely communication which he sent to the Czar, we would have been involved in war with Russia, over the Dogger Bank affair. However, as a result of the King's intervention, Russia met every demand of Great Britain, and did so more promptly than she has ever been known to act in her dealings with any other nation."

Mr. Stewart had the pleasure of lunching with Lord and Lady Roberts, and they stated that they both would come out to Canada during the coming summer. They were looking forward with great interest to their visit.

"Lord Roberts," continued Mr. Stewart, "thought most highly of the colonial troops in South Africa, and took an especial interest in the Canadians. He recalled one of them, an officer in my own regiment, who won the Victoria Cross, and he looks forward to renewing his acquaintance with many of the officers and men who served with him during the Boer war.

"He remarked to me that he had a continuous service of over fifty-three years in the army and outranks Field Marshal Lord Wolseley by about six months, so that is the longest record of any officer or man now serving. He was extremely kind to me, and as a Canadian I took the liberty of telling him that with the exception of His Majesty himself, or some member of the royal family, there was no man in the Empire whom it would give the people of Canada greater pleasure to receive than himself. There will be no doubt about the welcome Roberts will receive when he arrives here."

HIGH COMMISSIONER'S WELCOME.

Lord Strathcona received Mr. Stewart at the Colonial Office. "He went out of his way," he continued, "to show Mrs. Stewart and myself much kindness. It seems absurd for me to speak of such a man, but his record is one of such inspiration to all Canadians, and his position is so exalted and respected in the Old Country that I scarcely think we in Canada half appreciate him. It is absolutely certain that there is no colony of the Empire that is so well represented in London as Canada."

CHAPTER SIX

FUTURE PROBABILITIES AND POSSIBILITIES

OF THE

Boston and Texas Corporation

I have entered pretty fully during the last few days into all the details connected with the BOSTON & TEXAS CORPORATION, from its discovery up to the present time. To-day I will give you in brief outline some of its probabilities. What are they? It is likely speaking conservatively that we will have another 6 wells operating by the first of next year. If three wells would pay a dividend of over 10 per cent, how much will nine wells pay. Our Kaolin Clay, which it is believed will answer in the manufacture of paper, as well as the English Clay, of which some 200,000 tons are imported annually into the United States for this purpose, and for which $18 per ton is paid. From shafts sunk it is estimated that we have 5,000,000 tons at least. With transportation established this clay could be sold at several dollars a ton profit. In fact enough to pay the issued capital stock over twice. Transportation seems to be getting into a better condition every day, and think you will agree on reading the following few lines, which came to hand to-day, issued by a Boston stockbroker. The Southwestern Colonization Company, of which S. P. Brundage, of St. Louis, Mo., is general manager. This concern is said to be closely connected with the St. Louis, Brownsville & Mexico Road, at whose head is B. F. Yoakum. This is the road which is building up north to San Antonio. This concern has purchased a large tract of land for colonization purposes on the Nueces River, some sixty-five miles due south of San Antonio and only a few miles south of our property. What does this indicate? Simply that the railway is an assured fact, as colonization would not be taken up unless there was railway connection.

Possibilities—These I would hardly dare enter into for fear of being called a dreamer. I simply ask you to keep these papers and see if the actual results of this Corporation are not far in advance of anything that has been stated. I thought the Peterborough people, and those living in that vicinity were alive to taking advantage of a genuine business proposition when it was presented, and had a few dollars at least to invest. I should like to get at least one reply to my advertisement, even if it is only a letter asking for more information. Unless I get some replies by the end of the month I certainly see no reason why I should continue advertising, as I am issuing in Quebec over 600 booklets about the BOSTON & TEXAS, and believe I can do better by following the sending of these by a personal visit. Am also sending quite a number to Montreal. If you want the stock say so. The price is

Perhaps my advertisements seem sensational. Whether they do or not they are the truth.

WHAT WIRELESS IS —WHY IT WORKS

(This is the second chapter, of which there will be four, giving a simple explanation of the great scientific discovery known as wireless telegraphy.)

CHAPTER II.

Synopsis of Chap. 1: The first chapter told how wireless telegraphy was but a scientific method of taking advantage of or controlling a force which Nature had placed in the air. This force has existed since the creation of the world, but no one realized it until lately any more than a correct explanation was given of the "force of gravity" until a century ago. The electricity in the air makes wireless telegraphy possible. The instruments which have now been invented force that electricity to move in certain ways at the direction of the user of the wireless instrument. The unseen current is set in motion as are the waves in a pond when a stone is thrown into it, and they travel on indefinitely.

The instrument which sets the electric waves in motion in the air and which controls them in certain directions is a somewhat complicated instrument, because it has to do many things, but the principle on which it works can be easily understood and a detailed or technical description of the instrument would be superfluous here. It was stated in the first chapter that extra electricity was forced into the air in order to set the electric waves in motion.

This electric power is supplied through the sending instrument by electric batteries if a current of moderate power only is needed, or, by dynamos if a current of such strength as would be needed to send a message across the Atlantic Ocean or to any distant point where wanted. Both the sending and the receiving instruments are connected by wires or other metal substances with the earth, and it may be well to explain right here why this is done. Electricity under control, as when used in sending messages, travels in an unbroken circle, so to speak. In the case of the telegraph, a wire connects the instruments at two given points and the circuit is completed by the earth, which acts as the second or return wire. The same with wireless, the earth serves to connect the two stations, as if a second or completing circuit was installed. The current passes through the air and returns by the earth just as if it followed the chain on a bicycle and had no end or interruption. You should keep in mind this help which the earth gives, without cost, as it is connected with a later consideration of the subject.

We have noted the batteries or dynamos which supply the current. The next consideration is the means by which the electricity from these sources is distributed in the air. Poles or towers are erected and supplied with wires. This is necessary so as to get the ends of the wires up above surrounding buildings and far enough from the ground so that the current going by the air and returning by the earth will not be near enough together to get mixed up and become short-circuited, as it is known.

Between the battery or dynamo and the tower comes the instrument. This is a mechanical device which serves to make and break the current passing through the air and returning by the earth. If the operator should hold a wire in one hand which ran up the tower and one in the other hand which was connected with the batteries and should keep touching and separating the ends of those wires, he would be making and breaking the current or doing what the instrument makes possible in a more perfect manner and without danger to those handling the powerful current. A part of the sending instrument is a lever known as a key, and when this is depressed the current is unbroken, but when the operator removes the pressure of his hand the lever is raised by a spring and the current is broken just as if he were touching and separating the ends of two wires. Each time that there is this break at the sending instrument, there is a break in the current throughout its entire distance, and it is made to act on the receiving instrument as will be shown later. It is simple to see that the operator may keep the key depressed or released just as long as he wishes, or, in other words, he can regulate the making and breaking of the current at his own discretion. When the current is on for a material length of time it is called making a dash, while for a short time is termed making a dot. It is the making of these dashes and dots in a prearranged manner that makes it possible to send a message in which each letter of the alphabet is represented by a certain combination of dots and dashes.

There is another part of the sending instrument which is necessary in wireless telegraphy, and it is connected with the sending key or lever and between it and the wire going up the tower. Its object is simply to emphasize the breaks in the current and make more distinct the dots and dashes. It is so constructed that it sends the dots and dashes off the tip of the wire like the snap of a whip. This makes the strokes of electric current leave the tower with greater distinctness and makes the transmission of the messages more simple and more easy to receive.

The receiving instrument is more simple than the sending instrument. The current passes down the wire from the tower at the receiving station and through the instrument into the ground, and on back to the sending station, thus making the complete circuit of current. In the receiving instrument is a lever balanced on springs and acted on by the current. When the current is passing through the instrument this lever is depressed, and at each break in the current, the lever is released and moves upward by the action of one of the springs. The movement of this lever is only about an eighth of an inch and it makes a distinct click each time it strikes the metal points which stop its rise and fall. It is by listening to these clicks and noting the length of them that the receiving operator detects the dots and dashes and thus reads the message. The waves of electricity which have been set in motion by the sending station may be considered to be flat-topped waves. Those with a broad top are dashes and those with a narrow top are dots, and the receiving instrument, through its lever, makes the distinction just as clearly as the sending instrument.

(Chapter 3, which will appear next week, will describe more fully how a single message is sent and received, and will make clear the simplicity of the long-delayed discovery.)

THE MEN THAT RULE THE WORLD

THE POPE HAS ADOPTED WIRELESS

It is the MARCONI SYSTEM in every case where real success is found

have given the stamp of their unqualified approval to wireless telegraphy.

Such great scientists as Lord Kelvin and Thomas A. Edison have not only acknowledged that the science has already attained a stage of commercial adaptability, but have become so imbued with the proofs of the progress already made that they now expand their predictions and openly state that wireless telegraphy will shortly girdle the world.

Rulers and leading officials of those nations which to-day represent progress have sanctioned the adoption of wireless telegraphy and are authorizing tremendous expenditures in order that their

Government may be immediately in possession of a complete wireless service.

The brainy men who control the world's shipping have installed wireless apparatus upon the great leviathans that ply the deep.

Commercial princes are constantly making use of wireless messages, as is evidenced by the fact that, within the past four years, over one hundred thousand wireless messages have passed between shore stations and vessels at sea, and the annual increase in this form of business is at a ratio hitherto inconceivable. The banker, the lawyer, the merchant and the layman are all among the daily users of this modern scientific marvel.

and ordered the apparatus installed in the Vatican Observatory. He has done this after a most exhaustive study of the subject of wireless telegraphy and because he has become convinced that the science has reached a practical and commercial stage. He has gone further and urgently requested the most famous wireless inventor, whose system he has adopted, to visit him at the Vatican at the earliest possible moment.

What system is it that these leading minds of the world have sanctioned and acknowledged to be a success beyond their extreme expectations?

It is the Marconi service which the Pope has ordered installed in the Vatican Observatory and it is Signor Marconi to whom the Pope has extended an invitation almost amounting to a command for the inventor to visit him. These things would not be so unless the Marconi system were an assured success already and gifted with promise of greater things to come.

THE MARCONI WIRELESS TELEGRAPH COMPANY OF CANADA, LTD.

works under the Marconi patents, and will share in every one of its successes. It already has tangible assets, largely in excess of capital and increasing yearly. The revenue from the stations built and building is increasing daily. The development of the Company has but started, and its assured success will lead to the erection of countless new stations and a revenue in excess of that enjoyed by any other similar enterprises in the history of the world.

Wealth and future happiness are knocking at the door of the investor

who is shrewd enough to take advantage of this opportunity which will not come again. Is it not better to invest money in the stock now, when the purchase can be made at $5 per share, than to wait until everybody else is aware of the success and its support by the world's leaders, when that will mean that the price will immediately be at least double what it now is? You will have no more to show for your money, a given investment will net you but one-half as many shares, the dividends will be also half as much, for you will have but half as much stock on which to draw dividends, and you will have lost the profits as your stock advances in value.

Remember that you can buy any number of shares, from one share to two hundred shares. Would it not be wise to make an investment immediately of your investment funds instead of leaving them idle or drawing but a small interest when this best of opportunities is slowly but surely slipping away from you?

You can not very well set yourself up as wiser than the men who guide the policies of the world. Make yourself thoroughly familiar with all the facts in regard to the Canadian Company and become a partner to share the profits of the great Marconi invention. Ask us any questions, write for particulars, but to make sure of an allotment, send your money NOW.

Oregon-Idaho Gold Mining Co.
INCORPORATED

Capital $5,000,000. Shares $1.00 Each, Par Value, Fully Paid Up and Non-Assessable.

We have just secured the agency for the above splendid proposition, of which we have been allotted a block of Treasury stock. We can confidently recommend this as a safe and, we believe, exceedingly profitable investment. Every dollar of stock is guaranteed by twenty year, full paid, gold bonds, delivered to purchaser of stock, from an Investment Company that has no interest whatever in the company, but who are disposing of the debentured bonds to the public, and, under their charter, they are compelled to deposit securities to an equal amount, to the State Treasurer under which they received their charter, there by doubly securing the payment of their gold bonds.

The Company's property, which is now past the project stage, is known to be marvellously rich in gold.

Following is the opinion of C. W. Miller, Mining Engineer, formerly with the Boston and Montana Consolidated Copper and Silver Mining Company, U. S.; Simmer and Jack Mining Co. Limited, Klondike South Africa:—

"You have here a most valuable property and one of the strongest fissure veins that can be found in any part of the world.

"With the present development of the Monument Mine, I estimate that 100 tons per day can be extracted, which will mill from $15.00 to $20.00 per ton. The total cost of mining the ore, delivering and milling, I place at about $4.00 per ton. With the increased milling capacity, it is safe to say that the mine can furnish 100 tons of $15.00 ore, which would yield a clear profit of $11.00 per ton, or $1,100.00 per day (equal to $400,000.00 per annum). Estimated total value of ore in sight, $2,500,000."

During the past summer, a party of the Company Directors visited the property, taking with them, Amos P. Brown, Ph.D., Mining Engineer and Professor of Geology and Mineralogy at the University of Pennsylvania. Dr. Brown writes as follows:—

"In regards to the amount of ore available at the mines at Sinaloa, I saw on the dumps several thousand tons, probably 8000 tons would be an under-estimate.

"As to the size of the ore body itself, from what I saw of the geological structure, I think that there is every indication that it will be found to extend underground as far as the out-croppings on the south side of the gulch. This would mean an ore body large enough to keep the present mill running for many years to come.

A write up of the proposition will appear in these columns in a few days. Watch for it. In the meantime we will be pleased to furnish full information to investors.

A HIGH GRADE INDUSTRIAL AND MINING INVESTMENT

We have thoroughly investigated it and found it to be right in every respect. Did you ever have a chance to invest in a straight legitimate money making proposition? If not,

THIS IS YOUR OPPORTUNITY

We own a monopoly of the water right privileges in the Thunder Mountain mining district, State of Idaho, U.S.A.; seven water rights in all; one developed and in use. The property of the Company consists of over 1400 acres, with plenty of timber for building and mining purposes, a saw mill fully equipped and in operation, a 10-stamp mill now on its way from the R. R. Station to the property, and 40 additional stamps to be purchased at once and installed during the coming summer. This is the largest and most favorably situated property in the district. Some of the tunnels have been driven over 400 ft., cross-cutting many dikes, demonstrating that we have an inexhaustible body of ore. The ore bodies are sampled by an assayer every 10 ft., and assays run from 40c. to $900 per ton. The ore is free milling, and can be mined and milled for about $1.00 per ton.

This Company has had a phenomenal growth, and "The Thunder Mountain Prospector," published at Roosevelt, Idaho, where the property is located, states that this Company is three times as large as any other Company operating in the district. 30 men at work on the property. Over $60,000 worth of stock sold within the last 90 days. Only 100,000 shares more to be sold at 50c. per share. You cannot afford to miss this opportunity; investigate at once.

Catarrh Leads to Consumption

The Experience of a Lady in Sydney Who was Cured of Consumption by Inhaling Catarrhozone — This Case Should Warn Others.

"The beginning of my trouble was cold, just a single cold," writes Mrs. A. V. Thorburn, of Sydney. "I neglected this cold and then I got catarrh. When it became troublesome I took some medicine but it didn't help me. I began to cough a great deal and then consulted a doctor. I was horrified to find I must have had tubercular irritation in my lungs for a year or more. A friend strongly urged me to use Catarrhozone. I conferred with my doctor and he said that lots of fresh air and the frequent use of Catarrhozone would be the proper treatment. I used it enough for at least half an hour in the morning, and, after using Catarrhozone a few days my cough was much easier. The irritation gradually left my throat and I commenced to get better. I kept up the Catarrhozone treatment and inhaled the medicated air five minutes every hour. I believe this was the means of staying my disease, for I got quite well again in a few months. I have since advised other sufferers from catarrh and lung trouble to use Catarrhozone, and in each case good results were obtained. I attribute my recovery entirely to Catarrhozone, which I can honestly recommend in the strongest way."

The foregoing experience should convince everybody of the evil of allowing colds to develop. To neglect catarrh is even worse. Carry a Catarrhozone inhaler in your pocket and use it occasionally. It prevents colds, permanently cures every type of catarrh, and is known to be the only remedy that actually kills the germs of consumption.

Catarrhozone is used by all intelligent physicians and is endorsed by thousands of doctors, because it can be relied upon to absolutely cure catarrh, bronchitis, throat and lung trouble. Catarrhozone is simplest, surest and best remedy. Two months treatment guaranteed to cure. Price $1.00, trial size 25c., at druggists or N. C. Polson & Co., Kingston, Ont. Refuse a substitute for Catarrhozone and insist on getting it when you ask for Catarrhozone.

Change in Liquor Laws

It is understood that one of the amendments to be made to the liquor laws this session of the Legislature will prohibit all sale of liquor to minors under any circumstances. The law hitherto has allowed sale to minors upon the presentation of an order from parent, guardian or master, but this exception has been abused.

Danny Simons Birthday

The following, taken from the New York Clipper, will be read with interest by many in Peterborough:—"Danny Simons, comedian, was accorded a reception on the stage of the Stone Theatre, Binghampton, N. Y., March 17, Mr. Simons' birthday occurred on the same day that is celebrated in honor of the Patron Saint of Ireland, and a number of the male members of the company planned a surprise for the versatile comedian. The surprise, in the shape of a handsome Elk charm, was handed over the footlights to him just as he was returning to acknowledge an encore after his speciality. Although taken entirely unawares, Mr. Simons, in an impromptu speech, cleverly thanked the donors for the remembrances."

—Mr. W. G. Cochrane, eastern travelling agent for the American Canal Company, has returned to town after a successful business trip to Montreal and the Province of Quebec. Mr. Cochrane reports business as being brisk.

CLEAN YOUR YARDS

If You Like Dirt Remember That Your Neighbor Probably Does Not

Property owners of Peterborough should not wait for the health department to enforce its clean-up order. With the advent of warm weather there is serious danger of disease being caused by the presence of dirt and filth. The man who has any consideration for his fellows will not have to be arrested and fined in police court before he removes the germ-infested rubbish on his premises.

Peterborough is a good place in which to live. It should also be a clean, beautiful and healthy place. Every citizen should do his best to this end. The unkempt yards should be cleaned and brushed. Public health demands it, and the health department should enforce its order with never-ceasing rigor. The man who can clean up and won't clean up should be made to clean up.

SCHISTOSOMA REFLEXUM

A Bovine Freak of Nature Under Professional Observation of Dr. Poole

Dr. B. R. Poole, V.S., yesterday allowed a representative of this journal a peculiar freak of Nature. This was a calf born before him during a professional visit, the day before yesterday, on the farm of Mr. Robert Beferman, Otonabee. The hind legs, instead of being where Nature ordinarily places them, were in juxta-position to the front legs, the spine of the calf being bent double. This is a very rare case in veterinary pathology, and will doubtless be reported in the journals devoted to veterinary surgery. The mother was a valuable short-horn.

The technical term for this lusus naturae, is schistosoma reflexum and is of such rare occurrence that a similar case is reported with photographic reproduction in the Veterinary Record of March 11th, 1905.

THE LAKEFIELD BOATS

Steamer Majestic and Stony Lake Being Refitted.

Mr. Pat Young, the popular steamboat man of Young's Point and Lakefield, was recently in town, and informed this journal that the two boats, Majestic and Stony Lake, are being repainted and refitted throughout. A new dining room is being added to the Stony Lake, which will doubtless be much appreciated by the thousands of patrons of this popular boat.

The interior of the boat, which owing to the pressure of business last season, was not completed, is being handsomely finished and will present a very attractive appearance.

The Majestic is undergoing a thorough overhauling, by which she will be greatly improved in many respects. An entirely new upper deck will replace the present one, and the sides of the vessel extensively repaired.

Everything points to a very busy season this coming summer on the upper chain of lakes.

Beg or Buy?

Remember the special meeting of the Board of Trade, which will be held in the Town Council Chamber to-night to discuss the proposed Carnegie Library. The citizens generally are invited to be present and participate in the discussion. Every speaker will be given time to present his views on the question as to whether we should beg a library building, for which we will have to pay in part and which will increase our taxation yearly to a large amount or whether we will manage for far less money to avoid this sycophantry and increase the Mechanics' Library to a size and equipment compatible with Peterborough's requirements.

The Deaf and Dumb

The report of the Ontario Institute for Deaf and Dumb contains some interesting figures specifying the various causes of deafness among the pupils who have attended the Institute. Scarlet fever produced 87 cases of deafness, accident 12, affection of the aura 29, cold 48, congestion of the brain 47, brain fever 33, typhoid fever 11, inflammation of the brain 14, measles 45, teething 18, vaccination 7, water on the brain 17, whooping cough 8, worms 184. The last was the most prolific cause, and this fact teaches that parents should see to it that their children receive proper attention when troubled in this way. Scarlet fever, measles and colds also show up high among the cause of deafness. Of the 1,316 cases, 519 were congenital.

LITTLE BOY BLUE

His Mother Blows His Horn

A lady living in Illinois writes about food to a friend whose little girl has a delicate stomach, and we are privileged to quote from her letter:

"The best way to advise you in little Bessie's case is, I feel, to tell you what I did for my little boy Blue. He was, like your daughter, very fond of white bread, potatoes and the usual food of the every-day table. His appetite seemed good and he ate freely, but, like little Bessie, he didn't seem to get the proper amount of nourishment out of his food, was puny in body and, lacking strength, was peevish and half sick most of the time.

"I was very much worried about him, because I didn't find the right sort of food for him—the ordinary breakfast foods didn't seem to answer. At last, a few months ago, I determined to try Grape-Nuts. I confess I was almost in despair, and had but little hope that it would prove any better than the other prepared foods.

"The result was most surprising. Boy Blue took to the Grape-Nuts food and did him good from the beginning. He has gained steadily in weight, strength and good spirits, and has taken on a complexion like a wild rose. His eyes fairly dance with health and happiness—his peevishness is all gone.

"Then Husband and I both began to eat Grape-Nuts food, and with the best of results. We finds it especially beneficial as a brain food. You know that one with his sedentary habits needs something specially adapted to such conditions — much nourishment in small bulk. He finds it in Grape-Nuts food, and he says he does better work since he began to eat it than ever before.

"Give your baby Grape-Nuts and I'll guarantee the results." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

There's a reason.

STEAMER SOVEREIGN SOLD.

Messrs. W. H. Meldrum and W. G. Ferguson the Purchasers

This steamer which seemed to be under a Lyodo has been sold under the provisions of a mortgage. As noted in yesterday's issue the steamer is at present sunk in the river below the locks. About three feet of water is above her deck at the bow and about the same depth at her stern. It is estimated that it will cost about $1,000 to raise her and render her in condition for service. This expense, it is said, will be borne by the Government, to whom it is understood the purchasers, Messrs. W. H. Meldrum and W. G. Ferguson, have leased her at $5 a day, for use on the Trent Valley Canal. It is currently reported that the price paid was $1,650, which is about one-half what the boat originally cost. The steamer Sovereign was built one year ago by Mr. J. W. Hickey, and had a very successful season last summer. She is well equipped as far as machinery is concerned, and last season demonstrated that she could outrun any other boat on the river. The craft met with an accident near Harwood toward the end of the season, as the result of the shifting of the cargo, which had the effect of a capsize.

COUNCIL CAN CONTROL

The Act Says the Council of Any Town Can Control the Number of Licenses.

As there seems to be some misapprehension about town as to whether the Council has the power to control the number of licenses granted, we quote from the Act which is clear on that point.

"The Council of every city, town, village or township may, by by-law, to be passed before the first day of March in any year, limit the number of tavern licenses to be issued therein for the then ensuing license year, beginning on the first day of May, or for any future license year until such by-law is altered or repealed, provided such limit is within the limit imposed by the Act.

"The number of tavern licenses to be granted in the respective municipalities shall not in each year be in excess of the following limitations—in cities, towns and incorporated villages respectively:—For the first 250 of the population one tavern license. For each full 250 of the population above the first 250, one tavern license, but not more than three such licenses shall be granted for the first 1,000 of the population, and one for each full 400 over 1,000 of the population."

The best disinfectant of all is sunlight. It destroys by its very brightness all sorts of germs and at the same time helps the growth of plants and animal life. Doubtless all have noticed that mould grows during the night and in dark, damp cellars. Bright sunlight quickly destroys germs, mould or other organisms. That is why it is best to let the sunlight into your houses for its purifying influence.

At the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, Buffalo, N. Y., Dr. Pierce, chief consulting surgeon, started experiments some three years ago, with the Finsen light in conjunction with the X-ray in the treatment of diseases. He got excellent results therefrom, and was among the first to adapt this remarkable cure to many cases which it was formerly supposed must of necessity be treated by the knife.

Not only is Dr. R. V. Pierce notable for his surgical achievements at his hospital in Buffalo, but nearly a third of a century ago he discovered certain roots and herbs which were nature's remedies and succeeded in putting them up in a form that would be easily procured and ready to use. This he called Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It maintains the patient's nutrition by enabling him to eat, retain, digest and assimilate nutritious food. It overcomes gastric irritability and symptoms of indigestion, and in this way fever, nightsweats, headaches, etc., are done away with. It fortifies the body against the germs of consumption, grip and malaria, it builds up the tissues and puts on healthy flesh.

Those desiring to know something about the body in health and disease, also medicine and surgery, without technicalities, should read the "Common Sense Medical Adviser," which can be had for 50 cents in one-cent stamps for the cloth-bound book. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

HOMESTEAD REGULATIONS

Any even numbered section of Dominion lands in Manitoba or the North-west Territories, excepting 8 and 26, which has not been homesteaded, or reserved to provide wood lots for settlers, or for other purposes, may be homesteaded upon by any person who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years of age, to the extent of one-quarter section of 160 acres more or less.

ENTRY

Entry may be made personally at the local land office for the district in which the land to be taken is situate, or if the homesteader desires, he may, on application to the Minister of the Interior, Ottawa; the Commissioner of Immigration Winnipeg, or the local agent for the district in which the land is situate, receive authority for some one to make entry for him. A fee of $10 is charged for a homestead entry.

HOMESTEAD DUTIES

A settler who has been granted an entry for a homestead is required by the provisions of the Dominion Lands Act, and the amendments thereto, to perform the conditions connected therewith, under one of the following plans:

[1] At least six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each year during the term of three years. It is the practice of the Department to require a settler to bring 15 acres under cultivation, but if he prefers he may substitute stock; and 20 head of cattle, to be actually his own property, with buildings for their accommodation, will be accepted instead of the cultivation.

[2] If the father (or mother, if the father is deceased), of any person who is eligible to make a homestead entry under the provisions of this Act, resides upon a farm in the vicinity of the land entered for by such person as a homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence prior to obtaining patent may be satisfied by such person residing with the father or mother.

[3] If a settler was entitled to and has obtained entry for a second homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence prior to obtaining patent may be satisfied by residence upon the first homestead, if the second homestead is in the vicinity of the first homestead.

[4] If the settler has his permanent residence upon farming land owned by him in the vicinity of his homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence may be satisfied by residence upon the said land.

The term "vicinity" used above is meant to indicate the same township, or an adjoining or cornering township.

A settler who avails himself of the provisions of clauses [2], [3] or [4] must cultivate 30 acres of his homestead, or substitute 20 head of stock, with buildings for their accommodation, and have besides 80 acres substantially fenced.

The privilege of a second entry is restricted by law to those settlers only who completed the duties upon their first homesteads to entitle them to patent on or before the 3rd of June, 1889.

Every homesteader who fails to comply with the requirements of the homestead law is liable to have his entry cancelled and the land may again be thrown open for entry.

APPLICATION FOR PATENT

Should be made at the end of three years, before the Local Agent, Sub-Agent or the Homestead Inspector. Before making application for patent the settler must give six months notice in writing to the Commissioner of Dominion Lands at Ottawa of his intention to do so.

INFORMATION

Newly arrived immigrants will receive, at the Immigration Offices in Winnipeg, or at any Dominion Lands Office in Manitoba or the North-west Territories, information as to the lands that are open for entry, and from the officers in charge, free of expense, advice and assistance in securing lands to suit them. Full information respecting the land, timber, coal and mineral laws, as well as respecting Dominion Lands in the Railway Belt in British Columbia, may be obtained upon application to the Secretary of the Department of the Interior, Ottawa; the Commissioner of Immigration, Winnipeg, Manitoba, or to any of the Dominion Lands Agents in Manitoba or the North-west Territories.

W. W. CORY,
Deputy Minister of the Interior.

N. B.—In addition to Free Grant Lands, to which the Regulations above stated refer, thousands of acres of most desirable lands are available for lease or purchase from railroad and other corporations and private firms in Western Canada.

HON. MR. ROGERS HOTLY ANSWERS SOME CRITICISM

People Should be Given an Opportunity to Express Themselves at the Polls---Refers to What He Calls Quibbling Attitude of Ottawa.

Winnipeg, April 4.—Hon. Mr. Rogers was seen this morning and asked if he had anything to say in answer to Manitoba's claims, as made public in the House of Commons last night.

"Yes, I have," said Mr. Rogers, "and I want to say something in respect to an editorial which appeared in the Globe."

The article referred to appeared in the issue of Saturday last.

"Let me say in the first place that apparently Sir Wilfrid and his friends at Ottawa are a little alarmed in respect to the present conditions, as evidenced by the premature and hurried presentation of one side of the case in the hope of having this matter prejudged by the people."

Extension of Manitoba's Boundaries is Not a Political Matter.

"This is particularly true with respect to the extension of our boundaries and other matters. I have all along taken the ground that the claim for the extension of Manitoba's boundaries is not a political question, and I was too careful to make our position quite clear about this to Sir Wilfrid Laurier when we met at Ottawa, going so far at that time as to say that a fair and just settlement could not carry with it any advantage or disadvantage to either political party. The people of the Province have more than once unanimously put forward their claims. Our local Legislature was unanimous in 1901, in 1902, and again in 1904, and they were good enough to appoint the executive by unanimous resolution, a committee to urge and plead with Sir Wilfrid and his colleagues, who are the tribunal in the matter and have full power to make a settlement.

"Of course, to my mind, it is only a further convincing evidence of the quibbling attitude of the Ottawa people in respect to this Province.

Most Emphatically Denies The Statements Made by The Globe

"Regarding the Globe article last Saturday, let me say that I most emphatically deny the statement of that paper to the effect that the Government of Manitoba is desirous of plunging the Province into a sectarian quarrel. I think if the Globe were acquainted with the local conditions here, it would not be guilty of making such a statement, as nothing could be further from the truth, and the only excuse it could have for this statement is the simple fact that the other day I took occasion to say that, in my opinion, the people of this Province should be given a chance to express themselves at the polls as to the treatment they are receiving from the Dominion Government.

Government Was Simply Quibbling With The Question.

"Mr. Campbell and myself were appointed as a delegation to Ottawa to supplement the memorial passed by the legislature to further plead Manitoba's claims, and what we have to complain of now is the fact that neither Sir Wilfrid or any other person attempts to put forward a single, solitary reason why our claims are not entitled to immediate consideration. True, Sir Wilfrid said, when introducing his Autonomy Bill on February 21, that he had the authority of his colleagues to say that he would invite the Provinces of Quebec, Ontario, Manitoba, and Saskatchewan to a conference in respect to the matter, but that is not a sufficient answer.

"This, of course, was simply quibbling with the question, and, judging from the Free Press this morning, Sir Wilfrid is now willing to shake Quebec and hold the conference without that Province."

The Japanese losses probably aggregate 250,000, making the grand total loss of nearly 650,000. This war is the most deadly on record.

ANDREW CARNEGIE WAS TURNED DOWN.

Hurricanes of Wind and Legions of Lawyers Combine in Discussing A Carnegie Library.

Last night at the meeting of the Board of Trade, the Council Chambers was the arena in which was fought a triangular conflict between those wanting a Public Library at the town's expense, those who wanted a library conjoint with the present Mechanics' Library, and others who wanted a library at the expense of Mr. Andrew Carnegie. Among those present at the meeting were; Mr. D. Hughes-Charles, President of the Board of Trade, in the chair, and Messrs. A. P. Poussette, R. K. Wood, E. B. Edwards, Thos. Hay, Agent Bell Telephone Co.; L. Hayes, Frank Adams, Father McCaul, D. W. Dumble, W. H. Moore, J. B. McWilliams, Jas. Bogue, A. H. Stratton, R. M. Roy, R. Fair, Peter Campbell, John Nugent, W. J. Green, G. M. Roger, Jas. English, F. Winch, J. H. Burnham, Kerr, H. Beat (Mayor).

The Matter of Freight Rates Still Remains Unsettled.

The minutes of last meeting were read. The chairman explained that the American Cereal Company had begun operations on full time again, as a result of the destruction by fire, of their mills at Cedar Rapids, but that the matter of freight rates was still unsettled, and that he was keeping an eye on the matter pending a final and satisfactory adjustment.

A letter from the Montreal Board of Trade was read, re freight rates, in which the Montreal Board promised co-operation.

A letter from Mr. Ball, Canadian Financial agent at Birmingham, England, was read, in which the writer suggested the advisability of submitting samples to the English market of tool handles and tools that could be made here, that a good market could be gained on account of the excellence of our maple and other woods and of our other branches of manufactured goods. He also suggested that it would be a good idea to forward photographs of the town and local industries. Next, correspondence was brought down which strongly opposed the taxation, by license fees, on commercial travellers in British Columbia. Mr. Charles stated that the Mayor had instructed Mr. R. M. Roy to have photographs taken at once.

The By-Law re The Payment for Pavement Extensions.

Mr. D. W. Dumble spoke at some length on the manner in which the Council had submitted a by-law to the people about the way in which the pavement extensions should be paid for, and how they had given a direct snub to the people by disregarding their sentiments as expressed by their vote, when they reversed the way in which this pavement should be paid for. His speech was a direct censure of the Council as was the motion he made, and, which after some discussion by various members present, he withdrew. Mr. G. M. Roger explained that the vote by the people on this pavement question was for the power to do a certain thing, not for the act itself.

Mr. A. H. Stratton here shut off the pavement discussion, by asking what the meeting had been called for, which brought on the real issue of the meeting.

The Carnegie Library Grant Discussed By Those Present

Letters from those directly interested in Carnegie Libraries in Ottawa, Galt, Chatham, Brantford and Lindsay were read; these letters being in reply to questions asked the municipalities mentioned, as to the different points of interest involved in asking Mr. Carnegie for aid, and the terms and conditions on which he gave the assistance.

Ottawa replied that $100,000 was given in acquiescence to their request. This amount was to be spent on the bare buildings, and the city was to pay $7,000 a year for maintenance.

Galt Librarian says he wrote to Mr. Carnegie representing the needs of the town for a library. Carnegie gave first $17,500 and afterwards increased this to $25,200; the building to be used only as a library. The annual amount to be guaranteed by the town, is practically 10 per cent. of Carnegie's grant.

Brantford's application was made privately; $30,000 was given first, and this was increased to $35,000. The city had to supply a free site, and put up the usual 10 per cent. annually.

Lindsay got their grant by applying direct to Carnegie at his New York address. They got $10,000 which was increased to $13,500. The usual 10 per cent. yearly.

The Main Object is to Encourage Reading by The Young.

Mr. R. K. Wood fired the first gun in the discussion. He had not considered much whether he was in favor of applying to Carnegie or not, but thought the public should discuss the matter. The correspondence just read shows what the conditions are. The general conditions are the 10 per cent. annually, and a free site. A Government official has recently said that the drill park should be kept clear. Another site might be procured from the Nicholl's estate on the lot south of the Y.M.C.A.; this would save the town buying a site. The main object is to increase reading by the young, particularly, this is acknowledged by all as a wise object. A free library would do this. One objection is the sentimental, as-pect, that of not wanting to be under compliment to Mr. Carnegie. It would be a good idea to amalgamate with the present public library which would give $1,000 a year. One trouble with the present library is its bad locality.

Mr. K. H. Edwards followed in a long address, in which he said that the rich do not want a free library as much as the poor, it would enable the poor boy to go forward. There is considerable opposition to asking a gift. The present library has an endowment of $10,000, but this is not enough. The three chief objections to Carnegie are that he is a foreigner and dislikes Canada and made his money by crushing the workmen. He wound up with a strong appeal for the application to Carnegie for a grant.

Mr. Carnegie Smears At Canada, Did Not Obtain Money Honestly

Mr. Poussette followed in a clear concise argument against the idea of asking the Pittsburg millionaire for help, and read extracts from "Mr. Carnegie's "Triumphant Democracy," in which the writer sneers at Canada and the British Crown. Up to ten o'clock there had been twelve speakers heard, out of whom eleven belonged to the learned profession of the law. Mr. Dumble in another speech said that if Carnegie sent him a cheque to-morrow for $1,000, he would accept it and bow down to the ground. This was in answer to argument that Carnegie's money should not be taken, as it was not honestly earned.

Rev. Father McCaul made a very temperate speech, saying that he had not given the matter much consideration. He agreed with Mr. Poussette about not applying for the grant. The rev. gentleman contended that books of reference were only of great use to educated men, and that the greatest call for library books was for light fiction.

Mr. E. G. Patterson, of the Canadian General Electric Company, thought that Carnegie's money should be taken. He moved that the Council be requested by the Board of Trade to give the Carnegie question a thorough investigation, and if found advisable proceed with steps to secure a grant from him for a library. Mr. Poussette moved an amendment which practically was the reverse of the original motion, or that in fewest words, if we might be forgiven the slang expression, Carnegie be turned down.

Mr. Jas. Bogue made a strong appeal in favor of Carnegie. Mr. J. H. Burnham made an attack on the present library, saying it was "rotten," that the books were in rags and tatters. Mr. Knapman who is on the Mechanics' Institute Board of Management, made a reply in which he referred to the binding of a work, which was the child of Mr. Burnham.

Before putting the amendment or motion, Mr. Charles, as President, made a short, but pointed speech, which, in fewest words, was a strong arraignment of Carnegie and the impossibility of his having made so many millions in so short a time, and have done it honestly. Only members of the Board were allowed to vote. On taking a show of hands, the Carnegie question was defeated by a vote of 8 to 4.

MEETING OF EXECUTIVE

Peterborough Association of Baptist Church Met

Yesterday morning the following gentlemen, members of the Peterborough Association of Baptist churches, Messrs. J. L. McKinnon, Gilmour Memorial, Moderator; Rev. O. C. Elliott, Belleville; Rev. L. S. Steedman, Indian River; Rev. Freeman J. Scott, and Rev. A. H. Brace, met. Their effect was to formulate a program for a three days' conference in June next, at the Baptist church, Indian River.

REVIVAL SERVICES

Park Street Baptist Church Holding Very Successful Series

Revival services in the Park street Baptist church have been going on for over a week. The Rev. A. W. Torrie was preacher for the first week, and Miss Mamie V. Clark, of Sarnia, with her rich, full, clear soprano voice fairly captivates the great congregation that gathers every night. This talented vocalist will assist until the services close. It has been a most encouraging week with good results. The number of inquiries have given inspiration to the workers.

The Rev. O. C. Elliott, Belleville, an old pastor of the Park street church, preaches every night this week. His old friends will be sure to rally.

There is no doubt that the church has been very graciously moved. Two prayer meetings are in progress each night: Women in school room, men in vestry. The whole atmosphere is spiritual. Men and women, and even the children are being swayed by the grand old gospel in story and song. Every night at 7.30.

Police Court

OFFICIALS

Chief of Police, G. I. Rezel
Magistrate, D. W. Dumble

Yesterday morning the attendance at the Police Court was nil, outside those directly interested.

The lad, brought by P.C. Adams from Toronto, was in the prisoner's box to answer a charge of stealing $50 from his brother. The brother had placed the money in a home-made desk at their home. In the haste with which the desk had been made the hinges had been placed on the outside of the lid so the boy, who is said by his relatives to be mentally unsound, owing to a recent fall from a tree when birds-nesting, simply took a screwdriver and loosening the hinges abstracted the coin. On request of his father and brother, the Magistrate very kindly allowed the charge to be withdrawn on payment of costs $22.12, or $16.22 as County Crown Attorney R. E. Wood did not press for his fees. The costs, which were so large on account of P.C. Adam's trip to Toronto after the culprit, were paid. The Magistrate gave the boy some well-timed advice, showing him the enormity of his offence, and how, but for the kindness of his relatives, and the Court graciously allowing the withdrawal of the charge, he would have gone to the penetentiary for some years.

Gordon Long paid $3 for making a bicycle speedway out of the sidewalks. Summonses are out for two citizens of the Fifth Ward for the same offence, so wheelmen had better stick to the roads.

Mr. Edward Watt, of Charlotte St, is a shoemaker, and it looks as though a bob had been put up on the old gentleman. Some days ago a woman brought him in a pair of shoes to repair. The repairs were completed, and, in due course, the lady called and paying 60c for the work said, that as the shoes made a bulky parcel, she would call for them later. Shortly after she had left a man from Enniskmore, called and asked for the shoes, mentioning the lady's name and the hotel where she put up. Not suspecting any game in the matter, the Knight of the last handed over the brogans. Again the shoemaker was honored by a call from his lady patron, who demanded her footgear. Explanations were made, but the lady denied having sent the party after her goods, and insisted on her shoes or $5 to pay for them. In his perplexity as to what to do, Mr. Watt came yesterday morning to the Court Room, and swore out a warrant for the Enniskmore man, whose name he gave. The Magistrate asked the value of the shoes, and on being told, from $1.25 to $1.50, informed the shoemaker that it looked as though he had been the victim of a confidence game, and also asked if he was aware that the costs to him would be about $20, should he send an officer to Enniskmore to arrest his man. He agreed to hold the matter over until Mr. Watt should write the man who took the shoes and threaten prosecution should he neither cough up the goods or square the lady.

Last night about eight o'clock a young man, whom Mr. Watt asserted, was with the Enniskmore man, when the shoes were alleged to have been taken, was brought to the station and examined by the Chief. He said he was with the Enniskmore man in Watt's store, and that the E.M., who was well loaded with tanglefoot, did get two pairs of boots, but that both pairs were men's boots, and further, that he did not hear the said lady's name mentioned, as Mr. Watt had the trouble with. He promised to call on Mr. Watt in the morning, and also to see the Enniskmore man as soon as possible. He was allowed to go.

How Long Will It Take?

A gentleman living in this town occasionally gets on, what he euphoniously terms "A Bender." This being interpreted means that he sometimes drinks not wisely but too well. Some little time ago he had been on the spree for so long that his better half induced him, to promise solemnly to remain in the house, and send for a friend of the erring husband, in order to get him to see that hubby should break off his drinking. When the good Samaritan arrived, he looked daggers at his bibulous friend when a suggestion was made that the caller should get him a flask. To try and shame the husband out of his desire for drink, he turned to the wife and said "Oh, Mrs. ——, I guess I will go and order a whole barrel of whiskey sent up so that if he is determined to drink himself into his grave, he can do so quickly!" The Lushand looked at him with eager eyes, and said "And how quickly could you get it here, Tom?" Another course of procedure than that of sarcasm was adopted, with good results.

WAR MINISTER SAKAROFF HINTS AT GERMAN AID

Denied Emphatically That He Ever Intrigued Against General Kouropatkin and Says That the War Will Go On.

St. Petersburg, April 5.—War Minister Sakaroff, in an interview today, declares that the reports of Russia countermanding orders for war material abroad are baseless, and grow out of the declination of foreign offers with which the War Office and Admiralty have been swamped. He insists that there has been no relaxation in the preparations to continue the war, but says there will be no new mobilization at present, explaining, as stated in these despatches that 140,000 troops of the last mobilization have already started for the front, and that instead of mobilizing new troops these will be followed by a portion of this year's conscripts.

Gen. Sakaroff denied emphatically that he ever intrigued against General Kouropatkin, affirming that he gave the latter the most loyal support. At the same time, in discussing the battle of Mukden, Sakaroff declared that the men and material of the Russian army were equal to those of the Japanese, forcing the reluctant conclusion that the Japanese generalship is superior to the Russian.

In denying the popular impression that a large proportion of army reserve men were sent to the front, Sakaroff made the important admission that reserve men were only sent in the early stages of the war, "before we had assurances from Europe," which is interpreted as a confession that an arrangement was made with Germany for covering the frontier of Poland.

AGED COUPLE HAS TWINS

Last Additions Join a Large Number o Progeny

Des Moines, Ia., April 5.—Mr. and Mrs. James Bradley of Chariton are the parents of twins. The father is 78 years old and the mother 63. The babes are a boy weighing eight pounds and a daughter seven, both healthy and well developed. This is the seventh pair of twins of which Bradley is father, having seventeen children in all. Both are colored and were slaves together under Gen. Bradley in Louisiana.

SUING THE CORPORATION.

Proposal to Abolish Right of Certain Actions.

To Protect Municipalities from Vexatious Suits for Damages.

According to The Globe, the Legislature will be asked to deal with a bill to relieve municipalities from damage claims for accidents through defective roadways. The reason for this legislation is the many vexatious legal actions from which municipalities suffer. These invariably impose heavy law costs, and they generally cause much annoyance to municipal representatives. Frequently they drag on from court to court and prove a cause of trouble to succeeding municipal Councils. Clearly the evil is not in the principle of municipal responsibility, which is sound and in every way reasonable, but in the legal machinery provided for enforcing it. The abolition of municipal responsibility is proposed as a means of avoiding the evils of legal intricacies and the failure of the law. Jefferson suggested the abolition of all laws for the collection of private debts, not because he thought it wrong to compel men to pay their debts, but because the failures of the courts and the costly entanglements which they created were greater evils than any that might result from the absence of such legal machinery. The courts as means of adjusting differences have grown worse rather than better since Jefferson's time, but no one in so prominent a position is inclined to propose so drastic a remedy.

The proposal to abolish laws for collecting damages for road accidents comes from a desire to get away from the law, not to evade responsibility. It would still be possible for a municipal Council to vote compensation to anyone injured through official neglect, just as men would have continued to pay their debts if Jefferson's drastic remedy had been adopted. Mr. Foy has promised a measure of law reform, but few are so sanguine as to hope he will be able to make the courts effective in such cases. The proper course for the Legislature is to take such cases away from the courts, and at the same time provide a means of doing the work which the courts fail to accomplish. A municipal assessor would be the proper official to settle damage claims. He could visit the scene of an accident in company with the complainant and the Reeve, Mayor, or some municipal representative. He could inspect the damage and give a decision that would be final. The possibility of an appeal would vitiate the reform and leave matters worse than at present. Some injustice would result, but it would be much less than under the present system, and less than would be suffered if the right to compensation were abolished and matter left entirely to the initiative of municipal Councillors. Municipal Councils, as a rule, wish to act fairly in regard to damage claims. Public opinion sustains them and enjoins them in this respect. There is no general desire to evade responsibility regarding highways, although there is naturally an unwillingness to further submit to legal entanglements. The Legislature should be able to determine the real nature of the evil to be remedied. It would be unwise to attack a sound principle when the defect is in the machinery and can be remedied.

TO BANKRUPT JAPAN

Czar's Minister of Finances Declares He Can "Win War From This Desk"

London, April 5.—Russia now depends upon her gold to beat Japan. She hopes that Japan will become bankrupt soon. The man who is to save the Czar's Empire is his Minister of Finance. At a recent Council Kokorzoff. At a recent Council of State he tapped his table and said;

"We can win the war from this desk."

Kokorzoff was trained by M. de Witte and is a shrewd financier. He believes that Russia's resources are stronger than those of Japan, and favors continuing the war in the face of continued reverses, until Japan is bankrupt.

THE PRICE OF PEACE IS HIGH

Japan Must Have Her Own Way in Closing War

RUSSIA'S POWER GONE

Leading British Journal Insists on Giving Japan Her own Way

London, April 5. — Already the great powers are busying themselves with suggestions as to the conditions on which the war in the Far East may come to a peaceful ending. It is being suggested—doubtless with Russia prodding the suggestion from the rear to urge it forward—that Japan should accept peace without demanding money indemnity from her whipped and beaten enemy.

There exists no good reason why Japan should do anything of the kind. The Island Empire has had enough of making undue concessions. After she whipped China to a standstill the Triple Alliance caused her to give up the greatest commercial port and strategic point gained—Port Arthur. No sooner had this been done than Russian soldiers swarmed into Manchuria like bees and the Czar's emissaries occupied the vested spot. Russia brought on this war, Russia has been whipped and Russia should pay the penalty.

A war that was not of its own making has cost Japan hundreds of millions of dollars, hundreds of thousands of lives, the blood and tears of agonation. In this Japan has performed a favor to the civilization of the world. The little Empire has clipped the claws of the bear, making further Russian aggression impossible, and giving to the downtrodden -subs of the despotic government heart and courage to rise up and demand a portion of their just rights. The Japanese war has shown the falsity of Russia's claims to greatness and has caused to be disclosed the rottenness of its internal government.

The Japanese have won, and they have lost heavily in the winning. They have a right to recoup from the vanquished foe. France paid Germany a billion dollars for the poor privilege of getting licked in the Franco-Prussian war. If Japan asks a lesser amount, the demand ought to be regarded as reasonable and moderate.

UNDER CONTROL OF ROMAN HIERARCHY

Toronto Saturday Night Badly Scores the Government

HOPE IN PREMIER HAULTAIN

War on the Hierarchy is now to be the Protestant Watchword

Commenting on the debate on the autonomy bill, Saturday Night says:

With Mulock, Fielding and Sifton well in hand, the entire Government side of the House is directly or indirectly under the complete control of the Roman hierarchy, so far as Separate school legislation is concerned. Sifton could have wrecked the Government, and probably would have done so but for personal motives. His treachery to the country puts him in a position where he can have anything he wants from his late colleagues—and he is the kind of man who has always wanted a good deal. There is only one thing in connection with his return to the arms of the Government which entitles him to more respect than any of his friends. He is absolutely frank in his cynicism, and while supporting the Government, freely admits that he believes the measure to be thoroughly unjust to the new provinces and unwarranted by the constitution.

HOPE IN HAULTAIN.

There is every reason to believe that, through the efforts of Mr. Haultain, the loyalty of the Separate school clauses of the autonomy bill will be fully tested by the highest court in the Empire, and that the Dominion Government will in the end discover that it sold itself to the hierarchy in vain, and the hierarchy will learn, that, as has always been the case throughout the long history of the church, its over-unsatisfied greed has defeated its purpose by its intolerant over-reaching.

The only safe way to protect the future seems to be to force from every candidate a positive pronouncement of his attitude—present and future—towards the greatest menace to the peace of Canada—the hierarchy of the Church of Rome. If a satisfactory pledge cannot be obtained from the Conservative in Centre Toronto, an independent candidate must be put forward—and in the present state of public opinion there can be little doubt that a satisfactory verdict will result.

Referring to Sir William Mulock's sudden interest in the question of municipal telephones, Saturday Night says: "With Sir William Mulock's borrowed policy for introducing them into Canada, no one is likely to find fault. But it should be clearly remembered—in spite of Sir Wilfrid Laurier's sneer that Ontario forgets anything in six months—that it will take something a good deal bigger than a rural telephone policy to blot from the minds of Ontario electors the memory of Sir William Mulock's treachery and defiance of the will of the people he is supposed to represent, and his joining hands with the Roman Catholic Hierarchy to coerce the new provinces of the North-West into supporting for all time a Roman Catholic state school."

GENERAL SPORTING GOSSIP

HOCKEY—THE TURF—BASEBALL—LACROSSE

LACROSSE.

(To the Editor of The Times.)

Peterborough, April 5, 1905.

Dear Sir,—I must again ask space in reply to letter by "Lacrosse," in last evening's issue of the Review. While the above mentioned letter could convey nothing of value to the minds of your readers. We will proceed to examine in detail the contents of the same. "Lacrosse" begins by denying my charge that he is an amateur journalist, but admits that he would be a moralist to correct the "vicious custom" of importing professional lacrosse players. While it may not appear to your readers who "Lacrosse" really is, I could certainly pan his name, and will do so with his permission through your press. I believe and can prove that "Lacrosse" was engaged in the "vicious custom" of importing lacrosse players for a local club two years ago, and, in my opinion "Lacrosse" is a scrubbed, never being fast enough to catch a place on a professional team. "Lacrosse" makes a display of ignorant sarcasm when he quotes the old proverb "Fools step in where angels fear to tread," and, to this I will simply quote a still older one, "He that thinketh himself to be something whereas he is nothing, deceiveth himself." As I said in my former letter I am the least of the promoters of the proposed team. We have not and did not intend to collide with any Lome team, and as I before stated, we will drop out if such a team is to be organized, but I would have it understood that I have no objection to make on account of my connection with the above mentioned team. If "Lacrosse" desires to prolong this discussion I would request him to sign his name, and I will leave it to your readers for a decision.

Respectfully yours,
GEO. T. RICKERBY.

F. C. Waghorne has put in an amendment to the C.L.A. annual convention making it compulsory for the referee to penalize a player for — minutes for an opponent being struck with the stick, accidentally or otherwise.

If in the opinion of the referee the attack was deliberately made, the player offending to be ruled off for the entire game and reported to the Association.

The amendment will arouse considerable discussion at the Good Friday convention.

A RUSSIAN RAILWAY TO PEKING

Of all the happy dreams of diplomats the one that comes to us from Washington concerning a possible Russian railroad to Peking is the biggest. There is no doubt that if Russia could build a road from some point on her Siberian line straight through Mongolia to the Chinese capital she would feel herself more than compensated for the loss of her Port Arthur terminal. But there is also no doubt that she would first have to get a franchise from China, and that when it came to franchise-getting Japan would be heard from to good purpose.

If railroad building by Russia was a mere commercial enterprise everybody would sympathize with Russia's desire to get access to an open port on the Pacific. But Russian railroads are only nominally commercial. Actually the are political. "Annexation by railroad," is a very well understood phrase wherever Russian affairs are followed. The recent history of Manchuria is a most apt illustration of the truth.

It is not at all improbable that some day there will be a railroad from Peking to the vicinity of Lake Baikal. Indeed, it is highly desirable. But when the road is built the chances are that Japan will have a great deal more to do with it than Russia. The diplomatic dream from Washington has only to repair to the government laboratory at Tokio to learn speedily what stuff it is made of.

HANGED HERSELF

Insane Woman at the Hamilton Asylum Commits Suicide

Hamilton, April 5. — Mrs. Sarah Campbell, a patient at the Hamilton Asylum, committed suicide this morning. While the attendant was absent, the woman tore a strip off the bottom of her skirt and swung herself from a steam pipe. She was dead when cut down. An inquest will be held this afternoon. She had only been in the institution two days.

The man arrested while tapping a till in an hotel here Saturday, and who gave a fictitious name, turned out to be Claude Armstrong of Toronto. He pleaded guilty, and was remanded for a week to-day, at his own request.

Prof. Jos. W. Baumann, one of the best-known musicians in these parts, died suddenly this morning at St. Joseph's Hospital. He was taken there last night suffering from a paralytic stroke. Prof. Baumann has relatives in Berlin, and was probably as well known in Toronto as here.

AND WHEREAS in order to raise the said sum of twenty-five thousand dollars it will be necessary to issue Debentures of the said Corporation for the said amount.

AND WHEREAS the amount of the whole ratepable property of the Municipality, according to the last revised assessment roll, being for the year 1905, is the sum of five million six hundred and fifty-nine thousand six hundred and eighty-nine ($5,659,689).

AND WHEREAS the amount of the existing debenture debt of the Municipality, exclusive of local improvement debts, but including the debt of two hundred and ninety-two thousand dollars ($292,000) incurred for the purchase and improvement of the Waterworks, and the amount of the Debentures authorized, but not yet issued, is the sum of six hundred sixty-six thousand and fifty-six dollars and eighty-one cents ($666,056.81).

AND WHEREAS it will require the sum of one thousand dollars ($1,000) to be raised annually for a period of twenty years, the currency of the debentures to be issued under and by virtue of this By-law to pay the interest of the said debt, and the sum of eight hundred and eighty-four dollars and three cents ($884.03) as a sinking fund for the payment of the said debt at the maturity thereof, making together the sum of one thousand eight hundred and eighty-four dollars and three cents ($1,884.03) to be raised annually during the said period for the payment of the said debt, such last mentioned sum being sufficient with the estimated interest on the investment thereof to discharge the said debt when the same becomes payable, making in all the sum of one thousand eight hundred and eighty-four dollars and three cents ($1,884.03) to be raised annually as aforesaid by a special rate on the whole rateable property of the Municipality.

THE CORPORATION OF THE TOWN OF PETERBOROUGH BY THE COUNCIL THEREOF THEREFORE ENACTS AS FOLLOWS:

1. This By-law shall take effect on the day of the final passing thereof.

2. It shall be lawful for the Council of the said Town of Peterborough to borrow the sum of twenty-five thousand dollars for the purposes aforesaid and to issue the debentures of the said Corporation for the said sum, such Debentures to be sealed with the Corporate Seal of the Town of Peterborough and to be signed by the Mayor and Treasurer and countersigned by the Secretary of the Commissioners of the Peterborough Town Trust, and to be made payable within twenty years after the issue thereof, and to bear interest at the rate of four per centum per annum, payable half-yearly on the thirtieth day of June and the thirty-first day of December in each year, and to have coupons attached thereto for the payment of such interest; such debentures as to principal and interest to be payable at the office of the Secretary of the Commissioners of the Peterborough Town Trust in the Town of Peterborough.

3. There shall be raised and levied during each year of the currency of the said debentures by a special rate upon all the rateable property of the Municipality, the sum of one thousand dollars ($1,000) for payment of the interest, and the sum of eight hundred and eighty-four dollars and three cents ($884.03) as a sinking fund for the payment of the said debt at the maturity thereof, making together the sum of one thousand eight hundred and eighty-four dollars and three cents ($1,884.03) to be raised annually as aforesaid.

4. The proceeds of the said debentures when sold shall be applied to some or all the purposes following namely:

For the purchase of a site for and the erection of a Fire Hall and the equipment of the same. To instal a fire alarm system. To purchase a Chemical Engine, a new Fire Steamer, Extension Ladders, and other necessary apparatus for fire protection and improvement of the Fire Department.

5. The votes of the electors of the Town of Peterborough qualified to vote upon a By-law for creating debts shall be taken upon this By-law on Thursday, the 4th day of May, 1905, commencing at the hour of 9 o'clock in the forenoon and closing at the hour of 5 o'clock in the afternoon of the same day, at the following polling places and before the following Deputy Returning Officers respectively, that is to say:

FORTUNES ARE BEING MADE IN KANSAS OIL

Here's a fortune for you. Not 10% but 100% and no risk of loss. Giant of the Oil Fields.

IF YOU CAN'T CALL, CUT THIS OUT AND MAIL

Road to Midland Oil & Gas Co.'s Property

Will have 100 Wells
As soon as the drilling rigs can put them down.

The Midland Oil and Gas Company

has over 180 acres of oil land and has put down 10 wells, so the land is proved up. An adjoining additional 80 was secured yesterday, making over 260 acres all in the proven belt. Just read this:

The U. S. report on the oil industry places the average daily production of Pennsylvania wells at only one-half a barrel each per day. The Midland wells are pumping

Sixty Barrels a Day Each.

The pumping plant has just been started and this is the surprising result. Nothing like it in the world. The officers and directors of this company are bank men and do not believe in debts, so the company is free from debt. They have nearly $20,000 in cash and bills receivable in the treasury and everything paid for—property, wells, pumping plant, oil tanks, well cleaning machine and everything connected with the company. Have two drilling rigs working night and day sinking wells. Have abundance of gas, which runs the drills and pumping plant, so it only costs about $5.00 a day to produce and market the oil.

The Company has about 33 per cent of its stock in the treasury as a reserve.

For a short time the Company will sell a little more of its stock at only

7½ CTS. A SHARE

Buy all you can raise money to pay for.

We could talk all day about it and not cover all the strong points. But as the company has this grand property paid for, there is only one side to it, and that is profit. Don't buy stock in a company that tells you what they will do, but buy in this company, that has proved its property, and every dollar you put in makes it better. From the Kansas City Journal, Feb. 26, 1905.

There is perhaps no people in the same amount of territory in the world who have increased in wealth so rapidly. Everybody is prosperous. Many once poor and hard working families have become immensely wealthy.

Hudge Hale, an old Frisco conductor, has become a millionaire off of oil. He got in the game early. Now he has money as well as oil and gas to burn.

Fred Hetrick, a farmer living near Chanute, had a hard time for years making both ends meet. Life was a hard proposition with him. His royalties now reach $1,000 a month and he is living on easy street.

Joe Heim, of the Kansas City brewery, took a flyer in oil leases. He first put in $500 and refused $10,000 for his investment. Later he put in a lot more money in gas and oil lands and is now figuring high.

George E. Work, the Chicago clothier, took some acres of land near Chanute for a debt a customer owed him. Work's partner refused to stand for the deal, so Work kept the land himself. He has since refused $50,000 for his holdings.

These are a few samples. Hundreds of farmers have become independently rich off their oil royalties, and hundreds of other men have made big money producing oil.

This Kansas oil bearing sand is like the Pennsylvania sand; wells will produce oil for fifty years.

Can give bank references, and dozens from people who have personally examined this great property.

He was surprised at how the sores healed—"I took your New Method Treatment for a serious blood disease with which I had been afflicted for twelve years. I had consulted a score of physicians, taken all kinds of blood medicine, visited Hot Springs and other mineral water resorts, but only got temporary relief. They would help me for a time, but after discontinuing the medicines the symptoms would break out again—running sores, blotches, rheumatic pains, looseness of the hair, swellings of the glands, pimples on the face, ulcers in the mouth, sore throat, falling of the palate, ulcerous formations on the body, ulcers in the stomach, etc. I had given up in despair when a friend advised me to consult you, as you had cured him of a similar disease 8 years ago. I had no hope, but took his advice. In three weeks' time the sores commenced to heal up and I became encouraged. I continued the New Method Treatment for four months and at the end of that time every symptom had disappeared. I was cured 7 years ago and no signs of any disease since. My boy, three years old, is sound and healthy. I certainly can recommend your treatment with all my heart. You can refer any person to me privately, but you can use this testimonial as you wish." W. EXTRAORDINARY CASE

A Strange Girl Who Had Ten Personalities

London, April 5.—The Lancet gave particulars last week of an extraordinary case of multiple personality. The patient is a girl between twelve and thirteen years of age, who has developed ten varieties of abnormal personality.

She comes of healthy parents and was herself healthy in mind and body until she was attacked with influenza. Then the changes of personality manifested themselves. Some were complete and others incomplete, some sudden and others gradual in appearance. In some cases the patient was totally and in all partially ignorant of her life during other states. Acquirements such as drawing and writing and also the normal faculties were present in certain states, but lost in others. While in a blind condition she developed the faculty of drawing with the aid of touch alone, this sense being enormously increased in delicacy.

Her character and behavior in some states differed widely from what they were in others. The phases varied from a few minutes to ten weeks. The normal state grew gradually less frequent and of shorter duration, until it finally disappeared.

The various stages lasted about three years altogether, until ultimately a particular, abnormal stage was reached, in which she remained at the date of the report. In this stage she was intelligent and able to work.

EXPECTS ATTACK

Residents Flee, and Troops Concentrating at the Fortifications

Wonson, April 4.—The Herald courier who left Vladivostok a month ago reports that the residents there expect the Japanese investment early in the spring. Many, therefore, are leaving daily for Europe, while those who are compelled to remain are sending their valuables away. The number of non-combatant Europeans now in Vladivostok is approximately 100.

Practically no steamships succeed in running the Japanese blockade. All docks and work has been suspended for thirty days, repairs to the waralips being completed.

The defensive works, entanglements, pits and fortifications of large magnitude are completely hidden by transplanted trees, forming an effective screen. The same method has been used on the fortified islands at the entrance to the harbor.

Martial law has been proclaimed in the city, where a thousand men have been garrisoned, 25,000 additional troops being quartered in the fortifications. Re-enforcements were arriving daily when the courier left town.

It is reported that ultimately the garrison will be increased to 80,000.

The courier further reports that the Russian garrison formerly stationed at Possiet Bay has been withdrawn to Vladivostok, and that with the exception of 400 men on the Tumen River he saw no Russians between Vladivostok and Song Ching, where the Japanese headquarters have been established.

General Kawamura has sent a strong column toward the headwaters of the Yalu to forestall a possible Russian move in this direction. Thus the Japanese army completely controls northeastern Korea, having accomplished this with practically no opposition.

DIES FROM HIS WOUNDS

The Man Who Threw Bomb at Police Commissioner is Dead

Lodz, Russian Poland, April 5.—The would-be assassin of Police Commissioner Scharovics of the Second District, who was seriously injured on Saturday afternoon by a bomb which was thrown at him in the street, is dead. He never regained consciousness after being shot down by the policeman who arrested him. Considerable excitement was caused at midnight by two Cossacks, who attacked four pedestrians, killing two and wounding the others.

The Governor-General has prohibited the sale of revolvers. The gun dealers have been ordered to enclose all the revolvers in sealed cases and to hand them over to the police.

TURBINES A SUCCESS

Trip to Quebec from Liverpool in Less Than Seven Days

Montreal, April 5.—"The success of the turbine system was clearly demonstrated throughout the entire voyage," was the statement made today by Mr. Thos. Darling, manager of the Canadian Lines, Limited, the only Canadian shipping interest who made the trip across the Atlantic in the turbine steamer "Victorian." From the way the steamer behaved during the entire voyage it is evident that it will be able to make the trip between Quebec and Liverpool in less than seven days and this was as good as anybody could desire. The engineers in the boat, while inclined to be non-committal, expressed their satisfaction with the engines.

A RARE OPPORTUNITY

To obtain a gilt edge investment in a great gold mining enterprise, developing a rich mineral area in an undeveloped mineral empire in Northwestern Colorado

OFFERING OF 150,000 SHARES OF TREASURY STOCK OF THE

UNITED STATES GOLD CORPORATION

For the purpose of carrying out plans necessary to place the property on a dividend basis

The Board of Directors of the United States Gold Corporation estimate that the business of this company can be placed upon a paying and dividend basis by the completion of the Klondyke tunnel, a distance of 1500 feet and by the construction of a modern concentration mill of not less than twenty five tons capacity per day on the property for the treatment of the great bodies of low grade ore, now awaiting treatment. To provide means for the execution of these plans, the Directors of this Company now offer for sale One Hundred and Fifty Thousand shares of Treasury Stock at the nominal price of 15 cents per share for cash.

For the information of investors the Company make the following statement of what a certificate of its stock represents

Assets and Financial Condition of the United States Gold Corporation

Careful estimates made by the officers and scientific and practical mill men prove to the satisfaction of this company that the proceeds from the present treasury stock offering will place the property on a paying basis and the further sale of treasury stock will be withdrawn from the market, leaving a treasury reserve fund of over 600,000 shares.

This great enterprise has passed the prospect stage and upon the completion of our tunnel about June 1st, 1905 the energies of the Company will be entirely devoted to production shipment and treatment of its vast tonnage of ore developed through the Klondyke tunnel estimated at 1000 tons per day.

The officers of this Company court rigid investigation by prospective investors of its properties and management.

Persons desiring stock should mail their application to the United States Gold Corporation at Boulder, Colorado, together with draft for amount of shares desired at 15c. per share, for which a certificate of stock will be issued and sent subscriber by return mail. Do not delay sending application as treasury stock will be taken off the market after this offering is subscribed.

WHAT WIRELESS IS —WHY IT WORKS

(This is the second chapter, of which there will be four, giving a simple explanation of the great scientific discovery known as wireless telegraphy.)

CHAPTER II.

Synopsis of Chap. I: The first chapter told how wireless telegraphy was but a scientific method of taking advantage of or controlling a force which Nature had placed in the air. This force has existed since the creation of the world, but no one realized it until lately any more than a correct explanation was given of the "force of gravity" until a century ago. The electricity in the air makes wireless telegraphy possible. The instruments which have now been invented force that electricity to move in certain ways at the direction of the user of the wireless instrument. The unseen current is set in motion as are the waves in a pond when a stone is thrown into it, and they travel on indefinitely.

The instrument which sets the electric waves in motion in the air and which controls them in certain directions is a somewhat complicated instrument, because it has to do many things, but the principle on which it works can be easily understood and a detailed or technical description of the instrument would be superfluous here. It was stated in the first chapter that extra electricity was forced into the air in order to set the electric waves in motion.

This electric power is supplied through the sending instrument by electric batteries if a current of moderate power only is needed, or, by dynamos if a current of such strength as would be needed to send a message across the Atlantic Ocean or to any distant point where wanted. Both the sending and the receiving instruments are connected by wires or other metal substances with the earth, and it may be well to explain right here why this is done. Electricity under control, as when used in sending messages, travels in an unbroken circle, so to speak. In the case of the telegraph, a wire connects the instruments at two given points and the circuit is completed by the earth, which acts as the second or return wire. The same with wireless, the earth serves to connect the two stations, as if a second or completing circuit was installed. The current passes through the air and returns by the earth just as if it followed the chain on a bicycle and had no end or interruption. You should keep in mind this help which the earth gives, without cost, as it is connected with a later consideration of the subject.

We have noted the batteries or dynamos which supply the current. The next consideration is the means by which the electricity from these sources is distributed in the air. Poles or towers are erected and supplied with wires. This is necessary so as to get the ends of the wires up above surrounding buildings and far enough from the ground so that the current going by the air and returning by the earth will not be near enough together to get mixed up and become short-circuited, as it is known.

Between the battery or dynamo and the tower comes the instrument. This is a mechanical device which serves to make and break the current passing through the air and returning by the earth. If the operator should hold a wire in one hand which ran up the tower and one in the other hand which was connected with the batteries and should keep touching and separating the ends of those wires, he would be making and breaking the current or doing what the instrument makes possible in a more perfect manner and without danger to those handling the powerful current. A part of the sending instrument is a lever known as a key, and when this is depressed the current is unbroken, but when the operator removes the pressure of his hand the lever is raised by a spring and the current is broken just as if he were touching and separating the ends of two wires. Each time that there is this break at the sending instrument, there is a break in the current throughout its entire distance, and it is made to act on the receiving instrument as will be shown later. It is simple to see that the operator may keep the key depressed or released just as long as he wishes, or, in other words, he can regulate the making and breaking of the current at his own discretion. When the current is on for a material length of time it is called making a dash, while for a short time is termed making a dot. It is the making of these dashes and dots in a prearranged manner that makes it possible to send a message in which each letter of the alphabet is represented by a certain combination of dots and dashes.

There is another part of the sending instrument which is necessary in wireless telegraphy, and it is connected with the sending key or lever and between it and the wire going up the tower. Its object is simply to emphasize the breaks in the current and make more distinct the dots and dashes. It is so constructed that it sends the dots and dashes off the tip of the wire like the snap of a whip. This makes the strokes of electric current leave the tower with greater distinctness and makes the transmission of the messages more simple and more easy to receive.

The receiving instrument is more simple than the sending instrument. The current passes down the wire from the tower at the receiving station and through the instrument into the ground, and on back to the sending station, thus making the complete circuit of current. In the receiving instrument is a lever balanced on springs and acted on by the current. When the current is passing through the instrument this lever is depressed, and at each break in the current, the lever is released and moves upward by the action of one of the springs. The movement of this lever is only about an eighth of an inch and it makes a distinct click each time it strikes the metal points which stop its rise and fall. It is by listening to these clicks and noting the length of them that the receiving operator detects the dots and dashes and thus reads the message. The waves of electricity which have been set in motion by the sending station may be considered to be flat-topped waves. Those with a broad top are dashes and those with a narrow top are dots, and the receiving instrument, through its lever, makes the distinction just as clearly as the sending instrument.

(Chapter 3, which will appear next week, will describe more fully how a single message is sent and received, and will make clear the simplicity of the long-delayed discovery.)

have given the stamp of their unqualified approval to wireless telegraphy.

Such great scientists as Lord Kelvin and Thomas A. Edison have not only acknowledged that the science has already attained a stage of commercial adaptability, but have become so imbued with the proofs of the progress already made that they now expound their predictions and openly state that wireless telegraphy will shortly girdle the world.

Rulers and leading officials of those nations which to-day represent progress have sanctioned the adoption of wireless telegraphy and are authorizing tremendous expenditures in order that their

Government may be immediately in possession of a complete wireless service.

The brainy men who control the world's shipping have installed wireless apparatus upon the great leviathans that ply the deep.

Commercial prisons are constantly making use of wireless messages, as is evidenced by the fact that, within the past four years, over one hundred thousand wireless messages have passed between shore stations and vessels at sea, and the annual increase in this form of business is at a ratio hitherto inconceivable. The banker, the lawyer, the merchant and the layman are all among the daily users of this modern scientific marvel.

THE POPE HAS ADOPTED WIRELESS

and ordered the apparatus installed in the Vatican Observatory. He has done this after a most exhaustive study of the subject of wireless telegraphy and because he has become convinced that the science has reached a practical and commercial stage. He has gone further and urgently requested the most famous wireless inventor, whose system he has adopted, to visit him at the Vatican at the earliest possible moment.

What system is it that these leading minds of the world have sanctioned and acknowledged to be a success beyond their extreme expectations?

It is the MARCONI SYSTEM in every case where real success is found and its present great lead in the new field of science makes it safe to say that it will be the Marconi system which will be adopted as the standard and exclusive system the world over. Lord Kelvin refers to the Marconi system as does Edison in all their predictions. England and Italy have adopted only the Marconi system, and the other Governments have made but little progress with any of the other systems with which they have experimented. It is the Marconi service which is installed on the ships which are handling all the ship to shore business from transatlantic liners.

It is the Marconi service which the Pope has ordered installed in the Vatican Observatory and it is Signor Marconi to whom the Pope has extended an invitation almost amounting to a command for the inventor to visit him. These things would not be so unless the Marconi system were an assured success already and gifted with promise of greater things to come.

THE MARCONI WIRELESS TELEGRAPH COMPANY OF CANADA, LTD.

works under the Marconi patents, and will share in every one of its successes. It already has tangible assets, largely in excess of capital and increasing yearly. The revenue from the stations built and building is increasing daily. The development of the Company has but started, and its assured success will lead to the erection of countless new stations and a revenue in excess of that enjoyed by any other similar enterprises in the history of the world.

Wealth and future happiness are knocking at the door of the investor

who is shrewd enough to take advantage of this opportunity which will not come again. Is it not better to invest money in this stock now, when the purchase can be made at $5 per share, than to wait until everybody else is aware of the success and its support by the world's leaders, when that will mean that the price will immediately be at least double what it now is? You will have no more to show for your money, a given investment will net you but one-half as many shares, the dividends will be also half as much, for you will have but half as much stock on which to draw dividends and you will have lost the profits as your stock advances in value.

Remember that you can buy any number of shares, from one share to two hundred shares. Would it not be wise to make an investment immediately of your investment funds instead of leaving them idle or drawing but a small interest when this best of opportunities is slowly but surely slipping away from you?

You can not very well set yourself up as wiser than the men who guide the policies of the world. Make yourself thoroughly familiar with all the facts in regard to the Canadian Company and become a partner to share the profits of the great Marconi invention. Ask us any questions, write for particulars, but to make sure of an allotment, send your money NOW.

A HIGH GRADE INDUSTRIAL AND MINING INVESTMENT

We have thoroughly investigated it and found it to be right in every respe Did you ever have a chance to invest in a straight legitimate money making proposition? If not,

THIS IS YOUR OPPORTUNITY

We own a monopoly of the water right privileges in the Thunder Mountain mining district, State of Idaho, U.S.A.; seven water rights in all; one developed and in use. The property of the Company consists of over 1400 acres, with plenty of timber for building and mining purposes, a saw mill fully equipped and in operation, a 10-stamp mill now on its way from the R. R. Station to the property, and 40 additional stamps to be purchased at once and installed during the coming summer. This is the largest and most favorably situated property in the district. Some of the tunnels have been driven over 400 ft., cross-cutting many dikes, demonstrating that we have an inexhaustible body of ore. The ore bodies are sampled by an assayer every 10 ft., and assays run from 40c. to $600 per ton. The ore is free milling, and can be mined and milled for about $1.00 per ton.

This Company has had a phenomenal growth, and "The Thunder Mountain Prospector," published at Roosevelt, Idaho, where the property is located, states that this Company is three times as large as any other Company operating in the district. 30 men at work on the property. Over $60,000 worth of stock sold within the last 90 days. Only 100,000 shares more to be sold at 50c. per share. You cannot afford to miss this opportunity; investigate at once.

CATARRH

Don't Drug the Stomach — Breathe Nature's Remedy, Catarrhozone — Both Pleasant and Easy to Use. A Guarantee of Cure goes with it.

Catarrhozone always cures because it reaches the source of the disease quickly and thoroughly. Its healing vapor penetrates the minutest air cells of the nasal passages, throat and lungs. It attacks the cause of the disease direct, and doesn't work in a round about way through the stomach.

The antiseptics in Catarrhozone kill the germs that cause catarrh, clears the nostrils, cures headache and foul breath. It prevents droppings in the throat, allays inflammation. Catarrhozone now.

So certain is Catarrhozone to remove and cure that doctors, ministers and public speakers keep it as their standby for coughs, colds, catarrh and throat trouble. Because it lasts so long it is cheap, and as it is sure to cure even the poorest can afford to buy it.

Mrs. J. A. Morris, of Perth, Ont., writes, "I cannot withhold my testimony for Catarrhozone. It cured my daughter of chronic catarrh and I therefore heartily recommend it to all sufferers. No house should be without Catarrhozone."

Why not use Catarrhozone? It cures colds in a few hours, and no case of catarrh can withstand it. Catarrhozone cures by the inhalation of medicated air which goes to all parts of the lungs, throat and breathing organs. A pleasant, certain, quick cure follows the use of Catarrhozone, which is guaranteed under all conditions to cure catarrh in any part of the system.

Two months' treatment, hard rubber inhaler and extra liquid costs only one dollar; sample size 25c. Sold by all druggists or by mail from N. C. Polson & Co., Kingston, Ont., or Hartford, Conn., U.S.A. Ormation heals sore spots and ulcers at the nose.

Dr. Bell's Good Wishes

Yesterday the great family journal had a call from Dr. Alex. Bell, of Apsley, who was in town on business. The genial doctor, who by the way is clerk of the united townships of Burleigh and Anstruther, left the following memorandum on the editor's desk; "Glad to see you have stood the winter; may you flourish with the spring rains like the proverbial bay tree." It is needless to add this g.f.j., cordially reciprocates the kindly good wishes.

Fishery Inspectors

Among the list of Fishery Inspectors recently appointed in place of former inspectors, recently displaced by the Department, we notice the names of Messrs. John McAllister, Gore Landing; Enoch Merriam, Harwood; W. H. Johnston, Roseneath; J. Rivet, Sturgeon Falls; H. Phillips, Smith's Falls; C. H. Cassau, Campbellford. There are 125 inspectors to be appointed, and the other appointments are expected to follow very soon. No district overseers will be appointed, but the local inspectors will report direct to the Department at Toronto.

Formal Opening of New Building on Tuesday Next

DEDICATION ON SUNDAY.

Generous Response to Appeal of House Committee for Aid.

In addition to the handsome cheque for $1,000, sent by Mr. Fred Nicholls, of the Canadian General on Saturday, the treasurer of the Building Fund, has received one for $2,000 from Mr. Robert Stuart, of the American Cereal Company, for which the ladies take this opportunity of publicly expressing their thanks.

At the regular monthly meeting of the Board, Monday afternoon, there was an unusually large attendance and a great deal of business relating to the new building was transacted. It was decided to have a Dedicatory Service on a Sunday afternoon at 4.15, and the formal opening, the Tuesday evening following, the exact dates to be given shortly. Throughout the meeting, the feeling of the ladies was that it should be a season of Thanksgiving for the wonderful way in which they have been prospered in their undertaking.

The House Committee report a very generous response from the public, towards the furnishing of the building, but still more is needed, and will be very gratefully received.

The telephone has already been installed in the new building, and the office will be ready in a few days. The office has been moved from the Bank of Commerce Building, and anyone wishing to interview the secretary, should go to the new building. Miss Long, the former general secretary, has returned, and will be glad to meet any young women desiring rooms. It is suggested that they make their selection as soon as possible, in order to have the greater choice.

Why Sugar is Dear

The Grocery Wholesale Company, Ltd., of Hamilton, has commenced an action against the Dominion Grocers' Guild, with H. C. Brockett and the Price committee as co-defendants, claiming $10,000 damages. They allege that the Canadian Grocery Company, organized by H. C. Brockett, formed a combine of ten large wholesale houses with the object of compelling the sugar refineries to sell only to them and to refuse to sell to the plaintiff company. The ten companies alleged to be in the combine are Balfour & Co., W. H. Gillard & Co., Jas. Turner & Co., Lucas, Steele & Bristol, John Sloan & Co., Edward Adams & Co., Davidson, May & Co., Warren Bros. & Co., and L. P. Smythe & Son.

Raise for the Policemen

When the Council meets to-night in Committee of the Whole, among other business that will be discussed, will probably be the request of the Chairman of the Police Committee, for a raise of salaries for the officers. Should this be given, we do not anticipate that there will be much objection raised by thinking members of the community. Surely a town of 15,000 inhabitants, that is kept as quiet and in as remarkably moral and decent a condition as is Peterborough, by a force of only four men, can afford to pay the officers as high wages as the lowest grade of policeman is paid in Toronto, where there is an officers for every 1,000 of its population, and here our officers are in the proportion of one for 4,000.

Local Incidents

BY THE TIMES MAN ON THE STREET.

—March numbers of the Ladies' Home Magazine, only ten cents, at Times Bookstore.

—Rev. Canon Dixon, of Toronto, will speak on the Passion of Christ at St. Luke's church on Friday evening next. Some 125 views by the best artists of ancient and modern times will be represented.

—Concerning a gentleman well known here also, the Lindsay Post says; Mr. F. J. Daly, well known here, has disposed of his interest in the Grand Central Hotel, Orillia, to a couple of Toronto hotel men.

—The last issue of the Ontario Gazette contains notice of a charter being granted to the Peterborough Boiler and Radiator Company. The authorized capital is $40,000. Mr. Robert Sturgeon is one of the promoters.

—Our literary readers will do well to remember that the Ontario Library Association will hold its 5th annual meeting on Easter Monday and Tuesday, April 24th and 25th, 1905, in the Canadian Institute, Richmond St., east, Toronto.

—The Chief has issued a last warning to bicyclists to keep off the side walks when riding the untamed bicycle, and also to remember that the bell ordinance is still in force, and will be enforced equally with that referring to sidewalk riding.

—Mr. Walker, Inspector of Public Schools, requests this Journal to note that owing to the lateness of the Easter holidays this year, it is desirable that all those desiring admittance to the primary classes of the Public schools should present themselves for entrance at once.

—It will be remembered that, in a former issue, we stated that Mrs. Johnston, widow of the late George Johnston, one time Chief of Police Lere, and who is in California, was improving in health. Her relatives heard on Monday that she has taken a turn for the worse and is in a very precarious condition.

THE ATTRACTIVE GIRL.

Much has been written about "the American girl" and her reasons for being pre-eminently the most attractive girl in the world. In bringing up girls mothers can't be too careful to let their daughters develop all their natural charms to the utmost.

The crucial epoch of a woman's life is the change from maidenhood to womanhood. It involves the whole body and manifests itself in the nervous disposition at this time.

Nervous or sick women are afforded the opportunity of a lifetime, for the makers of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription now offer $500 reward for women who cannot be cured. Backed up by over a third of a century of remarkable and uniform cures, a record such as no other remedy for the diseases peculiar to women ever attained, the proprietors of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription now feel fully warranted in offering to pay $500 in legal money of the United States for any case of Leucorrhea, Female Weakness, Prolapsus, or Falling of the Womb, which they cannot cure. All they ask is a fair and reasonable trial of their means of cure.

"I cannot praise your medicine highly enough," writes Mrs. Jennie Hippenhamer, of Hunterstown, Indiana. "I began taking Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and took it steadily for six months. I was not once sick at stomach, never vomited once. Took the 'Favorite Prescription' three times a day and when in severe pain took an extra teaspoonful of medicine which checked the pain. I felt pleasant all the time and did not get nervous as I used to. When my baby girl came last August she was healthy. She is now eleven months old. Am thirty-eight years old and never got through so easily in all my life. Why should women suffer when they can get through so easily? I am able to do quite a washing and ironing which I could not do for eight years before."

As a tonic for women who are nervous, sleepless, worn-out and run-down, "Favorite Prescription" is unequaled.

For constipation, the true, scientific cure is Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. Mild, harmless, yet sure. No other pill can compare with them.

HOMESTEAD REGULATIONS

Any even numbered section of Dominion lands in Manitoba or the North-west Territories, excepting 8 and 26, which has not been homesteaded, or reserved to provide wood lots for settlers, or for other purposes, may be homesteaded upon by any person who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years of age, to the extent of one-quarter section of 160 acres more or less.

ENTRY

Entry may be made personally at the local land office for the district in which the land to be taken is situate, or if the homesteader desires, he may, on application to the Minister of the Interior, Ottawa; the Commissioner of Immigration Winnipeg, or the local agent for the district in which the land is situate, receive authority for some one to make entry for him. A fee of $10 is charged for a homestead entry.

HOMESTEAD DUTIES

A settler who has been granted an entry for a homestead is required by the provisions of the Dominion Lands Act, and the amendments thereto, to perform the conditions connected therewith, under one of the following plans:

(1) At least six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each year during the term of three years. It is the practice of the Department to require a settler to bring 15 acres under cultivation, but if he prefers he may substitute stock; and 20 head of cattle, to be actually his own property, with buildings for their accommodation, will be accepted instead of the cultivation.

(2) If the father (or mother, if the father is deceased), of any person who is eligible to make a homestead entry under the provisions of this Act, resides upon a farm in the vicinity of the land entered for by such person as a homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence prior to obtaining patent may be satisfied by such person residing with the father or mother.

(3) If a settler was entitled to and has obtained entry for a second homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence prior to obtaining patent may be satisfied by residence upon the first homestead, if the second homestead is in the vicinity of the first homestead.

(4) If the settler has his permanent residence upon farming land owned by him in the vicinity of his homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence may be satisfied by residence upon the said land.

The term "vicinity" used above is meant to indicate the same township, or an adjoining or cornering township.

A settler who avails himself of the provisions of clauses (2), (3) or (4) must cultivate 30 acres of his homestead, or substitute 20 head of stock, with buildings for their accommodation, and have besides 80 acres substantially fenced.

The privilege of a second entry is restricted by law to those settlers only who completed the duties upon their first homesteads to entitle them to patent on or before the 2nd of June, 1889.

Every homesteader who fails to comply with the requirements of the homestead law is liable to have his entry cancelled and the land may again be thrown open for entry.

APPLICATION FOR PATENT

Should be made at the end of three years, before the Local Agent, Sub-Agent or the Homestead Inspector. Before making application for patent the settler must give six months notice in writing to the Commissioner of Dominion Lands at Ottawa of his intention to do so.

INFORMATION

Newly arrived immigrants will receive, at the Immigration Office in Winnipeg, or at any Dominion Lands Office in Manitoba or the Northwest Territories, information as to the lands that are open for entry, and from the officers in charge, free of expense, advice and assistance in securing lands to suit them. Full information respecting the land, timber, coal and mineral laws, as well as respecting Dominion Lands in the Railway Belt in British Columbia, may be obtained upon application to the Secretary of the Department of the Interior, Ottawa; the Commissioner of Immigration, Winnipeg, Manitoba, or to any of the Dominion Lands Agents in Manitoba or the Northwest Territories.

W. W. CORY, Deputy Minister of the Interior.

N. B.—In addition to Free Grant Lands, to which the Regulations above stated refer, thousands of acres of most desirable lands are available for lease or purchase from railroad and other corporations and private firms in Western Canada.

PLOT OF CHURCH AGAINST PROVINCE FULLY REVEALED

People Greatly Excited by the Revelations of the Manner in Which the Papal Ablegate Interfered in Canadian Politics.

Winnipeg, April, 6.—It is within the mark to say that no political revelation of recent years has created anything like the sensation that has Mr. Robert Roger's statement as to the manner in which Mgr. Sbarretti, the Papal Ablegate, attempted to coerce Manitoba. That statement was published yesterday afternoon in extras of the Tribune and Telegram, and other papers, and created a great deal of comment.

DONE BY HIS OWN HAND.

Owing to insinuations in the Liberal press that the Ottawa Government has further correspondence on the Sbarretti incident up its sleeve, the public is in a state of expectancy, and is awaiting the final decision of the Manitoba Government's course. It is learned to-day on reliable authority that the hand writing of the suggested amendment to the Manitoba School Act is in the actual handwriting of Mgr. Sbarretti, the same hand that wrote the invitation to Attorney-General Campbell to meet the delegate in Ottawa.

ROBLIN CAN LOOK AFTER ROBLIN

A press representative called at the Government Buildings this morning to ask Premier Roblin if he had anything to say in reply to the charge in the Free Press that he had compromised himself and the Province with the Papal Delegate on the school question, and that there were documents in existence to prove it. Unfortunately Mr. Roblin was out of town, but he is expected home this afternoon. His colleagues, on being spoken to about the matter, smiled contemptuously and said it was undoubtedly a yarn. They observed that Mr. Roblin would soon be home and would no doubt attend to the matter himself.

A DISSOLUTION REFUSED.

It seems a foregone conclusion now that there will be no dissolution of the local House. Governor McMillan is said to have intimated to the Ministry that he cannot see any good reason for granting their request and they will not resign. The feeling among many Independents is that the sentiment of this country on the boundary question cannot possibly be misunderstood. Everyone practically favors extension, and the feeling is intensified by reason of yesterday's developments, which go to prove that Mgr. Sbarretti is at the back of a movement to prevent extension unless Manitoba agrees to grant Separate schools.

A DISCLAIMER FROM OTTAWA.

An Ottawa despatch in the Free Press reads;

"It is learned on good authority to-night that there is not the slightest foundation for the insinuation sent out from Winnipeg that Sir Wilfrid Laurier or any of his colleagues had any conference of any kind with the Papal Delegate touching the extension of Manitoba's boundaries. These conferences are said to have been carried on by Manitoba Ministers, but the members of the Ottawa Government had nothing to do with them in any way."

THE ABLEGATE DEFENDED.

The Free Press calls attention to the fact that Mr. Rogers and not Premier Roblin is now the mouthpiece of the Government. It says, further; "Mgr. Sbarretti, let it be said again, was quite within his rights in negotiating with the Manitoba Ministers. That is his business. The nature of these negotiations when they are disclosed, as they probably will be in a few days, will be found of a character to astonish the people of Manitoba—particularly to astonish those who are regarding R. P. Roblin as a staunch, unyielding defender of National Schools. There are understood to be more documents in existence in relation to the Roblin Government's negotiations with the Papal Delegate than the 'memorandum,' which figures so conspicuously in Mr. Rogers' statement."

CHARGE AGAINST SBARRETTI BY THE MANITOBA GOVERNMENT.

The charge boldly made by Hon. Mr. Rogers, Minister of Public Works for Manitoba, is that he and the Hon. Colin Campbell, the Attorney-General, went to Ottawa to discuss the boundary question with Sir Wilfrid Laurier at the latter's express invitation; that the latter promised an answer in three or four days, and that on the third day a communication was received from Monseigneur Sbarretti, the representative of the Pope in Canada, asking for a conference, at which it was promised that Manitoba's limits would be extended to Hudson's Bay if the Manitoba School Act was amended. This was on February 20th. The following day Sir Wilfrid introduced the Autonomy Bill, in which the western extension was declared to be out of the question and the northern extension to Hudson Bay to be [illegible] representatives of Ontario and Quebec.

Mr. Rogers asserts that he and Mr. Campbell were told by the Papal Ablegate that their failure in the past to adopt the amendments desired—a copy of which was handed to them, and is now in their possession, it being also reproduced in the statement—"had prejudiced our claim for extension westward."

CANADA SEEKS BOOM

Project on Foot to Divert Tide of Immigration to the Dominion

MONEY FOR DOUKHOBORS

Czar to Pay Communists for Property Seized After Departure From Russia

[From our special correspondent]

Ottawa, April 6.—A movement is being promoted to encourage immigration to Canada via the United States. The project embraces the establishment at New York of a comprehensive exhibit showing the varied resources of the Dominion, and an information bureau where European immigrants to the United States, upon landing in New York, may learn of the advantages the Dominion offers, and an information bureau where European immigrants to the United States, upon landing in New York, may learn of the advantages the Dominion offers.

A company with this object in view is being formed under the name of "The Canadian General Service and Colonization Company," with a capital of $100,000. A building will be obtained in New York for the exhibit. The movement originated from the conviction that thousands of immigrants are settling annually in the United States who are ignorant of the opportunities offered by Canada, and it is believed an institution of the sort proposed will have a marked effect in diverting immigration to the Dominion.

RUSSIA TO PAY DOUKHOBORS.

It is understood the Russian Government will make restitution to the Doukhobors in Canada for the confiscation of their property in Russia after they had emigrated from that country to Canada some three years ago. A small deputation from the Doukhobor colony in the Canadian West, headed by Peter Verigin, interviewed the Government here, and subsequently laid the case before the Russian Consul at Montreal, with the result that it is announced the Czar's Government will pay the Doukhobors for all the property taken from them in Russia.

The Doukhobor colonists, handicapped by their curious customs and poverty, have prospered in their new home at Yorkton, N.W.T. Two years ago the colony was virtually penniless. Today it has thousands of acres sown in wheat and other grain, the most modern agricultural appliances, and cattle and sheep in great numbers. The colony now numbers 8,000 persons, and is prospering in every way. There are fifty-seven villages, which are made up of forty homesteads each and having 160 acres to a homestead. All these homesteads work in community and possess all property and goods in common.

According to the report of the Fisheries Department, just presented to Dominion Parliament, the fisheries of the Dominion are shown to be the largest in the world. They extend over an immense sea coast line, besides innumerable lakes and rivers. The total value of fish caught and fish products prepared in Canada during the last fiscal year aggregates $23,101,873. With the exception of 1901, when the phenomenal catch of salmon in British Columbia swelled the total value beyond $25,000,000, last year's catch was the largest on record for this country. There were 79,134 men engaged last year in the fisheries, not including the thousands of persons employed in the lobster branch of this industry.

The war of extermination waged against the dog fish in Atlantic waters is referred to as approaching a satisfactory result. The dog fish, which is a species of small shark and most voracious and destructive to fishing gear, is the greatest enemy of the fishermen.

Police Court

OFFICIALS
Chief of Police, G.I. Rogers
Magistrate, D.W. Dumble

His Worship yesterday morning had something doing in the Court. The case, as noted in yesterday's issue, of a local hotelman who had taken a watch as security for coin of the realm, in contravention of the liquor laws, was up but his trial was enlarged until this morning. On Tuesday night one of the force had quite a time taking a young man to the station. The prisoner had quite a cargo of liquid ballast aboard, which caused him to steer an erratic course down George street about 10.30, in addition he was somewhat noisy. The officer called in assistance to help land the prisoner in the Hotel de Coppers. As a small boy, who witnessed this arrest, described the undertaking "De cop run de stick into the guy." His little picnic cost the arrested just $2.

Fred Theobald also contributed 9c towards the town's finances for taking that one glass too many.

W. Revoy, who owned a dog, up to yesterday morning, now misses his canine friend. The dog had fallen into a habit, not admired by those on whom he practised, of biting passers-by. Several complaints were laid by parties he had attacked, so his Worship yesterday morning signed his death warrant.

A lady who showed in every lineament that "Hell knows no fury like a woman scorned," yesterday wanted the Court to help her out. It appears that her husband is somewhat of an epicure in his tastes regarding the female form divine. Worse still he is fickle! Although several olive branches grace the hearth of their domesticity, Hubby, who has removed to Toronto, and who, is enslaved by another charmer, has forsaken his first love, or perhaps one of them, to bask in the sunlight of No. 2's smiles. His Worship advised the fair applicant to try and settle the matter outside of Court. What shall the Harvest be?

THE BUSY BURGLAR

Cottages in Stony Lake Broken Into—Mr. D. W. Dumble a Sufferer

That the busy burglar does not confine his operations to urban residences and stores, but sometimes takes "A flyer" on summer homes, is too well known by cottagers on Stony Lake. The association formed for the purposes of protection of these lake homes will have a little Sherlock Holmes mystery or two to solve. Mr. D. W. Dumble, our popular police magistrate, is a sufferer this year, if not to his pocket, still to his dignity, his cottage on Stony Lake having had the doors forced, and most probably goods stored therein stolen. The cottages have the appearance of having been tampered with. As soon as the ice is thoroughly cleared off the lakes, rendering canoe navigation practicable, members of the association will take the matter up, and having discovered the extent of the depredations, take such action as will, it is to be hoped, lead to discovery of these mean thieves and house-breakers, and give them their deserts.

VLADIVOSTOK'S FALL IS NOT CERTAIN

France Very Much Worried Over Japan's Triumph

WHAT WILL THE END BE?

Far Reaching Effect of Russia's Surrender of Her Last Port

Paris, April 5.—I have today had a conversation with an important personage who stands in close relations with the French Foreign Office and is particularly well situated to know exactly M. Delcasse's views as to the prospects of peace.

He confirmed my cable of some days ago to The New York Times that previous to the battle of Mukden non-official negotiations were proceeding here to ascertain the maximum of possible Russian concessions and the minimum of Japanese demands; "but," he said, "the situation now is entirely changed by the Russian rout at Mukden, and until the Japanese have reaped the fruits of their victory there will be no further talk of peace. This may mean a wait of months.

"Hitherto the Russians have been simply fighting for the possession of Manchuria and for political predominance in Korea; but now they are threatened with the loss of Vladivostok. If the Japanese, as they probably will, succeed in cutting connection between Vladivostok and Harbin, Japan will then have acquired the only port and naval base on the shore of the Pacific Ocean which hitherto have been in possession of a European power.

"This would mean that all the commerce of the Pacific Ocean would become the monopoly of only two powers with strong naval bases on the Pacific, namely, Japan and the United States. These two non-European powers could divide up China trade at their pleasure, and war to Russia would become vital, for historic policy ever since Peter the Great has been to secure an outlet to warm water and to the Pacific.

"The European powers would be equally left out in the cold, and you may rely on this, that as soon as the fall of Vladivostok has forced this eventuality on their attention, strong pressure will be exercised to stop the war.

"Then, whatever else Japan may demand, she will not be allowed to exclude Russia and the rest of Europe from all naval and maritime fort, belonging to the prosperous influence in the Pacific Ocean.

LUDWIG NOW HERE

A World's Fair Prize Winning Horse in Peterborough

As an indication of the notice that this town now meets with everywhere, might be mentioned that a horse with an international reputation has been brought here. Mr. Corbrane, of Baltimore, whose celebrated coaching stallion Ludwig, won the prize in his class at the World's Fair in Chicago, and also prizes and medals throughout the United States, has brought this valuable animal to Peterborough. The horse is stabled here at a local hotel. He is a beautiful cherry bay with fine action, and looks every inch the prize winner.

A BIG CELEBRATION ON JULY THE 1ST NEXT.

If Peterborough Assumes City Clothing---An Inauguration Celebration Committee Struck Last Night---They Will Meet To-night and Discuss Ways and Means.

The Town Council met in Committee of the Whole last night, and cleared off the slate all the business referred to them.

INAUGURATION CELEBRATION.

Mayor Henry Best, and Aldermen Mason, Hicks, Tovey and Begley were appointed a committee to take active steps in the direction of fittingly celebrating July 1st, the inauguration of the town as a city. This committee will act in conjunction with a citizens' committee, and will meet to-night.

Ald. Hall remarked that the funds for this event should be handled by the Council's committee. This was unanimously approved of.

SALARIES OF THE POLICE.

The question of increasing the salaries of the police was gone into.

Ald. Hicks thought the duties of the police should be clearly defined, and a grading scale adopted, so that a new man entering the force might know exactly what wages to expect, and when he would be entitled to an increase, according to time of service and conduct.

Ald. Hall replied that their duties are defined to see that the town's by-laws are carried out.

His Worship questioned this, and agreed with Ald. Hicks that it was necessary that the duties of our police force should be clearly outlined in black and white, so that there should be a satisfactory understanding in this respect between the town and the police.

This view was acquiesced in, and the Supervision Committee authorized to outline with the Chief, the duties of his force, on the understanding that the guardians of the peace should receive a substantial increase. They will report at the Council's next meeting.

In this connection, Ald. Hall pointed out that the police are not sufficiently paid as compared with other large towns. For instance, Constable McGinty receives for 365 days' service per year but $525, Adams, $600; Stewart, $600; Chief Rossel $1,000. This he offered was not in keeping with a trade's journeyman's pay. He strongly urged that they are entitled to an increase.

Ald. Mason said the minimum salary paid the police in Toronto is $1.75 a day; the next grade is $1.50, while sergeants, which office Constable Adams fills here, get $2.25 a day.

The constables are recommended by the Supervision Committee, an increase of $100 a year, and the Chief $150.

STREET NAMING.

Ald. Begley moved, seconded by Ald. Tovey,—That the Property Committee be authorized to estimate the cost of naming the streets within the fire limits, with illuminum lettering.—Carried.

IS THE TOWN LIABLE.

Ald. Crowe enquired who would be liable for injury or loss of life through a possible accident in the opera house. He thought the town's position in this respect should be ascertained. He understood that public places of amusements in cities are governed by city by-laws.

On Ald. Crowe's motion, the Town Solicitor will be asked to advise the Council if in case of accident in the opera house the town would be liable.

LOWER INSURANCE RATES.

The clerk was authorized to write the Fire Underwriters' Association, enquiring what reduction in the insurance rates will be given in the event of a new fire hall being erected, and the other proposed improvements in our fire protection system, made. It was felt that the ratepayers should know exactly what saving will be assured them by carrying the by-law for a new fire hall, engine and alarm system, to be voted on next May.

JACKSON'S PARK.

Ald. Tovey thought that as the street railway will be running to Jackson Park this summer, police protection should be provided there from noon till midnight during the summer months. This is a matter for the Parks Committee to attend to.

ANNUAL INSPECTION.

The Board of Works will begin their annual inspection of the streets this afternoon, to be continued at an early date.

His Worship—Heretofore the annual report of the Board of Works has not been carried out. I intend this year that their program of work needed on our streets shall be carried out to the letter.

The committee then adjourned.

THE BURGLARS CAUGHT.

Good Detective Work of Our Local Police force

It is still fresh in the minds of our readers, that a gang of amateur burglars has been operating in town during the past few weeks. The houses entered, and from which various articles have been stolen, are occupied by Mrs. Haslett on Dixon's Hill, Mr. J. H. Burnham, Mr. F. Simons, Jr., and Mr. W. Morgan. Among the articles stolen were spoons, forks, knife, pipes, tobacco and sundry other goods. Mrs. Haslett's house was entered through a back window, and Mr. Burnham's, when the thieves took pipes, tobacco and spoons, was entered through the cellar. In the other residences, watch had evidently been made, and the habits of the inmates learned, as they were simply opened by keys hidden under mats or elsewhere. The stolen articles include a number of comparatively rare coins, including some specially struck copper halfpence commerative of the King's coronation, the obverse side showing a profile picture of their Majesties, King Edward VII., and his beautiful consort, Queen Alexandria; these coins, one of which has been secured by, and now in possession of the Chief, is an absolute and unique identification of Mr. Simon's property stolen, having been traced through all the Chief's line of clues from the robbery to his possession of it. The Chief, assisted by the other members of our efficient force, has made a case worthy the memoirs of Vidoc; the force has worked with cunning, patience and intelligence on these burglaries, and last night reaped their reward. Whilst only one of the thieves has been arrested up to this writing, the lad arrested, has made full confession, implicating his three companions in guilt; it would not be the part of discretion to divulge full information until every link of evidence has been forged, and the other three captured.

The boy arrested last night is Stanley Green, of Waterford street. The other three associates of the lad now in the station, will probably be captured by the time our readers sit down to breakfast. The boy arrested is quite young, only being, by appearances about 14 years of age.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

CHURCH MOVES FOR FREEDOM

Another Indication of General Revolt Against Bureaucracy

BISHOP WRITES A LETTER

Movement is Aimed at Procurator of Holy Synod

St. Petersburg, April 5.—The movement for greater freedom for the Russian church and the demand for the convocation of a general council to consider reforms in the spiritual and administrative life of the church, voiced in the manifesto of a group of St. Petersburg priests and printed in these despatches April 1, finds support in the influential clergy, not only in the capital, but in the provinces, and is to be regarded as another manifestation of a general revolt in Russia against the domination of the bureaucracy, which is equally predominant in church as in political administration. It is a mistake to suppose the movement is directed against the Emperor, with whose position as divine representative and viceroy upon earth the whole belief of the Russian church is bound up; but against the subordination of church to civil authority, which have been steadily growing since the institution by Peter the Great of the holy synod.

The manifesto was followed yesterday by a letter from Bishop Sambri, of Nov-Mirgorod, one of the influential provincial bishops. In which demands freedom of the church from the power of the chinovniks and the bureaucracy and names the chief power procurator of the holy synod both as an official whose power needs curtailment, and who himself stands in the way of reform.

The whole movement, in fact, is aimed at the Procurator General of the Holy Synod Potsedonostseff and the chancellor under his direction which, though in essence a political organization, has attained such powers that without its permission the pulpit can be occupied and not even required in a church in the remotest government can be undertaken.

The reformers are not agreed as to the extent to which the reforms should go. Some are asking only for the abolition of the bureaucratic annex of the Holy Synod, while others suggest the return to the patriarchate which preceded the synod, with church councils as the final authority in all matters of doctrine.

Under the patriarchate which prevailed over a century after the Russian church broke away from the spiritual leadership of the Patriarch of Constantinople, the hierarchy of the church culminated in a patriarch, elected by the bishops, who exercised spiritual sovereignty under the Emperor, but whose claims were pushed so far forward under Patriarch Nikon in the reign of Alexis, father of Peter the Great, that Nikon himself was deposed by Alexis and the patriarchate was abolished by Peter.

The influential journals are lending support to the movement within the church, the "Novoe Vreyma" declaring that the church is lying in paralysis, its voice no longer heeded because of the predominance of the bureaucrat, which has made the office of metropolitan nothing and that of procurator of the Holy Synod everything.

HONOR TO MR. KETCHEN

The Rev. Gentleman is Given a Call to Hamilton

That the popularity and ability of the Rev. H. B. Ketchen, is recognized outside, as well as in Peterborough, is denoted by the following, taken from a Hamilton despatch to the Toronto World, which says;

"For the second time within a few months the Presbyterians of this city will extend a call to a Peterborough minister. Rev. J. A. Wilson was called by the congregation of St. Andrew's church, and now the committee appointed by the Macnab Presbyterian church has chosen Rev. H. Beverly Ketchen, who succeeded Rev. Mr. Wilson as Dr. Torrance's assistant at Peterborough. He is about 30 years of age, unmarried, and has a reputation for modesty."

A SUCCESSFUL SEASON

Peterborough Lawn Bowling Club Had a Successful Season Last Year.

At the Ontario Bank Chambers, on Tuesday night, the Peterborough Lawn Bowling Club, held their annual meeting, with Mr. D. H. Moore, President, in the chair.

The secretary's report was read, which showed a satisfactory financial result. Mr. Moore addressed the club giving a resume of the work done during the past season. There were 196 games played. The election of officers was then in order. Mr. D. H. Moore was unanimously re-elected President, with the following gentlemen as his assistants;

Hon. President—Dr. Bourber.
Vice-President—Dr. Greer.
Secretary—E. Runnels.
Executive Committee—F. E. Dixon, J. McClung, D. Bellegham, J. Whiten, G. Giroux
Skips—R. Kerr, G. Giroux, A. H. Stratton, G. Lech, F. E. Dixon, J. McClung, E. Runnels, E. Cox, G. Medd, D. H. Moore, R. M. Waddell, J. McIntyre, Dr. Greer, T. F. Matthews, J. Whiten, W. Johnston, W. Talbot, R. Ferguson, R. Sturgeon, W. Thompson.

The club will play on the same ground as last year, corner Aylmer and Brock streets.

WHY THIS CHANGE?

People who are slow to believe that the fine hand of Rome appears in the Autonomy Bill, will have difficulty in explaining the Premier's present attitude compared with his action in 1890, as shown by the following speech made in that year by Sir Wilfrid in the House of Commons:

"What I understand by Provincial rights—and I suppose what my hon. friend must understand—is that the people of the Territories should decide for themselves whether or not they are to have the privilege of the onus of having two official languages. If you remove the law you take away from them the privilege which they now have of using two languages. I do not believe that is in the direction of Provincial rights or Provincial autonomy. The amendment of my hon. friend, the Minister of Justice, tends to uphold Provincial rights and local autonomy, and I am happy to extend my congratulations to the Prime Minister, and to his Government, that more and more, and day by day, the force of circumstances brings them over to this principle. • • If the hon. member for Simcoe, instead of placing as a basis of his bill that there should be a community of language, said that this community of language should extend everywhere in the Dominion where French is spoken, had simply left it to the will and desire of the people of the Territories, we would not have one-half or one-tenth part of the trouble we have over this question."

STATE EDUCATION

An article which had a hearing on what may be called the question of the hour in Canada, is contributed to The Independent Review by a Roman Catholic priest resident in the United States, the Rev. J. O'Donovan. While claiming for the church the exclusive right of controlling the religious education of its children—the article is entitled, "The Churches and the Child"—Father O'Donovan concedes to the state the right to provide a system of secular education in its entirety, the writer says:

"If it were clearly proved that a state system of secular education would seriously endanger the faith and morals of the children, the church would have a strong claim on the consideration of those who believe, as I do, that, without the reality of a spiritual life, all else is grey and barren. But the statement that state secular education has this effect has never been proved. In fact when one tests it one's own experience in the immediate circle of one's acquaintances the assertion proves baseless. Several of my friends were educated in non-Catholic schools and colleges without the slightest injury to their faith. A cause that has to be bashed up by vague or untrue assertions is, if not weak, at least, likely to be suspected of weakness."

The writer proceeds to quote the opinion, without giving the name, of "one of the most prominent American Catholics, who possesses in a high degree the confidence of his co-religionists." in regard to the church school system, which in certain places is maintained side by side, and in competition with, the Public school system;

"It imposes an unjust and excessive tax, mainly on the artisans and poorer store-keepers. Viewed from an educational standpoint it gives a lower training than the state school. It defeats its own purpose on the religious side."

The latter statement, if well founded, certainly goes to the root of the question. The unnamed person referred to illustrated his meaning, we are told, from his own experience, as follows;

"I was educated at a New England school with Unitarian schoolfellows. No attempt was ever made to interfere with my religion. The moral standard of the school was of the highest. Occasionally a school-fellow sneered at some some article of my faith. He generally got well beaten for his sneer; but if I did not understand the point objected to, I took care to ask my mother, whom I went home to explain it to me; if she couldn't explain, the priest was called in, and I was instructed. I have a working knowledge of my religion now; but I got it through contact with my Unitarian school-fellows. I left the school carrying with me the respect and affection—which I retain to this day—of school-fellows who differed then, and who differ now, from me in religion. Boys who attend church nowadays never hear any objection to their religion till they are grown up. The slight religious instruction which they bring with them from the church school is of little use to them, and they fall an easy prey to unbelief."

So far the "prominent American Catholic," whose name is not divulged.

Father O'Donovan towards the close of his article says that "the only logical conclusion from what has been said is that the church ought to reconsider her position, which is injuring both church and state in all English-speaking countries." The church, he thinks, "does not realise the modern state." The modern state may not, he continues, be an ideal one. "Its spiritual view is somewhat dimmed, but it has a growing feeling of sympathy with humanity. It is not a godless state, and now and then catches a glimmer of the divine vision."

If such are the views which a Roman Catholic clergyman feels justified in expressing, others may feel encouraged to believe that, in the Public school administered on absolutely undenominational lines, lies the best advantage for the rising generations, and that all it needs in order to be made still more efficient and beneficial in its action is the interest and support of a united community.

FORTUNES ARE BEING MADE IN KANSAS OIL

Here's a fortune for you. Not 10% but 100% and no risk of loss. Giant of the Oil Fields.

The Midland Oil and Gas Company

has over 180 acres of oil land and has put down 10 wells, so the land is proved up. An adjoining additional 80 was secured yesterday, making over 250 acres all in the proven belt. Just read this:

The U. S. report on the oil industry places the average daily production of Pennsylvania wells at only one-half a barrel each per day. The Midland wells are pumping

Sixty Barrels a Day Each.

The pumping plant has just been started and this is the surprising result. Nothing like it in the world. The officers and directors of this company are bank men and do not believe in debts, so the company is free from debt. They have nearly $20,000 in cash and bills receivable in the treasury and everything paid for—property, wells, pumping plant, oil tanks, well cleaning machine and everything connected with the company. Have two drilling rigs working night and day sinking wells. Have abundance of gas, which runs the drills and pumping plant, so it only costs about $5.00 a day to produce and market the oil.

The Company has about 33 per cent of its stock in the treasury as a reserve.

For a short time the Company will sell a little more of its stock at only

We could talk all day about it and not cover all the strong points. But as the company has this grand property paid for, there is only one side to it, and that is profit. From the Kansas City Journal, Feb. 26, 1905.

There is perhaps no people in the same amount of territory in the world who have increased in wealth so rapidly. Everybody is prosperous. Many once poor and hard working families have become immensely wealthy.

Hudge Hale, an old Frisco conductor, has become a millionaire off of oil. He got in the game early. Now he has money as well as oil and gas to burn.

Fred Hetrick, a farmer living near Chanute, had a hard time for years making both ends meet. Life was a hard proposition with him. His royalties now reach $1,000 a month and he is living on easy street.

Joe Helm, of the Kansas City brewery, took a flyer in oil leases. He first put in $500 and refused $12,000 for his investment. Later he put in a lot more money in gas and oil lands and is now figuring high.

George E. Work, the Chicago clothier, took some acres of land near Chanute for a debt a customer owed him. Work's partner refused to stand for the deal. So Work kept the land himself. He has since refused $50,000 for his holdings.

These are a few samples. Hundreds of farmers have become independently rich off their oil royalties, and hundreds of other men have made big money producing oil.

This Kansas oil bearing sand is like the Pennsylvania sand; wells will produce oil for fifty years.

Can give bank references, and dozens from people who have personally examined this great property.

STRICTURE AND KIDNEY DISEASE CURED.

"I had stricture for eleven years. It finally brought on Bright's Disease of the Kidneys. I had an uncomfortable shooting pain in the groin and feeling as though something was in the urethra. My back was weak and I could scarcely stoop over. Urine was full of sediment. Had a desire to urinate frequently. Family doctors, so-called specialists, patent medicines, electric belts, all failed. I was discouraged. I had spent hundreds of dollars in vain. Finally I consulted Drs. Kennedy & Kergan as the last resort. I had heard a great deal about them and concluded from the fact that they had been established over 25 years that they understood their business. I am delighted with the results. UNDER CONTROL OF ROMAN HIERARCHY

Toronto Saturday Night Badly Scores the Government

HOPE IN PREM'ER HAULTAIN

War on the Hierarchy is now to be the Protestant Watchword

Commenting on the debate on the autonomy bill, Saturday Night says:

With Mulock, Fielding and Sifton well in hand, the entire Government side of the House is directly or indirectly under the complete control of the Roman hierarchy, so far as Separate school legislation is concerned. Sifton could have wrecked the Government, and probably would have done so but for personal motives. His treachery to the country puts him in a position where he can have anything he wants from his late colleagues—and he is the kind of man who has always wanted a good deal. There is only one thing in connection with his return to the arms of the Government which entitles him to more regret than any of his friends. He is absolutely frank in his cynicism, and while supporting the Government, freely admits that he believes the measure to be thoroughly unjust to the new provinces and unwarranted by the constitution.

HOPE IN HAULTAIN.

There is every reason to believe that, through the efforts of Mr. Haultain, the legality of the Separate school clauses of the autonomy bill will be fully tested by the highest court in the Empire, and that the Dominion Government will in the end discover that it sold itself to the hierarchy in vain, and the hierarchy will learn, that, as has always been the case throughout the long history of the church, its over-unsatisfied greed has defeated its purpose by its intolerant over-reaching.

The only safe way to protect the future seems to be to force from every candidate a positive pronouncement of his attitude—present and future—towards the greatest menace to the peace of Canada—the hierarchy of the Church of Rome. If a satisfactory pledge cannot be obtained from the Conservative in Centre Toronto, an independent candidate must be put forward—and in the present state of public opinion there can be little doubt that a satisfactory verdict will result.

Referring to Sir William Mulock's sudden interest in the question of municipal telephones, Saturday Night says: "With Sir William Mulock's borrowed policy for introducing them into Canada, no one is likely to find fault. But it should be clearly remembered—in spite of Sir Wilfrid Laurier's sneer that Ontario forgets anything in six months—that it will take something a good deal bigger than a rural telephone policy to blot from the minds of

(This is the second chapter, of which there will be four, giving a simple explanation of the great scientific discovery known as wireless telegraphy.)

CHAPTER II.

Synopsis of Chap. I: The first chapter told how wireless telegraphy was not a scientific method of taking advantage of or controlling a force which Nature had placed in the air. This force has existed since the creation of the world, but no one realized it until lately any more than a correct explanation was given of the "force of gravity" until a century ago. The electricity in the air makes wireless telegraphy possible. The instruments which have now been invented force that electricity to move in certain ways at the direction of the user of the wireless instrument. The unseen current is set in motion as are the waves in a pond when a stone is thrown into it, and they travel on indefinitely.

The instrument which sets the electric waves in motion in the air and which controls them in certain directions is a somewhat complicated instrument, because it has to do many things, but the principle on which it works can be easily understood and a detailed or technical description of the instrument would be superfluous here. It was stated in the first chapter that extra electricity was forced into the air in order to set the electric waves in motion.

This electric power is supplied through the sending instrument by electric batteries if a current of moderate power only is needed, or, by dynamos if a current of such strength as would be needed to send a message across the Atlantic Ocean or to any distant point where wanted. Both the sending and the receiving instruments are connected by wires or other metal substances with the earth, and it may be well to explain right here why this is done. Electricity under control, as when used in sending messages, travels in an unbroken circle, so to speak. In the case of the telegraph, a wire connects the instruments at two given points and the circuit is completed by the earth, which acts as the second or return wire. The same with wireless, the earth serves to connect the two stations, as if a second or completing circuit was installed. The current passes through the air and returns by the earth just as if it followed the chain on a bicycle and had no end or interruption. You should keep in mind this help which the earth gives, without cost, as it is connected with a later consideration of the subject.

We have noted the batteries or dynamos which supply the current. The next consideration is the means by which the electricity from these sources is distributed in the air. Poles or towers are erected and supplied with wires. This is necessary so as to get the ends of the wires up above surrounding buildings and far enough from the ground so that the current going by the air and returning by the earth will not be near enough together to get mixed up and become short-circuited, as it is known.

Between the battery or dynamo and the tower comes the instrument. This is a mechanical device which serves to make and break the current passing through the air and returning by the earth. If the operator should hold a wire in one hand which ran up the tower and one in the other hand which was connected with the batteries and should keep touching and separating the ends of those wires, he would be making and breaking the current or doing what the instrument makes possible in a more perfect manner and without danger to those handling the powerful current. A part of the sending instrument is a lever known as a key, and when this is depressed the current is unbroken, but when the operator removes the pressure of his hand the lever is raised by a spring and the current is broken just as if he were touching and separating the ends of two wires. Each time that there is this break at the sending instrument, there is a break in the current throughout its entire distance, and it is made to act on the receiving instrument as will be shown later. It is simple to see that the operator may keep the key depressed or released just as long as he wishes, or, in other words, he can regulate the making and breaking of the current at his own discretion. When the current is on for a material length of time it is called making a dash, while for a short time is termed making a dot. It is the making of these dashes and dots in a prearranged manner that makes it possible to send a message in which each letter of the alphabet is represented by a certain combination of dots and dashes.

There is another part of the sending instrument which is necessary in wireless telegraphy, and it is connected with the sending key or lever and between it and the wire going up the tower. Its object is simply to emphasize the breaks in the current and make more distinct the dots and dashes. It is so constructed that it sends the dots and dashes off the tip of the wire like the snap of a whip. This makes the clashes of sending instruments leave the tower with greater distinctness and makes the transmission of the messages more simple and more easy to receive.

The receiving instrument is more simple than the sending instrument. The current passes down the wire from the tower at the receiving station and through the instrument into the ground, and on back to the sending station, thus making the complete circuit of current. In the receiving instrument is a lever balanced on springs and acted on by the current. When the current is passing through the instrument this lever is depressed, and at each break in the current, the lever is released and moves upward by the action of one of the springs. The movement of this lever is only about an eighth of an inch and it makes a distinct click each time it strikes the metal points which stop its rise and fall. It is by listening to these clicks and noting the length of them that the receiving operator detects the dots and dashes and thus reads the message. The waves of electricity which have been set in motion by the sending station may be considered to be flat-topped waves. Those with a broad top are dashes and those with a narrow top are dots, and the receiving instrument, through its lever, makes the distinction just as clearly as the sending instrument.

(Chapter 3, which will appear next week, will describe more fully how a single message is sent and received, and will make clear the simplicity of the long-delayed discovery.)

have given the stamp of their unqualified approval to wireless telegraphy.

Such great scientists as Lord Kelvin and Thomas A. Edison have not only acknowledged that the science has already attained a stage of commercial adaptability, but have become so imbued with the proofs of the progress already made that they now expand their predictions and openly state that wireless telegraphy will shortly girdle the world.

Rulers and leading officials of those nations which to-day represent progress have sanctioned the adoption of wireless telegraphy and are authorizing tremendous expenditures in order that their

Government may be immediately in possession of a complete wireless service.

The brainy men who control the world's shipping have installed wireless apparatus upon the great leviathans that ply the deep.

Commercial princes are constantly making use of wireless messages, as is evidenced by the fact that, within the past four years, over one hundred thousand wireless messages have passed between shore stations and vessels at sea, and the annual increase in this form of business is at a ratio hitherto inconceivable. The banker, the lawyer, the merchant and the layman are all among the daily users of this modern scientific marvel.

THE POPE HAS ADOPTED WIRELESS

and ordered the apparatus installed in the Vatican Observatory. He has done this after a most exhaustive study of the subject of wireless telegraphy and because he has become convinced that the science has reached a practical and commercial stage. He has gone further and urgently requested the most famous wireless inventor, whose system he has adopted, to visit him at the Vatican at the earliest possible moment.

What system is it that these leading minds of the world have sanctioned and acknowledged to be a success beyond their extreme expectations?

It is the MARCONI SYSTEM in every case where real success is found and its present great lead in the new field of science makes it safe to say that it will be the Marconi system which will be adopted as the standard and exclusive system the world over. Lord Kelvin refers to the Marconi system as does Edison in all their predictions. England and Italy have adopted only the Marconi system, and the other Governments have made but little progress with any of the other systems with which they have experimented. It is the Marconi service which is installed on the ships which are handling all the ship to shore business from transatlantic liners.

It is the Marconi service which the Pope has ordered installed in the Vatican Observatory and it is Signor Marconi to whom the Pope has extended an invitation almost amounting to a command for the inventor to visit him. These things would not be so unless the Marconi system were an assured success already and gifted with promise of greater things to come.

THE MARCONI WIRELESS TELEGRAPH COMPANY OF CANADA, LTD.

works under the Marconi patents, and will share in every one of its successes. It already has tangible assets, largely in excess of capital and increasing yearly. The revenue from the stations built and building is increasing daily. The development of the Company has but started, and its assured success will lead to the erection of countless new stations and a revenue in excess of that enjoyed by any other similar enterprises in the history of the world.

Wealth and future happiness are knocking at the door of the investor

who is shrewd enough to take advantage of this opportunity which will not come again. Is it not better to invest money in this stock now, when the purchase can be made at $5 per share, than to wait until everybody else is aware of this success and its support by the world's leaders, when that will mean that the price will immediately be at least double what it now is? You will have no more to show for your money, a given investment will get you but one-half as many shares, the dividends will be also half as much, for you will have but half as much stock on which to draw dividends, and you will have lost the profits as your stock advances in value.

Remember that you can buy any number of shares, from one share to two hundred shares. Would it not be wise to make an investment immediately of your investment funds instead of leaving them idle or drawing but a small interest when this best of opportunities is slowly but surely slipping away from you?

You can not very well set yourself up as wiser than the men who guide the policies of the world. Make yourself thoroughly familiar with all the facts in regard to the Canadian Company and become a partner to share the profits of the great Marconi invention. Ask us any questions, write for particulars, but to make sure of an allotment, send your money NOW.

TO BANKRUPT JAPAN

Czar's Minister of Finance Declares He Can "Win War From This Desk"

London, April 5.—Russia now depends upon her gold to beat Japan. She hopes that Japan will become bankrupt soon. The man who is to save the Czar's Empire is his Minister of Finance. At a recent Council of State he tapped his table and said:

"We can win the war from this desk."

Kokorsoff was trained by M. de Witte and is a shrewd financier. He believes that Russia's resources are stronger than those of Japan, and favors continuing the war in the face of continued reverses, until Japan is bankrupt.

AGED COUPLE HAS TWINS

Last Additions Join a Large Number o Progeny

Des Moines, Ia., April 5.—Mr. and Mrs. James Bradley of Chariton are the parents of twins. The father is 78 years old and the mother 68. The babes are a boy weighing eight pounds and a daughter seven, both healthy and well developed. This is the seventh pair of twins of which Bradley is father, having seventeen children in all. Both are colored and were slaves together under Gen. Bradley in Louisiana.

Why Sugar is Dear

The Grocery Wholesale Company, Ltd., of Hamilton, has commenced an action against the Dominion Grocers' Guild, with H. C. Brockett and the Price committee as co-defendants, claiming $10,000 damages. They allege that the Canadian Grocery Company, organized by H. C. Brockett, formed a combine of ten large wholesale houses with the object of compelling the sugar refineries to sell only to them and to refuse to sell to the plaintiff company. The ten companies alleged to be in the combine are Balfour & Co., W. H. Gillard & Co., Jas. Turner & Co., Lucas, Steele & Bristol, John Sloan & Co., Edward Adams & Co., Davidson, May & Co., Warren Bros. & Co., and L. P. Smythe & Son.

Did you ever have a chance to invest in a straight legitimate money making proposition? If not,

THIS IS YOUR OPPORTUNITY

We own a monopoly of the water right privileges in the Thunder Mountain mining district, State of Idaho, U.S.A.; seven water rights in all; one developed and in use. The property of the Company consists of over 1400 acres, with plenty of timber for building and mining purposes, a saw mill fully equipped and in operation, a 10-stamp mill now on its way from the R. R. Station to the property, and 40 additional stamps to be purchased at once and installed during the coming summer. This is the largest and most favorably situated property in the district. Some of the tunnels have been driven over 400 ft., cross-cutting many veins, demonstrating that we have an inexhaustible body of ore. The ore bodies are sampled by an assayer every 10 ft., and assays run from 40c. to $200 per ton. The ore is free milling, and can be mined and milled for about $1.00 per ton.

This Company has had a phenomenal growth, and "The Thunder Mountain Prospector," published at Bonnevuit, Idaho, where the property is located, states that this Company is three times as large as any other Company operating in the district. 20 men at work on the property. Over $60,000 worth of stock sold within the last 90 days. Only 100,000 shares more to be sold at 25c. per share. You cannot afford to miss this opportunity; investigate at once.

Fine Weather Gives Relief from Catarrh

But Never Cures it Because the Germs are Still Alive Though Inactive. First Kill the Germs Then You'll be Really Cured.

Catarrh germs are carried into the throat and lungs by the air we breathe. In the same way the remedy must be applied. To be effectual the cure must be breathed, for otherwise it can't get where the germs really are.

Mix your germ-killing medicine with air, breathe it right into all the little air cells where the catarrh really is, then you'll get cured quickly. This is exactly the way Catarrhozone acts. You inhale its medicated vapor to the very source of the disease. It destroys the cause of the inflammation, kills all the microbes that develop when the lining membranes become diseased. Then Catarrhozone is a wonderful healer. Every sore spot is rebuilt with new healthy tissue. All the poisonous secretions that have been putrifying the system are driven out. No trace of catarrh remains after Catarrhozone has been used.

Why don't you use Catarrhozone? Its the simplest thing in the world to use, and so sure to cure permanently that you really can't afford to be without it.

MISS E. M. PETERS is known by every resident in this pretty town of Highland Grove. She was cured by Catarrhozone of systematic catarrh and says; "For three years before I commenced using Catarrhozone I was continually bothered by a congested condition of my nose and throat. I was sneezing and coughing all the time and really never felt well. I persevered with Catarrhozone and was rewarded by being entirely cured. My recovery prompted others in this locality to use Catarrhozone, and many of them have had remarkable cures from using it."

MISS LOUISE MURPHY a well known society belle residing at 22 Monument St., Medford, writes; "Kindly forward me three outfits of Catarrhozone which I have found most valuable for catarrhal affections of the nose and throat. Catarrhozone cured me of weak lungs and really saved me from consumption. I am recommending Catarrhozone above all other treatments, knowing what great curative powers it possesses. I know others who have also benefited by Catarrhozone."

Catarrhozone is perfectly harmless and may be used with perfect safety by the most delicate infant. Instead of burdening the stomach with drugs, it sends the healing vapor along with the air you breathe into every air cell and passage of the nose, throat, lungs and bronchial tubes. Catarrhozone can't fail, it's sure to cure. If not satisfied you can have your money back for the asking. Two months' treatment, hard rubber inhaler and extra bottle of inhalant costs $1.00, sample size 25c. By mail to any address if price is forwarded to N. C. Polson & Co., Hartford, Conn., U.S.A., and Kingston, Ont., Can.

—Rev. J. C. Davidson was in Hastings and Norwood this week, paying those parishes an official visit in his capacity as rural dean. There is a vacancy in Hastings, which will soon be filled.

—Rev. Father Kelly, late of Trout Creek, who has been attached to the Cathedral staff for a few weeks will succeed Rev. Father John O'Brien, who is leaving this week for his new parish, Sturgeon Falls.

—The Toronto News says; Mr. Kendry, ex-M.P., of Peterborough, was at the King Edward Hotel yesterday. And that Mrs. Louis M. Hayes, of Peterborough, is visiting her mother, Mrs. Angus Macdonnell, of Dundas St. She will return on Friday.

—Mr. Isaac Richardson, Charlotte street, received a telegram yesterday from Hamilton, informing him of the death of Mrs. Richardson's sister, Mrs. Keating, of that city. Deceased leaves two children, and died very suddenly. Mrs. Richardson left yesterday morning for Hamilton.

Whole Carload of Lambs

Mr. John Mervin, the enterprising butcher of 234 Hunter street, yesterday purchased a car load, 40, of choice spring lambs. This lot was fed by Mr. Jos. Whitfield, who resides near Millbrook. Lambs are hard to procure this spring, and are very dear in consequence, the Toronto buyers are paying, readily, as high as 7 3-4 cents per pound live weight. Mr. Mervin is to be congratulated on his enterprise in catering for his customers.

Inland Revenue Receipts for March

By courtesy of Mr. Rudkins, Collector of Inland Revenue, we give the receipts of his office for last month, including those of the out-ports which report to Peterborough. A comparison with the receipts of March of 1904, will show the substantial increase in collections.

Klondyke Dolan to Another Tournament

In a Milwaukee paper of Tuesday's issue, we see that an old Peterborough boy, known locally as Klondyke Dolan, is still wielding a pretty good cue. The paper says; "Crack Local Pool Players to Meet—Ed. Dolan and John Miller, two of the best pool players in the city, will meet to-night in the first game of the triangular pool tournament at Callahan's. To-morrow night John Hahnen will meet the loser of to-night's game. Six 150 point matches will be played, each man playing two games."

Local Incidents

BY THE TIMES MAN ON THE STREET.

—The Separate School Board held a meeting last night.

—The next meeting of the Division Court will be held on April 28th.

—Committee of the Whole Council met last night. Particulars on first page.

—Mr. George T. Rickerby is in Toronto, possibly on the search for lacrosse talent.

—At the Lenten service at St. Luke's last night, Rev. Dr. Crothers gave an address.

—Hogs were somewhat down in price yesterday, being only $6 per cwt. About 200 were handled.

—Mr James Buckley and son Ezra of Toronto, is visiting his brother-in-law, J. Kennedy, 816 Water street.

—Belleville City Council have decided that the tax rate for this year will be 23 1-2 mills against 23 3-10 last year.

—The members of the Murray Street Baptist Church Mission Band are preparing for an entertainment in the near future.

—The meeting of the Hiawatha Tennis Club, which was called for yesterday evening, has been postponed until a later date.

—A meeting of the officers of the Peterborough Baseball Club will be held at the Oriental Parlors this evening at 8 o'clock.

—A presentation was made to Rev. Father John O'Brien last night in the A. O. H. Hall, the occasion being a P. P., C.

—Mr. Frank Schneider has moved from 476 Aylmer street to the new residence erected on the north side of London street near George.

—Mr. T. J. Tilley, who for the past four years has been foreman of the local construction gang of the Bell Telephone Company, has been appointed local manager at Lindsay.

—Mr. William Langford yesterday began operations in connection with another fine brick residence which he will erect on the west side of Water street near London —An interesting euchre match will be played at the Young Conservative Club rooms to-night between No. 1 Ward and the town. A large attendance is requested.

CAR LOAD OF SPRING LAMBS

Mr. J. Mervin, of 234 Hunter street, has secured for the Easter market, one car load of choice lambs. These are selected stock, and were fed by Josh Whitfield, near Millbrook. The very best of them will be reserved for the Easter market.

—Mr. Thos. Barrie, the George street hatter, reports that the warm weather is making considerable difference in his trade. Light spring hats being in great demand.

—There must be something doing in the Waterworks Department. There are now in the Waterworks piling grounds, 385 tons of the main pipes, including a mile and a half of 12-inch.

—Last night in St. John's church, Rev. Canon Beamish, of Belleville, preached the special Lenten sermon, and after the service an adjourned special vestry meeting was held to discuss the rectory question.

—Last night at St. Andrew's church the subject of the sermon in the special service was "The Saviour's Parting Benediction." At 7.15 a 15 minute song service preceded the regular service.

—The revival services now being held in Park street Baptist church, are in full swing. Miss Mamie Clark, of Sarnia, sings each night. The Rev. O. C. Elliott, of Belleville, given an evangelistic address.

—Mr. Walter Stocker, has got his spring move on. He is now engaged in putting up 2,000 sheets of posters, aggregating 200,000 square feet of bill boards. It would warm the Editorial heart to contemplate the mass of paste requisite for such a contract.

—Mr. Ed. Runnels, who was Tuesday night elected as secretary-treasurer of the Ottawa Lawn Bowling Club has resigned as his time will not permit of him attending to the duties of the office. Mr. Wm. Atcheson will act as secretary-treasurer pro tem.

—The Lindsay Post says;—Peterborough Board of Trade is wrestling with the problem, "Shall we ask Andrew Carnegie to donate us a Literary building?" Yes. Brother Post, the wrestlers, some 12 of them, of whom 11 1-2 were lawyers, did have that match on Tuesday night. The Carnegie champions were thrown 9 to 4.

—Application is to be made at the next session of the Legislature for an Act incorporating the Right Reverend Bishop Scollard and his successors, being the Bishop of the Diocese of Sault Ste. Marie, in the Province of Ontario, in communion with the Church of oRme, as a body corporate, being "The Roman Catholic Episcopal Corporation of the Diocese of Sault Ste. Marie, in Ontario, Canada."

FIVE LITTLE MINUTES are all the time Perry Davis' Painkiller needs to stop a stomach-ache, even when it is sharp enough to make a strong man groan. Don't be fooled by imitations. 25c. and 50c.

—A despatch from Toronto, referring to a gentleman well and favorably known here reads; "George McBurney, carpenter, 23 Alexander street, fell from a scaffold about eleven o'clock this morning at 203 Ossington avenue, landing on his back. He was taken to Grace Hospital in the ambulance, where it was found he had a scalp wound and his spine was injured. He is paralysed from the waist down."

—The Canadian Cordage Company are making things hum in their lines of manufacture. An order recently finished by this widely known company, was manilla rope twenty-four hundred feet in length, two inches and a half in diameter and in all weighing 3,300 pounds. It is to be used for salt drilling purposes. Such was the size of the rope that it was almost impossible to bend a small length, say two or three feet.

—Mr. F. W. Doan, Local Manager of the Bell Telephone Company, was yesterday overlooking the roads and route between Lara and Indian River, Otonabee. It is quite possible that this progressive company will construct a line to Indian River, and may arrange to use the old G.N.W. telegraph poles, which are now out of present use, for this purpose. The company certainly seem to do everything possible to give their subscribers as complete a system as possible.

Married in Toronto

The many friends, in town, of Mr! Fred. W. Kennedy, son of Mr. Dawson Kennedy, will offer him and his bride, congratulations and all kinds of good wishes for life long happiness on his marriage in Toronto yesterday. His bride is Miss Robinson, of Toronto. The happy couple will reside on the homestead, river road, in Otonabee township, Miss Robinson formerly taught school in Otonabee, where she has a host of friends. Mr. and Mrs. Dawson Kennedy went up to Toronto, to witness the happy and interesting ceremony.

EXPRESSIVE NAME FOR INDIGESTION.

Wm. Wadill Has a Simple Remedy That is Guaranteed to Cure the Trouble

No one word better expresses the condition of the sufferer from weak stomach or indigestion than "misery." The stomach is weak and cannot digest the food, so that there is no appetite, there are pains and gripping in the stomach and bowels, and the misery goes to every organ.

Strengthen the stomach and the digestive system by the use of Mi-o-na. This is the only stomach remedy known that gives relief by strengthening the stomach and digestive organs. It is this principle that makes it a certain cure for indigestion. Other medicines may give temporary relief by helping digest the food, but they do not strengthen the stomach, and that organ gets weaker and weaker all the time.

Wm. Madill, the reliable retail Druggist, has so much confidence in this remarkable remedy that he guarantees a cure, or the money will be refunded. Mi-o-na costs but 50 cents a box. Ask to see the strong guarantee given with every box.

Mi-o-na is in tablet form and should be taken before each meal. Other remedies for stomach troubles and indigestion are taken after the meal, and decompose the good food you eat, but Mi-o-na used before eating strengthens the stomach, soothes and heals all irritation and inflammation, enriches the blood, and puts the stomach in such a healthy condition that it will take care of the food itself and there will be no pain and suffering

PERIL IN THE HAND-SHAKE.

Not long ago Dr. J. N. Hirsch, of Chicago, said: "The most delicate perfume upon the hands is not a sign of freedom from germs, and the most refined are not free from disease of lungs or throat, and the germs are rapidly spread by touching the hand that has handled the handkerchief of one afflicted with a cold, catarrh or consumption. The breath one inhales from the lungs of another may contain germs of disease." You will not only be able to resist the germs of consumption, but many thousands of cases have been known where persons who were suffering from incipient phthisis, or the early stages of consumption were absolutely cured by Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It maintains a person's nutrition by enabling him to eat, retain, digest and assimilate food. It overcomes the gastric irritability and symptoms of indigestion, and thus the person is saved from those sometimes of fever, night sweats, headache, [illegible] to consumption.

An alterative extract like Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, made of roots and herbs, without the use of alcohol, will assist the stomach in assimilating or taking up from the food such elements as are required for the blood, will assist the liver in throwing off the poisons in the system.

Do not permit some designing druggist to insult your intelligence by offering you a remedy which he claims is "just as good" —because he made it up himself, or ten chances to one you will get a medicine made up largely of alcohol, which will only weaken the system.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is heartly recommended by every person who has ever used it and it has stood the test of thirty-eight years of approval from people all over the United States.

FREE. Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser is sent free on receipt of stamps to pay customs and mailing only. Send 21 one-cent stamps for the book in paper covers, or 50 stamps for the cloth-bound volume. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

Firemen Not Needed Yesterday

The Brigade turned out in quick time yesterday afternoon, when the alarm rang out about three o'clock. In fact the horses were passing through the fire-hall doors before the first alarm had ceased ringing. Their services however, were not further called into requisition, as, before they were well out of the hall, word arrived that all danger was over. The incipient fire was caused by someone dropping a lighted cigar butt through a grating in front of the C. P. R. Hotel, Simcoe street. The stub fell on a mass of saw dust lying there and set fire to the mass, which, after smouldering for some time, caught fire and made sufficient smoke to cause a temporary alarm. A few pails of water put the fire out.

Game Warden Appointed

It has been announced that Mr. Geo. Fitzgerald, has been appointed Game Warden for West Peterborough. This appointment is one that will be universally popular; he is a gentleman that knows as much as (possibly any man living, about our back country, its game, their habits and, most important of all, understands the manner in which game of all kinds is captured or killed. One of the best attractions that Peterborough has, is its splendid game supply. The reckless and criminal way in which the deer and ducks in our back country are being killed out demands that a game [illegible] and willing to enforce the law be appointed. This is the man nominated.

HOMESTEAD REGULATIONS

Any even numbered section of Dominion lands in Manitoba or the North-west Territories, excepting 8 and 26, which has not been homesteaded, or reserved to provide wood lots for settlers, or for other purposes, may be homesteaded upon by any person who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years of age, to the extent of one-quarter section of 160 acres more or less.

ENTRY

Entry may be made personally at the local land office for the district in which the land to be taken is situate, or if the homesteader desires, he may, on application to the Minister of the Interior, Ottawa; the Commissioner of Immigration Winnipeg, or the local agent for the district in which the land is situate, receive authority for some one to make entry for him. A fee of $10 is charged for a homestead entry.

HOMESTEAD DUTIES

A settler who has been granted an entry for a homestead is required by the provisions of the Dominion Lands Act, and the amendments thereto, to perform the conditions connected therewith, under one of the following plans:

(1) At least six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each year during the term of three years. It is the practice of the Department to require a settler to bring 15 acres under cultivation, but if he prefers he may substitute stock; and 20 head of cattle, to be actually his own property, with buildings for their accommodation, will be accepted instead of the cultivation

(2) If the father (or mother, if the father is deceased), of any person who is eligible to make a homestead entry under the provisions of this Act, resides upon a farm in the vicinity of the land entered for by such person as a homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence prior to obtaining patent may be satisfied by such person residing with the father or mother.

(3) If a settler was entitled to and has obtained entry for a second homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence prior to obtaining patent may be satisfied by residence upon the first homestead, if the second homestead is in the vicinity of the first homestead.

(4) If the settler has his permanent residence upon farming land owned by him in the vicinity of his homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence may be satisfied by residence upon the said land.

The term "vicinity" used above is meant to indicate the same township, or an adjoining or cornering township.

A settler who avails himself of the provisions of clauses (2), (3) or (4) must cultivate 30 acres of his homestead, or substitute 20 head of stock, with buildings for their accommodation, and have besides 80 acres substantially fenced.

The privilege of a second entry is restricted by law to those settlers only who completed the duties upon their first homesteads to entitle them to patent on or before the 2nd of June, 1890.

Every homesteader who fails to comply with the requirements of the homestead law is liable to have his entry cancelled and the land may again be thrown open for entry.

APPLICATION FOR PATENT

Should be made at the end of three years, before the Local Agent, Sub-Agent or the Homestead Inspector. Before making application for patent the settler must give six months notice in writing to the Commissioner of Dominion Lands at Ottawa of his intention to do so.

INFORMATION

Newly arrived immigrants will receive, at the Immigration Office in Winnipeg, or at any Dominion Lands Office in Manitoba or the Northwest Territories, information as to the lands that are open for entry, and from the officers in charge, free of expense, advice and assistance in securing lands to suit them. Full information respecting the land, timber, coal and mineral laws, as well as respecting Dominion Lands in the Railway Belt in British Columbia, may be obtained upon application to the Secretary of the Department of the Interior, Ottawa; the Commissioner of Immigration, Winnipeg, Manitoba, or to any of the Dominion Lands Agents in Manitoba or the Northwest Territories.

W. W. CORY,
Deputy Minister of the Interior.

N. B.—In addition to Free Grant Lands, to which the Regulations above stated refer, thousands of acres of most desirable lands are available for lease or purchase from railroad and other corporations and private firms in Western Canada.

MANITOBA MINISTER TO REPLY TO MGR. SBARRETTI

Hon. Robert Rogers Sticks to Story That the Ablegate Had the Premier's Sanction in Attempted "Deal."

Winnipeg, April 6.—Hon. Robert Rogers is behind closed doors in his Departmental office penning his reply to Mgr. Sbarretti and Sir Wilfrid Laurier. He will reassert his position in unmistakeable language, but will not change his conclusion that Mgr. Sbarretti was really speaking with the full sanction of Sir Wilfrid Laurier where he intimated that the boundaries would be extended if Manitoba granted the school concessions demanded by the Papal representative.

Mr. Roblin Just Resting His Vocal Cords, Listens to Rogers

The Free Press, which speaks for the Ottawa Government, has little to say editorially these days on the subject of heated interest. It has a paragraph on Mr. Roblin this morning, saying: "Many friends of Hon. R. P. Roblin will be relieved to learn that his vocal chords are not at all serious affected, as was beginning to be thought, on account of his extraordinary silence. Nor is the condition of his throat such as to make it at all necessary that daily bulletins should be issued to the public about it. Mr. Roblin is just resting his voice, and listening to the vocal efforts of Mr. Rogers."

Telegram Accuses Sir Wilfrid Laurier of Quibbling.

The Telegram, Mr. Rogers' organ, accuses Sir Wilfrid Laurier of quibbling. Representative men of the Roman Catholic Church and priests generally are scarcely saying a word. They appear to have unbounded confidence that Sir Wilfrid Laurier and Mgr. Sbarretti will look well after their interests, and that nothing is to be gained by taking a hand in a general discussion.

Takes One Line as Premier and Another As Individual.

Winnipeg, April 6.—The Tribune says this afternoon under the heading "In What Capacity Does Sir Wilfrid Speak:"

"Sir Wilfrid's statement in reply to Mr. Rogers is emphatic and exhaustive. It does not, however, gain from closer investigation. On the contrary, the more it is examined the more peculiar and unsatisfactory does it appear. Take one remarkable point. Mr. Rogers mentioned that while Sir Wilfrid, in writing to Manitoba, had said that the Greenway compromise was a "final" settlement of the Manitoba school question, yet in writing to Cardinal Rampolla he had said that it was only the 'beginning.' This was important, not only because it convicted Sir Wilfrid of deception, but also because it indicated his intention to get further concessions on the school question from Manitoba when he got the opportunity.

Statement in Reply to Mr. Rogers is Emphatic and Exhaustive

"What is Sir Wilfrid's reply? He says, first, that he does not know what Mr. Rogers means when he refers to a letter in which the Greenway compromise was described as 'final.' Who does Sir Wilfrid expect to believe that? The letter was made public in the Legislature of Manitoba; it is in evidence, and can be produced. Its publication last year created a sensation, and it was much discussed in Sir Wilfrid's own Province. Sir Wilfrid, however, says that it does not matter what letter Mr. Rogers refers to, and he proceeds to defend himself from the charge of duplicity by saying that when he wrote to the Cardinal he was writing not as a Prime Minister, but as a private Roman Catholic. Are we, then, to think that there is no duplicity when Sir Wilfrid says one thing to one man when speaking as a Prime Minister, while he says another thing when speaking as a private individual?

"Sir Wilfrid's explanation on this point is disquieting. It suggests a question: Granted that, as Prime Minister, he did not confer with Mgr. Sbarretti on Manitoba's boundaries, what has he been saying to him when speaking as a private individual? Speaking as Prime Minister, he says, whether truthfully or not, that he has not conferred on the matter with the Papal Delegate. But speaking as a private individual who wrote that 'the Greenway compromise was only the beginning what has he been saying?"

KOREAN PRINCE IN MONTREAL

Distinguished Foreigner Visits Canada on His Way to Washington

Montreal, April 6.—A distinguished visitor passed through the city on his way from the Far East to Washington, in the person of Prince Yee, of Korea.

The Prince is the first of the nobility of that kingdom who has ever set foot on Canadian soil, and he expressed himself to a reporter as delighted with his trip across the continent.

The Prince is just returning from a special trip to Korea, whither he went to look after his interests as a result of the war. He has, however, been in the United States for several years in pursuit of an education.

The Prince, who is about twenty-five years of age, and who was handsomely attired, bore an air of distinction which at once singled him out from the other passengers when he alighted at the Windsor street station, last evening, after the arrival of the transcontinental train.

He was particularly anxious to maintain his incognito, and with that object in view, was travelling with almost unostentatious simplicity. Moreover, the Prince and his secretary, E. Hahn, had sealed any trace of his identity at the train by a lavish distribution of tips to those to whom it was necessary to divulge their personages.

Having learned the Prince's station definitely, the reporter had a short chat with the distinguished visitor, but he refused absolutely to discuss the effect of the war upon his kingdom.

WHAT PAPAL ABLEGATE WANTS

The Changes Which are Proposed by Mgr. Sbarretti

Winnipeg, Man., April 7. — The Manitoba school law as it stands provides thus in any school in towns and cities with 40 or more Roman Catholic children and in any school in villages or small districts with twenty-five or more Roman Catholic children, the trustees on petition of the parents, may employ a duly certificated Roman Catholic teacher in each school. In any school in towns and cities with forty or more non-Roman Catholic children, and in any school in villages or small districts with twenty-five or more non-Roman Catholic children, the trustees shall upon petition of the parents, employ at least one duly certificated non-Roman Catholic teacher. The law also provides for the allotment of days for giving religious instruction to Catholic and non-Catholic children where the second room accommodation does not permit of the pupils being placed in separate rooms for religious instruction, but the law expressly declares—"No separation of pupils by religious denominations shall take place during the secular school work."

By comparing the above with the Sbarretti memorandum, it will be seen that the terms of the memorandum would contemplate a reduction in the numbers from forty to thirty and from twenty-five to fifteen respectively, and would also contemplate separate accommodation as well as separate teachers for the Roman Catholic and non-Roman Catholic children respectively.

BROCKVILLE'S NEW INDUSTRY

Factory for Manufacture of Gasoline Yachts to be Started

Brockville, April 7.—Brockville is to have another industry. To meet the growing demand for gasoline yachts on the St. Lawrence River, capitalists have organized the St. Lawrence Engine Co., which will turn out yachts of all kinds in the small class. The provisional directors are W. H. Comstock, R. H. Smart, H. W. Going, and C.A. McNaughton. A site has been secured for the factory on the river front, and operations will commence shortly. The company will seek incorporation from the Ontario Government.

MRS MAYBRICK'S PLEA

Asks State Department to Intercede With Great Britain—Wants to Die

Washington, April 7.—Mrs. Maybrick, with her counsel, called at the State Department to-day and had a long conference with Acting Secretary Adee for the purpose of submitting her claim that the British Government should grant her a pardon or place her case in such a shape that her citizenship may be restored. She desires to initiate litigation which as a convict she cannot do in this country.

Mrs. Maybrick herself explained the legal aspect and made a clear and able plea. No answer was given, but it is believed that the matter will be called to the attention of the British Government.

NEW BUS LINE

Evolution in Street Vehicles to Supplant Electric Railways

New York, April 7.—The first of next month automobile busses, thirty-eight feet long, with the general appearance of trolley cars, will begin operations on Fifth avenue, and as soon as the Fifth Avenue Coach Co. can obtain the big motors from the manufacturers all the old, historic stage coaches will be displaced.

The new coaches now being built are tremendous affairs. The body of the coach is twenty-five feet long, the extensions of platforms and seats making up the rest. They will be 70 inches from wheel to wheel, in width, and will have a height of 12 feet. There will be no seats on top, as climbing down and off would upset the schedule, which, if carried out, will give a service like that of a car line. Each car will accommodate thirty passengers. Big electric twin headlights will light the busses' way at night, and the interior will be equipped with incandescents.

$1,200,000,000 LOAN BID

Enormous Subscriptions for New Issue of Japanese Bonds

New York, April 7.—The subscription lists to the Japanese loan were closed here yesterday and it was estimated by Kuhn, Loeb & Co., the bankers managing the American syndicate, that the American subscriptions alone for the $75,000,000 bonds offered here would aggregate $500,000,000. Private cable advices yesterday were to the effect that the London subscriptions aggregated $700,000,000, bringing the total subscriptions for the $150,000,000 issue up to the enormous sum of $1,200,000,000.

It will be several days before the detailed work of recording the subscriptions here can be completed. In the scaling down of the bids, according to the custom in such matters, small investors will have the first consideration and will receive an allotment proportionally greater than the large financial interests whose single bids ran into the millions.

A MONSTER DEPUTATION

Says That the Orangemen Will be Aggressive

Toronto, April 7.—County Master Fred. Dane thinks there is little hope of preventing the autonomy bill, or at least the objectionable clauses of it from going through the House. He said in reply to questions, that a strong deputation of hundreds and perhaps thousands might go to Ottawa and demand that the Governor-General veto the bill as being unconstitutional. This, it is expected, will precipitate the resignation of Sir Wilfrid Laurier, and give the people of the Dominion an opportunity to make themselves heard on the question. Mr. Dane says the Orangemen have kept out of political fights, in order that they might not be considered bigots, but he concluded "We will from this time on be most aggressive. 'We have been taught that not to be aggressive means that the hierarchy is getting ahead of the people at every turn."

SEPARATE SCHOOL BOARD

The Separate School Board met Wednesday evening, there being present:—Mr. James Murty in the chair, and Messrs. Hickey, Hourigan, Carveth, Lane, Primeau, Gamelin and Henry.

The minutes of the last meeting were read and confirmed.

Accounts were presented from J. J. Lynch, $1.00, A. H. Stratton & Co., $21.67 Davis, Thompson & Co., $10.50.

Referred to the Finance Committee and to be paid when certified.

Payments made for wood amounting to $7.50 paid on order of the Property Committee were confirmed.

Reports of attendance at schools during the month of March, were:

Lake Street School—
On roll 201
Average 181

Murray Street School—
On roll 224
Average 206

The matter of supplies required for the schools was referred to the Property Committee.

The Board then adjourned.

No C'erical Interference.

Mgr. Sbarretti is not an ambassador of the Papal Court duly accredited to the Canadian Government. He is merely an official of a church which enjoys the support of a very large percentage of our people. If that church is satisfied, it is the business of no one else to offer even a suggestion. But it is the business of the entire country, Catholic as well as Protestant, to insist that no Canadian Government shall ever entrust the powers of State to any clerical agent, concerned for the aggrandisement of his own communion, be that communion Catholic or Protestant.

GOES TO KEEWATIN

A Son of a Well Known Peterborough Photographer Going Into Business

We are pleased to learn that Mr. Chas. F. Whiten, a son of Mr. Geo. E. Whiten, Hunter street, has secured a first-class location in Keewatin, Ont., and intends going into the jewellery business on his own account. Mr. Whiten left here yesterday for his new home and will take with him the best wishes for success from his many friends in both Peterborough and Toronto. He has been employed for some time by Messrs. E. W. Ellis, about the oldest and most successful jewellery concern in Toronto, who always held a high opinion of Mr. Whiten. Previous to entering in Messrs. Ellis' employ, Mr. Whiten worked for five years with the late Mr. W. A. Sanderson, where he mastered the rudiments of his business.

A LONG FELT WANT

Prospects for a New Opera House Grow Brighter

A great many citizens of the town are ever and anon heard saying that a new and more up to date opera house is needed in Peterborough.

They will have a chance from this day on to show whether they really approve the idea or not as this morning, Mr. W. Storker starts out with a "guarantee subscription list, pre-empting seats for the opening performance in the new opera house proposed to be built in Peterborough this coming summer, in readiness for next season's attractions. If the people responded to the appeal in a manner to show their sympathy with the new enterprise, the work will certainly go on. Those behind the undertaking find that if the people show the encouragement represented by subscribing for 1,000 seats for the opening performance, they will be warranted in going ahead with the work.

LAKEFIELD BOOMING

The Lakefield Furniture Company Boosts Election

As noted in this journal in a former issue there is to be an amalgamation between a Lakefield Lumber Company and a Toronto concern, so as to save the middle man's profit. The company have asked for assistance and the villagers will vote on the matter on Tuesday, April 11th.

The terms of agreement between the village and the Lakefield Furniture and Manufacturing Company have been thoroughly discussed, yet a number of their ratepayers are under the mistaken idea that by voting for the by-law they are to give a cash bonus to the company of $15,000. Such is not the case, the company simply ask the village to endorse their bonds to the extent of $15,000 and in return for such endorsement offer a first mortgage on the property, and also on the machinery and the buildings which they propose to erect provided the by-law carries. Their taxes will not be raised by this loan, the bonds of which will be extended over a period of fifteen years and the company should not find it a hard matter to meet the obligation. The citizens of Lakefield will probably cast their caggots in favor of the by-law, casting aside all petty jealousies and bringing in a new industry that will make Lakefield one of the most progressive towns in Canada.

NEW GAME WARDEN

Mr. G. W. Fitzgerald Appointed for Eastern Ontario

In our issue of yesterday we noted that Mr. George W. Fitzgerald had been appointed Game Warden for West Peterborough. This information was furnished us in a special despatch however later intelligence informs us that the district, over which he has control, includes the whole of Eastern Ontario. This appointment must be most satisfactory to all concerned, the nominee being a gentleman well qualified for the position. Mr. Fitzgerald, who has resided in town for about a year, formerly resided in the township of Otonabee, where he was known locally as a large cheese buyer. Whilst his district is so extensive it is to be hoped, and is expected, that he will remember the old saw about charity beginning in your own riding, and do all in his power to save the remnant of our too fast disappearing deer and other game.

Let all pot hunters and deer murderers who break the law be hunted down and punished.

LIGHT BY THE YEAR.

Otonabee Power Company will Use No Meters in Future

A flat has gone forth from the headquarters of the Otonabee Power Company notifying their old and future subscribers that they will use no more meters in computing the charges made for light. All charges will be based on a flat rate per year per lamp. They have already removed most of the meters from houses lighted by their system.

Eight lamps are furnished at a cost of $12 per year and for each additional light one dollar must be paid.

Mr. W. H. Meldrum, managing director, said to-day, that the company had received quotations from other places, and the prices asked here on the flat rate basis — which will prevail exclusively — are the lowest of any town in Canada, except in three or four small places where municipal plants are operated, and in these places no money is being made. The Otonabee Power Company are now supplying light to over 600 houses.

This system is perhaps the best all round, consumers know just what their light is costing them and the company saves a lot of book-keeping, and the expense of a man taking the orders.

Police Court

OFFICIALS

Chief of Police, G.I. Hazel
Magistrate, D.W. Dumble

Yesterday was his Worship's busy day. The first case called was that of the Greek who has recently opened a shoe-shining parlor and shooting gallery on George street. Mr. Pappas, who was represented by Mr. D. O'Connell, was charged with selling cigarettes to a boy under the age allowed by law for the use of "coffin-nails." The first witness called was the boy who recently stole $50 from his brother, and who swore that his second purchase out of his ill-gotten means was a package of Sweet Caporal cigarettes from the defendant last Saturday. He is 13 years of age. He paid 10c. for the aforesaid sure death. His father is aware that he smokes. He also bought a packet of Old Gold Cigarettes on Friday. He had three shots for five cents in defendant's gallery. Had bought a suit of clothes out of the stolen money on his way to Pappas' en route to the G.T.R. station, for Toronto. He had purchased the cigarettes at 11 o'clock, and left about 10 minutes to 12 for Toronto. C. O'Reiley, a lad about the size of a sturdy grasshopper, corroborated the last witnesses' testimony, having seen the transaction in Pappas' shoe parlor. A slight altercation occurred between Mr. O'Connell and his Worship over the title of "Merchant," given by Mr. O'Connell to his client. His Worship deemed that the term merchant was applicable to defendant. He considered that his place was a Hell where boys went to the shooting gallery and hinted, to the effect, that the place was not conducive towards fiscal morality on the part of boys patronizing it. Under cross-examination, by Mr. O'Connell, both boys testified to the purchase being made about 11 o'clock, and both said they had bought the goods from Pappas himself.

Mr. Pappas in the witness box swore he had never sold cigarettes to boys either on Saturday last or any other day. That on Saturday last he had left his place of business at 10.30 to attend the market and had not returned to it until 11.30, so could not have sold to the boys at 11 o'clock. That none of his employes had ever sold cigarettes to boys.

A young boy, employed by Pappas, swore that Pappas had left the store at 10.30, and returned to it at 11.30. That neither he nor any other employe had sold the former witness any cigarettes.

His Worship in summing up the case, after Mr. O'Connell's address, said that although the boy who gave the criminating testimony, was a self-admitted thief, that he believed Lim. Exhibit A., the balance of this expensive box of coffin-nails, had been forwarded with the rest of the recovered money, by the Toronto police to the Chief here, and was produced in Court. His Worship imposed a fine of $20 with $3.50 costs, in answer to Mr. O'Connell, who objected to the exorbitance of the fine, his Worship said if any thing more was said, he would make it $40, that the law allowed a fine of from $10 to $50. Nothing more was said. His Worship did not press a second charge of similar nature, against Pappas.

David Smith was assessed $2 for bicycling on the sidewalks; George Hays paid a similar sum for the same offence.

Before proceeding with the next case, that of the boys charged with burglarizing five residences in Peterborough, his Worship had the Court cleared, excepting those directly interested in the case, a very thoughtful act, as several ladies, mothers, and relatives of the boys were present.

The three daring burglars pleaded guilty. It was a sad sight to see so serious a charge brought against these little gutters the age of Brobdignagian hairpins Mr. O'Connell appeared for one of the boys, Mr. A.E. Dixon for another, and the father of the third was present and addressed the Court. Strong pleas were made for the three youthful culprits. The Chief had most of the stolen property in Court. The tobacco stolen from Mr. Burnham had however gone the way of all tobacco, into smoke. One of the boy's mothers said she had found her boy incorrigible, and that she had kept him from school frequently. The Magistrate told her that, after this, the boy was going to be watched by the police and if it was found he was not attending regularly she herself would be held directly accountable. His Worship gave a kindly, but deadly in earnest, warning to the boys, telling them that their offence was a most serious one that would, if repeated, certainly land them in the penetentiary. He said that he would in consideration of their youth, and for the sake of their parents, allow them to go on suspended sentence. On suggestion of County Crown Attorney R. S. Wood. His Worship added a rider to his decision to the effect that the boys must report in six months, viz., on the 5th of October, at the Police Court, and that if, in the meantime their conduct had been all it should, that he would allow a further extension of time before sentencing them. It might be as well to remind our readers that the burglaries committed were in the houses of Mrs. Haslett, Mr. J. H. Burnham, Mr. P. Simons, Jr., and Mr. W. Morgan.

After the case was settled, quite a critical disquisition was held by members of the bar present, expert evidence of experienced parents being given, as to the relative merits of strap versus rawhide applied externally in such cases. The majority voted in favor of the latter, as making a quicker and more permanent cure. It has probably had a practical test since 10.30 a.m., yesterday in three cases in this bailiewick.

TO SEIZE CANADIAN FISH

Confiscation Bill Offered in Retaliation on Champlain Dispute

Albany, April 7.—The confiscation of all fish caught in Missisquoi Bay, Lake Champlain, if shipped into this State, is planned in a bill introduced to-day by Assembly Knapp of Clinton County. This is proposed in retaliation against Canada, that Government refusing to prohibit the use of nets in Missisquoi Bay. The bill was advanced to a third reading, and will be introduced on Monday in the Senate.

Ninety-five per cent. of the perch, pike, and bass of Lake Champlain are catched in Missisquoi Bay and at this season of the year the fish are running in the Northern waters in large numbers. Until recently Canada issued licenses to fifteen men in Canada, who were able to take out fish valued at $30,000 during the short season that the fish run in those waters. Shipments from Missisquoi Bay are being made at the rate of two tons a day to New York and Boston.

ROMISH INTERFERENCE INTOLERABLE.

While the utmost indignation has been aroused by the charge that the Papal delegate assumed to interfere with the fixing of the boundaries of Manitoba, there has been much less discussion of the equally grave charge that he had a hand in the school legislation for the new Territories. In neither case had he a right to be consulted. He represents no element of the Canadian people — not a single Canadian citizen. The American Consul at Ottawa had as much right to a hand in the framing of the bills, perhaps more, considering the large American element in the Territories, and he was certainly much more competent to give advice. There would be no particular objection to the Court of Rome having an agent here to consult with his own bishops and other dignitaries; but there is absolutely no necessity and no justification for an intermediary between Rome and Ottawa. There is no matter about which the parties can negotiate. Roman Catholics in this country are citizens, having a full share in the making of the laws and bound to obey the laws. Their civil rights are not proper subjects of negotiation with the spiritual head o their Church.

GERMANY CONTEMPLATES CALLING NEW CONGRESS

King Edward's Conference with President Loubet Taken to Fore-Shadow Anglo-French Co-operation Against Germany's Aggression in Morocco.

London, April 7.—King Edward started yesterday morning to join Queen Alexandria at Marseilles, by way of Paris, where he will meet President Loubet. The Marquis of Salisbury accompanied his Majesty as Minister in attendance.

Not much attention is paid here to the suggestions from some quarters of the continent that the King's visit to France may be preliminary to an Anglo-French alliance. Although King Edward's trip to the Mediterranean was arranged some time ago, no steps were taken to secure a meeting with M. Loubet till after Emperor William's visit to Tangier. The meeting, therefore, is accepted here as in some measure intended to emphasize Anglo-French solidarity.

The Meeting Between King Edward and President Loubet

Paris, April 7.—The meeting between King Edward and President Loubet to-day arouses absorbing interest owing to the extreme tension over Morocco. The King will arrive at Calais at 1.45 p.m., and take a special train for Paris, arriving here at 6.40 p.m. The two rulers will converse for two hours. Despite official reserve on the subject the public and press hail the meeting as having capital importance in connection with Germany's attitude towards Morocco, and it is popularly interpreted as France's reply to Germany's action.

The Berlin reports that Germany contemplates calling an International Congress to consider the Morocco question excites surprise and considerable indignation in official quarters here. It is pointed out that the Madrid Congress of 1880 fully defined international relations towards Morocco, and, therefore, Germany's calling a new congress would, it is claimed, amount to further evidence of the unfriendliness of Germany's course. The authorities here take note of what they regard as an apparent effort on the part of Germany to secure the co-operation of the United States in the Morocco question, but they feel satisfied that the United States will hold aloof from active participation in the controversy.

Kaiser Will Have No Difficulty in Obtaining a Loan in Berlin.

London, April 7.—The correspondent at Tangier of the Times says the Sultan of Morocco has been given to understand that he will have no difficulty in obtaining a loan in Berlin.

Every Indication That Germany Designs to Hold on Tenaciously

Berlin, April 7.—The report of the appointment of Privy Councillor Dr. Rosen, who, until recently, was special envoy of Germany at the Court of King Menelik of Abyssinia, as German Minister in Morocco, in succession to the deceased Baron Von Mentzingen, has been confirmed. Dr. Rosen, however, does not know of his appointment. He is somewhere between Berlin and King Menelik's court, returning from his special mission.

END OF THE WORLD FAKE

End of World Forecasts Cause Much Suffering

London, April 7.—Senseless predictions by so-called religious cranks that the end of the world was near, which certain Staffordshire papers were foolish enough to print, have resulted rather seriously in certain ignorant people.

An old woman at Handsforth sold all her furniture, and spent the night in her garden so that she might be ready for the great event.

A domestic servant threw up her situation so that she might go home to die with her relations, and a young man was so convinced that there would be no to-morrow's reckoning that he obtained unlimited supplies of food and drink on credit only to find events did not shape according to the predictions.

STILL UNSETTLED

St. John's Congregation at a Deadlock on Rectory Site

The meeting held Wednesday night, in St. John's church vestry, at which it was hoped, and expected would be settled definately, the location of the rectory, resulted in a deadlock. The views of the Building Committee were laid before the meeting, who explained that there are two sites spoken of—one at the corner of Brock and Sheridan streets, at present occupied by a small house, and the other further north on Brock street, north-east of the church. The former may be had for $1,500, while the latter is free. These facts and the advantage of each lot as a site for the new rectory were fully considered, and on the question being put to the meeting, the vote resulted in a tie, so the meeting adjourned in order to give the committee an opportunity to propound some other plan. Another meeting will be held shortly.

DESTROY SBARRETTI'S WORK

The wildest imagination could not have conceived anything more extraordinary than the conduct of Mgr. Sbarretti, as related by the Hon. Robert Rogers, Minister of Public Works of Manitoba, says The News. On February 13 he and his colleague, Mr. Campbell, received a telegram from Sir Wilfrid Laurier, asking them to visit Ottawa. On the 17th they saw Sir Wilfrid, presented the claims of the Province for an extension, and were asked to wait three or four days for an answer. On the 20th they received a letter, not from Sir Wilfrid but from the Papal Delegate, asking for a conference. When they saw the Delegate, he told them that the settlement of the boundary question would be greatly facilitated if the Manitoba Government would consent to certain amendments in the school law, which he submitted. Under the the Manitoba school settlement denominational religious instruction may be given during certain hours; but there must be no segregation of children during the time alloted to secular instruction. Mgr. Sbarretti's memorandum asked for separate accommodation for the Catholic or non-Catholic minority. In other words, it asked for the establishment of the principle of separation, such as is provided for in the proposed legislation for the Territories. It also asked for the reduction of the minimum number of children required for separate teaching and accommodation.

Naturally there is the utmost indignation over the imprudent threat made by the Papal Delegate, and his assumption that he had power to fix the boundaries of a Canadian Province; and The Globe says that his action will be repudiated by Sir Wilfrid Laurier, in a statement to be made in the House today. But it must not be forgotten that the main desire of the Delegate was not to fix the boundaries of Manitoba, but to force Manitoba into amending its school law, the boundary question being used as a lever to accomplish that end. That he has been maladroit, rash and imprudent is a thing for which we have reason to feel thankful; had he possessed the astuteness commonly attributed to Churchmen, he would have been more dangerous; he might have accomplished his end without alarming the Canadian people. The position of the Province of Manitoba in regard to education is so strong that the Delegate was obliged to go beyond the field of legislation for a weapon; and the weapon has recoiled upon himself. But his main desire was to introduce the principle of segregation into the Manitoba schools. Is not that desire about to be gratified in regard to the new Provinces?

Taking the Delegate's policy as a whole, we find that it contemplated the establishment of Separate schools in Manitoba and the new Provinces. In the new Provinces this policy is about to be carried into effect. In Manitoba he seeks either to introduce the Separate schools, or, if the Province is obstinate, to contract its area, not only as a penalty, but in order that the hateful Manitoba school system shall not be applied to new territory. We are now told, with a great display of virtuous indignation, that the Government will repudiate one part of Mgr. Sbarretti's policy, the infliction of pains and penalties on the undutiful Province. But what about the rest of the Sbarreti's policy, affecting not the little Province of Manitoba, but the great Provinces of Alberta and Saskatchewan, and graciously the whole West from Manitoba to the Rocky Mountains and as far north as population can be sustained? We have been assured that the system of Separate schools to be established in this vast region is of the most harmless character. But it embodies that very principle of separation which Mgr. Sbarretti so earnestly desired to have applied to Manitoba, and to establish which he has committed an act that has set the country in a flame.

It is not enough therefore, to dissociate the Dominion Government from the blunder which may wreck the Delegate's policy on one point. The Government must dissociate itself from his policy as a whole. It must explain why its own educational policy for the new Provinces bears so marvelous a resemblance to the policy which Mgr. Sbarretti sought to force on Manitoba. It may force Mgr. Sbarretti to retire from the country, but that, while it may be a salve to wounded national pride, will not destroy the work of Mgr. Sbarretti's hands, or of hands which worked in wonderful harmony with his. Nothing short of the destruction of that work will restore the confidence of the people of Canada. Mgr. Sbarretti has failed in his attempt to force the Separate school system on Manitoba. But the freedom of Manitoba, with which he has sought to interfere, must be applied to the whole of Western Canada. His failure must be made complete; the structure he has planned must be levelled with the ground. We do not want a mere correction of this blunder; he must be defeated where he has not blundered; failure, not success, must be written on every part of his work for the fastening of his favorite system on the Canadian West.

HEARTS THAT ARE TOUCHED

Interesting Letters from Friends who are Helping the Muskoka Free Hospital for Consumptives.

DEAR MR. EDITOR,—I would like to quote from two or three letters that are on my desk from friends who have been sending in contributions for the Muskoka Free Hospital for Consumptives. One contributor who sent $50.00 says: "I am sure the country is grateful to you for your good work, and many will bless you." The record-keeper of the Knights of the Maccabees, in sending $6.00 from his lodge, says: "Our Order has paid lots on lives that would undoubtedly have survived had proper treatment been within reach." W. C. McMaster, Township Clerk, Cookstown, sends $10.00 from his municipal council, and says: "We are sure you are doing a noble work to check that dread disease consumption." S. R. Spotswood, Paris, closes a letter, in which he sent $5.00, in this way: "Such a work should enlist the sympathy of every true Canadian."

At the present, I may be permitted to say that the burden being borne by our Trustees is a very heavy one. Expenses always run heavier during the winter season. We have been compelled to build a laundry because other laundries refused our work, and this has called for an immediate expenditure of $4,000.

How hopeful is the work the Hospital is doing is plainly indicated in the reduction in the death-rate in Ontario from consumption.

Our Trustees are anxious to further extend accommodation at Muskoka, and the work can only be delayed by the need of funds. I do not hesitate to ask for a generous contribution from your readers, with as good a cause to advocate.

Secretary.

FORTUNES ARE BEING MADE IN KANSAS OIL

Here's a fortune for you. Not 10% but 100% and no risk of loss. Giant of the Oil Fields.

The Midland Oil and Gas Company

has over 180 acres of oil land and has put down 10 wells, so the land is proved up. An adjoining additional 80 was secured yesterday, making over 260 acres all in the proven belt. Just read this:

The U. S. report on the oil industry places the average daily production of Pennsylvania wells at only one-half a barrel each per day. The Midland wells are pumping

Sixty Barrels a Day Each.

The pumping plant has just been started and this is the surprising result. Nothing like it in the world. The officers and directors of this company are bank men and do not believe in debts, so the company is free from debt. They have nearly $20,000 in cash and bills receivable in the treasury and everything paid for—property, wells, pumping plant, oil tanks, well cleaning machine and everything connected with the company. Have two drilling rigs working night and day sinking wells. Have abundance of gas, which runs the drills and pumping plant, so it only costs about $5.00 a day to produce and market the oil.

The Company has about 33 per cent of its stock in the treasury as a reserve.

For a short time the Company will sell a little more of its stock at only

From the Kansas City Journal, Feb. 26, 1905.

There is perhaps no people in the same amount of territory in the world who have increased in wealth so rapidly. Everybody is prosperous. Many once poor and hard working families have become immensely wealthy.

Hudge Hale, an old Friend conductor, has become a millionaire off of oil. He got in the game early. Now he has money as well as oil and gas to burn.

Fred Hetrick, a farmer living near Chanute, had a hard time for years making both ends meet. Life was a hard proposition with him. His royalties now reach $1,000 a month and he is living on easy street.

Joe Heim, of the Kansas City brewery, took a flyer in oil leases. He first put in $500 and refused $12,000 for his investment. Later he put in a lot more money in gas and oil lands and is now figuring high.

George Z. Work, the Chicago clothier, took some acres of land near Chanute for a debt a customer owed him. Work's partner refused to stand for the deal, so Work kept the land himself. He has since refused $50,000 for his holdings.

These are a few samples. Hundreds of farmers have become independently rich off their oil royalties, and hundreds of other men have made big money producing oil.

This Kansas oil bearing sand is like the Pennsylvania sand; wells will produce oil for fifty years.

Can give bank references, and deeds from people who have personally examined this great property.

CANADA SEEKS BOOM

Project on Foot to Divert Tide of Immigration to the Dominion

MONEY FOR DOUKHOBORS

[From our special correspondent]

Ottawa, April 6.—A movement is being promoted to encourage immigration to Canada via the United States. The project embraces the establishment at New York of a comprehensive exhibit showing the varied resources of the Dominion, and an information bureau where European immigrants to the United States, upon landing in New York, may learn of the advantages the Dominion offers.

A company with this object in view is being formed under the name of "The Canadian General Service and Colonization Company," with a capital of $100,000. A building will be obtained in New York for the exhibit. The movement originated from the conviction that thousands of immigrants are settling annually in the United States who are ignorant of the opportunities offered by Canada, and it is believed an institution of the sort proposed will have a marked effect in diverting immigration to the Dominion.

RUSSIA TO PAY DOUKHOBORS.

It is understood the Russian Government will make restitution to the Doukhobors in Canada for the confiscation of their property in Russia after they had emigrated from that country to Canada some three years ago. A small deputation from the Doukhobor colony in the Canadian West, headed by Peter Verigin, interviewed the Government here, and subsequently laid the case before the Russian Consul at Montreal, with the result that it is announced the Czar's Government will pay the Doukhobors for all the property taken from them in Russia.

The Doukhobor colonists, handicapped by their curious customs and poverty, have prospered in their new home at Yorkton, N.W.T. Two years ago the colony was virtually penniless. Today it has thousands of acres sown in wheat and other grain, the most modern agricultural appliances, and cattle and sheep in great numbers. The colony now numbers 8,000 persons, and is prospering in every way. There are fifty-seven villages, which are made up of forty homesteads each and having 160 acres to a homestead. All three homesteads work in community and possess all property and goods in common.

According to the report of the Fisheries Department, just presented to Dominion Parliament, the fisheries of the Dominion are shown to be the largest in the world. They extend over an immense sea coast line, besides innumerable lakes and rivers. The total value of fish caught and fish products prepared in Canada during the last fiscal year aggregates $23,101,878. With the exception of 1901, when the phenomenal catch of salmon in British Columbia swelled the total value beyond $25,000,000, last year's catch was the largest on record for this country. There were 79,134 men engaged last year in the fisheries, not including the thousands of persons employed in the lobster branch of this industry.

The war of extermination waged against the dog fish in Atlantic waters is referred to as approaching a satisfactory result. The dog fish, which is a species of small shark and most voracious and destructive to fishing gear, is the greatest enemy of the fishermen.

10 per cent dividends returns on investment per annum	66

Careful estimates made by the officers and scientific and practical mill men prove to the satisfaction of this company that the proceeds from the present treasury stock offering will place the property on a paying basis and the further sale of treasury stock will be withdrawn from the market, leaving a treasury reserve fund of over 600,000 shares.

This great enterprise has passed the prospect stage and upon the completion of our tunnel about June 1st, 1905 the energies of the Company will be entirely devoted to production shipment and treatment of its vast tonnage or ore developed through the Klondyke tunnel estimated at 1000 tons per day.

The officers of this Company court rigid investigation by prospective investors of its properties and management.

Persons desiring stock should mail their application to the United States Gold Corporation at Boulder, Colorado, together with draft for amount of shares desired at 15c. per share, for which a certificate of stock will be issued and sent subscriber by return mail. Do not delay sending application as treasury stock will be taken off the market after this offering is subscribed.

WHAT WIRELESS IS —WHY IT WORKS

THE MEN THAT RULE THE WORLD

(This is the second chapter, of which there will be four, giving a simple explanation of the great scientific discovery known as wireless telegraphy.)

CHAPTER II.

Synopsis of Chap. 1: The first chapter told how wireless telegraphy was but a scientific method of taking advantage of or controlling a force which Nature had placed in the air. This force has existed since the creation of the world, but no one realized it until lately any more than a correct explanation was given of the "force of gravity" until a century ago. The electricity in the air makes wireless telegraphy possible. The instruments which have now been invented force that electricity to move in certain ways at the direction of the user of the wireless instrument. The unseen current is set in motion as are the waves in a pond when a stone is thrown into it, and they travel on indefinitely.

The instrument which sets the electric waves in motion in the air and which controls them in certain directions is a somewhat complicated instrument, because it has to do many things, but the principle on which it works can be easily understood and a detailed or technical description of the instrument would be superfluous here. It was stated in the first chapter that extra electricity was forced into the air in order to set the electric waves in motion.

This electric power is supplied through the sending instrument by electric batteries if a current of moderate power only is needed, or, by dynamos if a current of such strength as would be needed to send a message across the Atlantic Ocean or to any distant point where wanted. Both the sending and the receiving instruments are connected by wires or other metal substances with the earth, and it may be well to explain right here why this is done. Electricity under control, as when used in sending messages, travels in an unbroken circle, so to speak. In the case of the telegraph, a wire connects the instruments at two given points and the circuit is completed by the earth, which acts as the second or return wire. The same with wireless, the earth serves to connect the two stations, as if a second or completing circuit was installed. The current passes through the air and returns by the earth just as if it followed the chain on a bicycle and had no end or interruption. You should keep in mind this help which the earth gives, without cost, as it is connected with a later consideration of the subject.

We have noted the batteries or dynamos which supply the current. The next consideration is the means by which the electricity from these sources is distributed in the air. Poles or towers are erected and supplied with wires. This is necessary so as to get the ends of the wires up above surrounding buildings and far enough from the ground so that the current going by the air and returning by the earth will not be near enough together to get mixed up and become short-circuited, as it is known.

Between the battery or dynamo and the tower comes the instrument. This is a mechanical device which serves to make and break the current passing through the air and returning by the earth. If the operator should hold a wire in one hand which ran up the tower and one in the other hand which was connected with the batteries and should keep touching and separating the ends of those wires, he would be making and breaking the current or doing what the instrument makes possible in a more perfect manner and without danger to those handling the powerful current. A part of the sending instrument is a lever known as a key, and when this is depressed the current is unbroken, but when the operator removes the pressure of his hand the lever is raised by a spring and the current is broken just as if he were touching and separating the ends of two wires. Each time that there is this break at the sending instrument, there is a break in the current throughout its entire distance, and it is made to act on the receiving instrument as will be shown later. It is simple to see that the operator may keep the key depressed or released just as long as he wishes, or, in other words, he can regulate the making and breaking of the current at his own discretion. When the current is on for a material length of time it is called making a dash, while for a short time is termed making a dot. It is the making of these dashes and dots in a prearranged manner that makes it possible to send a message in which each letter of the alphabet is represented by a certain combination of dots and dashes.

There is another part of the sending instrument which is necessary in wireless telegraphy, and it is connected with the sending key or lever and between it and the wire going up the tower. Its object is simply to emphasize the breaks in the current and make more distinct the dots and dashes. It is so constructed that it sends the dots and dashes off the tip of the wire like the snap of a whip. This makes the vibrations of electric current leave the tower with greater distinctness and makes the transmission of the messages more simple and more easy to receive.

The receiving instrument is more simple than the sending instrument. The current passes down the wire from the tower at the receiving station and through the instrument into the ground, and on back to the sending station, thus making the complete circuit of current. In the receiving instrument is a lever balanced on springs and acted on by the current. When the current is passing through the instrument this lever is depressed, and at each break in the current, the lever is released and moves upward by the action of one of the springs. The movement of this lever is only about an eighth of an inch and it makes a distinct click each time it strikes the metal points which stop its rise and fall. It is by listening to these clicks and noting the length of them that the receiving operator detects the dots and dashes and thus reads the message. The waves of electricity which have been set in motion by the sending station may be considered to be flat-topped waves. Those with a broad top are dashes and those with a narrow top are dots, and the receiving instrument, through its lever, makes the distinction just as clearly as the sending instrument.

(Chapter 3, which will appear next week, will describe more fully how a single message is sent and received, and will make clear the simplicity of the long-delayed discovery.)

THE POPE HAS ADOPTED WIRELESS

and ordered the apparatus installed in the Vatican Observatory. He has done this after a most exhaustive study of the subject of wireless telegraphy and because he has become convinced that the science has reached a practical and commercial stage. He has gone further and urgently requested the most famous wireless inventor, whose system he has adopted, to visit him at the Vatican at the earliest possible moment.

"What system is it that these leading minds of the world have sanctioned and acknowledged to be a success beyond their extreme expectations?

It is the MARCONI SYSTEM in every case where real success is found and its present great lead in the new field of science makes it safe to say that it will be the Marconi system which will be adopted as the standard and exclusive system the world over. Lord Kelvin refers to the Marconi system as does Edison in all their predictions. England and Italy have adopted only the Marconi system, and the other Governments have made but little progress with any of the other systems with which they have experimented. It is the Marconi service which is installed on the ships which are handling all the ship to shore business from transatlantic liners.

It is the Marconi service which the Pope has ordered installed in the Vatican Observatory and it is Signor Marconi to whom the Pope has extended an invitation almost amounting to a command for the inventor to visit him. These things would not be so unless the Marconi system were an assured success already and gifted with promise of greater things to come.

THE MARCONI WIRELESS TELEGRAPH COMPANY OF CANADA, LTD.

works under the Marconi patents, and will share in every one of its successes. It already has tangible assets, largely in excess of capital and increasing yearly. The revenue from the stations built and building is increasing daily. The development of the Company has but started, and its assured success will lead to the erection of countless new stations and a revenue in excess of that enjoyed by any other similar enterprises in the history of the world.

Wealth and future happiness are knocking at the door of the investor

who is shrewd enough to take advantage of this opportunity which will not come again. Is it not better to invest money in this stock now, when the purchase can be made at $5 per share, than to wait until everybody else is aware of this success and its support by the world's leaders, when that will mean that the price will immediately be at least double what it now is? You have no more to show for your money, a given investment will net you but one-half as many shares, the dividends will be also half as much, for you will have but half as much stock on which to draw dividends, and you will have lost the profits as your stock advances in value.

Remember that you can buy any number of shares, from one share to two hundred shares. Would it not be wise to make an investment immediately of your investment funds instead of leaving them idle or drawing but a small interest when this best of opportunities is slowly but surely slipping away from you?

You can not very well set yourself up as wiser than the man who guide the policies of the world. Make yourself thoroughly familiar with all the facts in regard to the Canadian Company and become a partner to share the profits of the great Marconi invention. Ask us any questions, write for particulars, but to make sure of an allotment, send your money NOW.

LUDWIG NOW HERE

A World's Fair Prize Winning Horse in Peterborough

As an indication of the notice that this town now meets with everywhere, might be mentioned that a horse with an international reputation has been brought here. Mr. Cochrane, of Baltimore, whose celebrated coaching stallion Ludwig, won the prize in his class at the World's Fair in Chicago, and also prizes and medals throughout the United States, has brought this valuable animal to Peterborough. The horse is stabled here at a local hotel. He is a beautiful cherry bay with fine action, and looks every inch the prize winner.

A HIGH GRADE INDUSTRIAL AND MINING INVESTMENT

We have thoroughly investigated it and found it to be right in every respe Did you ever have a chance to invest in a straight legitimate money making proposition? If not,

THIS IS YOUR OPPORTUNITY

We own a monopoly of the water right privileges in the Thunder Mountain mining district, State of Idaho, U.S.A.; seven water rights in all; one developed and in use. The property of the Company consists of over 1400 acres, with plenty of timber for building and mining purposes, a saw mill fully equipped and in operation, a 10-stamp mill now on its way from the R. R. Station to the property, and 40 additional stamps to be purchased at once and installed during the coming summer. This is the largest and most favorably situated property in the district. Some of the tunnels have been driven over 400 ft., cross-cutting many dikes, demonstrating that we have an inexhaustible body of ore. The ore bodies are sampled by an assayer every 10 ft., and assays run from 40c. to $800 per ton. The ore is free milling, and can be mined and milled for about $1.00 per ton.

This Company has had a phenomenal growth, and "The Thunder Mountain Prospector," published at Roosevelt, Idaho, where the property is located, states that this Company is three times as large as any other Company operating in the district. 20 men at work on the property. Over $60,000 worth of stock sold within the last 30 days. Only 100,000 shares more to be sold at 50c. per share. You cannot afford to miss this opportunity; investigate at once.

Consumption Can Be Cured

A Powerful and Effective Destroyer o Disease Germs Discovered Which Cures Consumption.

The ravages of consumption which for years have terrorized the modern world will no longer continue to cut off our population by thousands. Science has at last produced a remedy which not only can be readily applied to the lungs, but also kills every trace of bacilli in the throat, bronchial tubes, and air passages of all the breathing organs.

The name of this marvellous antiseptic about which the doctors are talking so much is Catarrhozone, the cresated air cure. The vapor is more soothing than the air of pine woods, and its healing properties are without limit.

Through a skilfully devised inhaler this fragrant medicated vapor into the most minute air cells of the lungs. It is so destructive to microbic life that the tubercular germs are rapidly killed and prevented from ever returning. Congestion and inflammation are relieved, coughing stops, all disagreeable symptoms are quickly cured by Catarrhozone.

So simple is Catarrhozone that anyone can use it. So certain to cure lung and throat troubles that it is prescribed by not less than twenty thousand doctors in United States and Canada. One well known authority who has made a life long study of consumption, has the following to say; "Catarrhozone is certainly a true specific for white plague. I find that its healing vapor readily spreads all through all the breathing organs passing over probably not less than one thousand square feet of mucous surface at a single inhalation. It is a perfect germicide and destroys tubercular germs with wonderful certainty. Catarrhozone is entitled to rank among the great medical discoveries of the age."

No matter how often you have been disappointed with other remedies you must not be discouraged. In Catarrhozone you will find new hope. What it has done before it can do again. Your case is not worse than others it has cured. Therefore if properly used you can also be cured by Catarrhozone. Two months' treatment $1.00. At druggists or by mail from N. C. Polson & Co., Hartford, Conn., U.S.A., or Kingston, Ont. Refuse any substitute for Catarrhozone—only the genuine can cure.

Cement Works Shut Down

The Cement Company at Lakefield have closed down their works for two weeks, and are removing their substation to another part of the main building. They have also broken sod for the enlargement of their plant. The new building to be erected will be eighty-one feet wide by two hundred and forty feet long, and when completed will double their capacity and turn out from 2,000 to 2,500 barrels of cement daily.

Steamer Sovereign Again Afloat.

The steamer Sovereign again floats the water like a thing of life, somewhat bedaubed with mud. Mr. Young once engineer of the Water Lily, accomplished the deed. He employed a large scow for his purpose. After sinking it to a certain level and making fast to the half submerged steamer, he then pumped out the scow, with the result that the Sovereign was again brought to such a level as to float. It is possible to pump her out and prepare her for the coming season.

Wedding Bells

A very pretty wedding took place last night at the home of Mr. H. Meahan, Rink street. Only the immediate friends of the contracting parties were invited. The Rev. A. H. Brace, of the Park street Baptist church, united in marriage, Miss Florence C. Kimble to Mr. Wm. Robt. Hamilton, the bridesmaid was Miss Blanche Smith, and Mr. H. Meehan attended the groom. Miss Anderson played the Wedding March. The bride looked charming in a pretty silk waist and tweed skirt. A very inviting supper was spread for the Bridal party, and a number of most valuable presents were received. Mr. and Mrs. Hamilton will make their future home in Bobraygeon.

More School Accommodation Wanted

A member of the School Board informs us that the south portion of the town is not sufficiently supplied in the matter of school accommodation. He states that the rooms in the south ward school are uncomfortably crowded, in some rooms as many as 65 and 66 pupils are in attendance, and he is afraid if a new school is not provided forthwith there will be trouble with the parents in that part of the town. He believes that a new school should be proceeded with at once, so that it could be ready for occupancy by September 1st. That part of the town is growing rapidly and in his opinion there should be immediate steps taken to give more accommodation to the school children.

A Local Fresh Air Cure Effected

As a corroboration of the recently advocated cure for lung troubles by the fresh air treatment, might be mentioned that of a young lady in town who, some months ago, took this open air treatment at Gravenhurst. Since her return she has had added to her residence a lattice work extension, to enable her to complete a cure in the open air. Her many friends are perfectly surprised and delighted at the changed woman she has become, her health having been completely restored without the slightest symptom of danger of relapse. She had been compelled some months ago to resign a position in town in consequence of failing health but, to-day, anyone seeing her, would not suspect that she had been so terribly ill a few months ago.

THE CARNEGIE LIBRARY

(To the Editor of The Times.)

Sir,—In glancing over the Examiner last evening, I saw an account of a meeting of the Board of Trade held for the purpose of discussing the advisability of non advisability of asking a donation from Andrew Carnegie for a library here.

One of the gentlemen, Rev. Mr. McColl I noticed brought forward two arguments against the grant or rather asking for one;

First—"There were already a Public and several semi-public libraries in town."

Second—"To take money from a man like Carnegie would not be creditable."

As regards the first argument, it is true we have a Public Library or rather Mechanics' Institute, but as regards the semi-public ones, what are they? One is the Law Library to which the general public has no admission, the other is in the T.A.S. rooms for the sole use of its members, and I venture to say the literature is limited.

With regard to the second argument I would ask the rev. gentleman if it is any more discreditable to take money from Carnegie than from certain politicians who, if reported correctly, contributed very generously to Mother Church in town and Ennismore, and added considerably to the funds at picnics held in Ennismore and Young's Point?

It is all bosh, this talk about Carnegie's money not being honestly come by, and the non-receiving donation for public libraries from him. We have business men here in Peterborough, who strive for legislation in the Council for their own benefit, and who pay their employes just as small a wage as they possibly can, and would pay still smaller if the employe would take it, who would not, if Carnegie owed them an account, refuse to take his money in settlement of his bill and if he, Carnegie, had a draft in a bank do you suppose that bank would refuse to accept his money in payment of said draft? Not much! Merchant and banker are not here for their health but to make all the money they can, as much as they can and as fast as they can, and the law allows it, but it ill-becomes them to throw mud at Carnegie.

Local Incidents

BY THE TIMES MAN ON THE STREET.

—The Matthews Company have purchased over 4,000 logs this week.

—Last night the Charlotte street church choir held a well attended practice.

—A meeting was held last night in the Y.M.C.A. to organise hockey, baseball, and track athletics.

—Dr. Bingham, medical health officer, was in the police court yesterday, looking hale and hearty after his recent trip.

—Services were held last night at All Saints' church. The rector continued his series of addresses on "God's Call to His People."

—Rev. Canon Dixon, of Toronto, will deliver an illustrated lecture in St. Luke's church school this evening on the "Passion of Christ."

—The regular monthly meeting of the Ladies Aid Society of St. Andrew's church will be held this afternoon at 3.30 in the church parlor.

—Another electric light is needed on Rogers street, Edith Ward. This is an important thoroughfare, St. Joseph's hospital and St. Luke's church being located on this street.

—Some of the articles stolen from S. R. Percy's grocery store, the other night have been recovered. They were found in an empty cottage on Sherbrooke street.

—Two dates of unusual importance loom up this month in the Y.M.C.A. calendar. On the 25th, the grand closing exhibition on the gymnasium will be held and on the 28th the senior men's banquet will eventuate.

—The fire brigade was given a run yesterday afternoon, when an alarm was sent in from 219 Bethune street. Children had set fire to a pile of rags on the cellar of the house, but the blaze was extinguished before the brigade arrived. No damage was done.

—The watering cart made its first appearance yesterday morning, and not a moment too soon, for the dust was rendering the importation of an army of domestic missionaries a necessity to quell the rising flood of profanity.

—The Lindsay Post says; The watering cart was out to-day, and owing to the deposit of mud in its interior or the churning of a defective hydrant, the liquid emitted was a rich sepia in color. The sight led a visitor to remark, "Heavens! is that the stuff your citizens drink? No wonder Lindsay people kick. In this town the water supplied through our mains contains recently fish, and polywogs. And no extra charge made for the game either.

Refusing Cigarette to a Minor

A case tried in yesterday's Police Court, recalls a conversation heard, some few days ago, by a representative of this great family journal. A lad of about 13 years of age entered a local cigar store and putting down his 10 cents, asked for a packet of Sweet Caporal cigarettes. The proprietor of the establishment sized up the boy and refused to serve him, saying, "Now my boy you know very well I cannot sell cigarettes to a boy your age. If you want them you will have to get some one older to buy them." The boy sadly replied "That's all right, Mr. ——, but a few days ago, I got a bigger fellow to buy me a packet here and before I got them he had smoked five out of the box." He did not get his drag that morning.

MARRIED

HAMILTON—KIMBLE.—At the house of Mr. H. Meahan, 303 Rink street, Peterborough, on April 5, 1905, by the Rev. A. H. Brace, Mr. William Bell Hamilton, to Miss Florence Charlotte Kimble, both of Bobcaygeon.

It is much easier for a woman to confide in the average man than in the average woman. She knows that the man will respect her confidences and keep them to himself. He is strong, has more experience of the world and can help the woman who needs advice. There is every reason why women should not trust their delicate constitutions in the hands of unskilled persons. It requires a thorough medical education to appreciate and understand the womanly organism. When a woman has ills and pains that she cannot bear—when life seems dark for every woman, she should confide her troubles to a physician of standing in the community, or one who has a national reputation. Certainly it would not be the part of wisdom to confide in an ignorant person without medical education simply because she was a woman. There is every reason why she should write to some great specialist, one who has made the diseases of women a specialty for a term of a century, like Dr. R. V. Pierce, founder of the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, of Buffalo, N. Y. All his correspondence is held sacredly confidential, and he gives his advice free and without charge.

So uniformly successful has Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription proven in all forms of Female Weakness, Prolapsus, or Falling of Womb, and Leucorrhea, that, after curing the worst cases of these distressing and debilitating ailments, Dr. Pierce now feels fully warranted in offering to pay $500 in cash for any case of these diseases which he cannot cure.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets should be used with "Favorite Prescription" whenever a laxative is required.

HOMESTEAD REGULATIONS

Any even numbered section of Dominion lands in Manitoba or the North-west Territories, excepting 8 and 26, which has not been homesteaded, or reserved to provide wood lots for settlers, or for other purposes, may be homesteaded upon by any person who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years of age, to the extent of one-quarter section of 160 acres more or less.

ENTRY

Entry may be made personally at the local land office for the district in which homesteader desires, he may, on application to the Minister of the Interior, Ottawa; the Commissioner of Immigration Winnipeg, or the local agent for the district in which the land is situate, receive authority for some one to make entry for him. A fee of $10 is charged for a homestead entry.

HOMESTEAD DUTIES

A settler who has been granted an entry for a homestead is required by the provisions of the Dominion Lands Act, and the amendments thereto, to perform the conditions connected therewith, under one of the following plans:

[1] At least six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each year during the term of three years. It is the practice of the Department to require a settler to bring 15 acres under cultivation, but if he prefers he may substitute stock; and 20 head of cattle, to be actually his own property, with buildings for their accommodation, will be accepted instead of the cultivation.

[2] If the father (or mother, if the father is deceased), of any person who is eligible to make a homestead entry under the provisions of this Act, resides upon a farm in the vicinity of the land entered for by such person as a homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence prior to obtaining patent may be satisfied by such person residing with the father or mother.

[3] If a settler was entitled to and has obtained entry for a second homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence prior to obtaining patent may be satisfied by residence upon the first homestead, if the second homestead is in the vicinity of the first homestead.

[4] If the settler has his permanent residence upon farming land owned by him in the vicinity of his homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence may be satisfied by residence upon the said land.

The term "vicinity" used above is meant to indicate the same township, or an adjoining or cornering township.

A settler who avails himself of the provisions of clauses [2], [3] or [4] must cultivate 30 acres of his homestead, or substitute 20 head of stock, with buildings for their accommodation, and have besides 30 acres substantially fenced.

The privilege of a second entry is restricted by law to those settlers only who completed the duties upon their first homesteads to entitle them to patent on or before the 2nd of June, 1889.

Every homesteader who fails to comply with the requirements of the homestead law is liable to have his entry cancelled and the land may again be thrown open for entry.

APPLICATION FOR PATENT

Should be made at the end of three years, before the Local Agent, Sub-Agent or the Homestead Inspector. Before making application for patent the settler must give six months notice in writing to the Commissioner of Dominion Lands at Ottawa of his intention to do so.

INFORMATION

Newly arrived immigrants will receive, at the Immigration Office in Winnipeg, or at any Dominion Lands Office in Manitoba or the Northwest Territories, information as to the lands that are open for entry, and from the officers in charge, free of expense, advice and assistance in securing lands to suit them. Full information respecting the land, timber, coal and mineral laws, as well as respecting Dominion Lands in the Railway Belt in British Columbia, may be obtained upon application to the Secretary of the Department of the Interior, Ottawa; the Commissioner of Immigration, Winnipeg, Manitoba, or to any of the Dominion Lands Agents in Manitoba or the Northwest Territories.

W. W. CORY,
Deputy Minister of the Interior.

N. B.—In addition to Free Grant Lands, to which the Regulations above stated refer, thousands of acres of most desirable lands are available for lease or purchase from railroad and other corporations and private firms in Western Canada.

THE WAR'S REAL VICTIMS ARE UTTERLY HELPLESS

Mothers and Children of Russia's Brave Soldiers Begging Their Food—A Commission of Inquiry May Look Into Affairs.

St. Petersburg, April 8.—The stories of sufferings on the part of the widows, wives and families of soldiers at the front are attracting general attention, and the public demands Government aid for the sufferers. The local charities are no longer able to cope with the situation, and, in many places the funnds raised for this purpose are entirely exhausted, and the provincial papers are filled with pathetic accounts of starving mothers and children begging in the streets.

At Nishni-Novgorod the palace of the Governor, was besieged by a crowd of hungry women with babes in their arms asking for bread. The Governor informed the women that he would appoint a commission to investigate the situation.

His reply aroused the ire of the local press. The Viedomosti said; "Always the eternal commission. While it is investigating the women and children will starve."

NO INTERFERENCE TO BE TOLERATED

Must Administer License Law on Non-partisan Basis

DRINKING PLACES TO CLOSE

Holders of Hotel Licenses Must Conduct Hotels not Mere Bar-rooms —Mr. Hanna'S Instructions

The local License Board has received a communication from the Hon. J. W. Hanna, Provincial Secretary, in which most explicit directions are given them for guidance in granting licenses. The letter explains every detail calculated to prove troublesome, and reads thusly;

Dear Sir,—The various boards of liquor license commissioners throughout the Province and the liquor license inspectors are reminded that in considering applications which may come before them for licenses, in no case must they allow political considerations to influence their decisions.

It has been reported to me that in certain districts patronage committees are assuming to direct the boards as to what licenses shall be issued and to whom. This practice cannot be permitted. Licenses obtained in this way will in every case be discontinued at the earliest opportunity.

The Government is sincerely anxious that the license laws shall be strictly administered and on a non-partisan basis and expect your most assistance to this end. Default in these particulars would not only destroy the usefulness of the board responsible therefor, but would in some degree reflect upon this whole system.

It is confidently hoped that in a majority of cases the warning is unnecessary and that in no case will it be unheeded.

Where the number of applicants exceeds the number of licenses to be granted those applicants who are personally the most desirable and whose hotels are the best appointed and most suitable for the public accommodation should always be preferred.

It is the duty of the inspectors to make a fair and impartial report in every instance, so that the boards may have the best and most reliable information before them.

In many counties there are places called hotels which are merely drinking places, the bar being made the first consideration, and accommodation for man and best but secondary. Make the licenses of such place live up to the requirements or refuse their licenses. MAKE THEM KEEP HOTEL.

Trusting that your occupancy of the position will be agreeable and pleasant to you and that you may be able to say that the promise made by the Government as to the rigid enforcement of the law will be faithfully carried out in your district, I am

Yours truly.

W. J. HANNA.

RUSSIANS TAKE THE OFFENSIVE

Nearly Surrounded Vanguard of Japanese Force

Tokio, April 8.—The official despatches today give the first notice of a Russian offensive movement since the fighting at Tieling. A force of cavalry, with machine and mountain guns, moved south Monday from Iawo on the Fengwa road, and the next morning began a bombardment of the Japanese advanced position at Kinkiutun, north of Kaiyuan. Simultaneously a large force of infantry advanced along the main Changchun road, while two other columns delivered flank attacks. The Russians reached within 400 metres of the Japanese wings. The fighting lasted all day Tuesday. The Japanese, although nearly surrounded, finally repulsed the enemy, losing 27 killed or wounded. The Russian casualties, estimating from the number of ambulances, were about 200.

The Kokumin states that a Japanese squadron is now blockading Vladivostok.

London, April 7.—The following statement is made upon the authority of Russian official documents: More than 22,000 women are employed on the Russian railway lines at an average yearly salary of $65 a year.

Mind you, this is an average. It includes women section hands up to telegraph operators and station agents. And this means that section hands receive considerably less than the $65 yearly stipend.

One of the shocking sights to an American in Europe is to see a woman yoked with a cow and pulling a plow. It is even more shocking to the sensibilities to ride on a Russian railway and, as the cars rush by, to observe the section women reating on their shovels.

How do these women manage to live on $65 a year? It must be remembered that the entire family of European peasants are obliged to do manual labor—men, women and children. The aggregate wage is the family support.

And the aggregate family earnings is less than that received by an American workingman.

It is said these people are ignorant. Of course they are. Necessarily so. They have had no chance in life, neither they nor their forbears.

But they are conscious of their misery And they are growing tired of the hopeless tenure of toil. When these patient, wronged ones wake up to the fact that they have been robbed, body and soul, there will be a fearful reckoning.

To Make Pure

Biscuit, cake, rolls, muffins, dumplings, etc., a pure leavening agent is indispensable.

While the Royal Baking Powder is reported absolutely pure and healthful, the official reports show most other baking powders, as well as the cream of tartar of the market depended upon by many housekeepers for raising biscuit and cake, to contain either alum, ammonia or sulphuric acid.

The Government Analyst of Ontario says:

"As a result of my investigation, I find the Royal Baking Powder far superior to the others. It is pure, contains none but wholesome ingredients, and is of greatest strength."

CHINA IS NOW ARMING

ANTICIPATING DEVELOPMENTS AT THE CLOSE OF THE WAR

Determined to be Prepared for all Emergencies—Rushing the Equipment of Forces for the Protection of Pekin. Small Arms Factories Busy

Vancouver, B. C., April 8.—"China is arming for eventualities, and is reorganising her army." That is the most important news brought by the Empress of Japan, just in from the Far East. A private letter from Pekin states that the high officials have lately begun to recognize that, with the close of the war between Russia and Japan, China will have to pass through a grave crisis, which may threaten the very foundations of her independence and integrity. To avert anarchy and chaos, the Emperor's advisers have informed him that the forces of the empire must be well armed and prepared for emergencies and immediate service. In view of this there is evident a feverish anxiety among Manchu civil and military officials in the capital properly to arm the various banner corps organizations, the Manchu as well as Mongol and Chinese (Hanchan) bannermen; indeed all the troops quartered in Pekin and vicinity.

EQUIPPED WITH MODERN RIFLES.

Up to date the authorities have succeeded in providing the bannermen with either Mannlicher or Mauser rifles, not counting a force of 7,000 Manchus, who have been equipped with these modern rifles since 1902. But it is stated on reliable authority that at least 30,000 more magazine rifles are needed to properly organize these banner corps, without which the defences of the capital would not be complete. Instructions have accordingly been issued to the small-arms factories in the Yangtse provinces to lose no time in making the rifles needed, while contracts are also being made with foreign arms manufacturing companies for the immediate supply of many thousands of rifles.

ARMY TO PROTECT PEKIN.

The banner corps mentioned are only those who have been selected during the last 18 months to form the nucleus of a foreign-modelled army for the protection of Pekin. If all the banner corps organizations supposed to be in existence be properly enrolled and armed, at least half a million more magazine rifles will be required. By the middle of the coming summer the authorities hope to have an efficient foreign-drilled banner corps, well armed, numbering not less than 45,000 men. In addition, there are the foreign-modelled forces of General Ma Yu-kun and Viceroy Yuan Shihkai, all of Chinese descent, numbering about 25,000 really useful and properly equipped men, with good officers over them.

JAPAN WATCHING CHINA CLOSELY.

Pekin advices also tell of the work of the Army Reorganisation Department, presided over by Prince Ching, with Viceroy Yuan Shihkai and Tieh Liang, Vice-President of the Board of War, as Vice and Deputy Residents respectively. Their chief work just now is the putting into fighting order of the six northern army corps each of which will number 24,000 men. The cost of these six corps will be about ten million taels a year. The men will also have to be provided with arms, ammunition and uniforms, at a heavy cost. China's military preparations are being made on a most extensive scale. Japan is said to be keeping a careful eye on all the preparations.

PETERBOROUGE PROGRESSING

Building Boom in the South Ward — Many Houses in Course of Erection

There will be great activity this spring in building operations in the south portion of the town. In one block alone on Aylmer street, there will probably be built quite a number of new houses. Operations have already been inaugurated, on the lot immediately south of Mr. Arthur Stevenson's residence on Aylmer corner of Dalhousie streets. The cellar is being dug and foundation stones piled ready for use in a residence being erected by Mr. W. Savigny.

On the next lot south it is said that Mr. Johnston is going to erect a house; on the lot just south of the house, formerly occupied by the Misses Barlee, we understand that Mr. Jno. Giles is going to build a terrace; whilst on the lot Mr. Leteltier bought from Mr. Duncan, it is said the purchaser intends building, viz., on the corner of Perry and Aylmer streets.

A PLUGGED SEWER

The Lock Works Experience Great Trouble Yesterday.

Yesterday there was great annoyance caused the Peterborough Lock Works by the stoppage of their outlet to the sewer on Simcoe street. The sewer pipe from these works is a six-inch one which empties into a pipe leading to the main on Aylmer street. There is very little elevation between the works and the main, as yesterday, their local system became blocked up. A trench was dug in the yard of the works to try and remedy the trouble.

It was found, however, that the blockade was on the street, so a fire hose was attached to the Simcoe street hydrant and water in full force turned on. This did not displace the obstruction but the back flow was so complete that several sewer pipes in the yard system, including the elbow were burst to pieces. After several hours work, involving a very wet job for workmen the trouble was removed.

HON. ROBERT ROGERS HITS BACK AGAIN.

Answers the "Inaccurate Statements" Made In the House--Want Dissolution To Give the People a Chance.

Winnipeg, April 7.—Hon. Robert Rogers was seen this morning and asked if he had anything to say in reference to the discussion which took place in the Parliament of Canada last night.

"No," said Mr. Rogers. "There is nothing new of any account brought out that would make it necessary for me to add anything to the statement given the paper this morning, further than this, that in my generosity I have treated all the inaccurate statements made by Sir Wilfrid as being due to his lack of memory. For example, I see Sir Wilfrid repeats his first statement and based his whole case last night upon the fact that Manitoba has made no demands for extension of her boundaries since he came into power in 1896 until 1905. This statement, of course, is absolutely incorrect, and it is only necessary to turn to the journals of the House of Commons of Canada for the year 1901 to prove it, and there will be found evidence of a demand made by a unanimous Legislature upon the Parliament of this Dominion, of which Sir Wilfrid was then, as he is now, the head, for an extension of our boundaries.

"INACCURATE STATEMENTS."

"Sir Wilfrid further goes on to say that there is apparently something wrong with my statement, because I was not present at the interview with Mgr. Sbarretti. I never said I was. He further states that it was simply a friendly interview between Mgr. Sbarretti and Mr. Campbell, who had met upon former occasions. This is another inaccurate statement, because Mr. Campbell denies ever having met Mgr. Sbarretti before. These statements explode entirely the remarks made by Sir Wilfrid yesterday.

"There is one thing, however, for which I will not stand, and that is the reference made by a pinhead like the Hon. Sydney Fisher, to me as making a false statement. I challenge the Hon. Sidney Fisher or any person else to put their finger upon one single solitary syllable of any statement I have made that they can prove to be false or incorrect.

A CHALLENGE TO LIBERALS.

"If the Free Press or those for whom they assume to speak think that I do not represent the people of Manitoba, or that I am guilty of any wrong in making public the fact that we are prevented from getting our rights as a Province and a people, then let them use their influence with His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor of this Province to dissolve the House, and let the people in whose name and for whom I have spoken, declare by their ballots whether or not they want legislation drafted and moulded by Sir Wilfrid's boss from Rome."

HOW SHALL WE CELEBRATE?

Committee in Charge of Civic Demonstration Meet

On Thursday evening, Mayor Beat, Aldermen Hicks, Begley, Hall and Mason, members of the committee in charge of our proposed celebration on July 1st, met to discuss the matter.

Ald. Hicks was elected chairman, and it was decided to call a citizens' meeting at an early date, when the public will be afforded an opportunity of offering suggestions as to what attractions should be put on on the day which will mark Peterborough's big demonstration in honor of becoming a city. A citizen's committee will also be appointed to work in conjunction with the committee from the Council. The celebration proposed is being taken up earnestly and enthusiastically, and details will be outlined and further discussed at an early date.

MR. TAYLOR ARRIVES

After an Absence of 42 Years Mr. Taylor Returns to Peterborough

At the Snowden House is registered a gentleman, who as noted in a former issue of this journal, has come from New Zealand to visit the home of his youth. Mr. Taylor is a prosperous land owner and stock raiser in his adopted home. He was kept busy yesterday hunting up and renewing old acquaintances.

Mr. Taylor started from New Zealand last summer, arriving in San Francisco in August last, his purpose being to visit with members of his family whom he has not seen since the year 1863.

Since his arrival in America, Mr. Taylor has been sojourning in various points in the western states, and also visited the St. Louis Exposition.

Mr. Taylor is a son of Rev. R. J. O. Taylor, for many years rector of St. John's, who died here in 1852. He left here 42 years ago, going almost immediately to the country where he now resides. He speaks in glowing terms of the wonderful industrial advances which have been made in Peterborough since his departure. He states that New Zealand is one of the most beautiful countries in the world. He will remain for some days after which he will go to Rice Lake, for a short visit with Mr. Frank Birdsall.

The New Master of the West.

Are we to understand that that portion of Canada yet known as the North-West Territories is now under the jurisdiction of his holiness the Pope? Unless it is, how does it come that the Papal delegate has to be encountered and reckoned with before the country can be divided into autonomous units?

FAREWELL SERMONS

Great Interest Excited by To-morrow's Farewell Addresses by Rev. H. B. Ketchen.

The many admirers and friends of the Rev. H. B. Ketchen, of St. Paul's church, will undoubtedly avail themselves of to-morrow's last opportunity of hearing this eloquent preacher. As is too true, the the rev. gentleman is leaving Peterborough to accept his new call to Hamilton, where there will be a larger field for his gifts, and where his services will be rewarded by a larger financial recognition as he will receive the handsome stipend of $1,800 per annum. To-morrow Mr. Ketchen will preach twice, in the morning at the Reid Street mission, and evening in St. Paul's church. There is very general regret expressed throughout the town at losing this popular pastor.

SAD NEWS.

The Unexpected Death of Mrs. Wilmot G. Haultain at Regina N.W.T.

A short but heartbreaking telegraphic message to Mrs. J. F. Dennistoun, of Castleknock, yesterday, bore the sad intelligence that her daughter, Annie, Mrs. Wilmot G. Haultain, of Regina, N.W.T., was dead. This terrible blow to a mother and other relatives was all the more shocking, as no intimation had been received by the family of Mrs. Haultain being in any immediate danger. No particulars further than the mere fact of her death were given, so the death must have been as unexpected to friends in her present home, as to the family here. The late Mrs. Haultain was very well known, both by people in her own immediate circle and by many who knew and loved her from her connection for years with St. Paul's Sunday school in which she was once a teacher in the primary department. She was a willing and able worker in church and charitable institutions, and midst the congratulations heaped on her and her husband in 1904, at the time of their marriage, were many heartfelt suppressed sighs of regret over her leaving the place of her girlhood. The Times would most respectfully add their sympathy to that of the many friends who feel deeply for the afflicted family.

Mrs. Haultain, who was formerly Miss Annie Camilla Dennistoun, was married on June 29, 1904, to Mr. Wilmot Gordon Haultain, son of the late Lieut.-Col. Haultain. The funeral will take place in Peterborough but the date has not yet been decided upon.

46TH AT KINGSTON

News of the 46th Battalion of Port Hope

The members of our fine 57th Regiment will doubtless be pleased to learn of the warm welcome awarded their brothers-in-arms in Kingston. The Port Hope Times says;

"The Midland battalion arrived safely at Kingston on Wednesday afternoon and marched directly to the barracks, being loudly cheered en route and at the barracks were given a hearty reception by over two thousand people who had assembled to witness the arrival. The strength of the 46th battalion is seventy-seven, non-commissioned officers and men. The rations issued to each man is as follows;—Bread, meat and potatoes, one pound of each per day, per man; barley, 1 oz; cheese, 2 oz.; coffee, 1-2 oz.; tea, 1-4 oz.; sugar, 2 oz.; salt 1-2 oz.; pepper, 1-36 oz. Each man was provided with three good blankets from the stores at the barracks, which will be taken to the northwest and used during the campaign. One company of the 46th is stationed at the fort and the remainder at the barracks. All the men of the Midland battalion have been issued brown leather regulation ammunition boots."

THE WEST IS PREPARING TO TEST PUBLIC OPINION

Against the Government's Bills by Either a Monster Demonstration at Ottawa or by Protest at the Polls.

Winnipeg, April 8.—Supporters of the local Government in the present controversy feel that Mr. Rogers has made an ample reply to Sir Wilfrid. People generally are looking beyond the bounds of the present discussion, and are asking what will finally happen at Ottawa. There is a tremendous latent feeling in the West which only requires a little stirring up, and once stirred, it will go to the length of saying to Ottawa that the coercive legislation must not be passed until the electorate has had an opportunity of making a pronouncement.

Along these lines it is suggested that if the Government persists in its present course, half the Conservative members at Ottawa should resign, leaving the other half to hold the fort until the members come back from their constituencies. It is felt that in this way the country might give a constitutional aspect to its views.

WILL HE SEE IT THROUGH?

A despatch from Ottawa which has called for comment here, says; "Sir Wilfrid has promised Mgr. Sbarretti that he will see the autonomy question to the end, and there will be no turning back. The only thing that could possibly prevent the enactment of the coercive legislation would be a delegation, say, of two or three thousand representative Canadians, who might politely, but firmly inform the Government that the legislation must no pass without the constitutional procedure of submitting the whole matter to the people. Such an appeal, would, of course, mean a solid Quebec, as opposed to an almost solid representation from other Provinces opposed to the measure. If Sir. Wilfrid Laurier thinks the people are not too deadly in earnest, and do not make their demands too forceful, he will push the legislation to a finish, and leave his party a wreck, retiring, as he intends doing in the course of a few months. The Premier's following, such men as Turriff, Bell, Scott and others, seem to think the people will forget, and that all will be plain sailing after the 'bigots' and 'extremists' have wearied in their protestations."

A BIG DEPUTATION SUGGESTED.

Prominent men here have given private expression to their views on the proposal to send a monster deputation to Ottawa, and think there could be no difficulty in getting together a large contingent from the West. The Orangemen of this city held a meeting and denounced Mr. D. W. Bole's course. They say; "We feel sure that had the present Government announced their policy of catering to Rome prior to the general elections, not one member would have been returned on the Government side from our Great Lakes to where the waves of the Pacific roll on our seashore.

Police Court

OFFICIALS

Chief of Police, G.I. Rorke
Magistrate, D.W. Dumble

Yesterday morning saw a large audience in the Police Court, to hear a charge against Mr. James Allen, Proprietor of the C.P.R. Hotel. The charge was, that on Saturday, the 1st of April, Allen did, contrary to the provisions of the Ontario License Act, accept a watch in pawn from Allen Lindsay, lending him the sum of $2 on the ticker.

The first witness, Mr. George Cochrane, License Inspector, testified that Allen was owner of the license when the offence, as charged, was committed.

Allen Lindsay, sworn, said that he lives at Nassau. Was in the C.P.R. Hotel on Saturday, April 1st. That he, after spending what money he had, on arrival at the hotel, on porter and sugar, drinking and treating friends, tried to borrow a dollar from Newton Herbert, who was behind the bar, acting as bar-tender. Was refused, and putting up his watch asked and received a loan of $2 on it. Spent 85 cents for drinks. Was to have until Monday to get his watch back. On Monday morning came into the C.P.R. Hotel bar, and putting up a $5 bill asked for the chronometer. Herbert said the watch was upstairs, so witness waited until about two o'clock in the afternoon to get his goods. Herbert said he was sorry to say he had sold the watch. Witness went up town, and, meeting P. O. Adams, told him his tale of woe. Went to the station and laid an information against Allen. Got his watch back after the information was laid, paying the $2 back. The watch was worth $15, and was gotten by him in a trade for another silver watch. Under cross-examination, said he spent Friday night in the cells for being drunk. He slept at Allen's Saturday night. Had drinks in several hotels. Had no supper on Friday night as he does not eat when drinking. That he did not try to sell the watch to anyone on Saturday.

Robert Graham, the next witness, did not see the watch deal. He met Lindsay on the street, and went into the C.P.R. Hotel with him and saw him offer money to the bartender, Herbert, in the kitchen. Herbert refused the money, when Lindsay threw money to him. Was with Lindsay when the watch was returned, after information had been laid.

The next witness, by name Hodgens, shortly after his examination had begun, on being warned for an answer by his Worship, lost his temper and walked out of the witness box. The Magistrate, quickly and emphatically, demonstrated the folly of this proceeding by ordering him locked up in a cell.

Robert Wilson, bartender at the C.P.R. swore that Lindsay asked him, Saturday, if he wanted to buy a watch. He replied that he already owned three of them; Lindsay offered him the watch for $3.

E. Stevenson, an employee of Mr. A. Elliott, bought the watch from the C.P.R. bartender for $3, and on Monday afternoon, resold it to him for $5.00.

Mr. D. O'Connel, counsel for Allen, raised some technical objections as to the interpretation of the act, trying to prove that the hotel proprietor was not responsible in the case in point. His Worship noted the objections.

Newton Herbert swore that he travels horses in the spring, and threshes in the fall on farms. Been two months at Allen's Hotel. Was paid no wages by Allen, but sometimes helps out when they were busy. Does not tend bar. Claimed that he bought the watch outright from Lindsay, and considering it his property, had sold it for $3 and re-bought it for $5. Mr. Allen in his evidence said he did not know much about the matter; that he paid no wages to Herbert. George Rickerby had seen Lindsay trying to sell his watch for $3 on Saturday. Saw Lindsay come out of the bar with a bill in his hand, and that Lindsay said; "Am I not a d—a fool for selling a $15 watch for $2?"

His Worship reserved judgment until Monday. The Chief conducted the case for the prosecution. During the trial a small boy in the audience fled at a quicker gait than he ever struck even to see a circus procession pass down George street a second time. The Chief had got his eagle eye on the lad and mentioned the word "school."

Martial Law Being Enforced for the Suppression of Disorder.

Warsaw, April 8.—All persons participating in disorders will hereafter be tried by martial law. The new regime commenced yesterday, when two workmen were thus tried and condemned to death. One of them fired a revolver at a policeman, and the other struck a policeman with an iron bar.

An extraordinary case of wholesale poisoning has occurred at a cotton mill in Pabianice. Seventy girls in the coloring department were taken suddenly ill and fell to the floor unconscious. Thirty of them were taken to an hospital in a dangerous condition. An investigation showed that the illness of the girls was due to arsenic having been sprinkled through the room by unknown miscreants.

FERROZONE

Cures all Ailments From which Women Suffer

Many women suffer untold torture from nervous debility caused by disorders of the feminine organs. Day by day they grow worse, but from a false sense of modesty they shrink from using a good remedy like Ferrozone. And it would cure them.

Nothing renews weak women like Ferrozone. It brings back lost nerve force, supplies new vital energy, increases the blood supply.

No restorative so potent and prompt as Ferrozone has ever been discovered. You feel its uplifting effect at once. Your spirits rise, you gain in power and cheerfulness, feelings of weakness and despondency disappear.

No woman can remain sick or miserable, if she uses Ferrozone. It goes direct to the seat of trouble, puts a stop to functional irregularities, and so establishes buoyant, robust health. Being free from alcohol, and dangerous drugs, Ferrozone can be used by young and old with absolute safety. Prepared in tablet form, fifty to the box; price 50c., or six boxes for $2.50, at all dealers, or N. C. Polson & Co., Hartford, Conn., U.S.A., and Kingston, Ontario.

THE KEEPING OF LENT

Many would-be pious people do up all their religion on Sundays. There are others who confine the whole year's religious observances to the forty days of Lent. From the dawn of Ash Wednesday, when, in sackcloth and ashes, they confess and lament their sins, to the close of Good Friday, that day of the saddest and most sacred commemoration to all devout Christian souls, they feel themselves absorbed from all religious duties. In spirit they echo the words of the old English rhyme:

"For forty days we can afford
To cease from dance and revel.
Three days we lend unto the Lord,
The rest we give the devil."

In ancient times Shrove Tuesday, the day before Lent, was a day so much given to license by this sort of Christians that pious prelates would often go into retirement on that day to avoid the uproarious merriment of such of their flocks as sought to crowd into these last hours of mundane enjoyment, hilarity enough to atone for all lack of it through the penitential season. But this spasmodic Lenten piety is confined to the giddy, thoughtless multitude. Those who keep Lent in its true spirit find it a season of rest, peace and spiritual refreshment, but not one into which to crowd religious life and duties of the whole year.

The custom of setting apart from the busy whirl of everyday life a period of rest from social gaieties and frivolities dates from the fourth century. Until recently the Lenten season has been observed only by the Greek, Latin, Anglican and Lutheran churches. All Evangelical bodies of our day are beginning to recognize the propriety of setting apart a certain portion of the year as a time for special devotion to the things of the higher life.

The quaint old English poet, Robert Herrick, tells us that the true observance of Lent does not consist in a downcast mien and penitential garb; not in starving the body, but in disciplining the soul; not in vain pretence of piety, but in acts of love and charity. He says:

"To show a heart grief rent,
To starve thy sin, not bin,
This is to keep thy Lent."

OH HEAR YE THE TOCSIN!

Ye men of the Westland, where wide rolling prairies
Expand in the freedom your sires loved so well,
And ye of the Eastland, where white crested billows
The spirit of liberty bear on each swell,
Awake to your duty—let none be a traitor—
Arise now or never, be honest and brave;
The cause of our country is nobler and greater Than the schemes of a sect or the claims of a knave.

O hear ye the tocsin resound in the valley,
Away down the valley where Canada rules,
Unfurl our broad standard, be ready and rally
Around equal rights and our national schools.

O what is this craftsman that now seeks to cleave us,
And advocates law against national ties?
'Tis he whom we trusted who now undeceives us
And pleads for a sect while the state he denies.
Beware! do not tamper. We're building a nation
Not of sectional slaves but of patriots bold,
Who equal rights cherish and never will falter
Till the wish of their hearts with their eyes they behold.

O hear ye the tocsin resound in the valley,
Away down the valley where Canada rules,
Unfurl our broad standard, be ready and rally
Around equal rights and our national schools.

From ocean to ocean, dear Canada, flourish!
Thy children together thy triumph shall sing,
And true loyal subjects thy youth will admonish
To fear the Creator and honor the King.
The serfdom of party we'll banish and never Shall sect or a church dare invade our domain;
Nor shall a time-server encnain us forever,
For a phalanx of freemen the state will maintain.

O hear ye the tocsin resound in the valley,
Away down the valley where Canada rules,
Unfurl our broad standard, be ready and rally
Around equal rights and our national schools.

FORTUNES ARE BEING MADE IN KANSAS OIL

Here's a fortune for you. Not 10% but 100% and no risk of loss. Giant of the Oil Fields.

The Midland Oil and Gas Company

has over 180 acres of oil land and has put down 10 wells, so the land is proved up. An adjoining additional 80 was secured yesterday, making over 260 acres all in the proven belt. Just read this:

The U. S. report on the oil industry places the average daily production of Pennsylvania wells at only one-half a barrel each per day. The Midland wells are pumping

Sixty Barrels a Day Each.

The pumping plant has just been started and this is the surprising result. Nothing like it in the world. The officers and directors of this company are bank men and do not believe in debts, so the company is free from debt. They have nearly $20,000 in cash and bills receivable in the treasury and everything paid for—property, wells, pumping plant, oil tanks, well cleaning machine and everything connected with the company. Have two drilling rigs working night and day sinking wells. Have abundance of gas, which runs the drills and pumping plant, so it only costs about $5.00 a day to produce and market the oil.

The Company has about 33 per cent of its stock in the treasury as a reserve.

For a short time the Company will sell a little more of its stock at only

7½ CTS. A SHARE

Buy all you can raise money to pay for.

We could talk all day about it and not cover all the strong points. But as the company has this grand property paid for, there is only one side to it, and that is profit. From the Kansas City Journal, Feb. 26, 1905.

There is perhaps no people in the same amount of territory in the world who have increased in wealth so rapidly. Everybody is prosperous. Many once poor and hard working families have become immensely wealthy.

Hudge Hale, an old Frisco conductor, has become a millionaire off of oil. He got in the game early. Now he has money as well as oil and gas to burn.

Fred Hetrick, a farmer living near Chanute, had a hard time for years making both ends meet. Life was a hard proposition with him. His royalties now reach $1,000 a month and he is living on easy street.

Joe Heim, of the Kansas City brewery, took a flyer in oil leases. He first put in $500 and refused $12,000 for his investment. Later he put in a lot more money in gas and oil lands and is now figuring high.

George E. Work, the Chicago clothier, took some acres of land near Chanute for a debt a customer owed him. Work's partner refused to stand for the deal. So Work kept the land himself. He has since refused $50,000 for his holdings.

These are a few samples. Hundreds of farmers have become independently rich off their oil royalties, and hundreds of other men have made big money producing oil.

This Kansas oil bearing sand is like the Pennsylvania sand; wells will produce oil for fifty years.

Can give bank references, and dozens from people who have personally examined this great property.

Wm. H. Patterson, of Saginaw, Mich., relates his experience: "I do not like notoriety and especially of this kind, but I feel I owe this much to Drs. K. & K. for the great good they have done me. I had a serious blood disease when 24 years of age. The skin and blood symptoms gradually developed. Pimples and ulcers formed, running sores broke out, hair became loose, pains in the bones and joints, dyspeptic stomach, foul breath, itchy skin, etc. It is needless for me to say I tried doctors. I grew to hate the looks of one. I visited Hot Springs twice for four months each time. It helped me temporarily, but in six months after returning home I was as bad as ever. Finally a Doctor friend of mine advised me to see Drs. Kennedy & Kergan. He said he had known of them for over 10 years, and as they make a specialty of these diseases and treated the worst cases by the wonderful they ought to be expert in curing them. I was afraid of advertising doctors, but I took his advice. They agreed to treat me under a guarantee of no pay. I investigated their financial standing and found they were perfectly responsible, so I commenced the new method Treatment. The eruptions disappeared in two weeks, the bone pains in four weeks and in four months I was entirely cured. Yes, sir, I can recommend the New Method Treatment for Blood and Skin Diseases."

We own a monopoly of the water right privileges in the Thunder Mountain mining district, State of Idaho, U.S.A.; seven water rights in all; one developed and in use. The property of the Company consists of over 1400 acres, with plenty of timber for building and mining purposes, a saw mill fully equipped and in operation, a 10-stamp mill now on its way from the R. R. Station to the property, and 40 additional stamps to be purchased at once and installed during the coming summer. This is the largest and most favorably situated property in the district. Some of the tunnels have been driven over 400 ft., cross-cutting many dikes, demonstrating that we have an inexhaustible body of ore. The ore bodies are sampled by an assayer every 10 ft., and assays run from 40c. to $800 per ton. The ore is free milling, and can be mined and milled for about $1.00 per ton.

This Company has had a phenomenal growth, and "The Thunder Mountain Prospector," published at Roosevelt, Idaho, where the property is located, states that this Company is three times as large as any other Company operating in the district. 20 men at work on the property. Over $60,000 worth of stock sold within the last 90 days. Only 100,000 shares more to be sold at 50c. per share. You cannot afford to miss this opportunity; investigate at once.

WHAT PAPAL ABLEGATE WANTS

The Changes Which are Proposed by Mgr Sbarretti

Winnipeg, Man., April 7. — The Manitoba school law as it stands provides than in any school in towns and cities with 40 or more Roman Catholic children and in any school in villages or small districts with twenty-five or more Roman Catholic children, the trustees on petition of the parents, may employ a duly certificated Roman Catholic teacher in each school. In any school in towns and cities with forty or more non-Roman Catholic children, and in any school in villages or small districts with twenty-five or more non-Roman Catholic children, the trustees shall upon petition of the parents, employ at least one duly certificated non-Roman Catholic teacher. The law also provides for the allotment of days for giving religious instruction to Catholic and non-Catholic children where the second room accommodation does not permit of the pupils being placed in separate rooms for religious instruction, but the law expressly declares—"No separation of pupils by religious denominations shall take place during the secular school work."

By comparing the above with the Sbarretti memorandum, it will be seen that the terms of the memorandum would contemplate a reduction in the numbers from forty to thirty and from twenty-five to fifteen respectively, and would also contemplate separate accommodation as well as separate teachers for the Roman Catholic and non-Roman Catholic children respectively.

KOREAN PRINCE IN MONTREAL

Distinguished Foreigner Visits Canada on His Way to Washington

Montreal, April 7.—A distinguished visitor passed through the city on his way from the Far East to Washington, in the person of Prince Yee, of Korea.

The Prince is the first of the nobility of that kingdom who has ever set foot on Canadian soil, and he expressed himself to a reporter as delighted with his trip across the continent.

The Prince is just returning from a special trip to Korea, whither he went to look after his interests as a result of the war. He has, however, been in the United States for several years in pursuit of an education.

The Prince, who is about twenty-five years of age, and who was handsomely attired, bore an air of distinction which at once singled him out from the other passengers when he alighted at the Windsor street station, last evening, after the arrival of the transcontinental train.

He was particularly anxious to maintain his incognito, and with that object in view, was travelling with almost unostentatious simplicity. Moreover, the Prince and his secretary, E. Hahn, had sealed any trace of his identity at the train by a lavish distribution of tips to those to whom it was necessary to divulge their personages.

Having learned the Prince's station definitely, the reporter had a short chat with the distinguished visitor, but he refused absolutely to discuss the effect of the war upon his kingdom.

BROCKVILLE'S NEW INDUSTRY

Factory for Manufacture of Gasoline Yachts to be Started

Brockville, April 7.—Brockville is to have another industry. To meet the growing demand for gasoline yachts on the St. Lawrence River, capitalists have subscribed $40,000 to organize the St. Lawrence Engine Co., which will turn out yachts of all kinds in the small class. The provisional directors are W. H. Comstock, R. H. Smart, H. W. Going, and C.A. McNaughton. A site has been secured for the factory on the river front, and operations will commence shortly. The company will seek incorporation from the Ontario Government.

MRS MAYBRICK'S PLEA

Asks State Department to Intercede With Great Britain—Wants to Die

Washington, April 7.—Mrs. Maybrick, with her counsel, called at the State Department to-day and had a long conference with Acting Secretary Adee for the purpose of submitting her claim that the British Government should grant her a pardon or place her case in such a shape that her citizenship may be restored. She desires to initiate litigation which as a convict she cannot do in this country.

Mrs. Maybrick herself explained the legal aspect and made a clear and able plea. No answer was given, but it is believed that the matter will be called to the attention of the British Government.

WHAT WIRELESS IS—WHY IT WORKS

(This is the third of four chapters dealing with this most important scientific phenomenon.)

Synopsis of preceding chapters. Wireless telegraphy was made possible through the discovery that the air was charged with electricity, but which was moving about with no certain direction. Signor Marconi was the first to harness this strange force and make it do his bidding, and this he has done through the medium of instruments which are as simple as the telegraph instrument, and which involve no wires with the attendant expense of putting up and maintaining the same. The instruments make it possible to guide the current in the air so as to make it carry the message at the will of the sender to the receiving station, where it may be read as easily as a letter.

CHAPTER III.

We have seen, in the previous chapters, how simple is the provision of Nature which makes it possible for the electricity in the air to carry the wireless message. Then we have seen how simple in principle are the instruments [illegible] and for better understanding, we will trace the course of an actual message.

The coming Summer will see new Marconi stations built at Halifax, N.S., and at Whittle Rocks, Labrador. A message may be sent from Halifax to Whittle Rocks. This message is handed to the sending operator at Halifax. Through the apparatus on the table before him, a current of electricity is passing from the dynamo, in an adjoining room, through the instrument on the table, and back to the dynamo. Upon receiving the message, he throws a small switch, which changes the course of the current, so that it passes up the wire outside of the station instead of back to the dynamo. The sending operator alternately presses down and releases a lever. Brilliant flashes of electricity jump between two brass rods, protruding across the front of the sending instrument every time that the lever is depressed, and the circuit completed. This is the instrument, previously referred to, which snaps the message off the wire like the snap of a whip and which adds to the distinct spacing between the dots and dashes. The operator varies the length of time that he keeps the lever depressed, and in that way makes long or short signals or dashes and dots which are the telegrapher's signs, equivalent to the letters of the alphabet.

In the receiving station at Whittle Rocks, another operator hears a click and knows that the lever on his machine has merely put a current to passing through it, and that probably a message is coming. He hears the signal call of his station, and opening a lever on the adjoining apparatus, acknowledges his call. As the dots and dashes roll off without interruption, he translates each combination into the letter which they represent, and the message is written down.

If we could have been at Whittle Rocks when the message was received, or at the Halifax office when the reply was recorded, we might have seen another little instrument doing its work at the same time the receiving lever was clicking off the dots and dashes. We would have noticed a little wheel at one side of the receiving apparatus moving up and down very slightly, and exactly as moved the lever of the receiving apparatus which clicked off the message. We would have found that the edge of the wheel was covered with ink, and that every time it was depressed, it made a mark on a paper tape running under it. These marks were short or long, like dots and dashes, and were duplicates of the dots and dashes made by the big lever. This is the automatic receiver, known as the Wheatstone recorder, that records all messages passing through the receiving instrument. Thus, we would realize that the system had been so thoroughly developed, that every possible provision had been made to guard against mistakes in the transmission of a message. Of course, it takes time to work out all the details of such instruments, but the progress already made proves that Signor Marconi has mastered the hardest part of the problem, and that future development will go forward by leaps and bounds.

(The final chapter, and by far the most interesting of the series, will appear in this paper one week from today. Do not miss it.)

GOVERNMENT ENDORSEMENT

MARCONI WIRELESS TELEGRAPH SYSTEM

O. G. V. Spain, Commander of the Canadian Marine Service, has made his report to the Deputy Minister of Marine and Fisheries, at Ottawa. In that part of the report which deals with the subject of Wireless Telegraphy, there is nothing but favorable comment for the Marconi system, as it is installed in the several stations along the St. Lawrence Gulf and River. Among the many [illegible] which he makes, the following are synopsised and are worth serious consideration as they come from a disinterested source, from a government official thoroughly qualified to express an opinion and from a shrewd observer who is reporting his conclusions from practical tests and indisputable data. He says in part:

(1.) All the stations installed have given a satisfactory service and a large number of messages are passing between the stations and ships regularly.

(2.) All the stations are reporting ships and shipping intelligence to Lloyd's agent at Quebec.

(3.) In many instances vessels have been in communication with Marconi shore stations when enveloped in thick fog, and have found the wireless system an invaluable supplementary aid to the existing fog signal service.

(4.) News of current events furnished to all steamers has proved a boon to passengers and is increasing the popularity of the St. Lawrence route for travellers.

(5.) The important aid to navigation rendered by the Dominion Government in the matter of wireless telegraphy has been greatly appreciated by the Shipping Federation and shipping interests in general.

(6.) The Government has decided to increase the power of the St. Lawrence stations, and to add new stations, so that intercommunication may be had by means of the Marconi system from Fame Point to Belle Isle or Cape Ray. The enormous advantage justifies this step on the part of the Government, because the captain of a steamer will then be able to know just the weather conditions prevailing along the entire St. Lawrence a few hours after leaving Quebec, and can direct his course accordingly.

A more favorable criticism of

would be hard to find. It not only unqualifiedly credits the Company with a great success up to the present time, but it indicates the confidence which the Government has in the future success of the Company. It goes further, and indicates that the Government will continue to lend its aid until a complete circuit of stations to meet all possible demands shall have been installed. It tells of the favorable impression which the service has made upon private shippers and the travelling public as well as the Government. These endorsements from every conceivable source could not have been won if the Company and the system upon which it works were not a complete and unparalleled success.

THE SUCCESS IS NOT SENTIMENTAL, BUT PRACTICAL

and it will mean a steadily increasing revenue for the Company. That revenue will shortly exceed the needs of the Company, and then it will be distributed among those who are stockholders therein. Even before there is a division of the profits annually, there will be an increase in the value of the stock by investors looking for a share of the dividends to be declared. But the shrewdest investor of all is the one who purchases the stock now and shares in the first and every subsequent advance in the stock as well as in the profits. We cannot begin to tell you even a small part of the many things which the company has done, is going to do, and which make its future as attractive as that of the most profitable enterprise in the history of the world of finance. Write for further particulars, but REMEMBER THAT AN INVESTMENT AT THIS TIME WILL BE AT THE LOWEST PRICE WHICH THE STOCK WILL SEE, and that this opportunity will not long be before you. Therefore INVEST now. You can now buy any amount of stock from one share to two hundred shares, and at $5 each. DON'T WAIT. If you are in Montreal, call at our office in the Canada Life Building and see a demonstration of how the Marconi system works, for the instruments for the purpose are installed there.

A RARE OPPORTUNITY

To obtain a gilt edge investment in a great gold mining enterprise, developing a rich mineral area in an undeveloped mineral empire in Northwestern Colorado.

OFFERING OF 150,000 SHARES OF TREASURY STOCK OF THE

UNITED STATES GOLD CORPORATION

For the purpose of carrying out plans necessary to place the property on a dividend basis

The Board of Directors of the United States Gold Corporation estimate that the business of this company can be placed upon a paying and dividend basis, by the completion of the Klondyke tunnel a distance of 700 feet and by the construction of a modern concentration mill of not less than twenty-five tons capacity per day on the property for the treatment of the great bodies of low grade ore, now awaiting treatment. To provide means for the execution of these plans, the Directors of this Company now offer for sale One Hundred and Fifty Thousand shares of Treasury Stock at the nominal price of 15 cents per share for cash.

For the information of investors the Company make the following statement of what a certificate of its stock represents.

Assets and Financial Condition of the United States Gold Corporation

Careful estimates made by the officers and scientific and practical mill men prove to the satisfaction of this company, that the proceeds from the present treasury stock offering will place the property on a paying basis and the further sale of treasury stock will be withdrawn from the market, leaving a treasury reserve fund of over 600,000 shares.

This great enterprise has passed the prospect stage and upon the completion of our tunnel about June 1st, 1905 the energies of the Company will be entirely devoted to production shipment and treatment of its vast tonnage of ore developed through the Klondyke tunnel estimated at 1000 tons per day.

The officers of this Company court rigid investigation by prospective investors of its properties and management.

Persons desiring stock should mail their application to the United States Gold Corporation at Boulder, Colorado, together with draft for amount of shares desired at 15c. per share, for which a certificate of stock will be issued and sent subscriber by return mail. Do not delay sending application as treasury stock will be taken off the market after this offering is subscribed.

Lung, Throat and Catarrhal Troubles

MARVELLOUS DISCOVERY THAT HAS DELIGHTED ALL CANADA BY ITS PROMPT CURES

The method that has proved successful through its enormous advantages of being pleasant and free from the danger of creating the drug habit employs dry air as the carrying agent.

By this method every part of the breathing apparatus is bathed by a medicated air. Germs which excite the trouble are immediately destroyed. Sore and tender spots are healed and the congested surfaces restored to normal condition.

This method of treatment is employed in Catarrhozone, and has obtained a footing never attained by any other remedy for the many diseases affecting the respiratory tract.

Catarrhozone is fragrant, healing, balmic, pleasant as the air of the pine woods and more active as a healing agent than anything hitherto discovered. It contains neither cocaine nor any of these irritating substances which really increase the congestion and add to the difficulty, instead of curing as Catarrhozone so quickly does.

MRS. BINY BROWN, of Tenecape, N.S., had lung trouble and catarrh. She took cough mixtures but they made her sick. Then she used an atomizer, but after resorting without benefit to poultices and numerous other remedies, she tried Catarrhozone. "I used Catarrhozone Inhaler," she writes, "five minutes every hour, and soon recognized it was going to cure. I could feel the soothing medicated air spreading through the air passages of the throat, and it touched the sore spots in the lungs that other remedies failed to reach. Catarrhozone seemed to go just where it was needed most, and soon put a stop to my cough. It restored me to perfect health, and I am convinced that no cough, cold or catarrh can exist where Catarrhozone is used."

The complete Catarrhozone outfit contains a large bottle of inhaler, sufficient to keep recharging the inhaler for two months. It costs $1.00 and is guaranteed to cure; samples also 25c. Sold by all druggists or sent direct to your home by mail if price is forwarded to N. C. Polson & Co., Kingston, Ont., or Hartford, Conn., U.S.A.

Enforce the Law

In the debate on the address in reply to the speech from the throne, Premier Whitney declared that it was the intention of his Government to enforce the license act, whether the liquor people or the temperance people were pleased or not. If Mr. Whitney keeps this promise the end of the prohibition question in Ontario would appear to be in sight. A good license law honestly enforced is an effective cure for the greater proportion of the evils attending the sale of intoxicants. If there is any complaint made after this by the temperance people of Peterborough, the hotel men will not have to search beyond their own thresholds to find the cause. The license law, as now framed, when properly administered, will do away with any need for that impracticable "Will of the wisp," called Prohibition.

He was working at a dough mixer in his bake shop, when his right hand was caught in the cogs of the machine, his fingers being badly bruised. Had not the belt come off Mr. Mann would not have escaped so easily.

—The Tweed News says; Napanee has passed a by-law granting aid to a canning factory to be erected by Mr. W. A. Carson, of Belleville. The vote was 475 for and one against. This one was possibly a relation of the Peterborough man who opposes a grant to the Collegiate Institute.

—Improvements are being made in the old time Post Office building, corner of George and Brock streets. Mr. Westlake, assisted by Mr. Fleetwood, late with Mr. J. J. Howden, are putting in several up to date marble top tables and shelving for the new butcher shop in that store, formerly occupied as a grocery by W. H. Tuck.

—News must travel on leaden wings (Not necessarily bull-type) to Norwood. In the Norwood Register of April 6th, 1905, we read that; "Rev. H. B. A. Ketchen, a graduate of Knox College, has accepted a call to become assistant pastor of St. Paul's Presbyterian church, Peterborough," Hamilton papers please do not copy.

THE SEASON O'ER.

Peterborough Ice is Garnered for This Summer.

Now in the gentle spring time, Mr. Householder's thoughts recall a welcome visitor during the hot weather, the ice-man. The ice harvest in Peterborough is a heavy, and hard one to reap. People who get their block of ice, brought two or three times a week, and deposited in their refrigerators, little consider how every pound of the cold commodity means a large expense in time, muscle and money. The operation of gathering this town's ice harvest involves work for a small army of men and horses.

Last winter the excessive fall of snow involved great difficulty in first scraping the surface of the frozen lake, and then the teamning was very hard. The ice stored last winter was of excellent quality, being unusually sound and clear, and averaging about 28 inches in thickness. This great depth of ice makes hauling, both out of the water, and placing in the store house, very heavy labor. After the snow and half congealed snow on the top is scraped off, ice ploughs drawn by teams of horses cut through to a depth of about 11 inches, when the remaining thickness is broken by a smart blow. There was about 2 1-2 feet of snow overlying the ice on the Little Lake. Mr. T. Reidill, one of our largest dealers in ice, commenced operations about the 1st of January, and had a large staff of men and horses constantly at work until the middle of March. This one dealer alone has stored away about 42,000 blocks of ice weighing on an average, 300 pounds each, or in other words about 7,560 tons. He tells us that there is quite a collection of all kinds of tools now on the bottom of Little Lake, awaiting a finder in some far off period in the future when the lake dries up.

He, like other dealers is forced to establish two store-houses, one in town and one in Ashburnham to facilitate handling of their goods. The actual season for delivery depends upon the weather; as soon as it sets in good and warm, the ice carts appear. Of course there are some customers, mainly hotels, that require a year long service. We understand owing to various causes, mainly the increased cost of handling last year, higher wages, shorter hours, and the past history of ice dealers in Peterborough, most of whom have gone to the wall, that there will be a slight raise in the price of ice this coming season, about 10 per cent.

Mr. Reidill informed a representative of this journal that there will be no fear of an ice-famine this season, so large an amount being stored.

VERY TRYING TO WOMEN

Are the Peculiar Ills Brought on by Catarrh of the Pelvic Organs.

(Pe-ru-na is a Tonic Especially Adapted to Their Peculiar Diseases.)

Catarrh is a very frequent cause of that class of diseases popularly known as female weakness. Catarrh of the pelvic organs produces such a variety of disagreeable and irritating symptoms that many people—in fact, the majority of people—have no idea that they are caused by catarrh.

A great proportion of women have some catarrhal weakness which has been called by the various doctors she has consulted by as many different names. These women have been treated and have taken medicines, with no relief, simply because these medicines are not adapted to catarrh. It is through a mistaken notion as to the real nature of the diseases that these medicines have been recommended to them.

If all the women who are suffering with any form of female weakness would write to Dr. Hartman, Columbus, Ohio, and give him a complete description of their symptoms and the peculiarities of their troubles, he will immediately reply, with complete directions for treatment, free of charge.

"Health and Beauty," a book written especially for women, sent free by Dr. Hartman, Columbus, Ohio.

Miss Alice Dressler, of No. 1313 North Bryant Ave., Minneapolis, Minn., writes as follows concerning Peruna:

"I was suffering from catarrh of the throat and head. One of my college friends, who was visiting me, asked me to try Peruna and I did so and found it all and more than I had expected. It not only cured me of the catarrh, but restored me to perfect health."—Alice Dressler.

Miss Mamie Groth, Platteville, Wis., writes:

"I have for several years suffered with frequent backache and would for several days have splitting headaches. Several of my friends advised me to take Peruna and I asked my physician what he thought of it. He recommended it and so I took it and am entirely without pain of any kind now."—Mamie Groth.

In a recent letter from No. 2 Grant Ave., Denver, Col., Mrs. Ida L. Gregory writes:

"Some six years ago my husband suffered with nervous prostration, and advising with a friendly druggist he brought home a bottle of Peruna. His health was restored from its use, his appetite was increased and restful sleep came to him."—Ida L. Gregory.

Miss Florence Murphy, No. 2703 Second Ave., Seattle, Wash., writes:

"I suffered for over a year with female trouble, and although I tried several physicians none of them seemed to be able to help me permanently.

"It only took a little over three bottles of Peruna to make me well and strong. I never have backache, headache or bearing down pains any more."—Florence Murphy.

Mrs. Louise Westbrook, No. 9 East Columbia St., Detroit, Mich., Secretary of the West Side Lotus Club, writes:

"For several years I suffered with leucorrhœa and painful menstruation, which was followed by general debility, until I was but a wreck of myself. Thanks to Peruna I am a well woman to-day."—Louise Westbrook.

Miss Jessiemene Westland, No. 767 Beaubien Ave., Detroit, Mich., District Deputy of Detroit Independent Order of Good Templars, writes as follows:

"Peruna has been a blessing to me and gladly do I indorse it. For two years I suffered with catarrh of the stomach. I lost flesh and grew thin and emaciated, nervous and exhausted, so that I could neither work or enjoy life. I began taking Peruna and can now eat and enjoy everything I eat. I have been well over a year now."—Miss Jessiemene Westland.

There is no disputing the fact that man's heart is often reached through the stomach. Happy the housewife who can please her husband's appetite with well cooked food for the table. Many a man is grouchy, ugly, nervous, suffering from distress after eating, heart palpitation, and all through the overworked stomach.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, which helps the digestion of food in the stomach, assists the blood in taking up the proper elements from the food, helps the liver into activity, thereby throwing out the poisons in the blood and vitalizing the whole system. This assimilation helps in the oxidation of the red blood corpuscles, the poisons in the system are eliminated, the heart gets the right kind of blood and the person feels invigorated and stronger in consequence. As a tissue builder it is far preferable to cod liver oil or any alcoholic compounds or tonics, because it gives the blood and the tissues the food elements they require and maintains a person's nutrition by enabling him to eat, retain, digest and assimilate nutritious food. It overcomes the gastric irritability and symptoms of indigestion. Because of the good effects from using Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery upon nutrition and the building up of the tissues, catarrh, consumption, weakness or debility and symptoms of fever, night-sweats, headaches, etc., disappear.

"I believe that it is generally conceded that Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is the best medicine for a man to take suffering from indigestion, kidney trouble, or any of the afflictions resulting from overwork or neglecting a cold," writes J. Russell Hill, of 19 Barrie Street, Kingston, Ont. Recording Secretary Imperial Knights' Federation League of Kingston. "I have used it several times during the past few years and have always found that it gave me immediate relief. It overcomes uric acid in the system, due to improper digestion, relieves the kidneys from congestion, drives headache and backache away, induces appetite and tones up the general system. I consider it a fine remedy for young or old men, sure to build up a run-down condition of the system."

With St. Petersburg Admiralty Satisfied That Fleet is in Fighting Trim, Russia Now Awaits Outcome of the Dying Effort.

St. Petersburg, April 9.—The Admiralty has just received official advices from Singapore confirming the arrival of Rojestvensky's squadron.

Washington, April 9.—The American consul at Singapore cables the State Department that the Russian Baltic squadron was seen passing that port going eastward this morning. There were about 17 vessels in line.

Hongkong, April 9.—In consequence of appearance of a fleet in the Straits of Malacca the China squadron is preparing to put to sea. The armored cruiser Sutlej leaves to-day for Singapore and the first-class battleship Ocean and a cruiser will follow.

FROM PENANG.

Penang, West Coast of Malay Peninsula, April 9.—Two steamers that have arrived at Penang report sighting a large Russian fleet in the Straits of Malacca. It included 25 transports, and was steering toward Singapore.

The steamer Kumsang reports having sighted 12 cruisers, presumably Japanese, steaming some distance ahead, evidently a Japanese scouting squadron.

There is much excitement here and in Singapore over the anticipation of an engagement in Malayan waters.

RELIGIOUS STRIFE MAY BE SERIOUS

Montreal Star Thinks it May Force Annexation

TWO CAMPS ARE FORMING

The Country is now Seething in Race and Creed War

Montreal, April 10.—The Star, in a leading article, says:

It can hardly be said that Mr. Rogers' supplementary statement contributes as much light as heat to the Sharretti affair; and heat is a contribution for which there is no crying need. As for our part, we sympathize with Manitoba in its legitimate ambition to extend its boundaries and to become more than a "postage stamp" on the map of the Dominion. Whatever the influences which prevented an extension to the West—and there is no reason to believe that they were largely religious—they sought to serve a section at the expense of the nation.

It is not in the natural interest that there should be two enormous provinces in the West, with a diminutive province as the gateway. That an extension north should be given as a sort of "consolation prize," can hardly be denied by any one, though it must not be forgotten that it can never be an equivalent for the extension into the populous West which Manitoba legitimately claimed.

But with the effort made in some quarters to bring on a religious civil war over these interwoven Western questions, we have not the slightest sympathy. As "Ralph Connor" said last night, to the Young Men's Christian Association, the busy men of the West hesitate "to stir up that monster, that demon, race strife;" and, that being true, what right have we of the East to force an disastrous a quarrel upon them? The question of whether or not the educational clauses as they are now in the Autonomy bills, should become law, can be discussed with a sober sense of the gravity of the subject and the dangers that surround it. We can avoid inflammatory offshoots of the debate, instead—as it the short-sighted and unpatriotic custom in some quarters—eagerly seeking out and emphasizing them.

With all seriousness, we believe that a greater matter than the school question is at stake; and that is the future of Canada as a British Colony. Our people are composed—shall we say, by the will of Providence—of two races and two religions, having regard only to the larger divisions. We must dwell together in mutual harmony and toleration if we are to dwell together at all in the peace which is the only possible condition productive of progress and prosperity. Neither race and neither religion can wholly have its way. We must give and take. No one knew this better, having learned it through years of bitter experience, than the Fathers of Confederation. Confederation itself was the child of conciliation and compromise. If the finest group of patriots whom Canada has yet produced had not then come together and sunk their individual predilections in the common interest, we would never have had a Dominion of Canada. What we would have had, in all probability, would have been a northern tier of States in the American Union.

Must if the old quarrel is to come up—if the old intense religious consciousness are again to be excited into activity—it is impossible to say that this danger has wholly passed. Every day that the controversy, which is now raging over purely religious differences, lasts, we can see the two camps into which our people are divided becoming more distinct and more perilously moved by mutual suspicion and distrust. They tell us from Toronto that already the effect of this controversy has been to make Roman Catholic citizens, who have been quietly sending their children to the Public schools, submit they may have to withdraw them and again send them to the Separate school, which is coming under fire. Nothing solidifies a race a religion or a party, like attack.

Bring back to us the old conditions; and what warrant have we to assume that we will not get the old results? In the sixties we saw two provinces facing each other at Ottawa, and the wheels of Government stopped. Sir John Macdonald, that master of conciliation, was there; but he was powerless. Nothing but the patriotism of the men on both sides—of George Brown and Sir George Cartier, as well as Sir John Macdonald and Sir A. T. Galt—saved the situation. But the presence of other Canadian provinces gave them an opportunity which does not now exist. As we said yesterday, there is no larger area today in which we can drown our troubles except the American Union. We may easily find ourselves, then, with the old disease, but with no possible remedy short of suicide.

A PECULIAR CIRCUMSTANCE

Sir Wilfrid Laurier and the Papal Delegate

Toronto, April 10.—The Mail and Empire's Ottawa correspondent says: There has been considerable gossip in the lobbies about Mgr. Sbarretti's statement to the press. His Excellency, since Sunday, had repeatedly refused to make a statement to the newspaper representatives, and it was therefore somewhat of a surprise when it was rumored in the precincts of the House on Wednesday night that an interview would shortly be forthcoming. It is now said that Sir Wilfrid Laurier, after 10 o'clock on Wednesday night, left the House of Commons, called a cab, and drove out to the Papal Delegate's residence. Whether this be true or not, it is a well known fact that some time after midnight, Mr. Alex. Johnston, member for South Cape Breton, a staunch adherent of the Roman See, and one of the ministerial whips, handed Mgr. Sbarretti's statement to the press representatives. The query is, how did this document get into Mr. Johnston's possession?"

THE TRUE REASON

(To the Editor of The Times.)

Sir,—I take exception to your statement that the Papal Delegate is the man the Tories have in their eye in their attacks on the Autonomy Bill. It is Sir Wilfrid Laurier, and no one else. As an election cry it is intended to last out the present Parliamentary term.

FAIR PLAY.

We do not suppose that it will be denied that Manitoba had a Separate school system. We do not think it will be denied that that system was abolished. It is a matter of history that the abolition of the Separate schools in Manitoba has been, and remains, distasteful to the Roman Catholic clergy. Archbishop Langevin has frequently made that fact become quite apparent. It will not be denied that Manitoba is a small Province. We do not think that even The Globe will deny that it would be better for the people of Manitoba, and the people of Canada, were Manitoba made very much larger. Nobody will deny that there was plenty of room for the enlargement of the little Province; that it could have been included in the eastern Province. And we think that it will be generally admitted that the 'alleged niggardly treatment" of Manitoba was really niggardly treatment.

And why?

There has been no other adequate reason given than the determination of Quebec to punish Manitoba for abolishing the Quebec idea.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier's particular newspaper has stated that Manitoba is being punished for her sin against the Quebec idea. Other French papers have said the same; the Papal delegate at Ottawa offered to add territory to the north end of Manitoba if that Province would reintroduce the Quebec idea. Everything points to Quebec as the author of the scheme to render Manitoba as harmless as possible—harmless to the Separate school system. Ontario doesn't want to see Manitoba a little patch on the map. Neither does Nova Scotia nor New Brunswick, nor Prince Edward Island, nor British Columbia. Nobody has a grudge against Manitoba but the Quebec Separate school people.

Fares are too High

Port Hope, April 10.—At the Quarterly meeting of the Port Hope Board of Trade last night the question of passenger rates on the Grand Trunk Railway was considered. From Port Hope to Toronto the rate is three and one-third cents per mile, whereas on other parts of the line the rate is three cents. A committee was appointed to inaugurate a strong agitation against this discrimination and the aid of the Railway Commission will be invoked.

A Grave Situation

The presence of an agent of Rome in Ottawa, is of itself not reassuring. There are no legitimate reasons for the maintenance of such an office. Catholics in this country enjoy the full [illegible] are fully represented in Parliament, in the Government, in the courts and in positions of trust of all kinds. If the minority suffer injustice anywhere there are ample means of bringing it before a sympathetic audience. A foreigner cannot understand the position of Catholics here, as well as a citizen of Canada. But the Papal Delegate has been consulted in regard to the Autonomy Bills, or the boundary of Manitoba, is a charge too grave to be lightly passed over. Those who take part in such proceedings have no right to cry of bigotry or intolerance. They are the enemies of toleration, the breeders of strife; by their actions they silence or discourage the champions of peace and good will.

Only 500 Survive In A Town of Over 5,000.

Awful Loss of Life at Kangra, While Other Villages Also Are Completely Wrecked--Many People Are Still Imprisoned--Shocks Still Continue.

Calcutta, April 10.—Telegraphic communication with Dharmsala has been restored.

The latest accounts show that the earthquake was even more disastrous than at first believed. Of a total population of nearly 5,000 in the Town of Kangra, it is believed that old 500 are left alive. Many of these have fled. Many people are still imprisoned in the ruins.

Dharmsala, Kangra, Palanpur, Dhwan and all the neighboring villages were completely wrecked. Scarcely a building remains standing.

Not much damage was done at Hariput, Deragopipur, Nadaun or Hamirpur, but Sujanpur, 25 miles from Amritsar and having a population of about 6,000 souls, is reported to be in ruins.

The shock still continues. There is no news from Kain Valley, but, according to native rumors, a great amount of damage has been done.

Bye-Election in Manitoba.

Will Practically be Made the Test of Public Opinion in the Province Regarding the Mgr. Sbarretti Revelations.

Winnipeg, April 9.—Your correspondent called on Premier Roblin this morning and enquired if there was any truth in the statement published by the Montreal Herald, to the effect that he had made a proposition to the Dominion Government through Mgr. Sbarretti and Archbishop Langevin of St. Boniface, that he would modify the school laws of the province on condition that the school lands, held by the Dominion Government for the Province, be vested in or transferred to the Provincial Government.

"I have read the article," the Premier said, "and wish to give it an explicit, categorical and emphatic denial, in the plainest language possible."

"Will you say anything regarding the treatment Manitoba is getting from the Dominion regarding boundary extension?" was asked.

"No, not at present. But I shall take an opportunity in addressing the electors of Mountain at Baldur on April 14 to give my views on this subject."

In referring to the coming meeting at Baldur, Premier Roblin announced that the writ has been issued and signed for the election for the vacant constituency of Mountain with nominations April 20 and polling April 27.

The election will practically be made the test of public opinion in the Province regarding the Sbarretti revelations. The seat was vacated by the resignation of ex-PremierGreenway to contest Lisgar in the late Dominion election. Greenway represented the district without interruption since 1879, always getting good majorities, the last figures being in the 1903 general election, as follows; Greenway, Liberal, 911, McIntyre, Conservative 567, Wilson, Independent 234. The Government candidate will therefore have a formidable task, but the victory will be all the more significant.

K. Eardley-Wilmot, H. C. Wood and the president were appointed a committee to look after the securing of attractions.

The meeting then adjourned.

OBITUARY

Death of Mrs. Josiah Mitchell, 73 Harvey St on Saturday.

At 73 Harvey street, on Saturday morning passed away Jane Evans, wife of Mr. Josiah Mitchell. The deceased had been ill about two months.

The late Mrs. Mitchell was a daughter of the late Andrew Evans, and was born in Cartwright township. Her marriage to Mr. Mitchell was solemnized in Wroxeter. The family afterwards removed to Emily Township, and after residing there for thirty-one years, came to Peterborough in March last. The parents of the deceased lady predeceased her by some years. Two daughters have also been removed by the hand of death within the past few years. Surviving her are her husband and two daughters, Edith and Eva, who reside at home. Four brothers and two sister also survive to mourn her loss.

The funeral will take place from the family residence, 73 Harvey at 10.30 this morning to the Ormonde cemetery. Rev. Dr. Crouther will take the service.

A PROSPEROUS PROVINCE

Most Prosperous Outlook for Island of Ceylon

Montreal, April 10.—Mr. S. Haughton, late Government agent in the North-West Province of Ceylon, is at present in the city, registered at the Carslake.

Mr. Haughton, having retired from the Indian civil service six months ago, before returning to his home in London, England, spent five or six [illegible] ling, and some time in Japan and China.

In conversation with a reporter this morning, Mr. Haughton stated that the native Cingalese and Tamil, of Ceylon, are a most contented and industrious people, and that the country is in a thriving, prosperous condition. The condition of the tea crop upon his leaving the island was admirable.

LINEVITCH READY

Has Succeeded in Concentrating His whole Army

Paris, April 10.—The St. Petersburg correspondent of the Petit Parisien telegraphs that the Russians are now exactly halfway between Mukden and KuangeLangtse, which is the junction of the Manchurian Railroad and the branch running to Kirin. Gen. Linevitch's headquarters are at the railway station at Sounansanku, which is a strong natural position. He has succeeded in concentrating his whole army and has left sufficient force at Kirin to hold that position. The front of the Russian army now extends for only twenty-seven miles. The army is supposed to be in a fit state to meet the Japanese.

The Journal's St. Petersburg correspondent is informed that the new mobilization is actually in progress, although it is being effected secretly, and that train loads of soldiers are leaving daily for Manchuria.

CONGRATULATIONS BURLEIGH!

Burleigh and Anstruther Given Road Grant of $1000

Dr. A. Bell, the popular and efficient clerk of the united townships of Burleigh and Anstruther favored this great family journal with a flying visit last week. The doctor was on his way home from Toronto. He informed us that our local members Messrs. T. E. Bradburn of this riding, and W. Anderson of East Peterborough, have secured a grant for Burleigh's road of $1,000; this will appear in the estimates for 1905. The doctor assures us that our members are alive to the interests of Peterborough county, and are both hustlers after home interests. Any improvement in the highways leading to this town are a direct benefit to our own interests.

SATURDAY'S MARKET

Little Maple Syrup—Hay and Potatoes Plentiful

The largest market in many weeks, disappointed many a lady who took her can or bottle along in the expectation of getting maple syrup cheap, and in plenty. The maple syrup offered was of a good quality, though the supply was not large. The price ranged around $1.50 per gallon. "It is thought, however, that this is about the highest price which it will reach this season, and the prospects are that it will be offered next week in larger quantities and at a lower price." That it will be very scarce, however, as compared with other seasons is certain. The manufacturers in town state that the season is likely to be a very short one.

The good road that now brings even a good word from the most chronic grumbler, and there are one or two such among the farming community, resulted in quite a supply of hay, which brought $9. Pork sold at 9c. and 10c., considerable being offered. Potatoes were also much in evidence at 75c bag. Apples were 60c. On the inside market there was a great profusion of butter and eggs, the former selling at 22c. and 24c., and the latter 14c. and 15c. Chickens were also plentiful at 60c. and 75c. Honey was 10c. lb.

THE CATTLE BY-LAW

A Story Anent the Peterborough Cattle-By-Law

On Tuesday, to-morrow, the citizens of Lakefield, are to vote on a by-law to forbid cattle, etc., running at large in that village. This reminds us of a good story, the characters of which are still alive and citizens of this town.

When Peterborough, as has ever occurred in the history of all towns in Canada, brought up the subject of a cattle by-law, whereby owners of cattle, sheep, pigs and other live stock are forbidden to allow such cattle to run at large in the streets, a heated discussion arose in the Council meeting which was to decide the question. Just before the final vote was taken, a councillor, who at that time ran a leading hotel in town, jumped up and said, "Mr. Mayor before voting on this by-law I rise to a point of information; I want to ask, Mr. Mayor, if in the interpretation of the proposed by-law, are hens "cattle?" "Why," says the then Mayor, "I hardly understand your question, whether hens are cattle or not; what do you mean "Well, Mr. Mayor," answered the councillor. "its just this way, if hens are cattle, I am for the by-law, for just as soon as them tomatoes of mine ripen, those hens of ———'s are over the fence, and a divil a tomato do I have left. If hens are cattle I vote for the by-law'." The by-law carried nem. con.

CHILDREN AFFECTED

By Mother's Food and Drink

Many babes have been launched into life with constitutions weakened by disease taken in with their mother's milk. Mothers cannot be too careful as to the food they use while nursing their babes. The experience of a Kansas City mother is a case in point.

"I was a great coffee drinker from a child, and thought I could not eat a meal without it. But I found at last it was doing me harm. For years I had been troubled with dizziness, spots before my eyes and pain in my heart, to which was added, two years ago, a chronic sour stomach. The baby was born 7 months ago, suffered from sour stomach. She was taking it from me!

"In my distress I consulted a friend of more experience than mine, and she told me to quit coffee, that coffee did not make good milk. I have since ascertained that it really dries up the milk.

"So I quit coffee, and tried tea and at last cocoa. But they did not agree with me. Then I turned to Postum Coffee, with the happiest results. It proved to be the very thing I needed. It not only agreed perfectly with baby and myself, but it increased the flow of my milk. My husband then quit coffee and used Postum, quickly got well of the dyspepsia with which he had been troubled. I no longer suffer from the dizziness, blind spells, pain in my heart or sour stomach. Postum has cured them.

"Now we all drink Postum from my husband to my seven months' old baby. It has proved to be the best hot drink we have ever used. We would not give up Postum for best coffee we ever drank." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

There's a reason.

HEADING FOR FRIENDLY PORT--MAY NOT REACH IT

How London Underwriters Size Up the Naval Situation--Fleets Are Only Thirty Miles Apart---Great Anxiety in St. Petersburg.

London, April 9.—It is taken for granted that Admiral Togo's ships reported to be in the neighborhood of Singapore in the middle of March are still in that vicinity, and the report from Penang that twelve Japanese ships were seen steaming ahead of the Russian warships is interpreted to mean that the former are scouts sent out by Togo to get in touch with the Russians.

The reports about the number of the Russian ships vary but at any rate over thirty-five battleships, cruisers, colliers and torpedo boats have passed the port of Singapore. The underwriters here presume, from the northeasterly course they were steering, that after passing Singapore the Russian ships are attempting to reach the French port of Saigon, Cochin-China. However, it is pointed out that a Japanese squadron of 22 ships is still off Hotsburg light, where it was reported March 14.

The two naval forces were this afternoon only about thirty miles apart and may be in touch at any moment.

ST. PAUL'S ASSISTANT PASTOR

Rev. W. M. Mackay will Succeed Rev. H. B. Ketchen.

—A successor to Rev. H. B. A. Ketchen in the assistant pastorate of St. Paul's Church has been secured in the person of Rev. W. M. Mackay, who graduated from Knox College with honors.

A letter has been received from Mr. Mackay, intimating that he accepts the position offered him by the Pulpit Supply Committee and that he will commence his duties on Sunday, April 23rd, two weeks from to-morrow.

Rev. Mr. Mackay comes to St. Paul's very highly recommended by the professors of Knox University as well as his fellow students. He was here preaching on Sunday, March 26th, and on that occasion created a very favorable impression upon those who heard him. He will, it is believed, prove a worthy successor to the assistant pastors who have preceded him in the office here.

MR. M'PHERSON'S WHEEL

Graceful Recognition of Well Managed Business

The Canada Cycle Motor Company are evidently among the few corporations possessed of soul. As a tangible recognition of the business done by Mr. F. R. J. McPherson, who in handling their make of wheels, thereby directly benefits them, the company have presented him with a handsome wheel of most modern type. It is fitted with Saltz' hygenic spring handle bars, improved mud guards, and several other of the most recent improvements.

Mr. McPherson, though a comparitively young man, is a hustler and disposes of more wheels than many an older man or firm of many years' experience. He has handled bicycles for eight years and his purchases this year are the largest that ever came to Peterborough in one consignment.

ADDITIONAL PHONES

Hustling Policy of the Bell Telephone Company in Peterborough and Elsewhere.

A glance at the appended list of new subscribers to our local telephone system, will show that, with all the vapid talk of local opposition in different towns throughout the country, this splendidly organized and fair dealing company are adding new subscribers, not only daily, but almost hourly to local exchanges and fast connecting up outlying villages with exchanges already in operation and extending a perfect system to country hamlets and roadside farmers. As noted in a recent issue, arrangements are now in course of completion for extensions to Stony Lake, Bensmore and Indian River, as well as other outlying spots. A few of the most recent additions to Peterborough's Exchange are;

A COMING TREAT

Mr. Ellis Ashmead Bartlett, the Great War Correspondent of London Times, to Lecture.

Our readers, and especially those who have followed and are interested in the wonderful panorama of war that was seen by the few war correspondents allowed to accompany the Japanese forces besieging Port Arthur, will be pleased to learn that arrangements have been fully completed to give Peterborough a unique literary and scenic treat.

Mr. Ellis Ashmead Bartlett, the great war correspondent of the London Times, has been induced to visit Peterborough, and will deliver a lecture on Wednesday evening, April 19th, in the opera house.

Mr. Bartlett was one of the few war correspondents fortunate enough to accompany General Nogi's army, during the entire operations before Port Arthur, and entered the captured citadel along with the victorious Japanese soldiers. His lecture will be vividly illustrated by lime-light views of the battles in front of Port Arthur, including several naval actions taken by himself and his brother correspondents.

Mr. Bartlett has been engaged to lecture in several cities of the United States, Peterborough has been fortunate in securing this fluent speaker, who has the additional interest of being an eye-witness of the great struggle for supremacy in the far east. His reputation is world wide. Tickets have been placed at the moderate prices, for such an attraction at 75c. and 50c. A subscription list is now in circulation throughout the town, and those being fortunate enough to secure seats will hear, not only, one of the most polished speakers of the age, but the experience, fully illustrated, of an actual actor in the great war drama now being enacted in the far off theatre of war. Tickets may now be had at the Times Book store. The plan of the opera house will be open in due course of time.

Police Court

OFFICIALS

Chief of Police, C.I. Reed.
Magistrate, D.W. Dumble.

All was peace and quietness on the Otonabee Saturday and Sunday. No court on Saturday and nothing doing in police circles, with the exception of a pow-wow, who applied for accommodation in the Hotel de Carpets, Saturday night. This man evidently appreciates Peterborough's hospitality having recently been released after a term in Castle Nesbitt. It speaks well for both the town and its controlling police force, that with 15,000 inhabitants there was no need for an arrest during 48 hours.

U.S. Colonel Cured of Rheumatism

So Crippled He Couldn't Walk—Absolutely Helpless Till He Took the One Sure Cure.

FERROZONE

Relieved at Once—Cured Permanently—Well Ever Since

Colonel H. M. Ruse, of Edwards, St. Lawrence county, N.Y., is one of the fine old heroes of the Civil war.

"I suffered for several years with rheumatism, and then only with difficulty.

"Rheumatism took complete control of my limbs.

"The suffering was more intense than the hardships on the battlefield.

"When my doctor had done his best I got Ferrozone.

"Then came a quick change.

"Ferrozone gave me comfort at once, eased the pain and took the stiffness out of my muscles.

"I am well to-day. Ferrozone cured me completely. I can jump and run like I did forty years ago."

No matter how long you have suffered Ferrozone will bring you prompt relief. It will increase your strength, renew your vitality, drive out every trace of rheumatic pain. Never known to fail; 50c. per box, or 6 for $2.50, at all medicine dealers, or Polson & Co., Hartford, Conn., U.S.A., and Kingston, Ont.

QUEBEC

The mistaken British gentlemen who arranged things in Canada after the conquest of the French by British troops, left a curse upon this unfortunate country which is growing with its growth, and spreading with the area reaped from the original wilderness, says the Hamilton Spectator. The arrangement made the French-Canadians a peculiar people. And to this day they remain a peculiar people—a foreign nation with mediaeval ideas, set down in the midst of the modern civilization and English language of the continent of North America. Quebec remains a new France, whose progress, unlike that of France, was cut short A century and a half ago and there it remains.

It has been the aim of this peculiar people to govern Canada, and to secure what it wants for itself, by holding the balance of power between the two political parties, and very successful it has been. The politicians of both parties are constantly seeking to placate Quebec—to win the votes of the peculiar people. Politicians of both parties go to Great Britain and there vie each other in lauding the alleged loyalty of the people of Quebec. Canadian poets introduce the fleur de lis into their verse, in company with the rose, thistle and shamrock. Montcalm's name is mentioned in connection with that of Wolfe when reference must be made to the latter. The Canadian Club of Hamilton, which hoists the British flag on the anniversary of every battle in the history of Canada, keeps the flag hidden away on the anniversary of the Plains of Abraham, lest "our French fellow-citizens" might be offended!

In general the Quebec people divide themselves between the two political parties (just now there is a preponderance on the Liberal side, by reason of the fact that that party, in order to gain office, handed the Premiership over to a Frenchman) and, when there is nothing important—to Quebec—in hand the Quebec adherents of the parties squabble along very much as the British people of Canada do. But when a 'Quebec' question comes up party lines are instantly forgotten, and a solid Quebec, aided by English-speaking members of one or the other side of the political parties, looms up, and Quebec has her way.

Just now we have a Quebec proposal to establish a new Quebec in the West, a proposal to spread the curse over an enormous territory; a proposition which, if it succeeds, will materially affect immigration into Canada, and retard progress in no small degree. It is a proposition to start new Provinces handicapped with a "constitution" that deprives them of home rule, and saddles them with a church and state system that will always make for strife and trouble, and which will materially interfere with the immigration of people of modern ideas.

No sooner is this villainous proposition made than every Quebec man is solid for it. The few Conservatives among the let hasten to give their allegiance to the French Premier, and Quebec presents a solid front to press upon the people of Canada a proposal that would be laughed out or kicked out of any other country in the world.

And there are British men in Canada so careless of the rights and liberties of the people; so anxious for party advantage, that they actually back the solid Quebec in this attack upon liberty, home rule, progress and equal rights. And a great and enlightened newspaper—the chief Liberal paper in Canada—advises its readers that they may properly oppose the Quebec proposal on the ground that it is not in accordance with the constitution; but they must on no account discuss the question from any other point of view. That means that nothing must be whispered that would annoy the French of Quebec; that they must be permitted, when they feel like it, to ride over the rights and liberties of the people without protest from the latter!

It is abominable.

NO FAVORED SECT

The Times is unalterably opposed to Separate schools:

(1) Because such contemplated action is subversive of the principle of Provincial rights, which lies at the basis of our Confederation, inasmuch as it denies to citizens, as such, of these proposed Provinces any voice in formulating their own school system, which is one of the most important agencies in qualifying for true citizenship.

(2) Because it is a direct violation of the principles of equal rights to all, and special favors to none, of the citizens of Canada.

(3) Because in view of the diverse elements entering into the settlement of the proposed Provinces the provision for Separate schools, if logically carried out, and fairly applied, would greatly increase the cost of education, and also impair the general efficiency of our Public school system, in which, we firmly believe, lies to a very large extent the hope of a united, prosperous and peaceful Western Canada.

(4) Protestants want no favors that they are not ready to accord to our Roman Catholic fellow citizens.

EDITORIAL COMMENT.

Do not for a moment suppose that if the Alberta and Saskatchewan coercion bills are carried, that will end the agitation for Separate schools in Canada. The foreign church that had the impudence to send a delegate to Ottawa to dictate to the Government of Canada is never satisfied: it never lets up in its aggression. It always wants more, and is never modest in demanding what it wants, and if these bills are made law an attack will be made upon those Provinces to which there are no Separate schools.

FIGHTING AGAIN IN MANCHURIA

Each Army Reports Success for Its Side—Big Battle Probable

Tokio, April 10.—The main force of the Russians, which was recently defeated in the neighborhood of Chiaotatun, has deviated toward Shamsoncheng, and a part of it has retreated along the Fenghua road. On the evening of April 7 no Russians were to be seen south of Hsialitun, eight miles north of Chinchiatun.

A small force of Russians is occupying Taliuyo, 26 miles east of Weiguanpaomen.

A RUSSIAN REPORT.

St. Petersburg, April 10.—Chief of Staff Karlowitch in a despatch to the General Staff, dated to-day, says:

"Yesterday our skirmishers forced the Japanese cavalry to retire from Erdaohaze to Tsaotsiva. One of our detachments on arriving in the morning of April 4 at Tsintsatun engaged the enemy who had 6,000 Chinese bandits with them. I have not received a report of the results of the battle." He also reports that the Japanese were dislodged from two positions, five miles from Kilju.

A BIG BATTLE IMPENDING.

London, April 10.—The St. Petersburg correspondent of the Times says that the latest official information leads to the belief that the Japanese are advancing in a crescent formation, General Oku commanding the left wing, Generals Nogi and Nodzu the centre, and Generals Kuroki and Kawimura the right wing. Their total strength is said to be 450,000 men. It is feared that General Linevitch will be compelled to withdraw, under penalty of finding his position turned.

Sixty Barrels a Day Each.
The pumping plant has just been started and this is the surprising result. Nothing like it in the world. The officers and directors of this company are bank men and do not believe in debts, so the company is free from debt. They have nearly $20,000 in cash and bills receivable in the treasury and everything paid for—property, wells, pumping plant, oil tanks, well cleaning machine and everything connected with the company. Have two drilling rigs working night and day sinking wells. Have abundance of gas, which runs the drills and pumping plant, so it only costs about $5.00 a day to produce and market the oil.
The Company has about 33 per cent of its stock in the treasury as a reserve.

From the Kansas City Journal, Feb. 26, 1905.
There is perhaps no people in the same amount of territory in the world who have increased in wealth so rapidly. Everybody is prosperous. Many once poor and hard working families have become immensely wealthy.
Rudge Hale, an old Frisco conductor, has become a millionaire off of oil. He got in the game early. Now he has money as well as oil and gas to burn.
Fred Hedrick, a farmer living near Chanute, had a hard time for years making both ends meet. Life was a hard proposition with him. His royalties now reach $1,000 a month and he is living on easy street.
Joe Heim, of the Kansas City brewery, took a flyer in oil leases. He first put in $500 and refused $12,000 for his investment. Later he put in a lot more money in gas and oil lands and is now figuring high.
George H. Work, the Chicago clothier, took some acres of land near Chanute for a debt a customer owed him. Work's partner refused to stand for the deal. So Work kept the land himself. He has since refused $50,000 for his holdings.
These are a few samples. Hundreds of farmers have become independently rich off their oil royalties, and hundreds of other men have made big money producing oil.
This Kansas oil bearing sand is like the Pennsylvania sand; wells will produce oil for fifty years.

VARICOCELE CURED

NO NAMES USED WITHOUT WRITTEN CONSENT.

Confined to His Home for Weeks.

"Heavy work, severe straining and evil habits in youth brought on a double varicocele. When I worked hard the aching would become severe and I was often laid up for a week at a time. My family physician told me an operation was my only hope—but I dreaded it. I tried several specialists, but soon found out all they wanted was my money. I commenced to look upon all medical men as fakirs, when one day I saw your name and read what I was told was so much just like my condition. He advised me to consult Drs. Kennedy and Kergan, as he had taken treatment from them himself and knew they were square and skilful. He wrote them and got the New Method Treatment for me. My progress was somewhat slow and during the first month's treatment I was somewhat discouraged. However, I continued treatment for three months longer and was rewarded with a complete cure. I could only earn $3 a week in a machine shop before treatment, now I am earning $21 and never lose a day. I wish all sufferers knew of your valuable treatment.

THIS IS YOUR OPPORTUNITY

We own a monopoly of the water right privileges in the Thunder Mountain mining district, State of Idaho, U.S.A.; seven water rights in all; one developed and in use. The property of the Company consists of over 1400 acres with plenty of timber for building and mining purposes, a saw mill fully equipped and in operation, a 10-stamp mill now on its way from the R. R. Station to the property, and 40 additional stamps to be purchased at once and installed during the coming summer. This is the largest and most favorably situated property in the district. Some of the tunnels have been driven over 600 ft., cross-cutting many dikes, demonstrating that we have an inexhaustible body of ore. The ore bodies are sampled by an assayer every 10 ft., and assays run from 40c. to $800 per ton. The ore is free milling, and can be mined and milled for about $1.00 per ton.

This Company has had a phenomenal growth, and "The Thunder Mountain Prospector," published at Roosevelt, Idaho, where the property is located, states that this Company is three times as large as any other Company operating in the district. 30 men at work on the property. Over $60,000 worth of stock sold within the last 60 days. Only 100,000 shares more to be sold at 25c. per share. You cannot afford to miss this opportunity; investigate at once.

CHINA IS NOW ARMING

ANTICIPATING DEVELOPMENTS AT THE CLOSE OF THE WAR

Determined to be Prepared for all Emergencies—Rushing the Equipment of Forces for the Protection of Pekin—Small Arms Factories Busy Vancouver, The Cyclopedia Says China is arming for eventualities, and is reorganizing her army." That is the most important news brought by the Empress of Japan, just in from the Far East. A private letter from Pekin states that the high officials have lately begun to recognize that, with the close of the war between Russia and Japan, China will have to pass through a grave crisis, which may threaten the very foundations of her independence and integrity. To avert anarchy and chaos, the Emperor's advisers have informed him that the forces of the empire must be well armed and prepared for emergencies and immediate service. In view of this there is evident a feverish anxiety among Manchu civil and military officials in the capital properly to arm the various banner corps organizations, the Manchu as well as Mongol and Chinese (Banchan) bannermen; indeed all the troops quartered in Pekin and vicinity.

EQUIPPED WITH MODERN RIFLES.

Up to date the authorities have succeeded in providing the bannermen with either Mannlicher or Mauser rifles, not counting a force of 7,000 Manchus, who have been equipped with these modern rifles since 1902. But it is stated on reliable authority that at least 30,000 more magazine rifles are needed to properly organize these banner corps, without which the defences of the capital would not be complete. Instructions have accordingly been issued to the small-arms factories in the Yangtse provinces to lose no time in making the rifles needed, while contracts are also being made with foreign arms manufacturing companies for the immediate supply of many thousands of rifles.

ARMY TO PROTECT PEKIN.

The banner corps mentioned are only those who have been selected during the past 18 months to form the nucleus of a foreign-modelled army for the protection of Pekin. If all the banner corps organizations supposed to be in existence be properly enrolled and armed, at least half a million more magazine rifles will be required. By the middle of the coming summer the authorities hope to have an efficient foreign-drilled banner corps, well armed, numbering not less than 45,000 men. In addition, three are the foreign-modelled forces of General Ma Yu-kun and Viceroy Yuan Shih-kai, all of Chinese descent, numbering about 35,000 really useful and properly equipped men, with good officers over them.

JAPAN WATCHING CHINA CLOSELY.

Pekin advices also tell of the work of the Army Reorganization Department, presided over by Prince Ching, with Viceroy Yuan Shih-kai and Tieh Liang, Vice-President of the Board of War, as Vice and Deputy Presidents respectively. Their chief work just now is the putting into fighting order of the six northern army corps, each of which will number 24,000 men. The cost of these six corps will be about ten million taels a year. The men will also have to be provided with arms, ammunition and uniforms, at a heavy cost. China's military preparations are being made on a most extensive scale. Japan is said to be keeping a careful eye on all the preparations.

HOMESTEAD REGULATIONS

Any even numbered section of Dominion lands in Manitoba or the North-west Territories, excepting 8 and 26, which has not been homesteaded, or reserved to provide wood lots for settlers, or for other purposes, may be homesteaded upon by any person who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years of age, to the extent of one-quarter section of 160 acres more or less.

ENTRY

Entry may be made personally at the local land office for the district in which the land to be taken is situate, or if the homesteader desires, he may, on application to the Minister of the Interior, Ottawa; the Commissioner of Immigration Winnipeg, or the local agent for the district in which the land is situate, receive authority for some one to make entry for him. A fee of $10 is charged for a homestead entry.

HOMESTEAD DUTIES

A settler who has been granted an entry for a homestead is required by the provisions of the Dominion Lands Act, and the amendments thereto, to perform the conditions connected therewith, under one of the following plans:

(1) At least six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each year during the term of three years. It is the practice of the Department to require a settler to bring 15 acres under cultivation, but if he prefers he may substitute stock; and 20 head of cattle, on an enclosure on his own property, with buildings for their accommodation, will be accepted instead of the cultivation.

(2) If the father (or mother, if the father is deceased), of any person who is eligible to make a homestead entry under the provisions of this Act, resides upon a farm in the vicinity of the land entered for by such person as a homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence prior to obtaining patents may be satisfied by such person residing with the father or mother.

(3) If a settler was entitled to and has obtained entry for a second homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence prior to obtaining patent may be satisfied by residence upon the first homestead, if the second homestead is in the vicinity of the first homestead.

(4) If the settler has his permanent residence upon farming land owned by him in the vicinity of his homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence may be satisfied by residence upon the said land.

The term "vicinity" used above is meant to indicate the same township, or an adjoining or cornering township.

A settler who avails himself of the provisions of clauses (2), (3) or (4) must cultivate 30 acres of his homestead, or substitute 20 head of stock, with buildings for their accommodation, and have broken 30 acres additional fenced.

The privilege of a second entry is restricted by law to those settlers only who completed the duties upon their first homesteads to entitle them to patent on or before the first of June, 1890.

Every homesteader who fails to comply with the requirements of the homestead law is liable to have his entry cancelled and the land may again be thrown open for entry.

APPLICATION FOR PATENT

Should be made at the end of three years, before the Local Agent, Sub-Agent or the Homestead Inspector. Before making application for patent the settler must give six months' notice in writing to the Commissioner of Dominion Lands at Ottawa of his intention to do so.

INFORMATION

Newly arrived immigrants will receive, at the Immigration Offices in Winnipeg, or at any Dominion Lands Office in Manitoba or the North-west Territories, information as to the lands that are open for entry, and from the officers in charge, free of expense, advice and assistance in securing lands to suit them. Full information respecting timber, coal and mineral lands, as well as respecting Dominion Lands in the Railway Belt in British Columbia, may be obtained upon application to the Secretary of the Department of the Interior, Ottawa; the Commissioner of Immigration, Winnipeg, Manitoba, or to any of the Dominion Lands Agents in Manitoba or the North-west Territories.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

WHAT WIRELESS IS—WHY IT WORKS

(This is the third of four chapters dealing with this most important scientific phenomenon.)

Synopsis of preceding chapters. Wireless telegraphy was made possible through the discovery that the air was charged with electricity, but which was moving about with no certain direction. Signor Marconi was the first to harness this strange force and make it do his bidding, and this he has done through the medium of instruments which are as simple as the telegraph instrument, and which involve no more with the attendant expense of pushing up and maintaining the same. The instruments make it possible to guide the current in the air so as to make it carry the message at the will of the sender to the receiving station, where it may be read as easily as a letter.

CHAPTER III.

We have seen, in the previous chapter [illegible] provision Nature which makes it possible for the electricity in the air to carry the wireless message. Then we have seen how simple in principle are the instruments which control this force. For a better understanding, we will trace the course of an actual message.

The coming Summer will see new Marconi stations built at Halifax, N.S., and at Whittle Rocks, Labrador. A message may be sent from Halifax to Whittle Rocks. This message is handed to the sending operator at Halifax. Through the apparatus on the table before him, a current of electricity is passing from the dynamo, in an adjoining room, through the instrument on the table, and back to the dynamo. Upon receiving the message, he throws a small switch, which changes the course of the current, so that it passes up the wire outside of the station instead of back to the dynamo. The sending operator alternately presses down and releases a lever. Brilliant flashes of electricity jump between two brass rods, protruding across the front of the sending instrument every time that the lever is depressed, and the circuit completed. This is the instrument, previously referred to, which snaps the message off the wire like the snap of a whip and which adds to the distinct spacing between the dots and dashes. The operator varies the length of time that he keeps the lever depressed, and in that way makes long or short signals or dashes and dots which are the telegrapher's signs, equivalent to the letters of the alphabet.

In the receiving station at Whittle Rocks, another operator hears a click and knows that the lever on his machine has moved; that a current is passing through it, and that probably a message is coming. He hears the signal call of his station, and opening a lever on the adjoining apparatus, acknowledges his call. As the dots and dashes roll off without interruption, he translates each combination into the letter which they represent, and the message is written down.

If we could have been at Whittle Rocks when the message was received, or at the Halifax office when the reply was recorded, we might have seen another little instrument doing its work at the same time the receiving lever was clicking off the dots and dashes. We would have noticed a little wheel at one side of the receiving apparatus moving up and down very slightly, and exactly as moved the lever of the receiving apparatus which clicked off the message. We would have found that the edge of the wheel was covered with ink, and that every time it was depressed, it made a mark on a paper tape running under it. These marks were short or long, like dots and dashes, and were duplicates of the dots and dashes made by the big lever. This is the automatic receiver, known as the Wheatstone recorder, that records all messages passing through the receiving instrument. Thus, we would realize that the system had been so thoroughly developed, that every possible provision had been made to guard against mistakes in the transmission of a message. Of course, it takes time to work out all the details of such instruments, but the progress already made proves that Signor Marconi has mastered the hardest part of the problem, and that future development will go forward by leaps and bounds.

(The final chapter, and by far the most interesting of the series, will appear in this paper one week from today. Do not miss it)

GOVERNMENT ENDORSEMENT

MARCONI WIRELESS TELEGRAPH SYSTEM

O. G. V. Spain, Commander of the Canadian Marine Service, has made his report to the Deputy Minister of Marine and Fisheries, at Ottawa. In that part of the report which deals with the subject of Wireless Telegraphy, there is nothing but favorable comment for the Marconi system as it is installed in the several stations along the St. Lawrence Gulf and River. Among the many favorable comments which he makes, the following are synopsised and are worth serious consideration as they come from a disinterested source, from a government official thoroughly qualified to express an opinion and from a shrewd observer who in reporting his conclusions from practical tests and indisputable data. He says in part:

(1.) All the stations installed have given a satisfactory service and a larger number of messages are passing between the stations and ships regularly.

(2.) All the stations are reporting ships and shipping intelligence to Lloyd's agent at Quebec.

(3.) In many instances vessels have been in communication with Marconi shore stations when enveloped in thick fog, and have found the wireless system an invaluable supplementary aid to the existing fog signal service.

(4.) News of current events furnished to all steamers has proved a boon to passengers and is increasing the popularity of the St. Lawrence route for travellers.

(5.) The important aid to navigation rendered by the Dominion Government in the matter of wireless telegraphy has been greatly appreciated by the Shipping Federation and shipping interests in general.

(6.) The Government has decided to increase the power of the St. Lawrence stations, and to add new stations, so that intercommunication may be had by means of the Marconi system from Fame Point to Belle Isle or Cape Ray. The enormous advantage justifies this step on the part of the Government, because the captain of a steamer will then be able to know just the weather conditions prevailing along the entire St. Lawrence a few hours after leaving Quebec, and can direct his course accordingly.

A more favorable criticism of

would be hard to find. It not only unqualifiedly credits the Company with a great success up to the present time, but it indicates the confidence which the Government has in the future success of the Company. It goes further, and indicates that the Government will continue to lend its aid until a complete circuit of stations to meet all possible demands shall have been installed. It tells of the favorable impression which the service has made upon private shippers and the travelling public as well as the Government. These endorsements from every conceivable source could not have been won if the Company and the system upon which it works were not a complete and unparalleled success.

THE SUCCESS IS NOT SENTIMENTAL, BUT PRACTICAL

and it will mean a steadily increasing revenue for the Company. That revenue will shortly exceed the needs of the Company, and then it will be distributed among those who are stockholders therein. Even before there is a division of the profits annually, there will be an increase in the value of the stock by investors looking for a share of the dividends to be declared. But the shrewdest investor of all is the one who purchases the stock now and shares in the first and every subsequent advance in the stock as well as in the profits. We cannot begin to tell you even a small part of the many things which the company has done, is going to do, and which make its future as attractive as that of the most profitable enterprise in the history of the world of finance. Write for further particulars, but REMEMBER THAT AN INVESTMENT AT THIS TIME WILL BE AT THE LOWEST PRICE WHICH THE STOCK WILL SEE, and that this opportunity will not long be before you. Therefore INVEST now. You can now pay any amount of stock from one share to two hundred shares, and at $5 each. DON'T WAIT. If you are in Montreal, call at our office in the Canada Life Building and see a demonstration of how the Marconi system works, for the instruments for the purpose are installed there.

A RARE OPPORTUNITY

To obtain a gilt edge investment in a great gold mining enterprise, developing a rich mineral area in an undeveloped mineral empire in Northwestern Colorado.

OFFERING OF 150,000 SHARES OF TREASURY STOCK OF THE

UNITED STATES GOLD CORPORATION

For the purpose of carrying out plans necessary to place the property on a dividend basis

The Board of Directors of the United States Gold Corporation estimate that the business of this company can be placed upon a paying and dividend basis, by the completion of the Klondyke tunnel a distance of 700 feet and by the construction of a modern concentration mill of not less than twenty-five tons capacity per day on the property for the treatment of the great bodies of low grade ore, now awaiting treatment. To provide means for the execution of these plans, the Directors of this Company now offer for sale One Hundred and Fifty Thousand shares of Treasury Stock at the nominal price of 15 cents per share for cash.

For the information of investors the Company make the following statement of what a certificate of its stock represents.

Assets and Financial Condition of the United States Gold Corporation

PROPERTIES OF COMPANY

Location in heart of famous copper-silver belt, in Northwestern Colorado, at the base of Continental divide, on Arapahoe peak, west of famous Caribou mine with gross production from 1859 to 1900 Twenty Million dollars, six miles from Colorado Northwestern Railway Co., ten miles from Denver Northwestern & Pacific Ry. Co.

Klondyke Tunnel site claim	160.
Three Jacks Placer	160.
Total Acreage	368.

PLAN OF DEVELOPMENT

By Klondyke tunnel, fifteen hundred feet long, cutting ore body on Monroe lode 2000 feet on Arapahoe, five hundred feet and Klondike ore channel, eleven hundred feet in depth.

DEVELOPMENT

Klondike Tunnel driven eight hundred feet opening ore bodies on Monroe and Arapahoe lodes estimated cost $15,000.00

EQUIPMENT

Power plant of machinery, blacksmith shop, cabins, store houses, and boarding house, estimated value $8,000 00

MILLING CAPACITY

	Estimated daily Production
Mill ore from Monroe Lode	100 tons
Mill ore from Arapahoe Lode	200 tons
Estimated tonnage from all dykes cut by Klondyke tunnel when completed	1000 tons

FINANCIAL CONDITION

Present indebtedness	$ 5000.00
Treasury stock sales pledged	125,000
Properties, equipment and development owned by the company free and clear of any indebtedness whatsoever.
No bonds or mortgages, no preferred stock.

ESTIMATED REVENUE FROM 25 TON CONCENTRATOR MILL

	Tons
Average number of tons mill ore concentrates in on ton	5
Number of tons concentrated per day	5

VALUES

Gross value mill ore per ton	$ 12.00
Net value per ton of concentrates made from 5 tons mill ore of value of $12 00 allowing 10 per cent loss in saving	60.00
Net value after deducting expenses of mining and milling per day	30.00
Net revenue per day from 5 tons concentrates less smelting charges, etc., estimated	225.00
Net revenue per month, estimated	6,750 00
Net revenue per annum, estimated	72,000.00
Proceeds smelting ore per annum estimated at $2500 per month	60,000.00
Minimum net revenue per annum from ore treated and shipped	120,000 00

DIVIDENDS

5 per cent, on 2,400,000 shares estimated as issued and entitled to dividends estimated 600,000 shares in treasury reserve fund which leaves no dividend $120,000.00

RETURN ON PRINCIPAL

Purchaser of 1000 shares at 15 cents pays	$150
Dividend of 5 per cent per annum on 1000 shares returns	$50
5 per cent dividends returns on investment per annum	33
10 per cent dividends returns on investment per annum	66

Careful estimates made by the officers and scientific and practical mill men prove to the satisfaction of this company, that the proceeds from the present treasury stock offering will place the property on a paying basis and the further sale of treasury stock will be withdrawn from the market, leaving a treasury reserve fund of over 600,000 shares.

This great enterprise has passed the prospect stage and upon the completion of our tunnel about June 1st, 1905 the energies of the Company will be entirely devoted to production shipment and treatment of its vast tonnage of ore devolving through the Klondyke tunnel estimated at 1000 tons per day.

The officers of this Company court rigid investigation by prospective investors of its properties and management.

Persons desiring stock should mail their application to the United States Gold Corporation at Boulder, Colorado, together with draft for amount of shares desired at 15c. per share, for which a certificate of stock will be issued and sent subscriber by return mail. Do not delay sending application as treasury stock will be taken off the market after this offering is subscribed.

Consumption is Not Hereditary

It is Not Handed Down From Generation to Generation but is Simply "Caught" by the Germs Getting Into Your LungsCured by Catarrhozone

Consumption was formerly believed by some to be due to poverty of the blood. By others it was supposed to be hereditary. Both these beliefs are incorrect.

If the disease passes through several members of the same family it is because the germs get into the clothes, bedding, furniture and carpets that are in general use.

These germs find their way into the air we breathe, are inhaled, lodge themselves securely in the throat and lungs where they rapidly increase, and soon claim another victim.

The only remedy that has cured a genuine case of Consumption is Catarrhozone. Its germ killing vapor is inhaled into every air cell and air passage of the head, throat and lungs, and creates a healthy condition of these organs in which disease germs cannot live.

It is impossible for consumption to make headway in the soothing antiseptic vapor of Catarrhozone is inhaled a few times daily into the lungs. The cause of the disease (germ life) is at once removed, the inflamed mucous surfaces are healed, and a lasting cure effected.

Catarrhozone is breathed right into the lungs. By its soothing influence the soreness caused by coughing is removed. The cough becomes less severe and soon ceases all together. Catarrhozone aids expectoration, quiets the nerves, and lends to the patient a large measure of comfort.

Consumptives are strongly urged to use Catarrhozone as immediate relief always follows. It is a direct method of treatment, and is endorsed by the highest medical authorities everywhere. The balsamic vapor reaches the lungs and respiratory tracts in a speedy manner that no medicine taken into the stomach can do.

Catarrhozone is just as good as a change of climate, equally pleasant and cheaper. It can be used at home at any hour of the day or night and never causes inconvenience or bother.

The complete Catarrhozone outfit contains two months treatment and costs only $1.00. It is a perfect boon to consumptives and their surrounding friends. You cannot afford to miss the benefit of Catarrhozone and should order it today. Sold by all druggists or by mail from N. C. Polson & Co., Kingston, Ont., or Hartford, Conn., U.S.A.

Farmers Rejoice

The present prospects for grain in Ontario, and in this country in particular, seem to be very bright at the present time. This applies both to the prices of the grain and the crop. It is reported from the different districts that the fall wheat, which looked weakly last fall, is in splendid condition at the present time, and unless some frosty weather strikes it during this month, it should be a splendid crop. Very little has been winter-killed. The prices too, will likely be good, since last year's yield has been pretty well taken up by millers.

—The Montreal Witness is writing a number of the leading Canadian preachers, asking them for copies of sermons preached by them, and the paper proposes to publish one each week. Among those asked for sermons is Rev. E. A. Langfeldt, M.A., Rector of St. Luke's church.

—The pictures and posters about town, showing the brilliant uniforms of various branches of the service, do not seem to attract many of our young men, who do not, for the prizes offered, want "To seek a bubble reputation at the cannon's mouth," or to make themselves food for powder.

—To-night at the regular meeting of the local Camp, No. 50, W. O.W., Organizer Plowman will put on the largest initiation in the history of the Camp. Visitors will be Head Con. Com. C. C. Hodgins, Lucan; Head Adv. Lieut. D. Cinnamon. Lindsay, and Head Physician W. S. Harrison, Toronto.

—Port Hope wants a new survey made from Rice Lake to that pretty little town. They are determined to have canal connection with Peterborough the rising industrial city of Canada. Mr. Barlow Cumberland, one of Toronto's best known and ablest business men advocates the Port Hope route.

When you want a life-like Portrait in Oil, Crayon, or Water Color, don't fail to come to B. Hudson's Studio, where the work and prices are always right. Gifts in Pictures, Frames and Fancy Work. Lessons in Painting and Pyrographic Work. Studio, 134 Brock street, Peterborough.

Salvation Army Revival Successful

Revival services that have been held during the past two months in the Salvation Army barracks are bringing in lots of recruits. Over one hundred have been turned into the straight and narrow path. About 30 have decided to forsake their old ways since the first of this month. The Quarterly Balance Sheet, which was read at the business meeting on Wednesday night was a very satisfactory one. The meetings towards the end of this week will be conducted by Adjutant Jennings and Lieut. Salter. Officers in charge. The siege, which ended last Friday night was a great success. forty-five conversions were aimed at, and sixty-two were secured during the nine weeks, but this number has been materially increased since. $40 a week in collections was aimed at and this has been more than reached.

A DANGEROUS HABIT

Gladstone's Physician Gives Warning Against a Growing American Custom

The growing habit amongst Americans of taking a mint tablet or some other so called digestive after eating a hearty meal, is something that Sir Andrew Clarke, Mr. Gladstone's physician, advises strongly against, saying. "It is absolutely dangerous to take into the stomach remedies which are popularly supposed to aid in the digestion of food."

There is nothing known to the science of medicine that can perform the work of the human stomach. Drugs do not and cannot digest the food. They simply decompose it. What can be more revolting or disgusting than the thought of taking something into the stomach that is going to turn the good food you have eaten into a mass of corruption.

The only way to overcome indigestion and its evil effects is to remove all irritation, congestion and inflammation of the stomach, liver and intestines, and Mi-o-na is the only agent known that will do this.

When a Mi-o-na tablet is taken before each meal every trace of irritation and inflammation is removed from the stomach and digestive system, and these organs will extract from the food all that goes to make good, rich blood, firm muscle, steady nerves and a sound healthy body. If you suffer with headaches, indigestion, flatulency, spots before the eyes, vertigo, or dizziness, palpitation of the heart, sleeplessness, or any stomach trouble, get a fifty cent box of Mi-o-na from Wm. Madill, one of the most reliable Druggists, whose faith in the remedy is shown by his offer to return the money if Mi-o-na does not give complete satisfaction.

"A SECRET."

One great secret of youth and beauty for the young woman or the mother is the proper understanding of her womanly system and well-being. Every woman, young or old, should know herself and her sphere. A good way to arrive at this knowledge is to get a good doctor book, such, for instance, as the "People's Common Sense Medical Adviser," by R. V. Pierce, M. D., which can readily be procured by sending thirty-one cents in one-cent stamps for paper bound volume, or fifty stamps for cloth bound copy, addressing Dr. R. V. Pierce, at Buffalo, N. Y.

The change from maidenhood to womanhood is one that involves the whole body. The strain at this time upon the blood-forming structures may be too great. Disorders of the functions peculiarly feminine are nearly always dependent upon defective nutrition. In all such cases Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is just the vegetable tonic for the female system.

"I cannot express my thanks for the benefit I have received from Dr. Pierce's medicines," writes Mrs. Julius Wehrly, of Cambridge, Dorchester Co., Md. "I took 'Favorite Prescription' and feel that a perfect cure has been effected. I feel like thanking you for the kind and fatherly letters which you wrote."

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription was the first exclusively woman's tonic on the market. It has sold more largely in the past third of a century than any other medicine for women. Do not let the druggist persuade you to try some compound that has not had the test of so many years' success.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets should be used with "Favorite Prescription" whenever a laxative is required.

PROPERTY.

The Company has a clear title to the whole of Burleigh Falls water power, located at the Narrows between Lovesick and Stony Lakes, 18 miles north of Peterboro' on the route of the Trent Valley Canals. There is an existing Dam and an effective head of 27 feet, and flow of water which will be diverted through a natural race-way and which will yield 3,000 electric horse power during the dry season (August and September).

ENGINEERS' REPORTS—STRONG ENDORSEMENTS.

Surveys and reports with estimates have been made by Messrs. Ross & Holgate, Consulting Hydraulic and Electrical Engineers, Montreal, —supplemented by a report and estimate by Roderick J. Parke, Consulting Electrical Engineer, Toronto,—these firms being well-known and of the highest standing in Canada.

Their reports show that owing to the low cost of the hydraulic development the Company is in a position to deliver electric power to lake-front towns at a cost much lower than the lowest possible cost of steam power.

COMPARATIVE COST OF DEVELOPMENT.

Engineers' reports show that the cost of the Hydraulic development of Burleigh Falls per horse-power in comparison with that of Niagara Falls, is as one to six in favor of Burleigh Falls. The advantage of low initial hydraulic cost of development is exemplified by the Shawinigan Falls power plant which while 84 miles distant from Montreal, delivers electric power to that city at a lower cost per horse-power than the cost of power developed at Montreal. The reports must indicate that the Burleigh Falls power is the cheapest developable power in Canada.

MARKET FOR POWER.

Within easy and economical transmission distance to Burleigh Falls is a town population of 50,000. Peterboro', Bowmanville and Oshawa alone afford an immediate market for power and lighting sufficient for the entire output of this plant as understood. Lakefield, Millbrook and Orono are on this line and Newcastle is just off the line. Whitby is also only 5 miles west of Oshawa. Port Hope and Cobourg can be reached by short branch line. The distance from Burleigh Falls to Oshawa, via Peterboro' and Bowmanville is about 59 miles.

The Company holds written applications for electric power from all the larger manufacturers at Oshawa, Bowmanville, Whitby, Port Hope and Cobourg, as a substitute for their steam power.

REVENUE AND PROFITS—PER ENGINEER'S REPORT.

A reference to the Engineering Report of Mr. R. J. Parke, shows that the hydraulic works, electrical machinery, transmission line, and local distribution lines for delivering at Peterboro' 700 h.p., at Bowmanville 600 h.p., and at Oshawa 1,200 h.p., providing for a complete and first-class plant and equipment can be installed for $273,000. He says in conclusion: "From my personal knowledge of the extent of the steam power used and the cost of the same in these localities, I fully believe that the output of your plant can be readily sold at satisfactory prices."

"The final analysis indicates a

"Net Annual Revenue Available for Dividends on Common Stock - $61,300

"over and above all expenses, sinking fund, and interest on Bonds and Preferred Stock."

"In conclusion I feel justified in expressing the opinion that the results shown above fully justify an investment in "the enterprise. The small capital investment required for the development of the hydraulic power at Burleigh Falls "enables the electrical energy to be transmitted and sold at a much lower cost than is the case in the "ordinary average hydraulic-electrical power development and transmission system. Furthermore, "your enterprise seems to have the peculiar advantage of being in a position to secure other markets for power "than Peterborough, Bowmanville and Oshawa, due to the likelihood of a demand arising in the near future for "electric railroads, and the proximity of Port Hope and Cobourg, and Whitby and other towns within economical transmission distances."

The Western Bank of Canada, its Head Office, Oshawa, will receive payments for subscriptions for Preferred Stock. Cheques or Money Orders must be made payable to the order of the Bank.

RUSSIAN FLEET DIVIDED BIG VESSELS MISSING.

Reports From Singapore Say Rojestvensky and His Strongest Battleships Did Not Pass With Rest of Fleet.

Singapore, Straits Settlements, April 11.—The latest information in regard to the Russian squadron commanded by Rear-Admiral Enquist, which passed here Saturday afternoon, was brought here yesterday by the British steamer Gregory Apcar. The latter yesterday sighted the Russian ships twenty miles northeast of Singapore. The Russians were at anchor when the Gregory Apcar passed them.

Information has also been received here to the effect that four warships, apparently Japanese, were off Cape St. James, near Saigon, April 7.

THE FLEET DIVIDED.

Amsterdam, Holland, April 11. — A despatch to the Handelsblad from Batavia, Island of Java, says that the Russian squadron is near Muntok, and that it is expected to arrive at Batavia to-day.

This despatch evidently refers to the four missing battleships under Admiral Rojestvensky himself, which did not pass Singapore. Evidently the squadron was divided.

A later report intimated that the supposed Russian warships sighted off Muntok are really the ships of the Dutch squadron, which has left its former anchorage under secret orders, and is now steaming north.

CATHOLICS IN THE COMMONS.

Ottawa, April 11.—At this time, when the interference of the Papal Ablegate in the political affairs of the Dominion is a burning issue, it is interesting to examine the membership of the House of Commons with a view of ascertaining how many Roman Catholics there are among its membership. Such a canvass shows that of the 214 members of the House, 70 are members of the Roman Catholic Church, divided as follows:

Quebec, 53.	Ontario 7.
Nova Scotia, 4.	New Brunswick, 3.
Prince Edward Island, 1.	Manitoba, 1.
British Columbia, 1.

PROTEST DIRECT TO PREMIER.

Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., April 11.—The citizens of the "Soo" are joining in the general protest against the educational clause in the Western Autonomy Bills, by sending cards of protest to Sir Wilfrid Laurier of Ottawa. That there shall be no doubt about their delivery to the Premier, and so that they shall not be smothered without the public being allowed to learn of them, they are being forwarded through the representative of this constituency in the House of Commons. More than a thousand of the cards have been sent from here already, and the number is increasing steadily. The form of protest is as follows:

"Your petitioner humbly prays that full control over educational matters be extended to the new Western Provinces and protests against any limitation of their Provincial rights in the Autonomy Bill now before the House."

Was It Premeditated Insult?

Or Was Yesterday's Action at the Collegiate Institute Children's Folly?

Yesterday a notable exhibition of bigotry was enacted at the Collegiate Institute by all the Roman Catholic students attending this seat of learning. Their action was unmistakeably the result of premeditation and concert. The very regrettable action taken by these students was not the result of individual personality, it was too well organized and unanimous. When in the usual course of procedure, at the beginning of the day's work, the different teachers read the Lord's Prayer, a preconcerted move was taken conjointly by every Roman Catholic student present to allow a deliberate insult to the Ontario Legislature, who determines the course of procedure to be taken by teachers; to the local Board of Education, who endorses and commands this prayer to be read; to the teachers who read the prayer, and, by implication, to the whole Protestant community whose taxes mainly support the school.

In rooms where custom obtains for the scholars to stand up whilst the Lord's Prayer is being read, every Catholic pupil remained sitting; in rooms where the custom prevails for students to sit, with heads reverently bowed down on their desks, the Roman Catholic pupils deliberately stood up, with arms clasped in defiant attitude behind their backs. Now, whilst The Times does, and ever will, oppose the system of separate schools for any denomination, be it Roman Catholic, Episcopal, Baptist or any other individual sect, we greatly deplore this plain intolerant flinging down the gauntlet of sectional arrogance. We would be the last, at this particular juncture, when religious partisanship is straining the bonds of citizenship that should unite all Canadians to countenance the throwing of a lighted firebrand of religious bigotry among people, who whilst long-suffering, may be warmed to inflammability. Still yesterday's mal-advised action by so many of our growing lads and girls, cannot but tend towards raising feelings that otherwise might be dormant or at least suppressed. The question is, was the action of these children spontaneously generated and conjoint action agreed upon, or was it deliberately resolved on and commands issued for its furtherance?

Let us hope that, from a source that cannot be gain-said, this action of the children be reproved by those who would naturally be the promptors of their actions, were yesterday's scene not spontaneous with the children. Had there been prayers that could possibly contain anything of possible offence to any religious body, one could understand the children not approving of it; but, for Roman Catholic children, in what is mainly a Protestant school, to take such a unanimous, deliberate and offensive way of showing insult, where no insult towards them or their religious belief could, in any way, be even intended. It was ill-advised, ill-judged, and possibly far fetching in the memory of the Protestant majority of this community.

Religious differences of opinion are in most cases better kept to their owners, but, there are times that tolerance becomes unbearable. No one need go about trailing his coat tails and begging someone to step on them to raise trouble, but a premeditated insult to the cast coms and usages of a large proportion of the community, given openly and defiantly by those who for whom Separate schools are provided, but, who, for the better education are sent to the Collegiate Institute, is not to be swallowed without a grimace.

Had Protestant children gone in a body to a Separate school, and deliberately and conjointly offered a deliberate insult to the prayers that are just as dear to Roman Catholics as the Lord's Prayer is to both Catholic and Protestant, would it have been passed by in silence?

MGR. SBARRETTI'S ACTION

PARTY IN POWER SHOULD SHOW COUNTRY'S INDIGNATION

Resolution Passed at General Meeting in Hamilton Methodist Church After Service—St. Catharines Preacher Calls For Vigorous Protest

Hamilton, April 10.—At the close of the regular evening service in Hannah street Methodist church, yesterday, a general meeting was held for the discussion of the autonomy bills. Rev. W. B. Caswell read a petition which had been drafted, and spoke against the Separate school system. Those persons in favor of the petition were asked to stand up, and nearly 200 persons stood. Only four voted against it. The petition was addressed to Adam Zimmerman, M.P. for West Hamilton. It protested against the educational clauses in the bills, stated a belief that the matter of school system should be left to the Provinces concerned, and that any party in power at Ottawa should be censured immediately evidence of righteous indignation of this country at the attempted interference of Mgr. Sbarretti with the political affairs of our land." The members of the Quarterly Official Board were asked to sign the petition, and the majority did so.

TIME A HALT WAS CALLED.

St. Catharines, April 10.—In the course of his sermon yesterday morning, Rev. George H. Smith, D.D., pastor of Knox church, spoke in vigorous terms regarding the duty of the Protestant majority of the Dominion in the present political crisis at Ottawa. The warning in the Globe's editorial on Saturday was repeated concerning the interference of the Dominion Government with Provincial affairs. The danger of one man, a stranger and an Italian priest, controlling the corporate vote of nearly two-fifths of the people of Canada, as evidenced in the Manitoba boundary question, was plainly dealt with. The question, "Who rules this land, King or Pope?" was well be asked, and it was time that a halt was called. A loyal people must now show their loyalty by a strenuous protest against a Separate school system which only tended to further estrange these elements from otherwise would bring up a strong Canadian people.

The Deadly Coffin-Nail

In commenting on a recent police court case decided in this town, the Mail Post says:

In Peterborough the authorities have some sort of an effort to protect young lads from the deadly cigarette habit. The other day Maggie Dumble fined a dealer $20 and costs for selling a box of 10c. cigars to a minor. The lad stole the money from his brother. In Lindsay the cigarette habit is assuming alarming phases, and it is strange the Police Commissioners do not instruct the police to act."

Why not send the youthful smokers to the pernicious parody on tobacco quarantine with the 20 hogs fed on cigarettes, dogs and such like?

C.P.R. IMMIGRATION PLAN

PROPOSES TO ERECT FARM BUILDINGS ON LANDS

Allowing Settlers to Pay for the Improvements the Same as the Land on Long Annual Installments—Conference With Rider Haggard

Winnipeg, April 11. — William Whyte, Second Vice-President of the C. P. R., has left for the east. It is stated that the object of his visit to Ottawa is for a joint conference with Earl Grey and Mr. H. Rider Haggard, the English author and sociologist. Mr. Haggard comes to Canada as an Imperial delegate, practically to investigate the conditions of immigration, with a view to solving the "unemployed" question in the old country.

For several months Second Vice-President Whyte has had under consideration a proposition for the subsidizing of British immigrants on a scheme of big proportions. It is proposed that the railway company build houses and farm buildings on lands which it sells to British immigrants, allowing them to pay for the improvements, the same as the land, on long annual installments. It is urged that foreign immigrants settling in colonies are in a position to receive, and do receive, assistance whenever it may be found necessary, but that Britishers must strike out alone.

This is the proposition, in brief, that will be presented, it is understood, by the Canadian Pacific chief executive of the western system. It is believed that the company is desirous of getting, through Earl Grey, the co-operation of the Imperial Government in the scheme.

If Mr. Haggard comes west, as expected, it is likely that Mr. Whyte will accompany him on at least a portion of his tour.

AN INDEPENDENT VIEW

Monetary Times on the Northwest Autonomy Bill

Toronto, April 11.—Speaking of the terms at Ottawa over the Autonomy Bill, the Monetary Times says:

"It was to be expected that a stir would be created among the politicians at Ottawa by the letter of Hon. Mr. Rogers, of the Manitoba Government, exposing the Sbarretti incident. But if one looks away from the hot-bed of rhetoric, where party casuistry and inflamed language alternate, and talks with his neighbors, or reads the country papers, he will quickly find how strong and general is the sense of outrage at the conduct of the Papal ablegate. If this is a Protestant country, the spectacle of an emissary from Rome negotiating directly with ministers of the crown, and in effect promising them that by making legislative concessions to the faith they are likely to get an extension of their provincial boundaries, is an intolerable thing. The impudence of the proceeding is unsurpassed. We trust it is not too much to expect that Monsignor Sbarretti will hear, from the lips of one whose authority even he cannot deny, some such words as the King spoke to Pandulph in Act III., Scene I., of Shakespeare's King John.

POWER FROM BURLEIGH

Hamilton and St. Catharines Men to Company—Strongly Endorsed by Well-known Engineers—English Capitalists in Deal

The Central Ontario Power Company, Limited, prospectus appears in yesterday's issue, signed by J. A. Culverwell, Managing Director.

The Company charges seven per cent. PREFERRED STOCK (cumulative), the total issue being limited to $35,000. A bonus of one share of common stock (paid up) will be allotted with every two shares of preferred stock subscribed.

The proceeds of the preferred stock will be used exclusively for purchase of plant and development purposes. The dam and the natural race-way is now existing. The consideration to the original owners for the transfer of property, rights, etc., having been paid exclusively in common stock, is an assurance of the absolute faith of the owners in the success of the undertaking and a GUARANTEE OF THE SECURITY OF THE PREFERRED STOCK.

Strong endorsements are given in the reports of the consulting hydraulic and electrical engineers, Messrs. Ross & Holgate, and also Mr. Roderick J. Parke, both firms being well known here, as acting as consulting and supervising engineers for large hydraulic electric works in the Niagara Peninsula.

Mr. K. N. Kittson, of Hamilton, of W. H. Gillard & Co., wholesale grocers, and also President Hamilton Board of Trade, has recently taken a seat on the Board of Directors. Other Directors are: Frank Turner, Q. E., Edward T. Adams, M.D., W. Vandusen, Toronto, and J. A. Culverwell, engineer, Port Hope. Prominent shareholders are R. S. Hutton, Assistant General Manager Canada Permanent Mortgage Corporation, and E. R. Larkin. Henry J. Taylor and Robert McLaren, of St. Catharines, and other gentlemen of Central Ontario. Mr. Ogden, the large tobacco manufacturer of England, is a recent stockholder.

The engineering reports must indicate that Burleigh Falls power is the cheapest developable power in Canada. Written applications for electric power and lighting in Oshawa, Bowmanville, Peterborough, etc., as a substitute for their steam power have been received by the Company sufficient for the total output of its plans.

Full information with illustrated pamphlet can be had by writing from J. A. Culverwell, Managing Director, at Toronto branch office.

GRANOLITHIC PAVEMENTS

Pavements and Sewers Recommended by Board of Works

On Friday night the Board of Works had under consideration various petitions for improvements, which, if granted will be charged for by a local tax on those benefitted. Certain improvements were recommended, and will likely be granted by the Council at their next session.

There were present at the meeting Ald. Adams, chairman of the Board of Works, Mayor Best, and Ald. Batten, Hall, Johnston and Hicks.

The tenders for street watering were opened and let to the following tenderers, whose figures were the lowest:

Northern District — Zimfi Blodgett, $370.

Southern District — Thos. Williamson, $360.

Western District — Geo. McLennan, $264.

Eastern District — Albert Valois, $300.

On motion of Ald. Hall and Batten, it was decided to recommend to the Council that sewers be constructed as local improvements on:

Park street, from King to Sherbrooke streets; west on Sherbrooke street and south on Park to Rink street.

On Reid street, from Charlotte to King street.

On Aylmer street, from Rink to Lake street.

On Lake street, from Aylmer to Crescent street.

On Barnardo avenue, from George to Church street.

The Board will also recommend to the Council at its next meeting that granolithic sidewalks be constructed on the following streets, on the usual terms on the following streets, viz.,

Hunter street, both sides, Bethune to Rubidge.

Simcoe street, both sides, Bethune to Rubidge.

London street, north side, Aylmer to Reid.

Antrim street, north side, George street to G.T.R. track.

Reid street, east side McDonnel to Hall street.

Brock street, south side, George to Water.

Brock street, north side, Rubidge to Reid.

Queen street, west side, Hunter to Simcoe.

Murray street, north side, College to Dickson.

Bethune street, east side, McDonnel to London.

Simcoe street, north side, Water to Queen.

Water street, west side, Simcoe street to Market Square.

McDonnel street, north side, Downie to Park.

Argyle street, south side, Water to Sunnyside street.

Hunter street, south side, present end to the bridge on Otonabee river.

Hunter street, east, south side, Mark to Rogers street.

Rogers street, west side, Hunter to Robinson.

Rogers street, west side, Hunter Rogers street, west side, Lot 5, plan 17, to Hazlett street.

Aylmer street, east side, London to culvert.

Smith street, north side, Water to Harvey.

Moved by Ald. Hall, seconded by Ald. Batten, that the chairman be authorized to engage Alex. Fitzgerald to superintend work on the streets when needed, at $2 a day, and that he be paid on the certificate of the Town Engineer.

Police Court

OFFICIALS

Chief of Police, G.I. Read
Magistrate, D.W. Dumble

At yesterday's Police Court judgement was delivered in the Allen case. As noted in former issues of this p.j.j. Mr. Allen, formerly proprietor of the C.P.R. Hotel was held accountable for the act of his barkeeper, Newton Herbert, in taking a watch in pawn, from one Lindsay, for the sum of $2. The evidence heard was very contradictory. Herbert maintaining that he purchased the watch outright from Lindsay, and Allen's lawyer, Mr. O'Connell, claiming that he, Allen, was not accountable for the act of Herbert.

Lindsay swore, and other witnesses in part, corroborated his evidence, that he had only pawned the watch. Section 192 of the License law pretty clearly established Mr. Allen's accountability for the act of his bartender. In summing up, his Worship referred to the contrary tone of the various witnesses and considered that Herbert did actually receive the watch in pawn. He found the defendant, Mr. Allen, guilty and placed the fine at $20 with $8.70 costs. By the time to this $28.70 is added $2 the difference between which Herbert sold the watch for, viz., $3 and the $5 he paid to redeem it, that itmight be returned to Lindsay, the owner, it makes a poor investment all round.

Walter Guy, who, as noted in a former issue, was up for non-support of his family, some few weeks ago, and who promised to absent himself from the domestic hearth for one month, could not withstand the yearnings after domesticity and free board. He went back, and now he is getting free board until to-morrow morning at Castle Nesbitt, awaiting a charge of vagrancy. He will be accommodated to-morrow morning.

Yesterday the Chief was called to investigate a trouble that might lead to most serious consequences. About a week ago some one, presumably boys, cut the strand of twisted wires that operate a semaphore where the street railway crosses the G.T.R. track at the south end of the town near Lock street. The damage appeared to have been done by a blunt instrument or by placing the wire between two stones and then pounding it apart. This offence was reported yesterday, when the Chief investigated in person. This is not only punishable by a very severe penalty, but is a great menace to human life. The street railway people, when a car has to cross the railroad tracks, pull a lever, which connected by this severed wire, raises an arm, shutting off the railroad traffic until the car has passed. In case of a close connection, a most serious accident might result from this thoughtless piece of vandalism. The Chief has a good idea who the culprit is, so this warning should suffice, even though a prosecution should not be pursued.

WHO STOLE THE MACHINE?

A local insurance man has a complaint. Last Wednesday he left his type-writer in his office, was absent from the office on Thursday and on Friday, when wanting the said machine, found it had disappeared. Now a history hangs thereby. It was reported to the police.

TO AVOID INFECTION

A Simple and Fairly Reliable Way to Which to Test Water

Now that the local water supply frequently exhibits the generosity of our Water Commissioners in throwing in fish, etc., for the one price of the water, it might be of use to those who do not care for free fish and other debris in their drink to learn an easy test for purity. Fill a clean pint bottle nearly full of water to be tested, and dissolve in it a half a teaspoonful of loaf or granulated sugar. Cork the bottle and keep in a warm place two days. If the water becomes cloudy or milky within forty-eight hours it is unfit for domestic use.

A SERIOUS ACCIDENT

Mr. Ed Raney, of Omemee, Received a Serious Scalp Wound, as the Result of a Fall

Yesterday morning, Mr. Ed. Grandy, of Omemee, who was a guest at the National Hotel, while coming down stairs slipped and fell, his head coming in contact with the railing. He received a serious scalp wound which required several stitches. Dr. Bradd was summoned and had him conveyed to the hospital where, on examination, it was found he was suffering from concussion of the brain and is in a critical condition.

At a late hour last night Mr. Grandy was doing nicely, and strong hopes are entertained for his recovery.

HORSE THIEF CAPTURED

Prompt Action by Chief McGinty and P. C. McGinty Saves Property

Last night P. C. McGinty had a long drive after a prisoner. Word came yesterday afternoon that a young man was trying to sell a horse and buggy at Springville for $40. This amount seemed so ridiculously cheap, that suspicion was aroused in the mind of Mr. Lang, a farmer residing near Springville. He at once called up the Chief, and notifying him of this man's action, in trying to sell the horse and buggy confirmed the Chief's suspicion by stating that the horse was completely played out from long and fast driving. He further said that when the lad could not sell the horse, he tried to borrow money, wherewith to get to Toronto. The Chief instructed Mr. Lang to hold the man, and immediately despatched P. C. McGinty, with instructions to make a record time getting to Springville. McGinty got there in time to arrest the young man, who was going to leave by the 9 o'clock train. The officer with his prisoner got back to town about 7 o'clock. Since his conversation with Mr. Lang, the Chief was told by his prisoner, T. Miles, that the horse belonged to Mr. Warren, a livery stable keeper in Lindsay. Warren was communicated with and informed the Chief that the young man had hired the horse and buggy from him, saying he wanted to drive three miles out of the town (Lindsay). The Lindsay livery man says the horse alone, is worth $125. Miles will stand trial this morning.

BURGLARS AT WORK

Mr. G. Laing's House Entered and Money and a Watch Stolen

Evidently the scare given the juvenile burglars last week has not frightened others from emulating the example set by them in house breaking. The residence of Mr. George Laing, which is in the same building as his store, was entered on Sunday afternoon, and $17 in money and a gold watch were stolen.

About three o'clock Sunday the members of the Laing family left home to attend Sunday school, and after locking the door left the key in the usual place. Upon their return at 4.30 they found the key where it had been placed, but upon entering the house discovered that during their absence someone had been in the house. Upon making a search it was found that the sum of money mentioned above, with the watch, was missing.

Naturally they were greatly surprised, and more so on account of the fact that the house had apparently not been broken into, and the thief or thieves had evidently found the key and secured entrance in this way.

This discovery led to the belief that the robbery had been committed by one who was acquainted with the place.

The police have their suspicions as to the party who committed this burglary and are likely to lay their hands on him soon.

Snow Shoe Club to Give A Dance

Invitations are out for the Peterborough Snow-Shoe Club dance on the evening of Thursday, April 27th, which gives promise of being the social event of the season. The affair will take place in the Foresters' Hall, Simcoe street, and those apartments will be handsomely decorated for the occasion. The music will be supplied by Musgrave, of Toronto, which in itself is a guarantee of a delightful time. The secretary of the dance is Mr. Gerald K. Rackham and the utmost efforts will be put forth by the Committee in charge to make the affair in keeping with the brilliant successes attained by the club in snow-shoeing circles during the past season.

AUSTRIA WAKES TO HER DANGER

Fate of Russia Port Arthur Fleet a Warning

ARE FORTIFYING HER BASE

So as to be Prepared for Trouble Should it Come

London, April 11.—The fate of the Russian Port Arthur fleet has awakened the Austrian naval authorities to a lively sense of the necessity of guarding against a similar disaster in the Adriatic. A comprehensive scheme is now being considered in order to make Pola, the great Austrian naval port, and arsenal, what is professed to be—an impregnable base of operations for the fleet. It is intended to provide the harbor with three strongly fortified outlets in place of the two now existing.

The Brioonian islands, which lie off the harbor, form, with the mainland, the Fasana canal, 800 yards broad. This will be narrowed to 400 yards, but there will be two moles running toward each other, one from the mainland south of the Maria Louisa fort and the other from the island below the Paneda group of forts. The moles will have a breadth of twenty yards. The direct outlet south of the Brioonian islands will remain as it is.

The third outlet will be formed by piercing the isthmus that forms the south-western boundary of the harbor. It is held that when these works are completed it will be impossible for an enemy to see the Austrian fleet, and Pola will be one of the safest and most strongly fortified harbors in the world.

Trieste will also be more strongly fortified and the garrison is to be greatly augmented.

DEAD IN BED

Sister of the Late General Grant Dies Suddenly

New York, April 11.—Mrs. Mary Frances Grant Cramer, a sister of General Ulysses S. Grant, and renowned in religious and charitable circles, was found dead in bed yesterday at the home of her sister, Mrs. Victoria Grant Corbin, East Orange. Paralysis of the heart caused the death, which was totally unexpected by her friends. She attended a prayer meeting Tuesday evening and seemed in the best of health. She was sixty-three years old.

Mrs. Cramer was the youngest of the six children of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Grant. The noted general being the oldest. She was married in 1903 to the Rev. Dr. Michael J. Cramer, who was for many years Minister at Copenhagen. His death was somewhat similar to that of Mrs. Cramer. They are survived by a son, Dr. Jesse Grant Cramer, of New York.

Girls Strike

The whole staff of girls employed at the Olympian Candy Works, corner of George and Charlotte streets yesterday, after duly discussing matters in a mass meeting, unanimously decided to go out on strike. They washed their hands, hung up their aprons, looked in the glass, curled their hair, looked in the glass, asked "Is my hat on straight?" looked in the glass, put on their jackets, looked in the glass, gave a final pout to that hat-pin and after a long look in the glass walked out, and were on strike. It is possible that a committee of arbitration may settle this international complication, and that every old thing will be lovely. The question is not one of wages so much as hours. Should a demonstration in force be made by the united host of striking girls, we trust that nothing serious will occur, and that full police protection be on hand. The full strength of the strikers consists of two girls, and they were real mad when they struck.

PETERBOROUGH, APRIL 11, 1905

A HOUSECLEANING QUERY

Trouble is coming. Trouble is loaded for your house, armed with mops, brushes, dust rags, bars of soap, pails of scouring; the air is full of the infernal odor of soapsuds, and the guns are loaded to the muzzle with the ammunition of spring housecleaning.

This editorial is written by a mere man. It is necessary to be thus personal to elucidate the point of view.

Why does a woman clean house spring and fall? Isn't the daily and weekly dusting, scrubbing and general discomfort sufficient for all purposes?

It would seem so. But just about the time the bluebirds come, and the pussy willows are at their best, your wife decides that the house must be ripped from center to circumference. If you don't like it you can move. If you do take up quarters in the barn, you are a flinty-hearted wretch, and don't you forget it. There isn't much that you can do except not say the things you think. Later, you may be allowed to beat the carpets, but you cannot hope to compete with the hired man at that task, and if you are particularly pleasant you will be allowed to wear out your knees and temper while pulling tacks. If you have never removed tacks from a hardwood floor with the back of a case-knife you have not experienced real life, but you are to be congratulated.

But why all this fuss in the closing days of the windy month of March? The home looks fine. There may be a little dust under the lounge, and the wallpaper needs a lick or two at the hands of the cleaner, but beyond that, what mocks it?

Microbes live in dust. They bother the human family little until the dust is stirred and scattered. Why not leave well enough alone?

We have in mind a good woman who moved into a new house on April 1. The carpenters had left it clean. You could dine off the floors and sup in the cellar without fear of dirt. It was spotless from basement to garret. And the good woman moved in, and her first act was to clean house.

Why do they do it? We will admit that we are stumped.

NO RECALL NEEDED

Some contemporaries think that the Dominion Government should ask for the "recall" of Mgr. Sbarretti, the meddlesome Italian who has been helping Laurier to coerce Canadians. But the Government should do nothing of the sort, says the Hamilton Spectator. To do that would be equal to an intimation that the Italian gentleman is some sort of recognized ambassador from the Vatican to Canada, which he is not. He is simply a meddlesome foreigner, who has no business whatever to take an active part in the politics of Canada, a nuisance who has no official status. To be sure, he is here at the invitation of the Premier of Canada, and of Hon. Mr. Fitzpatrick, but they had no right to ask him to come to Canada to interfere with Canadian politics, and he had no right to accept their invitation. Now that he has got Sir Wilfrid into a serious scrape, it might be well for the Premier, as a son of the church, to intimate to him that he had better go home; but as the Premier of Canada, Sir Wilfrid Laurier has no right to even acknowledge his presence here.

EASTER CANADIAN MAGAZINE

Judging from the Easter (April) number of The Canadian Magazine, the publication of a lack of enterprise. The special colored cover, the beautiful colored illustrations, and the excellent quality of the material, combine to make this issue a notable one. Katherine Hale writes glowingly of Michelangelo's famous frescoes in the Sistine Chapel at Rome, and the striking contrasts. The Creation of Man, is the subject of the frontispiece. Albert R. Carman, another Canadian journalist, describes the Petit Trianon and the peculiar circumstances under which it was constructed for Louis XVI. The Motor Car of 1905 is a timely article with numerous illustrations. The six large reproductions of Russo-Japanese war scenes, made direct from original photographs, are valuable and instructive. There are short stories by W. A. Fraser, Theodore Roberts and Isabel Ecclestone Mackay, an installment of the serial story of the War of 1812, a translation from the Russian, and the usual well-packed departments. The poetry of the number is contributed by Dr. Thompson (of St. Francis Xavier College), Florence Maclure, Vernon Nott, Inglis Morse and Virna Sheard—all well-known Canadian writers. Every patriotic citizen may take pride in this issue of the national publication.

THE DELINEATOR FOR MAY

Among the women's magazines none will be read with greater interest than the May Delineator, which appears with a varied and attractive table of contents. The news of the fashion world is reported in a number of special articles, and the choicest of the season's dress productions are illustrated. Chief among the literary features is Albert Bigelow Paine's serial story, "The Lucky Piece," which grows upon the reader with the second installment and promises most interesting developments in the succeeding chapters. Sewell Ford and Seumas MacManus also contribute fictions, the latter an inimitable story of Irish life. N. Hudson Moore writes concerning old chairs in "The Collector's Manual," "A Duet in Brittany" is an enjoyable travel sketch by W. W. Newton, D. D., and Dr. W. R. C. Latson contributes an article on "Housework as a Recreation," illustrating the proper methods of performing household duties so that they become profitable and pleasurable instead of disagreeable tasks, as they are usually regarded. Dr. Murray discusses "The Child's Bath"—in a paper that will be helpful to young mothers, and Allan Sutherland tells something of the origin and romance of Kathy's famous hymn, "Sun of My Soul." For the young people, there are amusements of various kinds and stories by such entertaining writers are as L. Frank Baum, Grace MacGowan Cooke, Irene Harrington Wright and others, and a large amount of space is devoted to domestic topics, among which attention may be called particularly to the article after another, a dozen different Housewife."

PARIS FEARS A PLOT

Remarkable Rumors Arising From a Recent Arrest

Paris, April 10. — Remarkable rumors are arising from the recent arrest of Capt. Tamburini, of the French army, who is on furlough, and a civilian of the name of Meyer. A search of their houses revealed quantities of military uniforms and cartridges. So far as is apparent, the affair is nothing more than a surprisingly successful embezzlement of Government stores, but some of the newspapers and a number of politicians with axes to grind are basing sensational stories upon the discovery, implying that a treason-conspiracy is afoot. The name of Col. Marchand, the "hero of Fashoda," is dragged into the affair as a matter of course, although he is now in Morocco.

M. Maher, a member of the Chamber of Deputies, caused a sensation in Parliament this evening by declaring in the lobbies that a while ago he received letters informing him that a military conspiracy was on foot to overthrow the Republic. He notified Prime Minister Rouvier, who astonished him by admitting that he had received similar information. M. Reber's letters were handed over to the Minister of Justice. They are regarded as being important, it being alleged that they reveal a plot in favor of Prince Victor Napoleon.

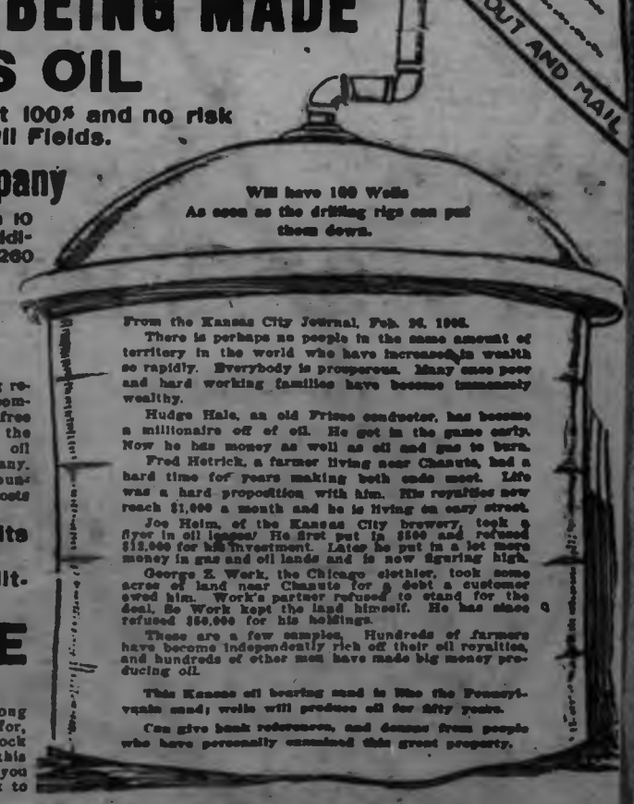
FORTUNES ARE BEING MADE IN KANSAS OIL

Here's a fortune for you. Not 10% but 100% and no risk of loss. Giant of the Oil Fields.



The Midland Oil and Gas Company

has over 180 acres of oil land and has put down 10 wells, so the land is proved up. An adjoining additional 80 was secured yesterday, making over 260 acres all in the proven belt. Just read this:

The U. S. report on the oil industry places the average daily production of Pennsylvania wells at only one-half a barrel each per day. The Midland wells are pumping

Sixty Barrels a Day Each.

The pumping plant has just been started and this is the surprising result. Nothing like it in the world. The officers and directors of this company are bank men and do not believe in debts, so the company is free from debt. They have nearly $20,000 in cash and bills receivable in the treasury and everything paid for—property, wells, pumping plant, oil tanks, well cleaning machine and everything connected with the company. Have two drilling rigs working night and day sinking wells. Have abundance of gas, which runs the drills and pumping plant, so it only costs about $5.00 a day to produce and market the oil.

The Company has about 33 per cent of its stock in the treasury as a reserve.

For a short time the Company will sell a little more of its stock at only

We could talk all day about it and not cover all the strong points. But as the company has this grand property paid for, there is only one side to it, and that is profit. From the Kansas City Journal, Feb. 26, 1905.

There is perhaps no people in the same amount of territory in the world who have increased in wealth so rapidly. Everybody is prosperous. Many once poor and hard working families have become immensely wealthy.

Hudge Hale, an old Frisco conductor, has become a millionaire off of oil. He got in the game early. Now he has money as well as oil and gas to burn.

Fred Hetrick, a farmer living near Chanute, had a hard time for years making both ends meet. Life was a hard proposition with him. His royalties now reach $1,000 a month and he is living on easy street.

Joe Helm, of the Kansas City brewery, took a flyer in oil leases. He first put in $100 and refused $12,000 for his investment. Later he put in a lot more money in gas and oil lands and is now figuring high.

George Z. Work, the Chicago clothier, took some acres of land near Chanute for a debt a customer owed him. Work's partner refused to stand for the deal. So Work kept the land himself. He has since refused $50,000 for his holdings.

These are a few samples. Hundreds of farmers have become independently rich off their oil royalties, and hundreds of other men have made big money producing oil.

This Kansas oil bearing sand is like the Pennsylvania sand; wells will produce oil for fifty years.

Can give bank references, and dozens from people who have personally examined this great property.

Peter B. Summers, of Kalamazoo, Mich., relates his experience:—"I was troubled with Nervous Debility for many years. I lay it to indiscretion and excesses in early youth. I became very despondent and didn't care whether I worked or not. I imagined everybody who looked at me, guessed my secret. Imaginative dreams at night weakened me—my back ached, had pains in the back of my head, hands and feet were cold, tired in the morning, poor appetite, fingers were shaky, eyes blurred, hair loose, memory poor, etc. Numbness in the fingers set in and the doctor told me he feared paralysis. I took all kinds of medicines and tried many first-class physicians, were an electric belt for three months, went to Mt. Clemens for baths, but received little benefit. While at Mt. Clemens I was induced to consult Drs. Kennedy & Kergan, though I had lost all faith in doctors. Like a drowning man I commenced the N. M. Method Treatment and it saved my life. The improvement was like magic—I could feel the vigor going through my nerves. I was cured mentally, physically and sexually. I have sent them many patients and will continue to do so."

A HIGH GRADE INDUSTRIAL AND MINING INVESTMENT

We have thoroughly investigated it and found it to be right in every respect. Did you ever have a chance to invest in a straight legitimate money making proposition? If not,

THIS IS YOUR OPPORTUNITY

We own a monopoly of the water right privileges in the Thunder Mountain mining district, State of Idaho, U.S.A.; seven water rights in all; one developed and in use. The property of the Company consists of over 1600 acres, with plenty of timber for building and mining purposes, a saw mill fully equipped and in operation, a 10-stamp mill now on its way from the R. R. Station to the property, and 40 additional stamps to be purchased at once and installed during the coming summer. This is the largest and most favorably situated property in the district. Some of the tunnels have been driven over 400 ft., cross-cutting many dikes, demonstrating that we have an inexhaustible body of ore. The ore bodies are sampled by an assayer every 10 ft., and assays run from 40c. to $800 per ton. The ore is free milling, and can be mined and milled for about $1.00 per ton.

This Company has had a phenomenal growth, and "The Thunder Mountain Prospector," published at Roosevelt, Idaho, where the property is located, states that this Company is three times as large as any other Company operating in the district. 30 men at work on the property. Over $60,000 worth of stock sold within the last 90 days. Only 100,000 shares more to be sold at 25c. per share. You cannot afford to miss this opportunity; investigate at once.

WINNIPEG'S GREAT FUTURE

Thinks the Population of the City Will be Doubled

Montreal, April 10. — Mr. W. L. Orde, of Winnipeg, who is a guest at the Windsor, is of the opinion that that city will have a population of 100,000 by the end of the year, and that the population will double itself in ten years.

Mr. Orde, is a greater degree of public spirit. We want men who will tell the world what we have, and what we are. Values of residential property have increased in Winnipeg 40 per cent. during the past two years, and you can put that down as a very conservative estimate. Today there is not a vacant house or store in Winnipeg, and a great amount of building has been carried on during the winter months.

Being questioned about the former large tracts of vacant lands in the vicinity of Winnipeg, Mr. Orde replied that a great deal of this had been built upon, although there was still a great deal of money to be made with the vacant farm lands quite near the city. A great deal of this had been occupied by progressive farmers during the last decade, yet a good deal still remained.

HOMESTEAD REGULATIONS

Any even numbered section of Dominion lands in Manitoba or the North-west Territories, excepting 8 and 26, which has not been homesteaded, or reserved to provide wood lots for settlers, or for other purposes, may be homesteaded upon by any person who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years of age, to the extent of one-quarter section of 160 acres more or less.

ENTRY

Entry may be made personally at the local land office for the district in which the land to be taken is situate, or if the homesteader desires, he may, on application to the Minister of the Interior, Ottawa; the Commissioner of Immigration Winnipeg, or the local agent for the district in which the land is situate, receive authority for some one to make entry for him. A fee of $10 is charged for a homestead entry.

HOMESTEAD DUTIES

A settler who has been granted an entry for a homestead is required by the provisions of the Dominion Lands Act, and the amendments thereto, to perform the conditions connected therewith, under one of the following plans:

(1) At least six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each year during the term of three years. It is the practice of the Department to require a settler to bring 15 acres under cultivation, but if he prefers he may substitute stock; and 20 head of cattle, to be actually his own property, with buildings for their accommodation, will be accepted instead of the cultivation.

(2) If the father (or mother, if the father is deceased), of any person who is eligible to make a homestead entry under the provisions of this Act, resides upon a farm in the vicinity of the land entered for by such person as a homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence prior to obtaining patent may be satisfied by such person residing with the father or mother.

(3) If a settler was entitled to and has obtained entry for a second homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence prior to obtaining patent may be satisfied by residence upon the first homestead, if the second homestead is in the vicinity of the first homestead.

(4) If the settler has his permanent residence upon farming land owned by him in the vicinity of his homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence may be satisfied by residence upon the said land.

The term "vicinity" used above is meant to indicate the same township, or an adjoining or corresponding township.

A settler who avails himself of the provisions of clauses (2), (3) or (4) must cultivate 30 acres of his homestead, or substitute 30 head of stock, with buildings for their accommodation, and have broken 30 acres substantially fenced.

The privilege of a second entry is restricted by law to those settlers only who completed the duties upon their first homesteads to entitle them to patent on or before the 2nd of June, 1889.

Every homesteader who fails to comply with the requirements of the homestead law is liable to have his entry cancelled and the land may again be thrown open for entry.

APPLICATION FOR PATENT

Should be made at the end of three years, before the Local Agent, Sub-Agent or the Homestead Inspector. Before making application for patent the settler must give six months notice in writing to the Commissioner of Dominion Lands at Ottawa of his intention to do so.

INFORMATION

Newly arrived immigrants will receive, at the Immigration Offices in Winnipeg, or at any Dominion Lands Office in Manitoba or the North-west Territories, information as to the lands that are open for entry, and from the officers in charge, free of expense, advice and assistance in securing lands to suit them. Full information respecting the land, timber, coal and mineral laws, as well as respecting Dominion Lands in the Railway Belt in British Columbia, may be obtained upon application to the Secretary of the Department of the Interior, Ottawa; the Commissioner of Immigration, Winnipeg, Manitoba, or to any of the Dominion Lands Agents in Manitoba or the North-west Territories.

W. W. CORY,
Deputy Minister of the Interior.

N. B.—In addition to Free Grant Lands, to which the Regulations above stated refer, thousands of acres of most desirable lands are available for lease or purchase from railroad and other corporations and private firms in Western Canada.

NEW CHINESE REGULATION

Chinese Must Become British Subjects

Montreal, April 10. — The United States government has taken steps to enforce the Chinese living in Canada to become British subjects, or they will not be allowed to cross the line under any consideration. The circular announcing it has been issued from the office of the Department of Commerce and Labor at Washington. The circular, in part, says:

Chinese merchants living in Canada will not be permitted hereafter to enter the United States unless they have become British subjects. It appears that an agreement was entered into between the United States Government and China in 1894, which agreed upon certain privileges and restrictions in regard to Chinese immigration. It allowed the Chinese residing in Canada certain liberties. The agreement expired in December last, and the Government cannot under the present state of the law admit the Celestials unless they comply with the requirements of the United States law.

LINEVITCH READY

Has Succeeded in Concentrating His Whole Army

Paris, April 10.—The St. Petersburg correspondent of the Petit Parisien telegraphs that the Russians are now exactly halfway between Mukden and Kuangchangtse, which is the junction of the Manchurian Railroad and the branch running to Kirin. Gen. Linevitch's headquarters are at the railway station at Souanzanku, which is a strong natural position. He has succeeded in concentrating his whole army and has left sufficient force at Kirin to hold that position. The front of the Russian army now extends for only twenty-seven miles. The army is supposed to be in a fit state to meet the Japanese.

The Journal's St. Petersburg correspondent is informed that the new mobilization is actually in progress, although it is being effected secretly, and that train loads of soldiers are leaving daily for Manchuria.

They Sat all Night

London, April 10.—The House of Commons, which sat all night discussing the Army Bill, not adjourning until 9.15 a.m., resumed its labors at noon to-day, when the bill legalizing marriage with a deceased wife's sister came up for its annual discussion. The effect of the nineteen-hour session, however, was seen in the vacant benches, and it was an hour after the usual time of opening before a quorum was secured.

The Globe Escaped

London, April 10.—The London office of the Toronto Globe had a narrow escape from serious damage in the early hours of this morning. Fire did considerable damage to a restaurant next door, and also to some of the offices on the first floor. The Outer Temple suffered, but the Globe, on the second floor, escaped damage.

By a for the Army

London, April 10.—The Daily Express announces that a movement is on foot to form a "Legion of Frontiersmen" to organise Englishmen throughout the Empire into an auxiliary intelligence department on a volunteer basis, to act as intelligence officers in concert with the War Office. The inaugural meeting will be held next Monday at Lord Lonsdale's House.

WHAT WIRELESS IS—WHY IT WORKS

(This is the third of four chapters dealing with this most important scientific phenomenon.)

By means of preceding chapters, Wireless telegraphy was made possible through the discovery that the air was charged with electricity, but which was moving about with no certain direction. Signor Marconi was the first to harness this strange force and make it do his bidding, and thus he has done through the medium of the numerous which are as simple as the telegraph and utensil, and which involve no worry with the attendant expense of putting up and maintaining the same. The instruments make it possible to guide the current in the air so as to make it carry the message at the will of the sender to the receiving station, where it may be read as easily as a letter.

CHAPTER III.

We have seen, in the previous chapter, how it is possible to utilize the forces of nature which makes it possible for the electricity in the air to carry the wireless message. Then we have seen how simple in principle are the instruments which control this force. For a better understanding, we will trace the course of an actual message.

The coming Summer will see new Marconi stations built at Halifax, N.S., and at Whittle Rocks, Labrador. A message may be sent from Halifax to Whittle Rocks. This message is handed to the sending operator at Halifax. Through the apparatus on the table before him, a current of electricity is passing from the dynamo, in an adjoining room, through the instrument on the table, and back to the dynamo. Upon receiving the message, he throws a small switch, which changes the course of the current, so that it passes up the wire outside of the station instead of back to the dynamo. The sending operator alternately presses down and releases a lever. Brilliant flashes of electricity jump between two brass rods, protruding across the front of the sending instrument every time that the lever is depressed, and the circuit completed. This is the instrument, previously referred to, which snaps the message off the wire like the snap of a whip and which adds to the distinct spacing between the dots and dashes. The operator varies the length of time that he keeps the lever depressed, and in that way makes long or short signals of dashes and dots which are the telegrapher's signs, equivalent to the letters of the alphabet.

At the receiving station at Whittle Rocks, another operator hears a click and knows that the lever on his machine has moved; that a current is passing through it, and that probably a message is coming. He hears the signal call of his station, and opening a lever on the adjoining apparatus, acknowledges his call. As the dots and dashes roll off without interruption, he translates each combination into the letter which they represent, and the message is written down.

If we could have been at Whittle Rocks when the message was received, or at the Halifax office when the reply was recorded, we might have seen another little instrument doing its work at the same time the receiving lever was clicking off the dots and dashes. We would have noticed a little wheel at one side of the receiving apparatus moving up and down very slightly, and exactly as moved the lever of the receiving apparatus which clicked off the message. We would have found that the edge of the wheel was covered with ink, and that every time it was depressed, it made a mark on a paper tape running under it. These marks were short or long, like dots and dashes, and were duplicates of the dots and dashes made by the big lever. This is the automatic receiver, known as the Wheatstone recorder, that records all messages passing through the receiving instrument. Thus, we would realize that the system had been so thoroughly developed, that every possible provision had been made to guard against mistakes in the transmission of a message. Of course, it takes time to work out all the details of such instruments, but the progress already made proves that Signor Marconi has mastered the hardest part of the problem, and that future development will go forward by leaps and bounds.

(The final chapter, and by far the most interesting of the series, will appear in this paper one week from today. Do not miss it.)

GOVERNMENT ENDORSEMENT

MARCONI WIRELESS TELEGRAPH SYSTEM

O. G. V. Spain, Commander of the Canadian Marine Service, has made his report to the Deputy Minister of Marine and Fisheries, at Ottawa. In that part of the report which deals with the subject of Wireless Telegraphy, there is nothing but favorable comment for the Marconi system as it is installed in the several stations along the St. Lawrence Gulf and River. Among the many favorable comments which he makes, the following are synopsised and are worth serious consideration as they come from a disinterested source, from a government official thoroughly qualified to express an opinion and from a shrewd observer who is reporting his conclusions from practical tests and indisputable data. He says in part:

(1.) All the stations installed have given a satisfactory service and a large number of messages are passing between the stations and ships regularly.

(2.) All the stations are reporting ships and shipping intelligence to Lloyd's agent at Quebec.

(3.) In many instances vessels have been in communication with Marconi shore stations when enveloped in thick fog, and have found the wireless system an invaluable supplementary aid to the existing fog signal service.

(4.) News of current events furnished to all steamers has proved a boon to passengers and is increasing the popularity of the St. Lawrence route for travellers.

(5.) The important aid to navigation rendered by the Dominion Government in the matter of wireless telegraphy has been greatly appreciated by the Shipping Federation and shipping interests in general.

(6.) The Government has decided to increase the power of the St. Lawrence stations, and to add new stations, so that intercommunication may be had by means of the Marconi system from Rame Point to Belle Isle or Cape Ray. The enormous advantage justifies this step on the part of the Government, because the captain of a steamer will then be able to know just the weather conditions prevailing along the entire St. Lawrence a few hours after leaving Quebec, and can direct his course accordingly.

A more favorable criticism of

would be hard to find. It not only unqualifiedly credits the Company with a great success up to the present time, but it indicates the confidence which the Government has in the future success of the Company. It goes further, and indicates that the Government will continue to lend its aid until a complete circuit of stations to meet all possible demands shall have been installed. It tells of the favorable impression which the service has made upon private shippers and the travelling public as well as the Government. These endorsements from every conceivable source could not have been won if the Company and the system upon which it works were not a complete and unparalleled success.

THE SUCCESS IS NOT SENTIMENTAL, BUT PRACTICAL

and it will mean a steadily increasing revenue for the Company. That revenue will shortly exceed the needs of the Company, and then it will be distributed among those who are stockholders therein. Even before there is a division of the profits annually, there will be an increase in the value of the stock by investors looking for a share of the dividends to be declared. But the shrewdest investor of all is the one who purchases the stock now and shares in the first and every subsequent advance in the stock as well as in the profits. We cannot begin to tell you even a small part of the many things which the company has done, is going to do, and which make its future as attractive as that of the most profitable enterprise in the history of the world of finance. Write for further particulars, but REMEMBER THAT AN INVESTMENT AT THIS TIME WILL BE AT THE LOWEST PRICE WHICH THE STOCK WILL SEE, and that this opportunity will not long be before you. Therefore INVEST now. You can now buy any amount of stock from one share to two hundred shares, and at $5 each. DON'T WAIT. If you are in Montreal, call at our office in the Canada Life Building and see a demonstration of how the Marconi system works, for the instruments for the purpose are installed there.

BETTER THAN GOLDFIELDS NEVADA

The East Pacific Mining Co.

OF HELENA, MONTANA

OFFERS FIFTY THOUSAND SHARES of its Treasury Stock for sale at

$1.50 PER SHARE

All the money received from the sale of this stock will be used to place larger and improved machinery at the mines; to install an electric power line; and install a large compressor and hoist capable of sinking the property at least one thousand feet deeper. When these improvements and betterments are made the cost of operating the mine will be reduced one-half, and good dividends be continuous and certain.

CONCENTRATOR PURCHASED

We have just purchased a concentrator, and we will begin erecting same immediately, and expect to start same by May 10th. Dividends will commence about the first of July.

We are much gratified at the number of orders we have received in the last two weeks from letters we have sent to different parties throughout the country, and from present indications all of our first issue of stock will be subscribed for inside of thirty days.

The mines are located twenty miles east of Helena, Montana, and have been worked for a number of years, but after closing down for two years were started up again July, 1904. Up to March 1st, 1905, these mines have produced $1,330,898 93, leaving a net profit of $570,346 85. In the month of November, 1904, we encountered some very high grade ore below the lowest level, which assays as follows:—

No. 1 Assay.	Gold ounces.	Silver ounces.	Value.
West of winze, intermediate drift	3685.60	1197,	$74,406.2
No. 2 Assay.
Immediate below No. 4 Tunnel	3351.20	1388.80	77,829.50

In January we pulverized 112 pounds of rich ore, which gave us an average taken from four assays of 885.38 oz. gold and 254.38 oz. silver, with a gold scales caught on screen worth $577.60 per ton, making a total valuation of this ore worth $17,551.74 per ton. This 112 pounds brought us $944.00.

ORE RESERVES

Consist of over 23,000 tons of second class concentrating ore mined and placed upon the different dumps with a gross valuation of $250,000.00 according to measurement, and concentrating and assay tests. Besides there is in the old stopes of the mine over 10,000 tons of concentrating ore with a value of $100,000, and a block of ground in the mine, 500 feet by 234 feet, averaging from six inches to three feet in width, worth over $150,000, and new ore is being placed in sight daily.

With these facts and figures it is asked why any of the stock of this company should be offered for sale at any price. The reason is this: The company desires to spend $75,000 without interfering with the workings of this mine to install improved machinery and develop the mine to a further depth of 1500 feet.

Now is your time to invest in a good paying proposition that will last from ten to fifteen years and pay from two to five cents per share per month during that time. We ask everyone who reads this advertisement to come and visit the property, or make any investigation that they desire. The officers of the company are R. A. Bell, Mining Operator, fifteen years, President; A. L. Smith, Vice-President National Bank of Montana, Treasurer; Wm. H. Dickinson, Cashier National Bank of Montana, Secretary. Powerful Healing Effective Cure

FOR COLDS, COUGHS, CATARRH BRONCHITIS AND ASTHMA

Simply Inhale Catarrhozone; it Cures Because it Goes where the Disease Actually Is.

These diseases cannot be cured by stomach medicines; they must be treated locally. Catarrhozone is inhaled to the very source of the trouble, and gives the diseased membranes local treatment with the strongest, most-healing antiseptics known.

After one trial of Catarrhozone you will wonder how you ever lived without it. Nasty colds in the head it cures in an hour; coughs are stopped in two hours, and catarrh and bronchitis are relieved at once. Nothing could be simpler or more pleasant than to inhale the fragrant vapor of Catarrhozone. Nothing is half so certain to cure your trouble permanently.

Now is proof of Catarrhozone's merit lacking, for it is endorsed more strongly by the medical profession than any other remedy. Its superiority to-day is unquestioned, and its sale by far exceeds that of any other two remedies on this market. Why? Because it does what is claimed for it—cures permanently those who use it for any disease of the breathing organs.

Mr. S. E. MacAuley, the well-known attorney of Portland, endorses Catarrhozone in the following letter. "I am anxious to make known that after three years' suffering from weak throat and catarrh, I have been cured by Catarrhozone.' I was treated by many doctors of wide reputation. I have used scores of different remedies. I have suffered everything catarrh entails, and I am convinced that no medicine is so sure to cure as Catarrhozone, which did me untold good and completely eradicated this awful disease from my system.'

Complete outfit, guaranteed to cure costs $1, sample size 25c. At all druggists or N. C. Polson & Co., Kingston, Ont., or Hartford, Conn., U.S.A. Beware of substitutes and insist on getting Catarrhozone when you ask for it.

—There will be a meeting of the House Committee of the Y.W.C.A. today at 3 p.m.

—The Christian Endeavor of St. Paul's church are generously donating a beautiful clock for the hall of the Public Department in the new building. The thanks of the House Committee are due the society which has in this way shown its interest in the work of the Young Women's Christian Association.

Marry, Money or More Orderly

At the Whitby Assizes they believe in hustling business. Miss M. C. McArthur sued and got $3.25 judgement for breach of promise against Herbert Doble. This amount will soothe the fair one's lacerated heart if whacked up inside of 15 days, if not the amount is to be $1,000 with the costs added. Verily girls in that section don't approve of this sitting about, burning up the old man's gas, wearing out the best sofa, and then changing one's mind. This is proved by her action and the hustle she gets on in collecting it.

Wedding Bells

Referring to the marriage of Mr. F. W. Kennedy, of town, which was celebrated last week in that city, the Toronto Globe says: On Wednesday afternoon Mr. F. W. Kennedy, of Peterborough, was married to Miss Laura Robinson, of Toronto. The wedding took place at the home of the bride's mother, Bolton avenue, and was attended by only the relatives. The wedding march was played by Mr. George Rutherford, of Lavireri, Man., cousin of the bride. The ceremony was performed by the bride's brother, Rev. T. Robinson, pastor of St. Mark's Presbyterian church, Toronto. The bride was given away by her brother, Mr. Harry Robinson. A dainty dejeuner was served in the dining room, where the tables were tastefully decorated with roses and carnations. Mr. and Mrs. Kennedy took the 8 o'clock C.P.R. train for the west. Mrs. Kennedy is already well known in Peterborough circles, where she will reside.

A GREAT TREAT

A Great Lecturer Coming to Peterborough Next Week

Ashmead Bartlett, the London Times correspondent, who was through the whole siege and entered Port Arthur with the Japanese, is to give his lecture in the opera house, Peterborough, on Wednesday evening of next week. It is to be illustrated by over 1,000 views taken by him during the siege. He witnessed all the great assaults, the explosion and final capture. He entered the town with the Japanese army, and saw for himself the condition of the fortress. A feature of the lecture will be the true history of the Russian fleet and its misfortunes related by the actual actors in the naval drama, and illustrated by numerous photographs of the vessels themselves. Mr. Bartlett gave his lecture in Jersey City a few nights ago, and the Journal says; "Mr. Bartlett is a most interesting speaker, holding the attention of his audience without the slightest effort, both because of the real value of what he has to say and because of the charming way in which he says it."

—Mr. Geo. Maitland left for Port Hope yesterday morning with a gang of men to complete several large orders taken by Joseph H. Symons, representing the Peterborough Cement Roofing Company, Limited, at Durham county.

A FOOD STORY

Makes a Woman of 70 "Good as 30,000."

The widow of one of Ohio's most distinguished newspaper editors and a famous leader in politics in his day, says she is 70 years old and a "stronger woman than you will find in ten thousand," and she credits her fine physical condition to the use of Grape-Nuts:

"Many years ago I had a terrible fall which permanently injured my stomach. For 14 years I lived on a preparation of corn starch and milk, but it grew so repugnant to me that I had to give it up. Then I tried, one after another, a dozen different kinds of cereals, but the process of digestion gave me great pain.

"It was not until I began to use Grape-Nuts food three years ago that I found relief. It has proved, with the dear Lord's blessing, a great boon to me. It brought me health and vigor such as I never expected to again enjoy, and in gratitude I never fail to sound its praises." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

There's a reason.

Look for it in the little book, "The Road to Wellville," to be found in every pkg.

—Not only are there several residences being erected in the south end of the town, but a number of good houses are being put up in the north end.

—Andrew Webb, Wm. Galbraith, Jonathan Smith and James Brown are among those who are building houses on the west side of Sherbrooke street.

—To-night in Grace church a special evangelistic service will be held, and as a consequence the Holiness meeting announced for the George street church, has been postponed.

—The local Orange lodges will celebrate the 12th of July in Omemee this year. It is a great many years since the Orangemen of this district visited Omemee, but the demonstration promises to be one of the largest and most successful ever held.

—Where was Moses when the light went out? In Peterborough Sunday night just as crowds were blindly groping their way along the streets which were wrapped in darkness. The electric light people must have got a leaf year's almanac which prophesied moonlight.

—George street choir added very materially to the enjoyment of the services on Sunday. There was a large attendance and anthems and solos were well taken. Mr. James Brown sang two solos Sunday evening in good voice and with excellent expression.

—It has been suggested by a number of citizens that a society parade should be a prominent feature in connection with the civic inauguration demonstration. Each society might get up a float or special car and prizes be offered for the most attractive one.

—Among the conveyns to which incorporation has been recently granted is the Lakefield Furniture and Manufacturing Company, Limited; share capital $150,000. Provisional directors are James F. Lillicrap, Arch. A. Dickson, Edmund R. Tate, Harry W. Evenden and James Morrison. Head office at Toronto.

—The glue factory that was to have been located in the outlying suburbs of Auburnham, Ont. Hully decided, it is understood, to locate in Guelph, at some considerable distance from the city. Still we are not really free yet from bad smells, as the malodorous cigarette is still extant.

—Four hundred boys from the Barnardo Home, ages ranging from eight to eighteen, sailed for Canada on March 31st. Before leaving London, they sang the "Glory Song" and were addressed by Mr. Alexander of the Torrey-Alexander Mission. Miss Mamie V. Clarke will sing the "Glory Song" at Park Street revival to-night.

—Mr. Harry Evans, street commissioner, states that it was impossible to scrape certain streets until soft weather sets in. A force of men, armed with hoes and shovels were working yesterday. As to street watering, he stated that on account of standpipes being frozen it was almost impossible to get water.

—Councillor Maloney, chairman of the Bridge Committee, is calling for tenders for the erection of abutments to the new bridge on the Indian river on the boundary line between Douro and Otonabee. The tenders, which will be for work executed in either stone masonry or concrete will be received up to the 21st inst.

—Mr. John F. Ballantyne, 93 Patterson street, the gentleman who was instrumental in having a million of Pickerell fry planted in the river, two years ago this spring intends to try to secure some brook trout fry which he will place in the river between Peterborough and Lakefield. He thinks that the conditions in that party of the stream are very favorable.

—As noted in a former issue, Mr. T. J. Tilley, of this town, has been appointed manager of the Lindsay telephone exchange. Mr. C. D. Dyke, his predecessor in that position has been transferred to the manager-ship at Belleville, the date of his promotion taking effect on 1st May. He went to Lindsay three and a half years ago, and has increased the business of the Bell Company in Lindsay 40 per cent. It would be an interesting comparison to see what percentage in telephone subscribers has been added to this exchange, by Mr. Dunn, in the same period.

Blood

Keep your blood clean as you keep your body clean. You don't wait until your body is foul before you cleanse it.

It is a matter of surprise that many people who are so careful to have clean bodies make no effort to keep the blood clean. Everyone knows that uncleanness breeds disease; that those who do not keep their bodies in a wholesome condition and who dwell in filthy surroundings are the first to fall when some epidemic of disease sweeps the country. But foul blood is more dangerous to the individual than a foul body. An unclean body is rather a passive than an active hindrance to health; but unclean blood is an active threat against the very life—it makes the body a prepared breeding place for disease.

It is part of Nature's plan for human safety that in many cases where the blood is impure or corrupt she sets a sign on the body in proof of the corrupt current that is flowing through the veins. Scrofula with its disfiguring sores and scars, eczema with its irritation, salt-rheum, tetter, erysipelas, boils, pimples and other eruptions are only the outward signs of the impurity of the blood. But often in the earlier or simpler stages of the blood's impurity there are no outward signs of this condition; only dull, languid, sluggish feelings, which are commonly attributed solely to the sluggishness of the liver.

Of all preparations for purifying the blood Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery easily takes the first place. It eliminates from the blood the elements which clog and corrupt it, and which breed and feed disease. It acts directly on the blood-making glands, increasing their activity, and so increasing the supply of rich, pure blood which is the life of the body.

Accept no substitute for "Golden Medical Discovery." There is nothing "just as good" for diseases of the stomach, blood and lungs.

Dr. Pierce's Medical Adviser, paper covers, is sent free on receipt of 21 one-cent stamps to pay customs and mailing only. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

THE JAPS WILL CARRY WAR EAST OF HARBIN.

Are Bringing Their Army Up to a Million Men And Improving Artillery--Kelung to be Base for Admiral Togo's Fleet.

Tokio, April 12.—Japan is meeting the Russian plan of re-organization and re-inforcement of its Manchurian armies with an extensive expedition from its own military organization. The details and figures are carefully concealed of what seems to be a plan to double the present army units, but it is reliably estimated that by autumn next the total military organization will exceed a million men actually employed in the field. The fighting force is roughly estimated at 700,000 men, with increases largely in the infantry and artillery, although an enlargement in the cavalry branch is also contemplated.

As a result of the manufacture at the arsenals in Japan, together with captures and purchases of guns, it is predicted that this year will see a Japanese artillery superior to that of the Russian, in quality as well as numerically, and it is confidently believed that the Russians will be incapable of overcoming these numerical disadvantages. Wherever railway improvements are possible, they will be carried out when Japan will be sufficiently strong to take and hold Harbin, and simultaneously continue operations against the Russian forces to the eastward of that city.

JAP'S NAVAL BASE.

Washington, April 12.—Minister Griscom at Tokio has cabled the State Department that he has been advised of the closing of Kelung to foreign ships until further notice. Kelung is a port on the north end of the Island of Formosa. It is believed here that the action of the Japanese Government in closing Kelung indicates that this port will be used by Admiral Togo as a base for his fleet.

COLLIERS PASS STRAITS.

London, April 12.—A telegram from Singapore reports that four supposed colliers passed through there going east on April 10. These are presumed in shipping circles to be the advance guard of the sixteen Hamburg-American line steamers chartered to act as supply ships to the Russian second Pacific squadron.

DUTCH WARSHIPS SAIL.

The Hague, April 12.—The Dutch East Indian squadron is said to have been ordered to proceed to the Ambesa Islands, where the Russian squadron which passed Singapore, April 8, is anchored, with the view of assuring the observance of neutrality.

ST. PETERSBURG GUESSING.

St. Petersburg, April 12.—Russia's information regarding Rojestvensky's fleet, its location, destination, and intentions, is based solely on foreign despatches, which are all to meager to prevent a quick ripening crop of rumors. According to one of these rumors, the two navy fleets have already joined battle. Others of these despatches are attempting to locate variously the battleship division of the squadron. The Admiralty steadfastly professes its inability to impart any light or clarify the situation.

The Admiralty informed the Associated Press to-day that the report received yesterday was from the captain of a merchant ship, who had encountered the fleet and reported to the Russian Consulate at Singapore.

A PECULIAR MONSTROCITY

Here's a Man With Tail Like a Horse

Munich, April 12—In the Medical Weekly, Dr. Mercone describes the case of a tailed man, born of normal parents, and whose children are normally developed. The hair-tail is attached to the chine bone and is of dark brown color. At the present time it is one and a half feet long. The skin below the tail is entirely normal. The doctor thinks that in ancient times this now very rare phenomenon occurred more frequently, hence the myth of the satyrs.

WILL ASK A PLEDGE

Important Movement on Foot by Conservative Circles in Toronto

Toronto, April 12.—In Conservative circles today there is under consideration a proposal to send a deputation to Mr. Edmund Bristol, the Conservative nominee in Centre Toronto, with a view to obtaining from him an emphatic pledge to oppose all Separate school legislation at Ottawa. In some quarters there is not complete satisfaction with Mr. Bristol's declaration on the subject at the nomination meeting. The idea is to obtain from him a clear and deliberate promise to give Separate schools no quarter.

TO DISCARD UNION LABEL

Sentiment Growing Among Clothing Manufacturers of Country

New York, April 12.—There is a tendency among clothing manufacturers of this country to discontinue entirely the use of the union label, according to reports read before the National Labor Bureu of Clothing Manufacturers, which met in annual convention today. About fifty members, representing thirteen cities, including Baltimore, Chicago, Philadelphia, Rochester and Cincinnati, as well as New York, were present at the meeting. It was reported from all the various markets represented that the utmost harmony prevails at present between manufacturers and employes, and that the open-shop movement is gaining ground.

BAD BUSINESS FOR RUSSIAN OFFICERS

Those not Killed or Wounded Have Been Recalled in Disgrace

ROSTER OF THE VICTIMS

Terrible List of Officers Disgraced—Japan Has None Such in Her Army

St. Petersburg, April 12.—One of the most remarkable features of the present situation in regard to the Russian-Japanese war is the devastation—it can be called by no other term—that has been wrought in the ranks of Russia's commanders, both naval and military. Since the beginning of the conflict over a dozen Russian generals and nearly as many admirals have been placed out of action—killed, captured, severely wounded or disgraced. It is the number of men of commanding rank who fall under the last named heading that gives the matter its most serious aspect.

What has become of the flower of the Russian commanding officers? Of twenty-eight men of the rank of general, with whose names the war has made us familiar, more than half are now out of action. Of fifteen admirals, three have been killed, four are recalled and in disgrace, and four are prisoners of the Japanese. The remaining four are of almost as little account. One, Admiral Jessen, commands the sole remnant of the Russian Pacific fleet at Vladivostok, and the other three are loitering about the sea with the various sections of the discredited Baltic fleet. The following list shows what has happened to twenty-eight generals and fourteen admirals since the beginning of the war:

GENERALS.

Stessel—Prisoner on parole.
Grigsenberg—Recalled, in disgrace.
Orloff—Recalled, in disgrace.
Transoff—Recalled, in disgrace.
Keller—Killed at Motienling.
Kondratolenko—Killed at Port Arthur.
Tsuritzy—Killed at Port Arthur.
Riasilkin—Killed at Shaho.
Smotensky—Killed at Shaho.
Southovsky—Killed at Liaoyang.
Raaltalinsky—Prisoner in Japan.
Pflug—Prisoner in Japan.
Bieli—Prisoner in Japan.
Gorbatkovsky—Prisoner in Japan.
Kikithi—Prisoner in Japan.
Fock—Prisoner in Japan.
Kondratovitch—Wounded, in hospital.
Kashtalinsky—Wounded, in hospital.
Sassulitch—Superseded, but resumed command.
Stakelberg—Wounded, but resumed command.
Rennenkampf—Wounded, but resumed command.
Mistchenko—Wounded.
Linevitch—Quarreled with Kuropatkin. In command.
Bildering—Reported to have quarreled with Kuropatkin.
Sahimoff—Still holds a command.
Kaulbars—Still holds a command.
Kuropatkin.

ADMIRALS.

Alexieff—Recalled.
Starck—Recalled.
Skrydloff—Recalled.
Besobrasoff—Recalled.
Makkaroff—Killed at Port Arthur.
Moiva—Killed at Port Arthur.
Witgeft—Killed at Port Arthur.
Uklomsky—Prisoner in Japan.
Wiren—Prisoner in Japan.

CHINA'S DEVELOPMENT

Oriental Nation Prepares to Build Great Navy

London, April 11.—China is preparing to build a great navy. Sir Robert Hart, the Director-General of Customs, has submitted a plan whereby the revenues of the empire from customs and internal taxes will be increased from about $36,000,000 to $284,000,000. With the additional money thus obtained, Sir Robert proposes to build twenty iron clad battleships, twenty armored cruisers and 120 torpedo boats, all to be constructed within ten years.

CURE FOR CONSUMPTIVES

Tapeworm the Natural Enemy of the Disease

Washington, April 12.—"The tapeworm is the natural enemy of the germ of consumption, and the latter cannot exist when the other is present," says Consul Canada, at Vera Cruz, Mexico, in a report just received at the State Department. The consul states that two eminent scientists have discovered that the tapeworm prevents the organism from being infected with tuberculosis bacilli, and it has been proven in the case of a consumptive affected with the tapeworm that he completely recovered his health. To positively establish the efficacy of this remedy the doctors injected a liquid prepared from the taenia into several consumptives, which resulted in a complete cure.

THE SUICIDE CLUB

Last Member of Suicide Club Passes Away

Bridgeport, Conn., April 12. — Organized ten years ago by thirteen congenial spirits, who derided superstition, Bridgeport's so-called "Suicide Club," has been dissolved by the death of its president and last remaining member, Daniel Loomer, and he was the only one who did not die by his own hand. Following were members of the club and how they died: John McKenzie, shot gun; George Leavenworth, carbolic acid; Victor Heisterbagen, shot gun; Alexander Featherington, revolver; Jack Bickel, revolver; Walter Mickle, hanging; Wallace Zepp, drowning; John Meyer, revolver; Gustave Wholfe, revolver; Michael Horvat, carbolic acid; Oscar Beers, razor; George Wagner, revolver; Daniel Loomer, natural death.

WORSE THAN OURS

Lindsay Butchers Harder than our Knights of the Cleaver

Those people who are always kicking at the high prices charged for meat in Peterborough, might console themselves by reading the following clipping from the Watchman-Warder which says;

The butchers were on hand to see about getting protection from people who cut up and sell meat on the market square. There are nine licensed butchers in Lindsay, and they pay $5 each for their licenses. They were about all present. Their request for protection was cut into by a suggestion by an alderman that they charged more for their meat than butchers in other towns.

"They get two pounds of first-class steak for a quarter in Peterborough," said Ald. Rea.

"No sir," promptly replied butcher Campbell.

The alderman had a postcard at home from a friend in Peterborough whom he could believe, saying that the best steak sold at two pounds for a quarter. Mr. Campbell ventured that no butcher in Peterborough would say that.

Ald. McCrae had reliable information from Stouffville that meat sold at that price there. Mr. "Jack" O'Halloran produced a letter from a Peterborough butcher quoting the prices of meat there. They were about the same as those charged in Lindsay.

Mr. Campbell declared that nobody should be allowed to buy meat from the farmers and cut it up on the market. There was a man at the door, who heard that remark, and wasn't going to stand it without protest. He was Mr. "Bobby" Reid, a veteran at cutting meat on the market. He warmed up a bit and informed Mr. Campbell that people who sold meat on the market paid more in market fees than the same number of butchers did for their licenses. The butchers were sore because some good business had been done on the market.

Mr. Campbell objected that this was a butchers' meeting, and others need not butt in. Mr. Reid retorted that he was a butcher, and an alderman remarked that a ratepayer had a right to speak.

Mr. Geo. Calvert said he would be willing to pay $10.00 license if the grocery stores were prohibited from selling sausages as they were in Peterborough where the butchers' license is $10.00.

Mr. Braund said that the grocery stores did not keep the law forbidding them to sell fresh pork. He was told that it was up to the butchers to see that the grocers keep that law, but replied that the police took no action when they were notified. Ald. O'Reilly declared that the millers should be called upon to explain why they charged so high for flour; That gave Ald. Maunders a start and he straightway declared that flour was sold as cheap in Lindsay as anywhere in Canada.

—The Lindsay Post says; The Bell Telephone Company has some 650 instruments installed in Peterborough as against 280 in Lindsay. And we're not slow bunch of business people either.

A Vast Conspiracy.

The really important thing is that just as the country is discussing one attempt to rivet Separate schools upon Alberta and Saskatchewan, a parallel and closely connected attempt to resuscitate Separate schools in Manitoba comes to light. That such an attempt has occurred is beyond question. Mgr. Sbarretti admits having made the demand upon Mr. Campbell, and Mr. Campbell admits that there had been previous negotiations. The Liberal counter-charge is that Mr. Roblin had all but struck a bargain with Mgr. Langevin, and that Messrs. Rogers and Campbell were marplots. It is of little concern to the electors of Canada which of the parties to these tortuous and rather squalid negotiations is the more accurate in its statements. The important thing is that there is laid before the public view an exceptionally clear view of a vast conspiracy for the establishment of Separate schools in the West.

HOWLING AGAINST MONROE DOCTRINE

Germany Says That War is Sure to Come

VERY OMINOUS OUTLOOK

Says Leading German Newspapers Regarding Peace of World

Berlin, April 11.—An active crusade against the Monroe doctrine has been revived by the German, especially the pan-German, press.

The movement began simultaneously in several different parts of the empire, and clearly was actuated from a common center. The newspapers charge that President Roosevelt, while advocating peace and The Hague conferences, is enforcing the Monroe doctrine in a form which eventually must cause warlike complications.

He is likened to the Czar, who originated the peace congress while at the same time pursuing a Manchurian policy that was sure to end in bloodshed.

"His craving for arbitration treaties," says the Leipsiger Tageblatt, "is an invisible cap, under which he hopes to conceal his imperialistic ambitions.

"There are $75,000,000 of German capital invested in South America, and the United States' domination of that continent means placing German capital at a disadvantage.

"There is an enormous future in foodstuffs for export before South America, and the exports are not to the United States but to Europe, for which Europe must pay with manufactures; all this means the eventual aggrandisement of the United States as self-constituted protector of these countries."

European diplomatists are urged to bend their minds to the task of forming an alliance, offensive and defensive, against America's scheme for reducing the South American states to a condition of vassals.

LARGEST INITIATION

Woodmen of the World Hold the Largest Initiation in Their History.

Monday, April 10th will ever be a red letter days in the annals of that fast growing society, Woodmen of the World. A charming innovation was inaugurated by which a ladies circle, with a good representation was established. A fortnight ago, Mr. J. W. Plowman, of Toronto, an organizer in the Order, arrived in town and since that time he has been working industriously in its interests, and the result of his work was seen Monday night when 23 gentlemen were initiated and applications were received from 30 others, in addition to the members of the Ladies' Circle who were also secured through the efforts of Mr. Plowman.

Several visiting officers of high standing in the Order were present, including officers from Lucan, Lindsay and Windsor.

At seven o'clock the new members of the Ladies' Circle were initiated by Mr. Plowman, and after the initiation the officers were elected as follows;—

Past Guardian—Mrs. A. Gibbs.
Guardian—Mrs. M. F. Bradd.
Adviser—Mrs. A. M. Titterson.
Banker—Mrs. I. Wright.
Clerk—Mrs. E. Tooley.
Physicians—Dr. J. A. Morgan and Dr. F. J. Bradd.
Attendant—Mrs. A. Moore
Inside Sentinel—Mrs. A. J. McCallum.
Outside Sentinel — Mrs. E. J. Wilson.
Managers—Mrs. M. Brooks, Mrs. R. J. Taylor, Mrs. J. H. Symons.
Organists—Miss Margaret Brooks, Miss Mildred Mary Moss.

Next followed the initiation of the 23 new members, followed by some interesting addresses, including one from Mr. C. P. Hodgson, head of the Order. A sumptuous repast was served to all present.

MACHINERY ARRIVING

Peterborough Cereal Company Pushing Work Towards Completion.

Every day loads of new and latest type machinery is arriving for the huge establishment of our latest large industry. The Peterborough Cereal Company. The company are at present fast pushing work on their large oven to completition. This oven is of the most modern type and will perform work equal, if not superior to any done on this Continent. The present delay is in part due to delay in completition of the motors that will give power to the establishment, however these immense motors are also being hustled forward. A large consignment of belts and pulleys yesterday arrived, and are now being placed.

LAST SAD RITES

Funeral of the Late Mrs. Wilmot Haultain.

Yesterday afternoon a long and sad procession slowly passed down George street, taking all that was mortal of the late Mrs. Wilmot Haultain for sepulture. Services conducted by the Rev. Dr. Torrance, brother-in-law of the deceased, and Rev. J. C. Davidson, were held at "Castlenock," residence of Mrs. James F. Dennistoun Mrs. Haultain's mother.

There was a very general expression of regret for the loss sustained by so many friends, and sympathy for the relatives so sadly bereaved, heard throughout the town yesterday. Interment took place at the Little Lake cemetery.

The pall-bearers were Messrs. E. B. Edwards, G. M. Roger, J. H. Burnham, R. H. Rogers, T. D. Kerr, and A. Harold Clinton.

Amongst the many out of town relatives and friends who were present to pay their last tribute of respect to the departed, were Hon. F. W. G. Haultain, Premier of the North-west Territories, Calgary, N.W.T.; Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Macklin, Montreal; Miss Haultain, St. Hyacinthe, and Mrs. Haultain, Port Hope.

Police Court

OFFICIALS

Chief of Police, G.I. Hazel
Magistrate, D.W. Dumble

Last night a well dressed man, who says he has recently sold out his livery business in Havelock, managed to celebrate his arrival in Peterborough by getting a good big jag aboard. He was talking loudly on the streets, and whilst an officer went by one street to look after him he, by another, found his way into the police station. Here the jag began lubricating his talking machinery, and his dust was one recording a loud and continuous abuse of police and men sporting brass buttons. The officer in charge locked him up in a cell for safety, for fear the man would get into trouble or lose his money.

The first case before his Worship, yesterday morning, was a charge of abusive language preferred by an Italian against a man who lives on Elm street. His Worship asked complaintant, through an interpreter, whether it was wise to follow such a case to conclusion. The Italian, however persisted, so the case will be investigated on Friday.

The next case was a charge of stealing a horse, buggy and outfit brought against a young man from Lindsay, by name Thomas Miles. Defendant decided to be tried summarily instead of awaiting trial by jury.

Wm. Warren, the Lindsay liveryman was first witness; said he hired a horse and buggy, on Monday morning to prisoner, on the understanding that the outfit was for use of prisoner's brother. Identified the horse and buggy now at the National Hotel as the one hired to prisoner; that all rugs, halter, etc., were still there. Prisoner told him when getting the horse at nine o'clock Monday morning that he wanted to go three miles out into the country to get his clothes, and would be back by noon. Got a telephone message from Chief Ransel about two o'clock Monday afternoon asking information about his hiring a horse like the one in question. Came to Peterborough by first train yesterday morning.

Mr. Lang, a farmer, living near Springville, saw the prisoner in Cavan on Monday. Prisoner drove to where he was making maple sprup. Witness thought the horse, as prisoner drove in, belonged to Mr. Grandy, a neighbor, but was told by prisoner, that he owned the horse; that he (the prisoner), said he had lived in Lindsay for years, had been a carter there, and had traded his carting outfit for the horse and buggy, which he wanted to sell for $40. Lang became suspicious at the cheap price mentioned. Prisoner told him he wanted to go to Little York, via Peterborough. Told prisoner Peterborough would take him 16 miles out of his route to Little York. Asked prisoner to stop with him over night. Prisoner asked him to lend him $2 and give him a ticket to Little York, keeping the horse and rig as security. Sent his brother to Springville to telephone the police. P.C. McGinty met prisoner and himself as they were driving to Lang's house. McGinty arrested prisoner and drove off with him. Put up the horse prisoner had driven, in his barn and brought it to town yesterday morning.

The prisoner gave evidence on his own behalf. Will be 17 years old next July. Never was a carter. Got the horse from Warren to drive to Peterborough to try and collect $13 owed him by Frank Jackson, a tinsmith, who had only come to Peterborough a week ago. Had known Jackson in Toronto and lent him $18 then. Had worked in Toronto with Jackson. Jackson had paid him $5 on account last Friday. Had been a month in jail in Toronto, a case of mistaken identity for a man who had stolen some goods there. Had driven to Omemee and was then told to follow the telegraph poles to Peterborough. Had followed the wrong line of poles to Springville. Had told a series of lies to Lang about the horse.

His Worship reserved judgment in order to hunt up further information about the prisoner. Up to date the police have been unable to locate a tinsmith by name of Frank Jackson in town.

OLD CITIZEN GONE

Death of Mr. Thos. Montgomery on Monday.

An old and respected citizen in the person of Mr. Thomas Montgomery, died on Monday, at the residence of his brother, 364 Bethune street, aged 56 years.

Deceased, who was a sufferer from tuberculosis, was confined to his house for about ten weeks previous to his demise. The late Mr. Montgomery was the fourth son of the late James Montgomery, and was born in Peterborough, residing here all his life. He was unmarried. Surviving members of the family are one sister, Mrs. W. C. McKee, of Seattle, Wash., and four brothers, William, of town; John, of Wabnabitae; Samuel, Toronto, and James of town.

The funeral will leave the residence of James Montgomery, brother of the deceased, 369 Bethune street, this afternoon at 2.30 o'clock, and proceed to Little Lake Cemetery, where interment will take place.

GOOD PROSPECTS

Mr. Wm. Sager Receives Rich Samples of Ore From Dipper Mine.

Yesterday, Mr. S. Sager of the Big Dipper and Star of the East Mines, was in receipt of some unusually rich samples of ore from the first named mine. This mine is located in the Township of Harris, County of Frontenac and is situated on a continuation of the ore vein that is owned by the Star of the East Gold Mining Co., and which has proved to be unusually rich in good paying ore.

The ore received by the Big Dipper people can be seen at the company's office, 418 Water street.

A letter received by Mr. Sager, yesterday from Mr. Jamieson, Superintendent of the mine, in referring to the samples sent, says in part;

"The ore, which is made up of quartz, spar, Tourmetin and Hornblend, Sulphides, looks equal to anything I have seen at the famous Star of the East mine, in fact I have not seen anything to equal it so near the surface. This is bound to be a very rich deposit and a continuous one before the Boss."

THE PROVINCE OF QUEBEC SOLID FOR COERCION.

All Conservative Members From Province Save One Will Join With Liberals in Voting Against Mr. Borden's Amendment.

Montreal, April 12.—It is now quite clear that Mr. R. L. Borden will not be able to carry more than one of his followers from Quebec with him on his amendment to the educational clauses of the Autonomy Bills.

Every representative of Quebec, save one, will vote against the Borden amendment. The exception is Dr. R. N. Walsh, the new M.P., for Huntingdon, and it is possible that he, too, may be "whipped into line" by clerical influences before the division bells ring.

Even Mr. H. R. Ames, the representative of St. Antoine division, the one constituency in the Province in which the Protestants have a preponderating majority, will to-day or to-morrow tell the House of Commons why he must desert his leader.

THE GAZETTE'S ATTITUDE.

The Gazette, the chief Conservative organ in the Province, confesses that the Conservative party is not united in opposition to the principle of Separate Schools, and says: "Taking it altogether, there is probably a larger proportion of its membership favorable to educational concessions to the religious minorities than there is in the Liberal party. In the Province of Quebec, where the concession is usually made to the Protestants, there is not and has not been from the majority any call for 'nationalising' the school system, nor any objection on principle to the manner in which the minority uses its privileges. There is among the English-speaking people an idea that where the pupils all use one tongue, one set of schools should do and would do best work, educationally and nationally. Where Catholics ask for Separate Schools for conscience sake, however, remembering their own case, they are not inclined to press their theoretical views to the point of offending their fellow-citizens. In 1896 there were thousands on thousands of Quebec Protestants who voted for WHAT WAS CALLED 'COERCION' of Manitoba, because they thought that to restore the Separate Schools under Provincial control was something that the action of Parliament when Manitoba was created made a constitutional duty. They would expect Catholic voters in other Provinces to do the same where a Quebec school question of similar character to arise.

NOT ALARMED AT HIERARCHY.

"They are not at all excited over the prospect of Separate Schools being maintained in Alberta and Saskatchewan. They are not even alarmed at the hierarchy being behind the movement. The great majority of them however, remembering the course and end of the Manitoba school question, must think that there is just as good a chance of the Separate Schools remaining and doing their work, depending on the free will of the people of the West, as if they are ordained by what many will call the coercive action of Parliament.

WHAT MR. BORDEN PROPOSES.

"Mr. Borden's amendment declares the ideas of these people, who must be numerous in all the Provinces. It is not in terms or intent a declaration against Separate Schools. It simply says that, instead of putting the new Provinces in the position in which Manitoba could not be held, they shall be like Nova Scotia, New Brunswick and Prince Edward Island, where the local minorities have privileges quite as extensive as the amended Autonomy Bills will be able to secure. This distinction was fairly observed at the beginning of the debate, though in some of the later speeches it was seemingly forgotten. If anything like obstruction would be resorted to the contest would come to be regarded as one between Public and Separate School supporters, with the moral and material weight against the former. It is not to the advantage of the Conservative party that this should become the situation; and it would not be for the good of the country."

NOT MORIBUND

The Carnegie Library Still in the Ring May be Submitted to the People.

The lately considered moribund idea of Peterborough begging Mr. Carnegie for a grant wherewith to purchase a Public Library, is not, it seems, quite dead yet. The Board of Trade placed an expression of opinion on record against advisability of such action, but, there are some who do not take their dictum as final. Mayor Best, when interviewed on this subject yesterday, suggested that it would be a good idea to have the question voted upon by the people on May 4th, when the Fire Hall by-law will be submitted to the ratepayers. To take a referendum with regard to the library question, would entail, little, if any additional expense, and it would settle the matter once and for all.

Bobbie's Essay on Peterborough

The following composition was handed The Times for publication, and is bona fide:

Peterboro is our hoame and we like it beekaus there is always sumthing doing in politiks. Peterboro is bounded on the west by Victoria county and in the middle by Mayer best. Sum of the things which is raised in peterboro is:

1 pine trees.
2 sugger beats
3 newspapers
4 Gaim wardens.
5 Taxes.

There is quite good Hunting in our county last week I shot 2 blue jays and 1 yellow-hammer and 3 chipmunks. Gaim wardens is hard to shoot except during the Open season beekaus that is the only time they are there, but last week I shot a owl with a arrow and whenn I toald my teacher he said "to whoo" she said No Bobbie, he must have said "to whom." I know moar about peterboro but my paper is all gone.

FERROZONE

mparts New Vigor—Braces Nourishes Strengthens Weak Women.

A woman's anxieties multiply ten-fold about the time the new baby is expected. If her strength is exhausted and her nerves overwrought, look to the hour of trial. Ferrozone should be used because it makes the blood nutritious and rich. By instilling new strength into every part of the body, it uplifts your spirits at once.

Childbirth is certainly made easier by Ferrozone. The following statement expresses the earnest gratitude of Mrs. M. E. Duckworth, of Durham. It is a woman's story—of her own case—told that other women may profit by her experience;

"Before baby was born I was in a miserable, weak, nervous state. I had no reserve strength. I tried to build up, but nothing helped me. I looked upon the coming day with dread, knowing I was unequal to the occasion.

"Ferrozone braced me up at once. It gave me strength and spirits, brought back my nerve and cheerfulness. From my experience with Ferrozone I recommend it to all expectant mothers.'

There is more concentrated nourishment in Ferrozone than you can get from anything else. It supplies what weak systems need. Simply take one tablet at meals and you'll feel uplifted at once. Ferrozone makes healthy, virile, vigorous women; try it. 50c. per box of fifty tablets, or six boxes for $2.50, at all dealers, or by mail from N. C. Polson & Co., Kingston, Ont., and Hartford, Conn., U.S.A.

MORE ABOUT HOUSECLEANING

While we are on this vital subject of housecleaning there is another matter that may not affect the Vanderbilts or Astors, and other people who have boodles of money, but does it you.

Just when the air seems full of symptoms of housecleaning you might delicately approach her and diplomatically talk in this wise: "Dear Mary, I suppose that the house is to be cleaned. If you want it cleaned, never mind me, but have it cleaned. I realize that no person can boss the job and put on the artistic touches like yourself. You know just where your mother's picture should hang and who borrowed the curtain stretchers last, and as for dusting the vases and the best dishes, I know what a wrench it would be to have careless hired hands assigned to the task.

"But there is your health to be considered. I can not afford to have my wife worn out. It is fine economy to hire things done once in a while, even if a few dishes are broken. You may save $7 by mixing in the housecleaning, but the doctor charges $3 per visit and the last time we cleaned house he lit into me for $23. So if we must clean house, and, mind, I am not arguing against it, or even expressing an opinion that it is immoral or unwise, let's you and I go to a hotel and live until the dust has settled over our broken home and leave the hired girl to work her will from garret to coal bin. This is only a suggestion. It is made with due humility and with the understanding that I do not know what I am talking about. But let us try it this spring."

If you do not feel that you can trust yourself to say all of that or something along that line, you might write it and send the message home by the office boy, along with a box of chocolates.

You may fall down. You may get in return a dose of housecleaning that will almost cause you to fall from grace, but it is worth trying.

Anything to beat the doctor, you know.

TREAT ALL ALIKE

The declarations of Protestant religious bodies in Ontario are not in pursuance of some demand upon the Government for special privileges which are denied to other portions of the community, and to which they are not entitled under the constitution. If any such action shall ever be taken up by the Protestant clergy of this Province, The Times would join heartily with Mr. Bourassa or Mr. Monk or Mgr. Sbarretti in resisting to the last degree the claims of Synods, Presbyteries, Conferences, or other Protestant religious bodies to such legislation. All that these Protestant bodies have done in the existing situation is to make a natural and proper protest against the attempt of the Roman Catholic Hierarchy to dictate to the representatives of the people, and to force upon the Senate and House of Commons a policy conceived in the interests of the church which they represent, and for which there is neither legal support nor constitutional warrant.

BY-LAW NO.

A By-Law to provide for borrowing the sum of Twenty-Five Thousand Dollars for the purchase of a Site for, and to pay for the errection and equipment of a Fire Hall, the installation of a Fire Alarm System and the purchase of a Chemical Engine, a new Fire Steamer, Extension Ladders and other apparatus for Fire Protection in the Town of Peterborough.

Passed the ... day of ..., 1905.

WHEREAS the Fire, Water and Light Committee of the Council of the said Town has reported that it is necessary to provide for improved fire protection by the purchase of suitable land for, and to erect a new and modern Fire Hall thereon, and to equip the same in a proper manner, and to instal a fire alarm system, and to purchase a Chemical Fire Engine, a new Fire Steamer, Extension ladders and other necessary apparatus for efficient fire protection, in the said Town at the estimated cost of twenty-five thousand dollars, and it is desirable to pass this By-law to be submitted to the vote of the duly qualified electors of the Town of Peterborough to authorize the borrowing of the said sum of twenty-five thousand dollars for the purposes aforesaid, which is the amount of the debt intended to be created by this By-law.

AND WHEREAS in order to raise the said sum of twenty-five thousand dollars it will be necessary to issue Debentures of the said Corporation for the said amount.

AND WHEREAS the amount of the whole rateable property of the Municipality, according to the last revised assessment roll, being for the year 1905, is the sum of five million six hundred and fifty-nine thousand six hundred and eighty-nine ($5,659,689).

AND WHEREAS the amount of the existing debenture debt of the Municipality, exclusive of local improvement debts, but including the debt of two hundred and ninety-two thousand dollars ($292,000) incurred for the purchase and improvement of the Waterworks, and the amount of the Debentures authorized, but not yet issued, is the sum of six hundred sixty-six thousand and fifty-six dollars and eighty-one cents ($666,056.81).

AND WHEREAS it will require the sum of one thousand dollars ($1,000) to be raised annually for a period of twenty years, the currency of the debentures to be issued under and by virtue of this By-law to pay the interest of the said debt, and the sum of eight hundred and eighty-four dollars and three cents ($884.03) to be raised annually during the said period for the payment of the said debt, such last mentioned sum being sufficient with the estimated interest on the investment thereof to discharge the said debt when the same becomes payable, making in all the sum of one thousand eight hundred and eighty-four dollars and three cents ($1,884.03) to be raised annually as aforesaid by a special rate on the whole rateable property of the Municipality.

THE CORPORATION OF THE TOWN OF PETERBOROUGH BY THE COUNCIL THEREOF THEREFORE ENACTS AS FOLLOWS:

1. This By-law shall take effect on the day of the final passing thereof.

2. It shall be lawful for the Council of the said Town of Peterborough to borrow the sum of twenty-five thousand dollars for the purposes aforesaid and to issue the debentures of the said Corporation for the said sum, such Debentures to be sealed with the Corporate Seal of the Town of Peterborough and to be signed by the Mayor and Treasurer and countersigned by the Secretary of the Commissioners of the Peterborough Town Trust, and to be made payable within twenty years after the issue thereof, and to bear interest at the rate of four per centum per annum, payable half-yearly on the thirtieth day of June and the thirty-first day of December in each year, and to have coupons attached thereto for the payment of such interest; such debentures as to principal and interest to be payable at the office of the Secretary of the Commissioners of the Peterborough Town Trust in the Town of Peterborough.

3. There shall be raised and levied during each year of the currency of the said debentures by a special rate upon all the rateable property of the Municipality, the sum of one thousand dollars ($1,000) for payment of the interest, and the sum of eight hundred and eighty-four dollars and three cents ($884.03) as a sinking fund for the payment of the said debt at the maturity thereof, making together the sum of one thousand eight hundred and eighty-four dollars and three cents ($1,884.03) to be raised annually as aforesaid.

4. The proceeds of the said debentures when sold shall be applied to some or all the purposes following namely:

For the purchase of a site for and the erection of a Fire Hall and the equipment of the same. To instal a fire alarm system. To purchase a Chemical Engine, a new Fire Steamer, Extension Ladders, and other necessary apparatus for fire protection and improvement of the Fire Department.

5. The votes of the electors of the Town of Peterborough qualified to vote upon a By-law for creating debts shall be taken upon this By-law on Thursday, the 4th day of May, 1905, commencing at the hour of 9 o'clock in the forenoon and closing at the hour of 5 o'clock in the afternoon of the same day, at the following polling places and before the following Deputy Returning Officers respectively, that is to say:

FORTUNES ARE BEING MADE IN KANSAS OIL

Here's a fortune for you. Not 10% but 100% and no risk of loss. Giant of the Oil Fields.

The Midland Oil and Gas Company

has over 180 acres of oil land and has put down 10 wells, so the land is proved up. An adjoining additional 80 was secured yesterday, making over 260 acres all in the proven belt. Just read this:

The U. S. report on the oil industry places the average daily production of Pennsylvania wells at only one-half a barrel each per day. The Midland wells are pumping

Sixty Barrels a Day Each.

The pumping plant has just been started and this is the surprising result. Nothing like it in the world. The officers and directors of this company are bank men and do not believe in debts, so the company is free from debt. They have nearly $20,000 in cash and bills receivable in the treasury and everything paid for—property, wells, pumping plant, oil tanks, well cleaning machine and everything connected with the company. Have two drilling rigs working night and day sinking wells. Have abundance of gas, which runs the drills and pumping plant, so it only costs about $5.00 a day to produce and market the oil.

The Company has about 33 per cent of its stock in the treasury as a reserve.

For a short time the Company will sell a little more of its stock at only

7½ CTS. A SHARE

Buy all you can raise money to pay for.

We could talk all day about it and not cover all the strong points. But as the company has this grand property paid for, there is only one side to it, and that is profit. Don't buy stock in a company that tells you what they will do, but buy in this company, that has proved its property, and every dollar you put in makes it better. Send for particulars or mail check to

From the Kansas City Journal, Feb. 26, 1905.

There is perhaps no people in the same amount of territory in the world who have increased in wealth so rapidly. Everybody is prosperous. Many once poor and hard working families have become immensely wealthy.

Hudge Hale, an old Frisco conductor, has become a millionaire off of oil. He got in the game early. Now he has money as well as oil and gas to burn.

Fred Hetrick, a farmer living near Chanute, had a hard time for years making both ends meet. Life was a hard proposition with him. His royalties now reach $1,000 a month and he is living on easy street.

Joe Heim, of the Kansas City brewery, took a flyer in oil leases. He first put in $500 and refused $12,000 for his investment. Later he put in a lot more money in gas and oil lands and is now figuring high.

George R. Work, the Chicago clothier, took some acres of land near Chanute for a debt a customer owed him. Work's partner refused to stand for the deal. So Work kept the land himself. He has since refused $50,000 for his holdings.

These are a few samples. Hundreds of farmers have become independently rich off their oil royalties, and hundreds of other men have made big money producing oil.

This Kansas oil bearing sand is like the Pennsylvania sand; wells will produce oil for fifty years.

Can give bank references, and dozens from people who have personally examined this great property.

VARICOCELE & STRICTURE

No other disease is so prevalent among men as Varicocele. As it interferes with the nutrition of the sexual organs it produces weakness, loss of semen through the urine, decay of the organs, pains in the loins, aching in the back, nervousness, lack of energy, shortness, palpitation of the heart, constipation, and a combination of these results in complete LOSS OF MANHOOD. Thousands of young and middle-aged men are troubled with STRICTURE. If you have reason to believe you are afflicted with it, don't neglect it. It will ruin you. Don't let doctors experiment on you by cutting, stretching or tearing it. Our NEW METHOD TREATMENT dissolves the stricture tissue, hence it disappears and can never return. We cure Varicocele and Stricture without operation or loss of time. The treatment may be taken at home privately. Send for our Free Illustrated Book on VARICOCELE and STRICTURE. WE GUARANTEE TO CURE OR NO PAY.

Kidneys & Bladder

All sexual complaints affect these organs, hence the kidneys are a great source of disease. Have you aching or weakness over the small of the back, tendency to urinate frequently, deposit in urine, coldness of hands or feet, a drowsy feeling in the morning. Don't neglect your kidneys. Our NEW METHOD TREATMENT is guaranteed to cure any disease of these organs or no pay.

A HIGH GRADE INDUSTRIAL AND MINING INVESTMENT

We have thoroughly investigated it and found it to be right in every respect. Did you ever have a chance to invest in a straight legitimate money making proposition? If not,

THIS IS YOUR OPPORTUNITY

We own a monopoly of the water right privileges in the Thunder Mountain mining district, State of Idaho, U.S.A.; seven water rights in all; one developed and in use. The property of the Company consists of over 1400 acres, with plenty of timber for building and mining purposes, a saw mill fully equipped and in operation, a 10-stamp mill now on its way from the R. R. Station to the property, and 40 additional stamps to be purchased at once and installed during the coming summer. This is the largest and most favorably situated property in the district. Some of the tunnels have been driven over 400 ft., cross-cutting many dikes, demonstrating that we have an inexhaustible body of ore. The ore bodies are sampled by an assayer every 10 ft., and assays run from 40c. to $600 per ton. The ore is free milling, and can be mined and milled for about $1.00 per ton.

This Company has had a phenomenal growth, and "The Thunder Mountain Prospector," published at Roosevelt, Idaho, where the property is located, states that this Company is three times as large as any other Company operating in the district. 30 men at work on the property. Over $60,000 worth of stock sold within the last 90 days. Only 100,000 shares more to be sold at 50c. per share. You cannot afford to miss this opportunity; investigate at once.

AUSTRIA WAKES TO HER DANGER

Fate of Russia Port Arthur Fleet a Warning

ARE FORTIFYING HER BASE

So as to be Prepared for Trouble Should it Come

London, April 11.—The fate of the Russian Port Arthur fleet has awakened the Austrian naval authorities to a lively sense of the necessity of guarding against a similar disaster in the Adriatic. A comprehensive scheme is now being considered in order to make Pola, the great Austrian naval port, and arsenal, what is professed to be—an impregnable base of operations for the fleet. It is intended to provide the harbor with three strongly fortified outlets in place of the two now existing, but there will be two moles running toward each other, one from the mainland south of the Maria Louisa fort and the other from the island below the Paneda group of forts. The moles will have a breadth of twenty yards. The direct outlet south of the Brioonian islands will remain as it is.

The third outlet will be formed by piercing the isthmus that forms the south-western boundary of the harbor. It is held that when these works are completed it will be impossible for an enemy to use the Austrian fleet, and Pola will be one of the safest and most strongly fortified harbors in the world.

Trieste will also be more strongly fortified and the garrison is to be greatly augmented.

The Brioonian islands, which lie off the harbor, form, with the mainland, the Fasana canal, 800 yards broad. This will be narrowed to 400 lating.

HOMESTEAD REGULATIONS

Any even numbered section of Dominion lands in Manitoba or the North-west Territories, (excepting 8 and 26, which has not been homesteaded, or reserved to provide wood lots for settlers, or for other purposes, may be homesteaded upon by any person who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years of age, to the extent of one-quarter section of 160 acres more or less.

ENTRY

Entry may be made personally at the local land office for the district in which the land to be taken is situate, or if the homesteader desires, he may, on application to the Minister of the Interior, Ottawa; the Commissioner of Immigration Winnipeg, or the local agent for the district in which the land is situate, receive authority for some one to make entry for him. A fee of $10 is charged for a homestead entry.

HOMESTEAD DUTIES

A settler who has been granted an entry for a homestead is required by the provisions of the Dominion Lands Act, and the amendments thereto, to perform the conditions connected therewith, under one of the following plans:

(1) At least six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each year during the term of three years. It is the practice of the Department to require a settler to break 15 acres under cultivation, but if he prefers he may substitute stock; and 20 head of cattle, to be actually his own property, with buildings for their accommodation, will be accepted instead of the cultivation.

2) If the father (or mother, if the father is deceased), of any person who is eligible to make a homestead entry under the provisions of this Act, resides upon a farm in the vicinity of the land entered for by such person as a homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence prior to obtaining patent may be satisfied by such person residing with the father or mother.

[3] If a settler was entitled to and has obtained entry for a second homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence prior to obtaining patent may be satisfied by residence upon the first homestead, if the second homestead is in the vicinity of the first homestead.

[4] If the settler has his permanent residence upon farming land owned by him in the vicinity of his homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence may be satisfied by residence upon the said land.

The term "vicinity" used above is meant to indicate the same township, or an adjoining or cornering township.

A settler who avails himself of the provisions of clauses [2], [3] or [4] must cultivate 30 acres of his homestead, or substitute 30 head of stock, with buildings for their accommodation, and have bedded 30 acres substantially fenced.

The privilege of a second entry is restricted by law to those settlers only who completed the duties upon their first homesteads, or entitle them to patent on or before the 2nd of June, 1889.

Every homesteader who fails to comply with the requirements of the homestead law is liable to have his entry cancelled, and the land may again be thrown open for entry.

APPLICATION FOR PATENT

Should be made at the end of three years, before the Local Agent, Sub-Agent or the Homestead Inspector. Before making application for patent the settler must give six months notice in writing to the Commissioner of Dominion Lands at Ottawa of his intention to do so.

Newly arrived immigrants will receive, at the Immigration Offices in Winnipeg, or at any Dominion Lands Office in Manitoba or the northwest Territories, information as to the lands that are open for entry, and from the officers in charge, free of expense, advice and assistance in securing lands to suit them. Full information respecting the land, timber, coal and mineral laws, as well as respecting Dominion Lands in the Railway Belt in British Columbia, may be obtained upon application to the Secretary of the Department of the Interior, Ottawa; the Commissioner of Immigration, Winnipeg, Manitoba, or to any of the Dominion Lands Agents in Manitoba or the North-west Territories.

W. W. CORY,
Deputy Minister of the Interior.

N. B.—In addition to Free Grant Lands, to which the Regulations above stated refer, thousands of acres of most desirable lands are available for lease or purchase from railroad and other corporations and private firms in Western Canada.

A HELLO GIRL

Gets $100,000 as a Wedding Gift From a Montrealer

New York, April 11.—To be a telephone girl, working for a small salary one day and to have a man hand her a check for $100,000 the next, has been the unique experience of Miss Anna Bennett, whose engagement to E. R. Whitney, of Montreal, was announced recently. Mr. Whitney gave that sum to his fiancee, telling her to be generous with the money in the purchase and preparation of her trousseau. He also told her that he had ordered an automobile of special design to cost $9,000, and a large sunburst of diamonds as betrothal gifts.

Until last Saturday Miss Bennett, whose home is at No. 213 Nassau avenue, Brooklyn, was employed at the switchboard of the Grand Union Hotel, and it was there that her acquaintance with Mr. Whitney began and ripened into a warmer attachment. His home is in Montreal, where he is engaged in the asphalt business, and he has been a widower for two years.

As Miss Bennett is a Roman Catholic and Mr. Whitney a Protestant, a dispensation for their marriage will be obtained from the Pope, and it will then take place in St. Cecilia's church, North Henry street, Brooklyn. Another telephone girl, Miss Ida Schwindt, who is employed in the Park Avenue Hotel, has shared in the good fortune of her life-long friend, Miss Bennett.

To her Mr. Whitney yesterday presented a check for $500 for the purchase of a gown to be worn as bridesmaid at the wedding, and a diamond cluster ring. Mr. Whitney's son will be the best man.

MRS. C. I. CHADWICK

Stay of Execution is Authorized by U. S Courts

Cincinnati, April 11.—A stay of execution of sentence in the case of Mrs. Chadwick has been authorized by the United States circuit court of appeals.

The stay of sentence is to hold until the further order of the court, it appearing that a writ of error had been issued out within the required 60 days, and a copy of the same has been lodged in the clerk's office of the lower court.

After the decision of the court had been announced, Judge Francis J. Wing, counsel for Mrs. Chadwick, said that he expected to be able to present the appeal some time during the month of May.

NOW A MILLIONAIRE

Goes to Big Estate After 100 Years

Vancouver, B.C., April 11.—A young man named Sidney Gisby, who is working as clerk in a law office, has received word from England that the last will of Jacob Gisby, dated May 25, 1795, has been found, bequeathing an estate of $6,000,000 to his next of kin. The deceased was the great-great-great-grandfather of the Vancouver boy. The fortune has been in chancery since 1795, and Gisby's father in England is taking steps to recover it.

WHAT WIRELESS IS—WHY IT WORKS

(This is the third of four chapters dealing with this most important scientific phenomenon.)

Synopsis of preceding chapters: Wireless telegraphy was made possible through the discovery that the air was charged with electricity, but which was moving about with no certain direction. Signor Marconi was the first to harness this strange force and make it do his bidding, and this he has done through the medium of instruments which are as simple as the telegraph instruments, and which involve no system with the exception of putting up and maintaining the same. The instruments make it possible to guide the current in the air so as to make it carry the message at the will of the sender to the receiving station, where it may be read as easily as a letter.

CHAPTER III.

We have seen, in the previous chapters, how simple is the provision of Nature which makes it possible for the electricity in the air to carry the [illegible] how simple in principle are the instruments which control this force. For a better understanding, we will trace the course of an actual message.

The coming Summer will see new Marconi stations built at Halifax, N.S., and at Whittle Rocks, Labrador. A message may be sent from Halifax to Whittle Rocks. This message is handed to the sending operator at Halifax. Through the apparatus on the table before him, a current of electricity is passing from the dynamo, in an adjoining room, through the instrument on the table, and back to the dynamo. Upon receiving the message, he throws a small switch, which changes the course of the current, so that it passes up the wire outside of the station instead of back to the dynamo. The sending operator alternately presses down and releases a lever. Brilliant flashes of electricity jump between two brass rods, protruding across the front of the sending instrument every time that the lever is depressed, and the circuit completed. This is the instrument, previously referred to, which snaps the message off the wire like the snap of a whip and which adds to the distinct spacing between the dots and dashes. The operator varies the length of time that he keeps the lever depressed, and in that way makes long or short signals or dashes and dots which are the telegrapher's signs, equivalent to the letters of the alphabet.

In the receiving station at Whittle Rocks, another operator hears a click and knows that the lever on his machine has moved; that a current is passing through it, and that probably a message is coming. He hears the signal call of his station, and opening a lever on the adjoining apparatus, acknowledges his call. As the dots and dashes roll off without interruption, he translates each combination into the letter which they represent, and the message is written down.

If we could have been at Whittle Rocks when the message was received, or at the Halifax office when the reply was recorded, we might have seen another little instrument doing its work at the same time the receiving lever was clicking off the dots and dashes. We would have noticed a little wheel at one side of the receiving apparatus moving up and down very slightly, and exactly as moved the lever of the receiving apparatus which clicked off the message. We would have found that the edge of the wheel was covered with ink, and that every time it was depressed, it made a mark on a paper tape running under it. These marks were short or long, like dots and dashes, and were duplicates of the dots and dashes made by the big lever. This is the automatic receiver, known as the Wheatstone recorder, that records all messages passing through the receiving instrument. Thus, we would realize that the system had been so thoroughly developed, that every possible provision had been made to guard against mistakes in the transmission of a message. Of course, it takes time to work out all the details of such instruments, but the progress already made proves that Signor Marconi has mastered the hardest part of the problem, and that future development will go forward by leaps and bounds.

(The final chapter, and by far the most interesting of the series, will appear in this paper one week from today.)

GOVERNMENT ENDORSEMENT

MARCONI WIRELESS TELEGRAPH SYSTEM

O. G. V. Spain, Commander of the Canadian Marine Service, has made his report to the Deputy Minister of Marine and Fisheries at Ottawa. In that part of the report which deals with the subject of Wireless Telegraphy, there is nothing but favorable comment for the Marconi system as it is installed in the several stations along the St. Lawrence Gulf and River. Among the many favorable comments which he makes, the following are synopsized and are worth serious consideration as they come from a disinterested source, from a government official thoroughly qualified to express an opinion and from a shrewd observer who in reporting his conclusions from practical tests and indisputable data. He says in part:

(1.) All the stations installed have given a satisfactory service and a large number of messages are passing between the stations and ships regularly.

(2.) All the stations are reporting ships and shipping intelligence to Lloyd's agent at Quebec.

(3.) In many instances vessels have been in communication with Marconi shore stations when enveloped in thick fog, and have found the wireless system an invaluable supplementary aid to the existing fog signal service.

(4.) News of current events furnished to all steamers has proved a boon to passengers and is increasing the popularity of the St. Lawrence route for travellers.

(5.) The important aid to navigation rendered by the Dominion Government in the matter of wireless telegraphy has been greatly appreciated by the Shipping Federation and shipping interests in general.

(6.) The Government has decided to increase the power of the St. Lawrence stations, and to add new stations, so that intercommunication may be had by means of the Marconi system from Fame Point to Belle Isle or Cape Ray. The enormous advantage justifies this step on the part of the Government, because the captain of a steamer will then be able to know just the weather conditions prevailing along the entire St. Lawrence a few hours after leaving Quebec, and can direct his course accordingly.

A more favorable criticism of

would be hard to find. It not only unqualifiedly credits the Company WITH a great success up to the present time, but it indicates the confidence which the Government has in the future success of the Company. It goes further, and indicates that the Government will continue to lend its aid until a complete circuit of stations to meet all possible demands shall have been installed. It tells of the favorable impression which the service has made upon private shippers and the travelling public as well as the Government. These endorsements from every conceivable source could not have been won if the Company and the system upon which it works were not a complete and unparalleled success.

THE SUCCESS IS NOT SENTIMENTAL, BUT PRACTICAL

and it will mean a steadily increasing revenue for the Company. That revenue will shortly exceed the needs of the Company, and then it will be distributed among those who are stockholders therein. Even before there is a division of the profits annually, there will be an increase in the value of the stock by investors looking for a share of the dividends to be declared. But the shrewdest investor of all is the one who purchases the stock now and shares in the first and every subsequent advance in the stock as well as in the profits. We cannot begin to tell you even a small part of the many things which the company has done, is going to do, and which make its future as attractive as that of the most profitable enterprise in the history of the world of finance. Write for further particulars, but REMEMBER THAT AN INVESTMENT AT THIS TIME WILL BE AT THE LOWEST PRICE WHICH THE STOCK WILL SEE, and that this opportunity will not long be before you. Therefore INVEST now. You can now buy any amount of stock from one share to two hundred shares, and at $5 each. DON'T WAIT. If you are in Montreal, call at our office in the Canada Life Building and see a demonstration of how the Marconi system works, for the instruments for the purpose are installed there.

A RARE OPPORTUNITY

To obtain a gilt edge investment in a great gold mining enterprise, developing a rich mineral area in an undeveloped mineral empire in Northwestern Colorado.

OFFERING OF 150,000 SHARES OF TREASURY STOCK OF THE

UNITED STATES GOLD CORPORATION

For the purpose of carrying out plans necessary to place the property on a dividend basis

The Board of Directors of the United States Gold Corporation estimate that the business of this company can be placed upon a paying and dividend basis, by the completion of the Klondyke tunnel a distance of 700 feet and by the construction of a modern concentration mill of not less than twenty five tons capacity per day on the property for the treatment of the great bodies of low grade ore, now awaiting treatment. To provide means for the execution of these plans, the Directors of this Company now offer for sale One Hundred and Fifty Thousand shares of Treasury Stock at the nominal price of 15 cents per share for cash.

For the information of investors the Company make the following statement of what a certificate of its stock represents.

Assets and Financial Condition of the United States Gold Corporation

Careful estimates made by the officers and scientific and practical mill men prove to the satisfaction of this company that the proceeds from the present treasury stock offering will place the property on a paying basis and the further [illegible] treasury stock will be withdrawn from the market, leaving a treasury reserve fund of over 600,000 shares.

This great enterprise has passed the prospect stage and upon the completion of our tunnel about June 1st, 1905 the energies of the Company will be entirely devoted to production shipment and treatment of its vast tonnage of ore developed through the Klondyke tunnel estimated at 1000 tons per day.

The officers of this Company court rigid investigation by prospective investors of its properties and management.

Persons desiring stock should mail their application to the United States Gold Corporation at Boulder, Colorado, together with draft for amount of shares desired at 15c. per share, for which a certificate of stock will be issued and sent subscriber by return mail. Do not delay sending application as treasury stock will be taken off the market after this offering is subscribed.

Deadly "La Grippe"

Or Epidemic Influenza is Caused by an Air Germ. The Most Scientific Remedy is Catarrhozone.

Two years ago, the medical journals commented widely on the marvellous success of Catarrhozone, which assisted very largely in stamping out the epidemic raging at that time. Cases that had resisted all other treatment were at once relieved and through the great healing powers of Catarrhozone further progress of the malady was arrested.

It is doubtful whether in the whole range of medicine a more beating cure can be found. If a patient has any symptoms of approaching La Grippe he has only to inhale the germ killing vapor of Catarrhozone a few times daily and escape entirely.

Even as a preventive of colds and catarrh it is a wise precaution to always carry a Catarrhozone Inhaler in your pocket. At the first shiver or sneeze you can ward off an impending attack by merely inhaling a few breaths of Catarrhozone. Fatal consequences can often be avoided in this way. The Inhaler is beautifully finished and made entirely of hard rubber. It can be conveniently carried in the vest pocket ready for use in church, at work, in the theatre, street car, anywhere, at any time. The complete Catarrhozone outfit contains a large bottle of inhalant, sufficient to keep recharging the inhaler for two months. It costs $1.00 and is guaranteed to cure. Sold by all druggists or sent direct to your home by mail if the price is forwarded to N. C. Polson & Co., Kingston, Ont., or Hartford, Conn. U.S.A.

Late Record Time.

A midnight run-away occurred Monday night when the team attached to the National Hotel 'bus suddenly took fright and ran from the C.P.R. station, continuing their wild career as far as the corner of George and Hunter streets, where the 'bus collided with a telegraph pole. Here the breaking of a whiffletree allowed the horses their freedom. The team is a very spirited one, recently purchased from McCollum Bros., where they have been quartered, and this was their objective point last night. No damage was done.

WM PRINGLE

THE COLLEGIATE INSTITUTE DISTURBANCE

(To the Editor of The Times.)

Dear Sir.—In your issue yesterday morning appears an article which does an injustice to the Roman Catholic pupils of the Collegiate Institute, who in the matter under discussion have conducted themselves in a satisfactory manner. No teacher observed any actions on their part which should be construed as intended to insult anyone, and I do not believe that they were guilty of such actions.

Yours, etc.,
C. FESSENDEN.

In reference to the above letter, over the signature of Mr. C. Fessenden, Principal of the Collegiate Institute, we are pleased to learn that the talented writer takes so charitable a view of Monday's disturbance and subversion of school discipline. Mr. Fessenden evidently is desirous of maintaining peace at any price, and the teachers on his staff naturally fall into his public policy. That insult was intended to the teachers is a matter for personal discrimination and judgement by the private citizen as based on his interpretation of the animus exhibited. It would ill become The Times to throw discredit on the expressed sentiments of Mr. Fessenden; We only regard the facts, and the intelligence of our readers can enable each one after an analysis of evidence, which is undenied and undeniable, to weigh facts and deny or impute motives. Apart from the motive actuating these scholars who interrupted the daily schedule of procedure in the Institute, the facts are, that a unanimously agreed upon and conjointly performed disturbance was made with the evident intention of interferring with that laudable and customary practice of beginning the day's work by reverently hearing the Lord's Prayer read. No sectarian prayers were offered, no word was spoken that could influence, or tend to affect the religious doctrines of any scholar present. The whole matter simply resolves itself into an organized token of disregard for existing conditions, with, what is not unfair or unreasonable to infer, direct and sinister purpose of showing the power intended to be used to dictate, or at least, in disproportionate ratio to representation, try to control our educational regime. What ever may be the expressed or private opinions of the teachers as to whether insult was offered, there was, beyond possibility of refutation or contradiction, a most palpable attempt made by children of a minority of the supporters of this Institute to dictate in an offensive way as to what shall or shall not be done, in a matter perfectly non-offensive to any sect, by teachers of children representing the more numerous supporters of the Collegiate Institute.

We trust that this badly judged attempt to insert a thin edge of clerical intolerance and dictation will be dropped and thereby allow a spark to die that might, by ill-advised reiteration, burst forth, so that years of effort will be unable to extinguish it. Were all Canadians educated side by side in secular subjects and nothing but a prayer that is common to all sects allowed in the schools, Canada would be spared the fear of religious attempts at domination or supremacy in matters that affect the growing man as a citizen alone. In every religious body to dictate what prayers are to be used for children belonging to such body? Are several hours daily to be wasted until the children of each denomination have their particular prayer read, whilst all other children retire lest their religious convictions be assailed? And if any particular sect or denomination suddenly discovers that a new stroke of policy might be inaugurated, by disturbing the larger balance of the scholars, whilst engaged in religious worship, as it necessary to quietly swallow the pill for fear of being called any title that might help cover up lack of argument on the part of those compounding the mass?

Local Incidents

BY THE THIRD MAN ON THE STREET.

—Lindsay will have a tax rate of 30 mills. Gee-Whiz!

—And now the West Ward school needs enlargement.

—An important meeting of the 57th Band was held last night.

—The 57th Regt. turned out in good force for last night's drill.

—The usual Tuesday night Bible Class at Bethany Tabernacle was resumed last night.

—The annual organization of the Hiawatha Tennis Club will be held at the Y.M.C.A. this evening.

—All is not gold that glitters, nor as everything sold to maple sugar even great grandchild of a maple.

—The Raffle class held in connection with the Y.W.C.A. was held in the Y.M.C.A. building last night.

—The Ladies' Aid of George street church have purchased a new Gerhard Heintzman piano, for which Mr. W H. Isaac is agent.

—The Dickson Company have during the past few days despatched about 200 men to their limits in Cavendish to work upon the drives and also to prepare for next season's operations.

—Lindsay Post says; William Mitchell, Bobcaygeon, has been appointed Clerk of the Third Division Court of the County of Victoria in place of W. R. Given, resigned.

—Messrs. J. J. Turner & Sons, are Exhibitors. Monday night they received a rush order for a double hospital tent 15x20 feet, and shipped it to Pembrook the same night. Small pox is epidemic in that town.

—Another cashew match will be played to-morrow night in the Young Conservative Club rooms between No. 1 Ward and the town. This will decide the championship between the contestants.

—A lady residing on Downie street last week bought a load of cut and split wood. During the first night after its delivery on the premises every stick of the fuel was stolen. Wood not that skin you?

KEEP YOUR EYES OPEN and be sure that when you ask for Perry Davis' Painkiller you get just that and nothing else. Use it promptly to cure cramps, diarrhoea and all other bowel complaints in summer.

—Mr. Michael Watters, formerly in the hotel business in Lindsay and recently connected with the Daly House, Toronto, is interested with Mr. McDonald, of Oshawa, in the purchase of the New Grand Central in Orillia from Mr. F. J. Daly.

—The residents of Lakefield voted upon two by-laws yesterday—one to guarantee the bonds of the Lakefield Furniture and Manufacturing Co. to the extent of $15,000, and the other to determine whether cattle, sheep and pigs shall continue to run at large in the streets of the village.

When you want a life-like Portrait in Oil, Crayon, or Water Color, don't fail to come to B. Hudson's Studio, where the work and prices are always right. Gifts in Pictures, Frames and Fancy Work. Lessons in Painting and Pyrography Work. Studio, 134 Brock street, Peterborough.

—The originial intention of the C.P.R. to run within five miles of Barrie will in all probability be adhered to. The surveys now being made are almost identical with those made when the matter first came up and should those be followed the County town will be five miles from the new railway.

—Some people are tolerably fixed in their views. The Toronto Star of Monday last says; Mr. H. F. Strickland, the well-known electrical engineer, who is always the last bather of the season in Toronto and the first in the spring, opened the season at Balmy Beach yesterday, with a mile run and a plunge in the lake. He told the Star to-day, that 'the water was cold enough to suit the most fastidious man on earth."

—Lindsay people evidently look at Peterborough through yellow glasses. The Post says; Since Peterborough qualified for city rank and resurrected the street railway tracks the citizens of that burg have been throwing on a vast lot of style and have become so aesthetic that some of them probably would faint if they happened to sniff the aroma given out by a carload of Geo. Matthews' porkers.

—At the regular meeting of Otonabee Lodge, No. 13, I.O.O.F., Monday night six candidates were given the first degree. The matter of organizing a Past Grands' degree team is being considered. The annual church parade of the Oddfellows will be held to George street church on Sunday evening April 30th. Rev. Dr. Crothers will preach. All Oddfellows are invited to attend.

—Mr T. Welsh, who returned recently from a trip to Toronto states that brick is very scarce in the Queen City. Mr. Welsh has had representatives from Toronto, Hamilton and other places visit his yard here during the past few days. He has been offered a big price for the supply he has on hand, but refused to accept the tempting figure mentioned. Mr. Welsh has all the brick he has on hand sold to local parties.

—The Orillia News-Letter says, Messrs. McCallum Bros., have sold their livery stables, real estate and houses, to Mr. John Millson, of Barrie. Mr. Millson, who is an experienced horseman, arrived in town on Wednesday last and took possession the latter part of the week. Messrs. McCallum will also sell their boarding stables on Mississaga street. They still have stables in Georgetown, Orangeville and Peterborough. Citizens generally will regret teir departure from Orillia.

—Lindsay Post says;The Medical Health Officer of North Monaghan Township, in which Peterborough's dumping grounds is situated, discovered recently that the flesh of dead animals drawn there for burial was being fed to hogs, and the news gave pork eaters an unpleasant feeling in their "innards" and increased their respect for the time being at any rate, for one of the Jewish Rules of faith. Of course nothing of that nature could happen in connection with Lindsay's dumping ground.

—Arrangements have been completed by several local gentlemen whereby an opportunity will be afforded our citizens to hear Mr. Ellis Ashmead Bartlett, the noted war correspondent of the London Times, lecture upon his experiences in the Russo-Japanese war. The lecture, which will be profusely illustrated, will be delivered on Wednesday, April 19th, and will doubtless awaken a wide-spread interest among the public.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL

SOCIETY EVENTS OF INTEREST

—Mr. Wm. O'Brien was in Toronto Monday on business.

—Miss May Ross, who has been visiting with friends in town, has returned to Millbrook.

—Mrs. Graham, who has been visiting her son, Mr. James Graham, of Hastings, has returned home.

—Mrs. A. W. Brodie, of Toronto, is spending a couple of weeks with her mother, Mrs. George Edmison.

—The Lindsay Post says; Mr. T. J. Tilley, of Peterborough, successor to Mr. C. D. Dyke, local manager of the Bell Telephone Company, was in town to-day.

—A recent militia order contains the following announcement of local interest; "It is notified for the information of all concerned that a despatch has been received, dated 24th February last, from the War Office to the effect that the army council have decided that the fact of their being a military college in Canada, shall no longer debar the chartered universities in the Dominion from nominating candidates for commissions in the Imperial Army under the regulations at present in force, nor their participating in the new scheme which may be decided upon at a later date."

HOW TO WIN A HUSBAND.

Woman's sphere in this 20th century is not limited any more than is man's. She can occupy almost any business position or profession, and yet the popular view of womanhood is that she best fits the position of wife and mother and head of the household. Every girl should know her heart and also know that her womanly system is equal to the strain of marriage. If a girl is nervous and irritable ten chances to one it is due to some trouble peculiar to womanhood.

Cupid has no place in a girl's heart if she is nervous and irritable, feels dragged down, worn out for no reason that she can think of. The weak back, dizzy spells and black circles about the eyes are only symptoms. Go to the source of the trouble and correct the irregularity. Stop the drains on the womanly system and the other symptoms will disappear. This can be done easily and intelligently. So sure of it is the World's Dispensary Medical Association, the proprietors of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, that they offer $500 reward for women who cannot be cured of leucorrhea, female weakness, prolapsus, or falling of the womb. All they ask is a fair and reasonable trial of their means of cure.

"Your 'Favorite Prescription' cured me of ulceration and inflammation, from which I suffered for many years," writes Mrs. Delphia Wheaton, President Santa Barbara Lawn Tennis Club, Arlington Hotel, Santa Barbara, Calif. "Health was completely broken down when I began its use and I was in dreadful pain most of the time, but ten bottles cured me."

"Favorite Prescription" makes weak women strong, sick women well. Accept no substitute for the medicine which works wonders for weak women.

NEWFOUNDLAND IS FULLY JUSTIFIED

So Declares Washington Correspondent of New York Sun

MAY BE GAIN TO CANADA

Washington Thinks That Newfoundland Now Join the Canadian Confederation

New York, April 13. — The Sun's Washington correspondent says:

"Despatches from St. John's, Nfld., make it evident that Premier Bond has given up all hope of closer trade relations between Newfoundland and the United States, and he proposes a withdrawal of the privilege hitherto extended to American fishermen. After the treatment he has received at the hands of these fishermen and their political patrons, this is neither surprising nor open to reasonable complaint.... We have very deliberately slammed our door in his face. Can we blame him fairly for retaliating in kind?

"The really serious feature in the situation appears in the efforts which will almost certainly be made to evade the law. For anything that may come the New England fishermen are responsible and they are to take their own medicine. They have made their own bed and must lie on it. It is much to be hoped that the matter may stop there and not bring the country into complications with England and her colonies.

"Newfoundland cannot be blamed if she now turns to Canada with her trade and, as she may link her political fortune with the Dominion by joining Confederation, that would give Canada a card which she very much wishes to hold, and which she could with full justification use to our disadvantage and her considerable gain."

NO MORE TO DO WITH UNIONS

Employing Printers will Make no Contracts With Organized Labor

Kansas City, Mo., April 13.—The Employers Printers' Association through the west has been organized here at a special meeting called by the Typothetae of Kansas City and St. Louis, and attended by 200 delegates from Missouri, Kansas, Colorado, Arizona, New Mexico, Texas, Arkansas, Tennessee, Louisiana and Mississippi. The headquarters will be at St. Louis. An almost unanimous sentiment was shown among the delegates against entering in the future into any further contracts with organized labor, and also against the eight-hour day. Definite action on these questions will be taken before the meeting adjourns.

PUNCTURED TIRES

Bicycle Riders Complain of Carelessness of Line Men.

Complaints are already rampant from bicycle riders about the careless way in which objects tending to puncture tires are thrown about the streets. The principal danger to tires comes from scraps of wire carelessly thrown aside or forgotten by line men making repairs on telephone, telegraph and electric light poles. There is a by-law prohibiting this and when so very little trouble on the part of linemen can prevent a constant stream of cuss words and hard earned dimes the law should be enforced if the trouble continues. It is not pleasant just as one's Sunday girl has telephoned to say she will wait, just ten minutes, at the house, if you ride over quickly, to run foul of a chunk of bent pieces of wire and hear the tire go flat, with 11 blocks between you and joy.

The Man Who Was Consulted

The history of the preparation of the Autonomy Bill is very suggestive. Mr. Sifton was the representative of the North-West in the Cabinet. He was not consulted. His views did not rule. Mr. Haultain, the Premier of the North-West, was summoned to Ottawa to discuss the constitution under which in the future the people of that great territory were to live. He was not consulted upon the educational question. The North-West has representation in Parliament. They were at Ottawa. But they were not consulted. The only individual, outside of the Cabinet, who had any share or part in the preparation of the educational clauses was Mgr. Sbarretti, the Papal delegate.

GREAT PROGRESS IN THE CANADIAN WEST

Mr. William Whyte Tells of C.P.R. Development

MANY NEW BRANCH LINES

Calgary Will Continue Growth—Great Activity in Mining Centres

Montreal, April 13.—Mr. William Whyte, of Winnipeg, second vice-president of the Canadian Pacific Railway, is paying the city a flying visit. He came here last evening and will leave once more for the West tomorrow afternoon, stopping en route at Ottawa, where he will have an interview with the Governor-General.

Mr. Whyte is highly elated over the note of expansion which is still predominant throughout the West, and he spoke in detail of the work which the company is prosecuting this year in the way of extensions to its already extensive system.

Perhaps the most important feature of the work is the double tracking of the line between Winnipeg and Port Arthur, which, it was hoped, would be commenced this spring. An unexpected delay has, however, occurred, owing to the necessity that has arisen for revised tenders on the part of the contractors who are desirous to undertake the work. These contractors are now going over the line carefully, and new figures will be in the hands of the management in the near future.

It is pointed out by Mr. Whyte that only the very largest firms of contractors can hope to participate in this work, for the reason that while the double tracking operations are in progress the line already in use must be kept open to traffic.

From Winnipeg as far as Selkirk the main line of the Canadian Pacific Railway runs almost due north as far as Selkirk, and then swerves south-east in a comparatively straight line to Port Arthur. The second line out of Winnipeg will not strike Selkirk, but will run north-east to Molson, following the main line eastward from that point, thus cutting off a distance of nine miles on the main line between Winnipeg and Port Arthur, as at present constituted.

THE HEAVIEST PIECE OF WORK.

Mr. Whyte says that the heaviest piece of work on this double tracking will be between Cross Lake and and Eagle River, where the line runs through rock, muskeg and water for the most part, conditions which present many engineering features of much delicacy.

The necessity for the double track mentioned becomes at once apparent when it is known, as Mr. Whyte indicated by reference to a map that hung in the Board room where he carried on the conversation, that the company is slowly but surely extending lines parallel with its main line across the prairies to the foot hills of the Rockies. There will be at least two of these. The one is an extension of the Pleasant Hill branch, which will strike the Edmonton branch at Wetaskiwin. From the latter point there are this year being graded fifty miles. The other line is being built eastward from Lacombe on the Prince Albert branch, and not a little of this has also been graded this year, with more to follow. The company is also building from Wolseley to Reston, a distance of 124 miles. These lines run through a part of the new provinces not heretofore served by railways, and will do much toward enabling the farmers to market their crops.

ABANDONED SOME WORK.

The prorogation of the Legislature of British Columbia, Mr. Whyte asserted, had forced the company to abandon some work which it had contemplated doing in that province, for the reason that the necessary legislation had not been forthcoming. One of these works was the construction of the Kootenay Central Railway from Golden to Warden, a distance of 200 miles.

In this connection Mr. Whyte said that the mining industries in British Columbia were now in a much better position than they had been for some years, the reason being that the price of copper and silver were looking up.

Speaking of the relative merits of Calgary and Edmonton as towns Mr. Whyte is inclined to believe that the former will hold its own for a good many years to come. The advent of the G. T. P. to Edmonton may do something towards enabling the price of real estate, which is now abnormally high, to be maintained in Edmonton, but he is not at all sure upon this point. Indeed, Mr. Whyte is fain to believe that lines running north and south are of more benefit to a town situated as Edmonton is, than those running east and west. Edmonton is the centre of a vast dairying district, and the products of the surrounding country are adapted to the mining camps of British Columbia, the Yukon and the Orient. For these products Calgary is the distributing point so far as British Columbia is concerned, which gives it an advantage over its rival.

"The volume of immigration," said Mr. Whyte, "will be well up to the figure attained last year, while the quality of the immigrants will be much better. This is especially true of those hailing from the British Isles, who are this year coming over in increasing numbers.

MANITOBA IN NEED OF 90,000 LABORERS

Nearly Forty Thousand More Men Needed to Do Farm Work and Harvest Crop, Says Provincial Immigration Inspector.

Winnipeg, Man., April 12.—"Extending over the whole of this year, Manitoba will require the help of about 90,000 incomers for seeding, haying, harvesting, and farm work generally," said J. J. Golden, Provincial Immigration Commissioner today. "This is a substantial increase over last year, when about 50,000 were brought in for that purpose.

When asked what percentage of this immense influx usually remains in the country as permanent settlers, and what they could turn their attention to after the harvest had been garnered, he replied;

"Many of them take up land and homestead, some of them work in the bush, others continue as farm laborers, and then there is always quite a proportion who come from the Eastern Provinces who return. After giving the matter careful consideration I have estimated that practically all the European immigrants to the Province during the year remain, and of those coming from the Eastern Provinces on summer excursions at least one-third stay out here, and of those who return many of them come out again to stay a year or so later, having once seen the opportunities that await them here in the West."

Resistance Will Kill the Bill

The World outlines the policy of the patriots at Ottawa who are fighting for a free West. Our contemporary is of the opinion that there is only one way of protecting the educational freedom of the North-West, and that is by making a determined fight at Ottawa. Ordinary opposition is all right for ordinary legislation. The educational clauses of the Autonomy Bill are not ordinary legislation. They are an interference with the liberties of a free people, a mortgage on the future of the great West that can never be discharged.

In the face of such a danger, public opinion will not be satisfied with a mere criticism of the Autonomy Bill. It is the duty of the enemies of coercion to exhaust every effort to defeat the bill. The Government is weaker now than it was when it introduced the legislation. It has found out that its majority, large as it is, is precarious. The delicacy of its position has increased with the progress of the debate, and two or three months of determined resistance would force the Government to withdraw the bill.

Under no consideration should the second reading of the bill be permitted to take place before Easter. Then in the committee stage fifteen resourceful members of the Opposition could hold the bill for an indefinite length of time. The right kind of obstruction at Ottawa can kill the Separate schools clauses. But obstruction in Parliament can only be effective while public sentiment is behind it. Obstruction at Ottawa and public meetings in the country should go hand in hand. One will receive strength and effectiveness from the other. Public meetings should be held in every constituency in Ontario, not only to encourage those who are taking the leading part in fighting the battles of the North-West, but to spur on the timid and indifferent.

To these meetings members of Parliament should be called to define their positions and to state how far they are prepared to go in the way of obstructing the bill. Their pronouncements will be a considerable factor in the fight.

A few rousing public meetings in Ontario will have incalculable effect at Ottawa. They will infuse the enemies of coercion with new life and vigor, and inspire resistance that will end with the withdrawal of the obnoxious clauses.

A TRUE APPETIZER AND TONIC

Hi-o-na Will Make You Feel Hungry and Hearty, and Give Strength and Vitality

Ask any friend who looks thin, pale, and out of health, how many meals he or she eats a day, and the chances are that the answer will be 'Not over two, and I don't feel hungry then." The plump, rosy, and robust eat three square meals daily, and their perfect health is due to a strong stomach and digestive system, as such a system takes out of the food all those elements that make pure blood, and give nourishment and vitality to the body.

The one appetiser and tonic that should be taken is Mi-o-na, the only agent known that will strengthen the stomach and digestive system, and put them in perfect working order that they will digest easily and naturally all the food that is eaten, and send you to the table positively hungry for the next meal.

Without a strong stomach digestion will be poor, the blood impure, and serious liver and kidney troubles result, causing headaches, backaches, spots before the eyes, dizziness, sleeplessness, nervousness, irritableness, a furred tongue and bad breath, all of which can be readily overcome by the use of Mi-o-na, (costing but 50c. a box), as it goes right to the foundation of perfect health, the stomach.

Scores of leading people in this State, including editors, ministers, bankers and their families, gladly testify to the tonic, strengthening, and health-giving effects of Mi-o-na. Furthermore, Wm. Medill, one of the most reliable Druggists in this section, sell Mi-o-na Under a guarantee to refund the money if it does not produce satisfactory results.

EXTENSIVE IMPROVEMENTS

The New Proprietors of the C. P. R. Hotel Make Great Alterations

As noted in this journal, Messrs. Rickerby Brothers have taken possession of their recent purchase, the C.P.R. Hotel. The new proprietors are losing no time in making extensive alterations and improvements in the Hotel. They are changing the office and greatly enlarging it, with a view to catering to a largely increased transient trade. A fine new register has been purchased for office use. The floor of the office is to be improved, and when finished, will present an attractive appearance. They have already added nine 32-candle power lamps to the front of their building. The sheds and stables are receiving special attention, that farmers and others may be more comfortable, and their rigs get good protection, an electric light service has been put into all sheds and barns. A large addition of new furniture has been included, so that about 25 bedrooms will accommodate transient and permanent boarders. These young men seem to be Lustlers.

THE PRODIGAL RETURNS

Ashburnham Lady Receives Her Cat Without Killing the Fatted Calf.

Last Thursday, a well-known society lady of Ashburnham, resolved herself into a committee of one to deal with Thomas. Thomas was and still is, her cat. On Wednesday evening the lady had purchased a particularly nice sirloin roast of beef, which with the usual "fixings," including some nicely cleaned parsnips, she placed in the refrigerator over night. One of her children when getting milk out of the ice-box left the door ajar. Thomas is of an inquisitive turn of mind and, prowling about, during the night, discovered the roast. A jug of milk was upset over a tasty angel cake, and the roast was gone. The lady discovered its mangled remains behind the kitchen stove, and found Thomas licking his paws and slying grace. A drum-head court-martial of one was instantly formed, and a verdict of guilty determined on.

Madame instructed her small son to proceed forthwith to the river, and throw a paper fifty pound flour bag, containing Thomas, and a good sized rock into the raging Otonabee. Son, although regretting the loss of his old playmate dutifully obeyed.

The bag and contents were gently lowered into the depths, and feeling loth to linger long at the scene of execution, son returned to the house, and notified his mother that Thomas had gone the way of thieving cats. About an hour afterwards the lady, in best bib and tucker, opening the front door to go calling, discovered Thomas trimming his whiskers, and somewhat bedraggled, on the door steps. Thomas had evidently clawed through the paper before using up the air contained, and had made for a spot where roasts of beef were left so handy. The lady says that though her prodigal cat did not get the traditional fatted calf, she had not the heart to kill him a second time.

The Favored Church.

The papal delegate in Canada exercises a degree of authority superior to that enjoyed by other religious dignitaries. The Lead of the Presbyterian Church, the president of the Methodist Church, the episcopate of the Church of England, the archbishops, bishops and clergy of the Roman Catholic Church were not invited to give their ideas on this question. Ottawa did not want their opinions.

THE BY-LAWS CARRY

Lakefield Votes for the Furniture Company's Bonus and for the Cattle By-Law.

On Tuesday, by an almost unanimous verdict, the people of Lakefield showed that they recognized the impetus given to the town by its manufacturing industries, and decided to have a little more manufacturing of their own. Those competent to vote, viz., property owners, voted on a by-law to bonus the Art Furniture Manufacturing Company, to the extent of $15,000 to establish its factory in this town, and the vote was in favor of the proposal, being 197 for, 16 against the by-law, a majority of 181.

As a result of this vote the work of construction will be proceeded with at once, and it is expected that the factory will be in operation this year. It will mean that Lakefield will be the home of a new and promising industry.

At the same time a plebicite was taken to get the feeling of the ratepayers regarding the passing of a by-law to prohibit the running at large in the village, of horses and cattle. The result was a majority of 116 in favor of passing the by-law. If a respectful suggestion might be made, the villagers would wisely include in the cattle by-law, that brand of dog that practises a combination of Italian opera and Wagners' music, on moonlight nights. That unquenchable brand of canine vocalist that the moon makes mad.

MUSICAL FESTIVAL.

Miss Edna Boys, who will take part, has made quite a reputation for herself as an elocutionist, and will be heard with great interest in her different selections.

57TH TO GO.

The Regiment Decide They Should Go To Ottawa.

It has been finally decided that the 57th Regiment will go to Ottawa on the 1st of July. This was decided by a unanimous vote of the regiment, who consider it would be discourteous to the Foot Guards to cancel their promised visit. In view of this move, it is altogether probable that the proposed celebration will be postponed, since the absence of our crack band and regiment would handicap the program arranged and cause the affair to fall flat.

57TH REGT. POPULAR

The Drill Brought Out Nearly Full Strength

A visiting warrior, Quarter-Master Sergt. Medhurst, of the Royal Canadian Dragoons, Toronto, who is in town looking for recruits, on Tuesday night expressed great admiration when he saw the grand turn out of our local regiment. He remarked that the boys compared with any city corps in every respect. He also said that in his long military service, both abroad and at home, he never saw men who seemed to take more interest in their work. Whilst Tuesday's turn out was only the second this spring, the regiment was out in almost full strength.

In one company, out of a possible 46, 39 turned out for drill. Should the 57th return the visit made here by the Foot Guards of Ottawa last year, as is anticipated, this town will be given a good military representation. The stalwart youth of Peterborough, in entering into the work of the regiment with great enthusiasm. The prospects are that not only will the regiment be up to strength this year, but will attain a degree of efficiency superior to that of any previous year.

The prospect of the new armories has doubtless influenced the men in taking a deeper interest in the regiment this year. The weekly drills will be continued during the summer and should they make the trip to Ottawa they will be in good shape.

On the occasion of that visit the regiment will be reviewed by Genral Lake, chief of staff of the Canadian Militia.

REPORT OF A NAVAL BATTLE OFF THE MALAY PENINSULA

Is An Improbable Story As First News Would Likely Come From Singapore, Which is 500 Miles Nearer Reported Scene of Fight.

St. Petersburg, April 13.—The Admiralty has no information in regard to the alleged naval battle in progress off the Anambas Islands, as reported to a newspaper of Amsterdam, Holland, from Batavia, and does not credit the report of a general naval battle yet. The officials concede, however, that the Japanese may have attempted a torpedo boat attack on a convoy during the night. It is pointed out that there is no cable connection with the Anambas Islands and Batavia, and that the first news of a fight should come from Singapore unless the Dutch warships are able to communicate with Batavia by wireless telegraphy.

A Rumored Battle.

Amsterdam, Holland, April 13.—A fight is now in progress near the Anambas Islands, East of the Malay Peninsula, according to a telegram from Batavia, Island of Java, to the Handelsblad newspaper.

The despatch adds that five Dutch warships are near the scene of battle. Details are lacking.

Jap Cruisers There.

Saigon, French Cochin-China, April 13.—The French cruiser Descartes and five torpedo boats are cruising off Cape James, near here. The French gun-boats Acheron and Styx are about to leave Saigon for the purpose, it is said, of preserving the neutrality of French waters. The Descartes, which is furnished with wireless telegraph apparatus, has received several despatches in a foreign code, which are illegible.

Several Japanese ships are cruising off the coast of Cochin-China for the purpose of preventing the Russians taking coal on board, and are making reconnaissances.

A Chinese junk, which arrived here recently reported that two Japanese vessels purchased supplies at Pulo Obi, at the southern extremity of Cochin-China.

In case a battle occurs off the coast of Cochin-China the only incidents anticipated by the French colony here are that the belligerents may send disabled ships to this port.

Battleships Went By.

London, April 13.—No confirmation has yet been received in London of the report from Batavia, Java, of a naval battle off the Anambas Islands, and as there is no cable connection with those islands, it is difficult to see how Batavia could have got such news before Singapore.

The Associated Press is able to confirm absolutely the statement that the Russian battleships passed Singapore going eastward April 8, so that all of Vice-Admiral Rojestvensky's squadron are accounted for. This definite news about the battleships was sent to Singapore by wireless telegraphy from the China Sea.

JACKSON PARK LINE.

Street Railway Company to Increase Number of Cars To This Park.

The Street Railway anticipate a very great increase in the travelling public between town and Jackson Park this summer. They will increase their present rolling stock, on the 1st of May, by two new cars.

These cars will be placed on the Jackson Park line, and the new service will be inaugurated to accommodate what is believed will be a large part of the summer traffic, that to Jackson Park. There is no immediate prospect that an amusement park will be established at the southern end of the line, and consequently during the warmer months there will be many persons who, during the afternoons and evenings will go to Jackson Park for picnic parties, etc.

It is also probable that the George street line service will have to be increased with the opening of river navigation, for, since the steamers at least in the early part of the season will stay to unload their passengers below the locks, and practically right at the end of the present car line.

The question of double tracking George street, is one which the company will not decide until the town reaches a decision as to paving the street.

MR. ALLEN'S APPEAL

Appeal Taken to Judgment in Late Watch Pawning Case.

Mr. Allen, lately proprietor of the C.P.R. Hotel, Simcoe street, has, through his counsel, Mr. D. O'Connel, entered an appeal against Magistrate D. W. Dumble's decision and fine, in the case tried last week, wherein Allen Lindsay accused Mr. Allen, of having, through medium of his alleged bartender, Newton Herbert, taken a watch from him in pawn for $2.

Our readers will remember that in this case, Lindsay swore that he did not try to sell his watch to anyone, but that Herbert, who was at the time in question, behind Allen's bar, had taken the watch in security and had advanced $2 on it, to be paid the second day following. The contention of the defence was that Lindsay had sold the watch outright and had tried to sell it to others; and that Herbert was not in Allen's employ, but simply a boarder, thus refuting Allen's responsibility for his action. In the appeal now taken, Allen contends that four witnesses swore to the truth of his contention at the trial, whilst only one witness, the complaintant, swore absolutely to the full facts as given by Lindsay. Mr. Allen states that he considers himself as having been ill used, particularly so, as he never had a previous charge of any infraction of the license law preferred against him, during the twelve months he ran the hotel.

WEDDING BELLS

Miss Jean Kindred Married to Mr. Herbert Saunders of Toronto.

Yesterday afternoon a very happy and pretty wedding was celebrated at the residence of Mr. G. D. Carruthers, 210 McDonnel street, when Miss Jean Kindred, the youngest daughter of Mr. W. A. Kindred, was married to Mr. Herbert Saunders of Toronto, in the presence of about 25 of the immediate friends of the contracting parties. The wedding was quiet on account of the recent bereavement in the family of the bride.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. G. Lawis, B.A., pastor of the Mark street church. The bride was gowned in a pretty dress of grey silk voile over taffeta, and trimmed with insertion and chiffon.

Two little nieces, Misses Jean Anderson and Greta Graham, performed the duties of maid of honor and flower girl respectively.

A unique feature of the ceremony was a big basket of flowers carried by Miss Greta Graham, in which reclined the all important ring. After the customary wedding breakfast the happy couple left for Parkdale, their future home. The bride's going away dress was silk shepherd's plaid, with hat to match. The groom's present to the bride was a harp of pearls while to the flower girl and maid of honor he gave harps of rubies.

May the young couple live long, and be ever as happy as on their wedding day.

Chief of Police, G.T. Reed. Magistrate, D.W. Dumble

Walter Guy is one of those men who are always looking for work and ever offering up prayer that he shall not find it. Walter's neighbors have several times complained to the police concerning this gentleman. He evidently does not mind working, but thinks it is too hard to expect a fellow to work between meals. He is a willing worker though when handling a knife and fork over food provided by others. Several witnesses were heard who concurred in saying that Walter was not a good family provider, although it was admitted by one witness that the prisoner could provide whiskey for himself. Anyone having business with Walter during the next two months will find him at Castle Nesbitt attached to the business end of a corporation buck saw.

A respectable looking citizen who blew in from Havelock on Tuesday, succeeded in getting outside a larger quantity of tangle-leg than his capacity was intended for. Yesterday he was assessed $2 for the aforesaid indiscretion.

Mr. Harry Evans, Street Commissioner, knows now, $2 worth, that even town dignitaries cannot ride bicycles on the sidewalk. Keep riding on the pavement boys, and next year the Council will be able to reduce our rates several mills on the dollar.

ATHLETIC WORLD

BY OUR SPORTING EDITOR.

LACROSSE.

Yesterday, Mr. George Rickerby, of the C.P.R. Hotel, was in communication by telephone with Mr. P. J. Haffey, President of the Chippewas, of Toronto, to find out if there is any real feeling in Toronto against Peterborough having a senior lacrosse team. The result of the conversation was that there is no such feeling in Toronto lacrosse circles. We are assured by several advocates of the senior team here, that nothing is contemplated that will, in any, interfere with the junior team's interests.

Referring to the Peterborough Senior Team, the Mails and Empire says;

The present circuit would remain intact, and a second one would be made, comprising the Torontos, Peterborough, and probably Orillia.

Peterborough lacrosse men are very active. They have already secured the services of some of the well-known players in the east, and they intend to put up a hard fight for admission at the Good Friday convention. Peterborough has all most right to receive attention at the hands of the C.L.A., as the Torontos, and in fact more so. For when the Torontos were playing in the N.A.L.U., they were certainly anything but friendly to the Canadian Lacrosse Association.

None of the senior lacrosse teams have, as yet, engaged a man for the coming season.

THE RUSSIAN CRASH TO COME

In a vigorous article which is published in the April number of the North American Review, the veteran champion of political liberty, Karl Blind, discusses "The Coming Crash in Russia." He pours scorn upon Pobiedonostseff, whom he holds up to opprobrium as "Russia's Grand Inquisitor" and "the clericalist Tartuffe," because that dignitary has consistently used his influence with the weak-minded Czar to prevent him from heeding the just demands of his people. As proving that the dissatisfaction with the Autocracy is deep-seated and confirmed, Professor Blind refers to the armed outbreak against the Government in 1825, and he gives an account of the noblemen and army officers who were involved in that unsuccessful attempt to establish decent rule in Russia. Now, however, circumstances are more propitious to the popular cause, and the discontent is much more widespread, as is indicated by various events to which Professor Blind alludes; and he declares that, look wherever we may, the walls of the great prison house, called the Czar's empire, are showing cracks and signs of crumbling. Referring to the public sentiment in Russia towards the war now waging, Professor Blind says:

"Until lately the Russian landowning class was rather averse to ideas of political opposition. The war has roused them. His laborers are taken from him by military mobilization. The peasant he has to pay rise correspondingly in the absence of sufficient labor. His produce cannot be disposed of, as the Army Administration has seized hold of all the railway trains. There is a dangerous fermentation among the peasantry, threatening the life and the property of the landowner. Industry, too, is paralyzed among the manufacturing class and its workmen. There is great fear as to the impossibility of maintaining the gold standard, which is but artificially kept up by continual loans abroad. Finally life has become terribly distasteful, the upper ten thousand being now also drawn into the military service. Any one going to the Far East looks upon his forced departure as the probable end of his life, and it is generally held that what is going on in that distant region is no longer regular warfare, but mere butchery. Hence all Russia is filled with hatred of this war, and of the political state of things which has brought it about!"

THE GOOD OF A GARDEN

This season is at hand when the human heart begins to hunger for a garden spot. It is not alone the plants and flowers we long for. The senses of sight and smell are not all that powerfully appeal to us when nature is arraying herself in green and throwing out her rich perfumes.

An inner something impels us to put our hands at work in the earth, to bathe our bodies in the sunshine and to open our souls in devotion to things that are not gross, but sweet and pure. Every city dweller who has a bit of ground about his house should begin to think about getting out a garden. It may be only five feet square, but he can plant it in green peas, succulent onions, radishes or lettuce and still find room for a flower or two to throw a little color and a little fragrance into his life and the lives of his children.

If he have no children, then he needs flowers all the more, that their tender routage may keep his heart from toughening into the sod of selfishness. A little garden, if properly cared for, will save the city dweller many a dollar. But that is by no means the chief good. If he has more money than he knows what to do with he will still find profit in wielding the spade and hoe for exercise. There is no more healthy perspiration that that which comes of exertion in the garden, no perfume better than that which is wafted up from the moist soil. Such perspiration is more exhilarating than wine and such perfume is sweeter than attar of roses.

It is as good a thing for a man's heart and mind as for his body to get close to nature. To be pitied is the man who does not drink in with delight the fragrance of flowers after having breathed all day the stench of a city, and who does not learn a lesson from the noiseless, orderly, beneficent processes of nature that are constantly going on around him.

THE WAR AND FINANCE

Henry Clews' banking circular says: Peace rumors strengthen week by week, and while Russia may reject all overtures for a time, just effect, it is certain that the end is not far distant. Russia's finances are near the exhaustion point, and France, her best friend, has refused further assistance. Contrast Russia's credit with Japan's. Russia has issued only about $250,000,000 bonds during the war, but her last issue of $125,000,000 was flatly turned down in every money market in the world. Her bonds are steadily declining in spite of the most remarkable support from financial interests ever witnessed. Japan, on the other hand, has issued about $450,000,000 bonds, including this week's loan, which was oversubscribed many times the first day offered; while Japanese issues are steadily rising, partly owing to success in the field and partly because their credit was underestimated at the beginning of the war. What the effects of ending the war will be it is difficult to foresee. There will undoubtedly be a rapid expansion of commerce and industry in the Far East; Japan will recuperate quickly; and how Paris will get over the strain now endured remains to be proved. When the war is over there will be slim occasion to support Russian bonds then now, and they may hang when the big holders endeavor to distribute their heavy load.

ENTIRE SEPARATION THE ONE REMEDY

The News puts it this way: Whether we look at the proposal to fasten Separate schools on the West, or at the conduct of Mgr. Sbarretti, we find the same source of evil—clerical interference—and we must seek the same remedy—the entire separation of Church and State. The appeal to Rome, resulting in the appointment of the Delegate, was due to the interference of the Quebec bishops in politics, and in the politics not of Quebec but of Manitoba. They were interfering, not only in State affairs, but in State affairs in which they had not even a local interest. It is said that they are now chuckling over the blunder into which Mgr. Sbarretti has fallen, but the fact is that they were far worse than Sbarretti, openly making use of their spiritual authority to coerce electors, and breaking the law of the land. They or their predecessors were guilty of the same offence thirty years ago, and the same remedy of an appeal to Rome was invoked on behalf of the Liberal party. In the remedy itself there was a source of danger. But the real evil is clerical interference.

EDITORIAL COMMENT.

Young Robert Saturman, eldest son of President Saturman of Cornell University, has gone to work for 75 cents a day in the blacksmiths' shop of a bridge building company. He failed in his studies and his father determined to treat him as he would any other student and left him entirely to his own resources, whereupon the young man donned jumper and overalls and went out to learn a trade.

SEALED TENDERS, addressed to the undersigned, and endorsed "Tender for Dredging in the Harbor of Port Arthur," will be received at this office until Friday, the 14th April, 1905, for dredging certain portions of the Harbor of Port Arthur and channels leading thereto to a depth of 22 feet of water in Lake Superior.

The prices quoted must be per cubic yard of material in the scow, and including the cost of towing the scows to and from the dumping ground, which will be indicated by the engineer in charge, and which must not be in less than eleven fathoms of water in Thunder Bay.

The material to be removed is chiefly composed of clay, boulders and clay, quicksand and hardpan, and different prices will have to be quoted by intending contractors for these different kinds of material in the scow.

It must be distinctly understood that the Department will entertain no claim for compensation on account of towing plant to or from the site of the works, as the prices quoted must cover such towing as well as lost time and all other contingencies usually connected with such works; such as damage by collision with other craft frequenting the harbor, or other causes; also that no tender will be considered from parties who are not at the date of this call for tenders bona-fide owners of the necessary dredging plant, duly registered in Canada.

The plant supplied shall be thoroughly examined by an officer of this Department, and if it be found to be of an inferior description or deemed unfit to perform the work required, then on receipt of notice in writing from the Chief Engineer of the Department of Public Works, such other plant as shall be approved by him shall have to be supplied within one week from the date of said notice, and in the event of failure or refusal to do so, the Department shall have the power to terminate the contract.

Intending contractors must be ready to begin the work within ten days after the date they have been notified of the acceptance of their tender.

It must be distinctly understood that the tenders received will be only for the coming season's work, as the Department does not bind itself to continue the work at the prices quoted after the close of navigation this coming fall.

No allowance will be made for dredging to a greater depth than one foot beyond depth called for, nor for a greater width than that which may be ordered to be made.

Plans showing where dredging is to be performed can be seen in the office of the Chief Engineer of the Department, where also any additional information required can be obtained.

The Department does not bind itself to accept the lowest or any tender.

By order,
FRED. GELINAS,
Secretary.

FORTUNES ARE BEING MADE IN KANSAS OIL

Here's a fortune for you. Not 10% but 100% and no risk of lose. Giant of the Oil Fields.

The Midland Oil and Gas Company

has over 180 acres of oil land and has put down 10 wells, so the land is proved up. An adjoining additional 80 was secured yesterday, making over 260 acres all in the proven belt. Just read this!

The U. S. report on the oil industry places the average daily production of Pennsylvania wells at only one-half a barrel each per day. The Midland wells are pumping

Sixty Barrels a Day Each.

The pumping plant has just been started and this is the surprising result. Nothing like it in the world. The officers and directors of this company are bank men and do not believe in debts, so the company is free from debt. They have nearly $20,000 in cash and bills receivable in the treasury and everything paid for—property, wells, pumping plant, oil tanks, well cleaning machine and everything connected with the company. Have two drilling rigs working night and day sinking wells. Have abundance of gas, which runs the drills and pumping plant, so it only costs about $5.00 a day to produce and market the oil.

The Company has about 33 per cent of its stock in the treasury as a reserve.

For a short time the Company will sell a little more of its stock at only

7½ CTS. A SHARE

Buy all you can raise money to pay for.

We could talk all day about it and not cover all the strong points. But as the company has this grand property paid for, there is only one side to it, and that is profit. Don't buy stock in a company that tells you what they will do, but buy in this company, that has proved its property, and every dollar you put in makes it better. Send for particulars or mail check to

From the Kansas City Journal, Feb. 26, 1905.

There is perhaps no people in the same amount of territory in the world who have increased in wealth so rapidly. Everybody is prosperous. Many once poor and hard working families have become immensely wealthy.

Hudge Hale, an old Frisco conductor, has become a millionaire off of oil. He got in the game early. Now he has money as well as oil and gas to burn.

Fred Metrick, a farmer living near Chanute, had a hard time for years making both ends meet. Life was a hard proposition with him. His royalties now reach $1,000 a month and he is living on easy street.

Joe Heim, of the Kansas City brewery, took a flyer in oil leases. He first put in $500 and refused $12,000 for his investment. Later he put in a lot more money in gas and oil lands and is now figuring high.

George E. Work, the Chicago clothier, took some acres of land near Chanute for a debt a customer owed him. Work's partner refused to stand for the deal. So Work kept the land himself. He has since refused $50,000 for his holdings.

These are a few samples. Hundreds of farmers have become independently rich off their oil royalties, and hundreds of other men have made big money producing oil.

This Kansas oil bearing sand is like the Pennsylvania sand; wells will produce oil for fifty years.

Can give bank references, and dozens from people who have personally examined this great property.

Own a monopoly of the water right privileges in the Thunder Mountain mining district, State of Idaho, U.S.A.; seven water rights in all; one developed and in use. The property of the Company consists of over 1400 acres, with plenty of timber for building and mining purposes, a saw mill fully equipped and in operation, a 10-stamp mill now on its way from the R. R. Station to the property, and 40 additional stamps to be purchased at once and installed during the coming summer. This is the largest and most favorably situated property in the district. Some of the tunnels have been driven over 400 ft., cross-cutting many dikes, demonstrating that we have an inexhaustible body of ore. The ore bodies are sampled by an assayer every 10 ft., and assays run from 40c. to $600 per ton. The ore is free milling, and can be mined and milled for about $1.00 per ton.

The Company has had a phenomenal growth, and "The Thunder Mountain Prospector," published at Roosevelt, Idaho, where the property is located, states that this Company is three times as large as any other Company operating in the district. 30 men at work on the property. COURT OF REVISION

Monday's Session Allowed Many Requests.

At the meeting of the Court of Revision held Monday night in the Clerk's office, the following gentlemen were present;—Ald. Scott, chairman, and Messrs. Begley, McIntyre, Mason and Johnston.

The following applications were considered;—

From Ida L. Fallen, for remission of dog tax for 1904.—Granted, provided she files a statutory declaration that she had no dog in 1904.

From Patrick Carroll, R. Gardiner, L. Tranter, P. Gardiner, H. Fralick and Thomas Lucas, for remission on statute labor taxes for 1901.—Granted, provided they file declaration stating that they were occupants of Louses during the whole of 1904.

From Francis Long and Neil Johnston, for remission of dog taxes for 1904.—Granted.

The following appeals were heard respecting the special assessment made for the construction of sewers as local improvements in 1904;—

Mrs. M. J. Dunford, that she was assessed on Rubidge street for 91 feet and that it should be 63 feet 6 inches. Also asking to be assessed for one sewer connection at No. 240 Rubidge street, and one sewer connection at 236 Rubidge street, each, for a total of $18.00, or $1.10 a year for 30 years.—Mrs. Dunford's application in regard to the sewer connections were granted, and the appeal as to measurement was laid over until the next sitting. Chas. Laflante to be notified.

From James O'Brien, asking that 49 feet 6 inches be assessed with No. 101 Rubidge street, and 47 feet 6 inches with 107, same street, for both of which he is assessed.—Change was made as requested.

From Charles Chambers stating that he should not be assessed for the full frontage of Rubidge street, as his lot was of irregular shape. The assessment made had included an allowance of 25 feet.—Assessment confirmed.

William Curtis complained that he was assessed for the London street sewer on lot 17, south London, and that Geo. Dredge owned lot. George Dredge was present and said that he owned the lot, but objected that there was a sewer in front of his lot on Downie street. Wm. Curtis was relieved of the assessment, and George Dredge assessed, otherwise assessment confirmed.

Andrew Haig complained by letter that he was assessed for 50 feet 6 inches for the King street sewer, and that his frontage is 49 feet 6 inches, and that he was wrongfully assessed for sewer connection.—Laid over until the next meeting and J. J. McBain to be notified.

A matter of assessment for further sewer connections, mentioned by the Town Engineer was laid over until the next sitting which will be held on Tuesday, April 17th at 8 o'clock.

THE Canadian Northwest

HOMESTEAD REGULATIONS

Any even numbered section of Dominion lands in Manitoba or the North-west Territories, excepting 8 and 26, which has not been homesteaded, or reserved to provide wood lots for settlers, or for other purposes, may be homesteaded upon by any person who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years of age, to the extent of one-quarter section of 160 acres more or less.

ENTRY

Entry may be made personally at the local land office for the district in which the land to be taken is situate, or if the homesteader desires, he may, on application to the Minister of the Interior, Ottawa; the Commissioner of Immigration Winnipeg, or the local agent for the district in which the land is situate, receive authority for some one to make entry for him. A fee of $10 is charged for a homestead entry.

HOMESTEAD DUTIES

A settler who has been granted an entry for a homestead is required by the provisions of the Dominion Lands Act, and the amendments thereto, to perform the conditions connected therewith, under one of the following plans:

(1) At least six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each year during the term of three years. It is the practice of the Department to require a settler to bring 15 acres under cultivation, but if he prefers he may substitute stock; and 20 head of cattle, to be actually his own property, with buildings for their accommodation, will be accepted instead of the cultivation.

(2) If the father (or mother, if the father is deceased), of any person who is eligible to make a homestead entry under the provisions of this Act, resides upon a farm in the vicinity of the land entered for by such person as a homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence prior to obtaining patent may be satisfied by such person residing with the father or mother.

(3) If a settler was entitled to and has obtained entry for a second homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence prior to obtaining patent may be satisfied by residence upon the first homestead, if the second homestead is in the vicinity of the first homestead.

(4) If the settler has his permanent residence upon farming land owned by him in the vicinity of his homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence may be satisfied by residence upon the said land.

The term "vicinity" used above is meant to indicate the same township, or an adjoining or cornering township.

A settler who avails himself of the provisions of clauses (2), (3) or (4) must cultivate 30 acres of his homestead, or substitute 20 head of stock, with buildings for their accommodation, and have besides 80 acres substantially fenced.

The privilege of a second entry is restricted by law to those settlers only who completed the duties upon their first homesteads to entitle them to patent on or before the 2nd of June, 1889.

Every homesteader who fails to comply with the requirements of the homestead law is liable to have his entry cancelled and the land may again be thrown open for entry.

APPLICATION FOR PATENT

Should be made at the end of three years, before the Local Agent, Sub-Agent or the Homestead Inspector. Before making application for patent the settler must give six months notice in writing to the Commissioner of Dominion Lands at Ottawa of his intention to do so.

INFORMATION

Newly arrived immigrants will receive, at the Immigration Office in Winnipeg, or at any Dominion Lands Office in Manitoba or the Northwest Territories, information as to the lands that are open for entry, and from the officers in charge, free of expense, advice and assistance in securing lands to suit them. Full information respecting the land, timber, coal and mineral laws, as well as respecting Dominion Lands in the Railway Belt in British Columbia, may be obtained upon application to the Secretary of the Department of the Interior, Ottawa; the Commissioner of Immigration, Winnipeg, Manitoba, or to any of the Dominion Lands Agents in Manitoba or the Northwest Territories.

W. W. CORY,
Deputy Minister of the Interior.

N. B.—In addition to Free Grant Lands, to which the Regulations above stated refer, thousands of acres of most desirable lands are available for lease or purchase from railroad and other corporations and private firms in Western Canada.

WHAT WIRELESS IS—WHY IT WORKS

(This is the third of four chapters dealing with this most important scientific phenomenon.)

Synopsis of preceding chapters: Wireless telegraphy was made possible through the discovery that the air was charged with electricity, but which was moving about with no certain direction. Signor Marconi was the first to harness this strange force and make it do his bidding, and this he has done through the medium of his numerous which are as simple as the telegraph instrument, and which involve no crisis with the attendant expense of putting up and maintaining the same. The instruments make it possible to guide the current in the air so as to make it carry the message at the will of the sender to the receiving station, where it may be read as easily as a letter.

CHAPTER III.

We have seen, in the previous chapters, how simple is the provision of Nature which makes it possible for the electricity in the air to carry the wireless message. Now we have to see how simple in principle are the instruments which control this force. For a better understanding, we will trace the course of an actual message.

The coming Summer will see new Marconi stations built at Halifax, N.S., and at Whittle Rocks, Labrador. A message may be sent from Halifax to Whittle Rocks. This message is handed to the sending operator at Halifax. Through the apparatus on the table before him, a current of electricity is passing from the dynamo, in an adjoining room, through the instrument on the table, and back to the dynamo. Upon receiving the message, he throws a small switch, which changes the course of the current, so that it passes up the wire outside of the station instead of back to the dynamo. The sending operator alternately presses down and releases a lever. Brilliant flashes of electricity jump between two brass rods, protruding across the front of the sending instrument every time that the lever is depressed, and the circuit completed. This is the instrument, previously referred to, which snaps the message off the wire like the snap of a whip and which adds to the distinct spacing between the dots and dashes. The operator varies the length of time that he keeps the lever depressed, and in that way makes long or short signals or dashes and dots which are the telegrapher's signs, equivalent to the letters of the alphabet.

In the receiving station at Whittle Rocks, another operator hears a click and knows that the lever on his machine has moved; that a current is passing through it, and that probably a message is coming. He hears the signal call of his station, and opening a lever on the adjoining apparatus, acknowledges his call. As the dots and dashes roll off without interruption, he translates each combination into the letter which they represent, and the message is written down.

If we could have been at Whittle Rocks when the message was received, or at the Halifax office when the reply was recorded, we might have seen another little instrument doing its work at the same time the receiving lever was clicking off the dots and dashes. We would have noticed a little wheel at one side of the receiving apparatus moving up and down very slightly, and exactly as moved the lever of the receiving apparatus which clicked off the message. We would have found that the edge of the wheel was covered with ink, and that every time it was depressed, it made a mark on a paper tape running under it. These marks were short or long, like dots and dashes, and were duplicates of the dots and dashes made by the big lever. This is the automatic receiver, known as the Wheatstone recorder, that records all messages passing through the receiving instrument. Thus, we would realize that the system had been so thoroughly developed, that every possible provision had been made to guard against mistakes in the transmission of a message. Of course, it takes time to work out all the details of such instruments, but the progress already made proves that Signor Marconi has mastered the hardest part of the problem, and that future development will go forward by leaps and bounds.

(The final chapter, and by far the most interesting of the series, will appear in this paper one week from today. Do not miss it.)

THINGS LOOKING UP

Chances for New Opera House Growing Brighter

Mr. Walter Stocker is meeting with great success in eliciting an expression of public feeling toward the erection of a new opera house. His subscription list has already a large number of names of influential people upon it, and he states that he frequently meets with parties who are enthusiastically in favor of the undertaking, while all of those whom he has interviewed regard it in a manner that is very encouraging.

The object is to secure a guarantee list pre-empting one thousand seats for the first attraction in a new opera house. This object being attained a thoroughly up-to-date building will undoubtedly be erected. It is now for the people to respond to the effort which is being made to bring the enterprise to a successful issue. Mr. Stocker states that so far as the guarantee list is concerned, he is meeting with many assurances and those who are behind the movement require just such a warrant in order that they may go ahead.

A PECULIAR MONSTROCITY

Here's a Man With Tail Like a Horse

Munich, April 12.—In the Medical Weekly, Dr. Maroone describes the case of a tailed man, born of normal parents, and whose children are normally developed. The hair-tail is attached to the chine bone and is of dark brown color. At the present time it is one and a half feet long. The skin below the tail is entirely normal. The doctor thinks that in ancient times this now very rare phenomenon occurred more frequently, hence the myth of the Satyrs.

GOVERNMENT ENDORSEMENT

OF THE

MARCONI WIRELESS TELEGRAPH SYSTEM

O. G. V. Spain, Commander of the Canadian Marine Service, has made his report to the Deputy Minister of Marine and Fisheries, at Ottawa, on the operations which deals with the subject of Wireless Telegraphy, there is nothing but favorable comment for the Marconi system as it is installed in the several stations along the St. Lawrence Gulf and River. Among the many favorable comments which he makes, the following are synopsised and are worth serious consideration as they come from a disinterested source, from a government official thoroughly qualified to express an opinion and from a shrewd observer who is reporting his conclusions from practical tests and indisputable data. He says in part:

(1.) All the stations installed have given a satisfactory service and a large number of messages are passing between the stations and ships regularly.

(2.) All the stations are reporting ships and shipping intelligence to Lloyd's agent at Quebec.

(3.) In many instances vessels have been in communication with Marconi shore stations when enveloped in thick fog, and have found the wireless system an invaluable supplementary aid to the existing fog signal service.

(4.) News of current events furnished to all steamers has proved a boon to passengers and is increasing the popularity of the St. Lawrence route for travellers.

(5.) The important aid to navigation rendered by the Dominion Government in the matter of wireless telegraphy has been greatly appreciated by the Shipping Federation and shipping interests in general.

(6.) The Government has decided to increase the power of the St. Lawrence stations, and to add new stations, so that intercommunication may be had by means of the Marconi system from Fame Point to Belle Isle or Cape Ray. The enormous advantage justifies this step on the part of the Government, because the captain of a steamer will then be able to know just the weather conditions prevailing along the entire St. Lawrence a few hours after leaving Quebec, and can direct his course accordingly.

A more favorable criticism of

would be hard to find. It not only unqualifiedly credits the Company with a great success up to the present time, but it indicates the confidence which the Government has in the future success of this Company. It goes further, and indicates that the Government will continue to lend its aid until a complete circuit of stations to meet all possible demands shall have been installed. It tells of the favorable impression which the service has made upon private shippers and the travelling public as well as the Government. These endorsements from every conceivable source could not have been won if the Company and the system upon which it works were not a complete and unparalleled success.

THE SUCCESS IS NOT SENTIMENTAL, BUT PRACTICAL

and it will mean a steadily increasing revenue for the Company. That revenue will shortly exceed the needs of the Company, and then it will be distributed among those who are stockholders therein. Even before there is a division of the profits annually, there will be an increase in the value of the stock by investors looking for a share of the dividends to be declared. But the shrewdest investor of all is the one who purchases the stock now and shares in the first and every subsequent advance in the stock as well as in the profits. We cannot begin to tell you even a small part of the many things which the company has done, is going to do, and which make its future as attractive as that of the most profitable enterprise in the history of the world of finance. Write for further particulars, but REMEMBER THAT AN INVESTMENT AT THIS TIME WILL BE AT THE LOWEST PRICE WHICH THE STOCK WILL SEE, and that this opportunity will not long be before you. Therefore INVEST now. You can now buy any amount of stock from one share to two hundred shares, and at $5 each. DON'T WAIT. If you are in Montreal, call at our office in the Canada Life Building and see a demonstration of how the Marconi system works, for the instruments for the purpose are installed there.

BETTER THAN GOLDFIELDS NEVADA

The East Pacific Mining Co.

OF HELENA, MONTANA

OFFERS FIFTY THOUSAND SHARES of its Treasury Stock for sale at

$1.50 PER SHARE

All the money received from the sale of this stock will be used to place larger and improved machinery at the mines; to install an electric power line; and install a large compressor and hoist capable of sinking the property at least one thousand feet deeper. When these improvements and betterments are made the cost of operating the mine will be reduced one-half, and good dividends be continuous and certain.

CONCENTRATOR PURCHASED

We have just purchased a concentrator, and we will begin erecting same immediately, and expect to start same by May 10th. Dividends will commence about the first of July.

We are much gratified at the number of orders we have received in the last two weeks from letters we have sent to different parties throughout the country, and from present indications all of our first issue of stock will be subscribed for inside of thirty days.

The mines are located twenty miles east of Helena, Montana, and have been worked for a number of years, but after closing down for two years were started up again July, 1904. Up to March 1st, 1905, these mines have produced $1,900,898 93, leaving a net profit of $570,346 85. In the month of November, 1904, we encountered some very high grade ore below the lowest level, which assays as follows:—

No. 1 Assay.	Gold ounces.	Silver ounces.	Value.
West of winze, intermediate drift	3685.60	1197,	$74,406.2
No. 2 Assay.
Immediate below No. 4 Tunnel	3951.20	1388.80	77,829.50

In January we pulverised 112 pounds of rich ore, which gave us an average taken from four assays of 385 38 oz. gold and 254 38 oz. silver, with a gold scales caught on screen worth $577.60 per ton, making a total valuation of this ore worth $17,551 74 per ton. This 112 pounds brought us $944 00.

ORE RESERVES

Consist of over 23,000 tons of second class concentrating ore mined and placed upon the different dumps with a gross valuation of $150,000.00 according to measurement, and concentrating and assay tests. Besides there is in the old stopes of the mine over 10,000 tons of concentrating ore with a value of $100,000, and a block of ground in the mine, 500 feet by 134 feet, averaging from six inches to three feet in width, worth over $150,000, and new ore is being placed in sight daily.

With these facts and figures it is asked why any of the stock of this company should be offered for sale at any price. The reason is this: The company desires to spend $75,000 without interfering with the workings of this mine to install improved machinery and develop the mine to a further depth of 1500 feet.

Now is your time to invest in a good paying proposition that will last from ten to fifteen years and pay from two to five cents per share per month during that time. We ask everyone who reads this advertisement to come and visit the property, or make any investigation that they desire. The officers of the company are R. A. Ball, Mining Operator, fifteen years, President; A. L. Smith, Vice-President National Bank of Montana, Treasurer, Wm. H. Dickinson, Cashier National Bank of Montana, Secretary. You Take It Mixed With Air

A Powerful Destroyer of Disease Germs Which Cures Every Type of Catarrh Bronchitis and Throat Trouble.

Ever since Adam the air of the Pine woods has been known to possess marvellous healing properties. In fact doctors claim that people living in the balsamic atmosphere of the woods never contract consumption or catarrh.

A new remedy that embraces all the healing curative powers of the pine woods has at last been realized. It contains the balsams, the ozone and many other antiseptics that make it an absolute cure for all catarrhal diseases.

For years doctors have been looking for just such a remedy and claim the most effectual, the most scientific cure for catarrh, bronchitis and winter ills, they have ever met.

So powerfully healing is Catarrhozone that simple colds in the head and coughs can be cured in less than an hour. Chronic catarrh is eradicated from the system in the most thorough manner. It doesn't matter whether the catarrh affects the nose, throat or stomach, it can be completely driven from the system by using fragrant healing Catarrhozone.

The remotest parts of the lungs and air passages often contain germs of catarrh and consumption which cannot be reached by ordinary treatments. But the searching vapor of Catarrhozone carries its antiseptic healing power direct to those isolated spots. So thoroughly does Catarrhozone reach all diseased surfaces that it cures for all time, and no relapse need ever be feared.

"My nose was so stuffed up from catarrh that I could not breathe except through my mouth," writes John D. Perkins, a well known merchant in Hamburg. "My breath was horribly offensive and my digestion was completely knocked out. I used Catarrhozone and was cured in two weeks. I wouldn't take five thousand dollars for the benefit and good health I received from Catarrhozone which I can recommend as a certain, absolute cure for catarrh."

Two months treatment costs $1.00; smaller size, 25c., at druggists or by mail from N. C. Polson & Co., Hartford Conn., U.S.A. and Kingston, Ont. Catarrhozone always cures—refuse a substitute, and insist on getting Catarrhozone when you ask for it.

Mr. A. Rountree to Take Over the Grocery Establishment of E. Brown & Co.

Arrangements have been completed and all necessary documents signed, whereby Mr. Arthur Rountree purchases the fine grocery business, which up till now, was run by Messrs. E. Brown & Co., George street. This is one of the finest grocery stands, and best selected stocks in Peterborough, and has had a good reputation in every respect for many years. The new proprietor will probably take possession in the course of a very few days, as soon as stock-taking has been completed.

Mr. Rountree is a gentleman well known in this his native town, and expresses his intention of running a strictly up to date grocery and [illegible] in securing the services of Mr. Fred Walker, who is well known in town through his connection with Messrs. Dutton, and E. T. Mason. Mr. Walker is a thoroughly practical grocery man. Having learned the business in England. Stole $33.75

Daniel Murphy, formerly of Peterborough, is said to have so little appreciated the confidence of his fellow brick-makers that he stole $33.75 intrusted to him as treasurer of the Brickmakers' Union. Mr. McIlraith, his counsel, told Magistrate Denison, Toronto, on Tuesday that Murphy paid out the money in various sums, on being instructed to do so by the executive of the Union. Murphy was also charged with neglecting his children. On the charge of theft the prisoner was remanded until to-morrow.

Peterborough Old Boys Should Meet.

We are none of us growing younger but, like a cow's tail our tendency in this world is grow downwards. Before the present bunch of "old residents" has gone the way of all flesh it would be good to have a meeting of the real "old boys" of Peterborough. As noted in a local contemporary, Mr. R. J. Winch, was recently in a contemplative mood and grew eloquent on old reminiscences concerning the older citizens of Peterborough, and is considering getting together a number of the older generation for the purpose of exchanging experiences. He has secured the names of seventeen gentlemen already, who are enthusiastic over the suggestion that such a meeting will be held in the near future. Those who can recall the condition of Peterborough ever sixty years ago would not want for material. Mr. Winch, among other subjects, reminded his audience that "Peterborough's first post office stood over there in the bush," and he pointed toward the Bank of Montreal building.

To Protect Municipalities.

Editor McKay of the Municipal World, of St. Thomas, accompanied by about twenty or more representatives of Elgin County Municipal Association, with other municipal representatives, will await on Premier Whitney, to-morrow, to ask the Government to support Mr. McDiarmid's bill, which is intended to prevent actions for damages against municipal Councils because of defective roads.

The American Farmer the Best in the World.

The Americans farmer is the greatest man in the world to-day because he is master of the soil—he is gaining in intelligence quite as rapidly as his products are increasing in magnitude. Our recent combines of capital in United States measured in money are enormous, yet such figures sink into insignificance when compared to the money, brain and brawn invested in agricultural industries. For instance, the farmers of [illegible] have received $900,000,000 for their products in a single year. The farmer knows what Nature will bring forth for him from his experience in the past. He knows if certain seeds are planted and properly cared for that Nature will take care of the rest. In the same way you are master of your own destiny.

Providing your blood is in good order, it only needs a little effort on your own part to keep healthy and strong—rid your body of the poisons that are apt to accumulate and your system is ready to ward off the attack of the germs of disease. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery makes rich red blood—by increasing the number of red blood corpuscles. There is no alcohol in this great tonic to shrivel up the red blood corpuscles. As an alterative extract, made only of herbs and roots it goes about its work in nature's way. It stimulates the liver into proper action, and feeds the worn-out nerves, stomach and heart on pure blood. Used for over a third of a century it has sold more largely than any other blood medicine in the United States. More bottles of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery are sold to-day than ever before—that is a true test of its medicinal value after thirty-eight years of deserved popularity.

TO CONTRACTORS

TENDERS will be received by the undersigned up to six o'clock p.m. on FRIDAY, the 21st Instant

For the erection of

Abutments to the New Bridge

over the Indian River, on the Boundary Road, between the Townships of Douro and Otonabee. The tenders will be for the work executed either in stone masonry or concrete, and each tender must be accompanied by a marked cheque on a local bank for the sum of Four Hundred Dollars ($400.00) made payable to the County Treasurer of Peterborough, and which cheque will be returned to the parties tendering in case their tenders are not accepted.

Plans and specifications may be seen at the office of John E Belcher, C.E., County Engineer.

The lowest or any tender not necessarily accepted.

D. MALONEY,
Chairman Bridge Committee.

Address Warsaw P.O.

SEALED TENDERS, addressed to the undersigned, and endorsed "Tender for dredging in the Kamministiquia River," will be received at this office until Friday, the 14th April, 1905, for dredging certain portions of the River Kamministiquia, and the channel in Thunder Bay leading to the mouth of the river, to a depth of 22 feet of water. The prices quoted must be per cubic yard of material in the scow, and include the cost of towing the scows to and from the dumping ground, which will be indicated by the engineer in charge, and which must not be in less than six fathoms of water in Thunder Bay.

The material to be removed is chiefly composed of clay.

Two prices will have to be given, one for dredging the channel in Thunder Bay and up to McKellar's Creek, and the other for dredging from McKellar's Creek to the Power House.

It must be distinctly understood that the Department will entertain no claim for compensation on account of towing plant to or from the site of the works, as the prices quoted must cover such towing as well as lost time and all other contingencies usually connected with such works; such as damage by collision with other craft frequenting the harbor, or other causes; also that no tender will be considered from parties who are not at the date of this call for tenders bona-fide owners of the necessary dredging plant, duly registered in Canada.

The plant supplied shall be thoroughly examined by an officer of this Department, and if it be found to be of an inferior description or deemed unfit to perform the work required, then on receipt of notice in writing from the Chief Engineer of the Department of Public Works, such other plant as shall be approved by him shall have to be supplied within one week from the date of said notice, and in the event of failure or refusal to do so, the Department shall have the power to terminate the contract.

Intending contractors must be ready to begin work within ten days after the date they have been notified of the acceptance of their tender.

It must be distinctly understood that the tenders received will be only for the coming season's work as the Department does not bind itself to continue the work at the prices quoted after the close of navigation this coming fall.

No allowance will be made for dredging to a greater depth than one foot beyond depth called for, nor for a greater width than that which may be ordered to be made.

Plans showing where dredging is to be performed can be seen in the office of the Chief Engineer of the Department, where also any additional information can be obtained.

The Department does not bind itself to accept the lowest or any tender.

By order,
FRED. GELINAS,
Secretary.

BEST ADVERTISING MEDIUM IN EASTERN ONTARIO

VOL XXXIII NO 88 PETERBOROUGH ONTARIO, FRIDAY APRIL 14 1905 PRICE TWO CENTS

23,000 IMMIGRANTS SINCE JANUARY 1

That Number Has Already Arrived This Year in Montreal

RUSH IS UNPRECEDENTED

Canadian West is Filling up With Many Desirable Settlers This Season

Montreal, April 14.—The influx of immigration still continues, and, as Second Vice-President Whyte, of the Canadian Pacific Railway, declares, is calculated to persist in volume until the end of the season.

This morning the Canadian Pacific Railway brought three hundred on a special train from Halifax, all of whom had come over on the Dominion Liner Kensington.

Two of the Allan Line steamers—the Sicilian and the Siberian—brought over nine hundred more, and these will reach the city tomorrow morning on special trains.

As usual, most of these immigrants are destined for the West.

As indicating the tremendous volume of immigration that is constantly going on, even during the winter months, it is pointed out that, since the first of January last 23,000 immigrants have passed through Montreal.

Of this number 21,000 have entered the Windsor station, where they were distributed to their varying destinations, while the balance—2,000—came in at the Bonaventure station.

Roughly speaking, about 5,000 of the aggregate number mentioned came to the city between January 1st and March 15th, more than three-quarters of the whole having consequently passed through the city in the last four weeks.

While the majority of the immigrants are foreigners, the percentage of residents of the British Isles is rapidly advancing. It is only three or four years ago since an English-speaking immigrant was scarcely known. Those from Great Britain who came at all came as second-class passengers, and, as such, travelled all the way through to the West. Now the Briton comes out in train loads just as the Doukhobors and the Galicians did in the old days.

MR. HALL'S MAIDEN SPEECH

He Supports the Autonomy Bill as Amended

On Wednesday Mr. R. R. Hall, M. P., delivered his maiden speech in the House of Commons on the Autonomy bill. He discussed the legal and constitutional position of the North-West Territories in regard to legislation on educational questions. He quoted from Hon. Alexander Mackenzie, Hon. E. Blake, Hon. Geo. Brown, and other leaders of the Liberal as well as the Conservative parties in the debates which resulted in the adoption of the Territorial act of 1875, which gave to those who have gone into the Territories to settle since that date an assurance that the privileges and rights accorded them would be preserved and maintained. Were the people who had gone into the North-West to build up and develop the country, submitting to all the hardships of pioneer life, now to be deprived of the rights they valued? For himself, he would not be a party to any such attempt in a matter in which the honor of the country was so much at stake.

ONTARIO IS BROAD-MINDED.

Mr. Hall continued the debate after dinner, and in a speech of an hour and a half established a reputation as a keen debater and forcible speaker. The solid portion of the community realized that toleration must be exercised in the Dominion if we were to develop a broad, strong country. They recognized that the Dominion could not grow great upon race and religious strife of the nature that Dr. Sproule and Mr. W. F. Maclean were trying to excite. The national growth of Canada depended upon a broad spirit of toleration, of which the Premier was the champion. That there had been no protest during thirty years against the school laws of the Territories indicated Mr. Hall contended, that conditions there were satisfactory. He quoted from the Territorial ordinances to show that under the bills the new Provinces would have the same control over Separate as they had over Public schools. In matters of secular education they will have full control, and, furthermore, there was to be found but little encouragement to establish denominational schools. Mr. Hall said there was no Roman Catholic movement for the bill; not one of the many Catholics in his riding had asked him to vote for it. Viewing the question from the constitutional standpoint, Mr. Hall argued that Alberta and Saskatchewan came in as Provinces, and that under the constitution the minority were entitled to a continuation of Separate schools. He quoted Mr. Haultain's declaration that if he were a dictator he would not change the existing school law, which showed that it was satisfactory to the people affected. He reiterated the opinion that the people of Ontario were tolerant, and would support a policy of toleration, and concluded with the declaration: "We should be guided by the great Fathers of Confederation, and if we are, our duty will lead us to vote for this bill."

TRADES UNIONS WAR ON GURNEY CO

The Company Sues Labor Leaders for Damages.

COERCION BY THE UNIONS

Interesting Revelations as to the Way in Which Campaign Was Carried on St. Catharines, April 13.—The case of the Gurney Foundry Company vs. McGlashan, et al. is proceeding at the Assizes here before Mr. Justice Anglin. The action grows out of the fact that the Gurney Foundry at Toronto is an open shop, no unions being recognized. The company claim that the action of the various unions in advertising their goods as "unfair," interfering with their workmen and agents and generally hindering them has caused a great loss annually in their business since the strike occurred among some of their men in 1902. The present suit is to recover $5,000 damages each from John A. McGlashan, president, and P. O'Gorman, secretary, of the local Plumbers and Steamfitters' Association, and from the presidents and secretaries or half a dozen other local unions, $10,000 from the unions collectively, and for an injunction to restrain the defendants from further interfering with the company's agents and boycotting their goods. The Gurney Company particularly object to circulars describing their goods as unfair, circulated by the unions, and advertisements in union-controlled newspapers.

DEALERS FEARED BOYCOTT.

At the commencement of the trial, Mr. W. H. Carrick, general manager of the Gurney Company, stated that the unions had compelled both their agents here to cease handling their goods. Their trade in St. Catharines in 1901 was $4,100; in 1902 it dropped to $1,900, in 1903 it was good, same last year, but they cannot get dealers here to handle their goods, they fearing they will be boycotted if they do.

C. H. Hoogle, a master plumber, stated that he had received letters from the unions ordering him to quit selling Gurney furnaces. He had been compelled to throw up several contracts involving considerable sums because his men said they would be fined if they worked on Gurney products. One defendant, Day by name, told him once that if he worked against the unions they would put him to the wall so quick that his head would swim.

Various others testified to receiving letters from the unions asking them not to recommend Gurney furnaces.

P. O'Gorman, secretary of the Plumbers' and Steamfitters' Union, and one of the defendants, admitted on the stand that he had, at his union's request, written letters to Mr. Hoogle and several architects. He said the "unfair" circulars were sent here from Toronto unions.

HOW CAMPAIGN WAS WAGED.

Isaac Usher, of St. David's, said that in 1902 he was putting up six buildings, and wanted six furnaces. The architect, Mr. Dolson, recommended Gurney furnaces. Mr. Usher, however, received a letter from the union telling him that the Gurneys were unfair, so to avoid trouble with his men he put in Pease furnaces, which cost $65 more.

Joseph B. Baxter, a steamfitter, of Toronto, testified that he came to this city to put in the heating at the Grand Central Hotel and had trouble with the unions because Gurney goods were to be used. He was fined $25 by his own union in Toronto.

Major J. S. Campbell, secretary of the company owning the Grand Central, told how the company had intended to put in a Gurney boiler, but they put in another make to save trouble for the landlord with the union men.

A letter was put in evidence from Wood Brothers, shoe merchants, in which they told the unions that they understood they had been put on the unfair list because they were going to put in Gurney heating. They offered to do anything to remedy the evil in order to get back on the good books of the unions, and they cancelled their contract for the Gurney goods.

John A. McGlashan, president of the local Plumbers Union, and one of the defendants, admitted that the union had written to all the boss plumbers telling them that no union men would be permitted to work on Gurney goods.

W. E. Hall, secretary of the Machinists' Local Union, stated that, under instructions from his union, he had notified the Gurney Company by letter that their goods and shop were on the unfair list. Hall declared that members of his union could work on Gurney goods if they liked, and would not be fined by the union. He himself would accept a position in their foundry tomorrow.

"What's the object of putting a man or a firm on the unfair list?" asked Mr. Justice Anglin.

"Why," replied Hall, "there's no object I can see. It's merely a form."

"A pure empty matter of form? Do you expect the jury to believe that?" was the judge's comment.

DAMAGES $1,500.

Fifteen hundred dollars was the amount which the special jury at the Assizes on the Gurney v. McGlashan, et al. case decided the Gurney Company had been damaged through the acts of the unions in this city in putting their goods on the unfair list. Mr. Justice Anglin merely asked the jury to assess the amount of damages the company had sustained through loss of business in St. Catharines, and he will decide the question of liability. The verdict was something of a surprise, as a disagreement was confidently expected. Justice Anglin charged strongly in favor of the plaintiffs. "Consider the tremendous power behind those who control the unions that goods made by fair workmen be used," remarked the Justice. "When a man will put his hand into his pocket and pay more money than he really has to, it shows how strong is the influence being used. Truly there is an iron hand under the soft glove of the trade unions. Can anyone doubt that these men, having only a sympathetic interest in the trouble at Toronto, had deliberately set themselves to work to destroy the Gurney business? How nearly they they succeeded, if it was due to their actions, can be seen from the fact that the company's business in this city dropped from $4,100 in 1901 to $816 in 1904."

300 VISITORS

Woman's Foreign Missionary Society of Presbyterian Church to Visit Peterborough.

Peterborough, during the three days, from May 2nd to 4th, will receive with welcome and its customary hospitality, 300 delegates to the 29th annual meeting of the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society in connection with the Presbyterian Church in Canada (Western Division). The meetings will be held in St. Paul's church. Cordial invitations have been issued to delegates from every part of the society in the Western Division. The opening session on the 2nd May will, for the first hour be devotional. Then the president will deliver her address and present the Presbyterial's report.

The Nominating Committee will meet the same afternoon at the close of meeting. Delegates are requested to register as early as possible.

The first evening session, on the 2nd, will be devoted wholly to conference, when methods in connection with the society's work will be taken up.

The Board will meet for election of officers on the morning of the 4th. Presidents substitutes are not entitled to vote at this meeting. At the public meeting on the morning of the 3rd, Rev. Sidney L. Gulick, of Japan will deliver a most interesting address, taking as his subject, "Japan's new attitude towards Christianity." We are most fortunate in being the hub of so extensive a radius of country sending so many and such an intelligent body of Canadian ladies. The Times has been requested to state it would be a graceful act for members of St. Paul's and St. Andrew's congregations at their earliest convenience to send in a notification of the number of delegates each can accommodate, without waiting to be called upon for this purpose.

CATHOLIC NURSES BARRED

WOULD EXCLUDE THEM FROM METHODIST HOSPITALS

Dr. Buckley, Editor of the Christian Advocate, Opposes Their Admission at the Conference of Methodist Episcopal Churches in New York.

Waterbury, Conn., April 14.—At the New York conference of M. E. Churches today, in presenting the report of the Committee on Methodist Hospitals, Dr. J. M. Buckley, of New York, editor of The Christian Advocate, remarked that the money of any man who had a legal title to it would be accepted without any question. Dr. Buckley's statement that as long as he was President of the Board of Trustees no Catholic should be engaged as a nurse in the hospital aroused discussion.

Rev. Francis G. Howell, of Brooklyn, characterized Dr. Buckley's position as "too narrow altogether." Mr. Howell said that Protestant nurses were employed in Catholic hospitals, and he saw no reason why Catholic nurses should not serve in the Methodist hospital.

Dr. Buckley, in reply, said that the Methodist hospital was not being built because a new hospital was needed, but in order that there might be a Methodist hospital. There would be as much sense, he declared, in putting a Catholic priest in the faculty of a Methodist college as to put a Catholic nurse in a Methodist hospital.

MR. H. A. MOORE'S CAMPAIGN

Saturday Nights" Caustic Remarks Regarding Cheap Elections.

Saturday Night: "The official returns of the returning officer for East Peterborough furnish one interesting explanation for the defeat of the Conservative candidate in that constituency. The expenses of this candidate were $26.45, of which only $2.80 went for printing of campaign literature. How any candidate could hope to win any election with such an expenditure, it is difficult to understand. Perhaps he didn't have any hope of winning the election, perhaps he thought himself personally or politically irresistible; but, in any case, if he was not willing to make some sort of fight for victory, he could scarcely expect the people to make it for him. The expense account is chiefly interesting as furnishing a somewhat startling contrast to the enormous expenses which have been incurred by successful and unsuccessful candidates in recent elections. Compared with Hale's or Dunlop's illegal expenditures in their efforts to win North Renfrew, the twenty-six dollar account of the Conservative candidate in East Peterborough looks like a make-believe" campaign fund. Evidently the day when the office sought the man, not the man the office, is past and gone forever. A three-dollar printing bill for campaign literature must be regarded as an indication of an interesting period in history, not as an indication of contemporary electoral purity, or as at all related to contemporary political success. Year by year election methods in this country are becoming more and more like the elections of the United States. With every alleged general registration of public opinion, the truth of Mr. Tarte's cynical remark becomes more and more obvious, "Elections are not won with prayer."

RECORD SHOVELLING

An Example of Speed in Loading a Cart in Quick Time.

Two nights ago, a scene enacted on Water street, would have brought beads of sweat to the brows of any of our corporation laborers who might have witnessed it. The scene was laid on Water street between Brock and Murray. The parties playing the drama, a man with his horse and cart. The time, as noted, two days ago, about 11.30 p.m. The hero, or should we say, the villain, of the play enters the center of the stage, jumps from his cart, and runs to the corner of Brock street. Here he peers anxiously to east and west. He turns and eagerly searches both north and southern horizon. "Ha," he says in the usual stage whisper. "The blue coats sleep! Now is me golden opportunity." With shovel in hand he attacks the [illegible] with a mathematical precision along the street, flinging it into his cart at a rate that would cause the average corporation laborer to faint or think of forming a union. The sweat pours forth, but the flagging muscles still are driven to desperation. By the 99-cent. stop watch of an observer, it just took our hero 11 3-4 minutes to load his large wagon. With another furtive glance toward the south to see if any brass buttons were in sight, he leaps aboard his rig and, as he hustles off with his spoils, the curtain drops.

MOTHER AND DAUGHTER WERE FOULLY MURDERED

Pentanguishene Startled by a Horrible Crime in Which Mrs. Desroches and Her 14-Year-Old Daughter Lose Their Lives.

Pentanguishene, April 14.—A double murder has been committed in Pentanguishene, in which a mother and daughter met a horrible death, their bodies being thrown into a hole under the floor of the house. Both bodies were deprived of every article of clothing. The murderer, after making a poor attempt at cleaning the floor, left axe and soiled clothes on the floor. Constable McLaughlin has charge of the case, Coroner Wallbridge of Midland will take up the investigation.

Strong Suspicions Rest on The Son of the Murdered Woman

Strong suspicions rest on the son of the murdered woman, whose name was Mrs. Maggie Desroches, and who was known also as Maggie Prink. She was aged over fifty. The daughter's name was Annie, her age being about 14. The object of the murder is not known. The son lived with his mother, and is aged about 20. The reason he is suspected is that he has told three or four different stories.

The murdered girl was on the street last evening, and was apparently afraid of her brother, for when she saw him she tried to avoid him. There had been trouble in the house before that time. The murder is supposed to have been committed about 8.30 o'clock last night. Dr. Wallbridge, coroner, has arrived, and has made arrangements for opening an inquest at 3 p.m. today.

Young Desroches Tells of The Awful Double Murder.

Young Desroches says his mother was murdered first, being killed on one side of the stove and his sister on the other side. The latter, he says, was murdered when she came from church, and still had her prayer book and prayer beads in her hand.

Desroches Went to a Neighbor's House For His Breakfast

Desroches went to a neighbor's house for breakfast this morning, stating that he had had a row at home, and did not care to go back. Afterwards told Constable McLaughlin that he had had his breakfast at home.

HUSBAND OR SON?

Local Constables Are Scouring the Country to Apprehend the Husband of the Woman.

Penetanguishene, April 14.—In a small log house consisting of one room and an attic and having a cellar 10 or about three feet in depth, lying on the outskirts of the town, was last Thursday night committed a most foul and bloody murder, the victims being Mrs. Alexis Desroches, formerly Magie Prinque, and her daughter Annie Prinque. To-day the bodies were found lying stark naked, except as to shoes and stockings, in the little cellar hole, and beside the bodies was a pile of blood soaked clothing stripped from the victims and used for the purpose of wiping up the floor where pools of blood had lain.

Two Bloody Axes Tell The Tale of How the Crime Was Done.

In one corner of the room stands a bed, clean and orderly, and either made up this morning early, or not slept in last night. On the floor rests a well-filled basket of clean clothes, ready to be returned to the owner. A few chairs stood around the floor. In one corner was the cook stove; on either side of the stove were splashes of blood stain. Beside the stove stands an axe covered with blood, and just outside the door is another axe also covered with blood, and with the handle fresh broken. A pool of blood at the side of the outer door and a quantity of hair on the wood beside it would indicate that the girl had probably been struck down as she was fleeing the house. While the mother was killed with the other axe inside.

Looks Like a Terrible Domestic Tragedy--Husband Suspected.

The bodies will be viewed by the coroner's jury this afternoon, and then a post-mortem examination will be held and the jury will meet again this evening to proceed with the inquest. At present time the local constables are scouring the country to apprehend the husband of the woman, who is said to be very eccentric, if not slightly deranged, and he will probably be detained until the verdict of the coroner's jury has been rendered. At the time of writing it looks like a terrible domestic tragedy, but one must not anticipate the finding of the jury.

No Action Has Yet Been Taken To Make Any Arrests.

No action has yet been taken to place anybody under arrest. The son has gone off in a rig to tell friends in the country of the murder. Desroches, the murdered woman's husband, is a farm laborer, and is employed on a farm about a mile distant.

$1,000 DAMAGES

Substantial Damages Awarded to Wilson Blewett for Loss of Leg.

At the last Smith township council meeting held on Monday, among other business transacted, there was brought under discussion a claim made by Mr. Wilson Blewett. After some discussion on the subject, it was moved by Mr. Northby, seconded by Mr. White, that a by-law be submitted to the electors of the township of Smith at the next municipal election for the purpose of granting $1,000 to Wilson Blewett for the loss of his leg while in the employ of the township of Smith in operating a stone crusher.

A GENEROUS LADY

Mrs. A. L. Davis Remembers the Y.W.C.A.

Mrs. A. L. Davis has made a handsome contribution to the construction of the Y.W.C.A. building, which will long remain as evidence of the donor's generosity. A part of the gift consists of an elegant mantel in cherry, and grate fittings for the fire place in the parlor. Mr. Davis has also provided the materials for the mural decorations of these spacious rooms. This consists of a dado of olive/green burlap, separated by a line of enriched moulding from the wall above, laid on with rich tapestry paper of a tone to harmonize with the dado, and trimmed above by another line of moulding in wood, which divides the wall from the cove of the ceiling.

Police Court

OFFICIALS

Chief of Police, G.I. Reed
Magistrate, D.W. Dumble

Last night, High Constable Cochrane brought with him from Toronto P. H. McGuire. He is now charged with obtaining money by false pretences at Lakeside and Peterborough. He is said to have obtained $100 for Government payments, but he neglected to pay it over. McGuire will be tried at the County Court by County Magistrate Edmison.

At yesterday morning's court a man by name, Mowry, contributed $2 towards the jag item of Peterborough's receipts for 1905.

Matthew Edwards was charged with making an indecent exposure of person on a public street on Wednesday afternoon. Matthew had drank not wisely but too well. His contribution amounted to $6.10.

Another blayelist was also convicted that the road bed in the cheapest place in which to scorch. His acquaintance of this knowledge cost him just $2. The police are determined, and very properly, to stamp out entirely the habit of bicyclists using the pavement when mounted. It is a selfish and dangerous practice, particularly at night, and should be discountenanced by everyone.

Another D. and D. was yesterday captured by P.C. McGinty, and put in the refrigerator to cool off his heated blood. The man, Wilson by name, had gone into the C.P.R. Hotel to buy a drink. The bartender noticing that the man was intoxicated, on arrival, peremptorily refused to sell him any liquor, whereupon Wilson became abusive, using blasphemous and insulting language. He was put out of the place and recommended to go where he had purchased his jag-let. On his becoming noisy again the police were notified.

A LARGE INVESTMENT

$20,000 to be Paid by a Peterborough Man for the Daly House, Toronto

There is an old saying that "it pays to keep level." This is illustrated by the experience of a gentleman who after eleven months' business in Peterborough in the hotel trade is enabled with what he had before, to put up the neat sum of $20,000 cash for another hotel.

Mr. J. Allen, who recently sold out the C.P.R. Hotel to Messrs. Rickerby Brothers, is now contemplating arrangements for the purchase of the Daly House, Simcoe street, Toronto. The amount involved in this deal is $20,000, part of which Mr. Allen has made during his eleven months' business here.

The Daly House, as betokened by its name, was run for years, by Mr. J. Daly, who once ran the Grand Central, here. It is a house that has always been popular and done a large trade. We wish Mr. Allen success in his new venture. We might, in justice to Mr. Allen say, that there was never a conviction made against him, whilst proprietor of the C.P.R. Hotel, for selling liquor illegally in any shape or way.

FELL 30 FEET

A Team and Heavy Load of Stone Fall 30 Feet in the Canal

Yesterday the villagers at Lakefield had a subject for conversation. A team owned by John Hendren and driven by James Walton had been hauling stone on the canal bank. The wagon, loaded with stone was left, backed to the brink of an embankment along the canal, where the bank was 30 feet deep.

Unnoticed by the driver, the horses and wagon started to back down the bank, and before he could get the horses stopped they were beyond his control.

The horses and wagon fell to the tow path, the weight of the load of stone dragging the team down. At the tow path the hind wheels of the wagon were detached from it, and the team, with the remainder of the wagon and the stone, fell the other fifteen feet into the canal, in which there was, fortunately, only 18 inches of water.

The wagon was badly smashed, but the horses, beyond some bad scratches were uninjured. The horses were rescued by means of a derrick. An improvised stairway was first constructed and one of the horses taken part of the way up, when it slipped and fell. Later it was decided to use a derrick, and the horses were placed in slings, and hoisted out of the canal.

LARGER GRANT

Hospitals Ask the Legislature for Assistance.

At the annual meeting of the Ontario Hospital Association held in the Parliament Buildings, Toronto, on Wednesday, the delegates waited on the Ontario Government. They asked for a grant of 25 cents a day for each patient of the class for whose aid money is voted. This of course would mean a growth in the grant proportionement to the increase of patients. The grant received by Niobolls Hospital last year was in the neighborhood of $600 and St. Joseph's Hospital also received a grant on the basis arranged.

Messrs. John Crane and W. H. Hill attended this meeting in the interests of Peterborough.

The reports presented at Wednesday's meeting showed that the hospitals represented by the association had 30,233 patients, against 25,912 in 1903. Their total revenue for 1904 was $944,821 and their expenditure $841,-029. The average cost per day per patient was 80 cents. The Government appropriation of $110,000 divided among all the hospitals just amounted to 17 cents each day toward the costs of patients eligible for its application. In 1902 this grant was 18 per cent., in 1903 it was 14 per cent., and last year it only amounted to 12 per cent. of the cost per patient, because while the number of hospitals and patients steadily increases the total grant remains the same amount.

—The Port Hope Guide says: There is likely to be another long meeting of the Counties Council to select a warden. By accepting the office of license inspector, Warden John Kennedy, has under chapter 223, sec. 90, R.S.O., to forfeit the wardenship. This necessitates election of a commissioner for division No. 3, make vacant and also for the selection of a new warden. The meeting will be held in June next. Those mentioned as contestants for the Warden's chair are Col. McLean, Port Hope; Treadwell, Bowmanville, and McMillan, Clarke.

Russian Fleet Eager To Fight

Rojestvensky Anxious For Fight to a Finish--Already 1,000 Miles North of Singapore on Trade Route--Russians Attack.

London, April 14. — British naval [illegible] regarding Admiral Rocajtvensky's movements since his arrival in far eastern waters. The fact that he is keeping to the main trade route, although knowing his squadron would constantly be sighted and reported by passing vessels, they consider clearly shows that the Russian Admiral is keenly anxious to meet Admiral Togo and fight it out to a finish.

PASSING BY SAIGON.

Singapore, April 14.—The Russian fleet was in latitude 8 degrees north, longitude 109 degrees, 55 minutes east, on Thursday, April 13. The Peninsular and Oriental steamer Nubia, which has arrived here, reports having passed no less than forty-two vessels there. They were steering north-north-east, at a speed of eight or ten knots.

The position of the fleet was then about 300 miles north-eastward of the Natuna Islands, which lie between the Malay Peninsula and the west coast of Borneo, and more than 200 miles south-east of Cape St. Jacques. This course indicates that the fleet was not going to Saigon, French Cochin China.

AN APPEAL TO PROTESTANTS

How Roman Catholics are Said to be Rewarded

[To the Editor of The Times.]

Sir,—Our Roman Catholic neighbors seem to have had their choler stirred up by something lately, from the way the pupils of that particular denomination acted in the Collegiate Institute last Monday morning, when they refused to stand up or bow their heads reverently during the reading of the Lord's Prayer. I think those poor misguided pupils were ordered by their priest to act in that way, for no child would act of his own volition in such a manner. This brings me to what I want to get at.

A little over a year ago there was a mission held in St. Peter's and, at one of those meetings, the parishioners were told by one of the missionaries, who was a priest, not to have business dealings, i.e.—patronize—a Protestant establishment if it were possible to avoid it, and we know the majority of Roman Catholics will, and do, follow this advice. Do we find Protestants acting in the same way? No, we do not, but some go out of their way to patronize a Roman Catholic, when there are plenty of Protestants who could supply their needs just as well. We have an example in the Y.W.C.A. The contract for lighting that building was given to a Roman Catholic, over the heads of Protestant firms in the same line of business, and who could do just as good a job as the firm who got it. Perhaps the firm who got that job put in a very low tender, but, don't forget it, they are not standing to lose money. It will be made up to them, and the Protestant firms can stand aside and groan. Do any Roman Catholics contribute to the Y.W.C.A.? Or would they countenance such a place or allow one of their own to rent rooms there? I think not, but Protestants who contributed their coin must be passed over in favor of a Roman Catholic firm. Well, so be it, but some day our Protestant friends, who are over-careful how they openly express their real sentiments in regard to opposing what might, possibly, be construed as disrespectful to their Roman Catholic friends, for fear they might lose a few dimes in their business, will wake up to find their Roman Catholic neighbors have got the start of them, both in business and educational matters, and that they, the Protestants, will be compelled to have Protestant Separate Schools. Wake up and assert your British nationality and allow the Roman Catholics no more than you enjoy yourselves! We cannot blame the Roman Catholics for looking for more than they are entitled to; it is natural for people and denominations to grab all they can, but we Protestants have sat contentedly by and let them go ahead, and they are laughing in their sleeves at us for so doing! Wake up and get a move on!

A CLOSE CALL

Young Lady Just in Time to Prevent Murder.

What would have certainly resulted in a horrible tragedy was only averted Monday night by the providential appearance of a young lady on the scene, and her prompt action to prevent it. She was returning to her home in Ashburnham, on completion of her day's work in town, and was crossing the Otonabee river by way of the C.P.R. bridge. When she was about half way across the bridge, she noticed the figure of a well dressed and respectable looking man lying close to the rail, and thinking him to be under the influence of liquor, and recognizing his extremely dangerous position, she tried to rouse him. She found that his hands and feet had been securely tied together and that he had been drugged into insensibility.

After considerable trouble, she released his hands and feet, and roused him to consciousness. To her he told his story, which was to the effect that he came to Peterborough on Saturday, a stranger, but bearing letters of introduction to two local men, whom he met the same day. They were out together the next day and were drinking. The next that he recalls is finding himself in the woods, near the town on Monday afternoon with one of the men. He was forced to drink some more liquor and knew no more until he was found by the young lady, who especially asks that her name be withheld, but who is well known here, and whose word is not doubted in the slightest degree.

The man who had so close a call to death stated that he was robbed of $200.

This account is taken from a Toronto contemporary, but we have not as yet been able to substantiate it.—Ed.

Medicines Loaded With Alcohol

Think of It! The Danger You Run — Drink Habit is Easily Acquired, But Hard to Cure.

Careful analysis shows that many so-called tonics contain little else but whiskey—the rankest, poorest kind of whiskey.

You may unconsciously be using an alcoholic liquid remedy. Some member of your family may be doing so. Your duty is plain; stop it at once.

The test of a tonic is the permanency of its cure. To become strong, [illegible] weakens it. You [illegible] nerve force—alcohol steadily devours it.

Give up the liquid tonic, before you become its slave. The true medicine for the run-down, depressed and nervous is Ferrozone. It is nothing but concentrated cure in tablet form. It stimulates the appetite, aids digestion, fills the blood with iron, builds up in nature's way. Never known to fail.

Whether weak from worry, overwork, thin blood, or ill-nourished nerves, Ferrozone will quickly make you well. It is safe and harmless, undoubtedly the best tonic and rebuilding medicine made. We must recommend you to use Ferrozone if in poor health.

Ferrozone, known as the great food-tonic, costs 50c. per box, or six for $2.50, at all dealers, or by mail from N. C. Polson & Co., Kingston, Ont., and Hartford, Conn., U.S.A.

THE RIGHT AND THE WRONG WAY

Toronto News: There is a revival of the rumor that the Government intends to seek a judicial interpretation of the constitution in regard to Separate schools in the West. There is a perfectly legitimate way of doing this, to give the new Provinces power to deal with education, subject to the constitution. There is a wrong way of doing it, namely, to make experiments in the way of Federal legislation extending the Separate school system, and try whether those experiments will stand the test of judicial interpretation. This would be a loading of the dice in favor of Separate schools and against Provincial autonomy. The Dominion Parliament has no right to take that side, and to go just as far as it safely can in legislation restricting the powers of the Province. Its duty is neither to create nor to destroy rights and privileges in regard to Separate schools, but to establish Provinces with full Provincial powers, and leave the rest to the courts.

A GOOD BASIS FOR FIGHTING

The Japanese have a good basis for fighting. They are well fed and cared for. And their physical basis is not the only one looked after. Baron Kaneko says that the following moral precepts are read by the Japanese Army and Navy every night and morning: First—To be sincere and loyal, and guard against untruthfulness. Second—To respect superiors and keep true to comrades, and guard against lawlessness and insolence. Third—To obey the command of superiors, irrespective of its nature, and never to resist or disregard it. Fourth—To prize bravery and courage and be diligent in the performance of duties, and guard against cowardice and timidity. Fifth—To boast not of brutal courage, and neither quarrel with nor insult others, which will incite general hatred. Sixth—To cultivate virtue and practice frugality, and guard against extravagance and effeminacy. Seventh—To prize reputation and honor, and guard against vulgarity and greed.

If the "heathen" Japanese soldiers obey all these instructions no wonder they face death bravely and cheerfully.

THE PAPAL ABLEGATE

Now, by the rights you cherish, aye,
by your father's graves,
Be men today, Canadians, or be to Rome as slaves.
Shall this papal envoy awe the race who own our peaceful home?
Must we who royal Edward love
obey mandates from Rome?
Why comes he to disturb us with his fine Italian hand?
Must we stand for this, his meddling with our free, enlightened land?
Oh, for the good old-time spirit which surfeited the Tupper will:
Oh, for the man of '96 who barked
the remedy bill!
In that year Grits and Tories stood
[illegible]
They faced the papal fury, they tamed the government pride;
They sent a warning signal across the seas to Rome;
They drove remedial members with defeated faces home;
But what their feare bequeathed us shall we now throw away?
Must all the fruit of nigh ten years be blighted in a day?
Exult not yet, Sir Wilfrid, the struggle is not o'er:
We fight for just provincial rights, province rule and nothing more.
Must we who stand by constitution sink down beneath your will?
Quebec and votes enough ye have, but do not pass this bill.
No, by the heavens above us and by our national song,
Put not upon the province this great coercion wrong.
Lest when the outrage passes ye taste of our despair,
And learn by proof, and to your sorrow, what Canadian patriots dare.

REGULAR MONTHLY MEETING

Special Session at Which Important Business was Transacted

Council met in special session on Friday, April 7th. Members were all present. Minutes of last regular meeting read and confirmed.

Moved by Coun. Allen, seconded by Coun. Quinlan, that the Reeve do order the payment of $10.00 to Patrick McMurray for work on line of road between lots 5 and 6, concession 7.

Moved by Coun. F. Leaky, seconded by Coun. Allen, that the Reeve and Clerk be appointed a committee to confer with the Town Council as to the expenditure of money and statute labor on that portion of the River road between the Township of Douro and the Town of Peterborough.

On motion of Coun. Allen, seconded by Coun. Quinlan, the Reeve and Coun. B. Leaky were appointed a committee to inspect the bridge on line of road between cons. 9 and 10, in front of lot 1, and report at next meeting of Council.

On motion of Coun. Allen, seconded by Coun. F. Leaky, the Reeve and Coun. B. Leaky were appointed representatives from this Municipality to join with the Elgin Municipal Association in the formation of a Provincial deputation to wait upon the Government and urge the amendment of the Municipal Act, so that municipal corporations will not be civily responsible for damages in respect of non-repair of roads.

Council then adjourned.

INVESTIGATION TO BE HELD

Charges That Woodstock Aldermen Have Been Bribed

Woodstock, Ont., April 13.—Mayor Scarff has ordered an investigation of the charges that certain members of the council had been bribed to support certain tenders for the construction of cement walks in the city this year. The contract for the walks was awarded to the Ingersoll Cement Company at the council meeting this forenoon, and immediately Alderman Gardner arose and declared that members of the council were approached by the various tenderers and influenced by bribes. He refused to name the aldermen he had reference to, and Mayor Scarff thereupon appointed Alderman Mearns, Hurst, Bastedo and Sawtell a committee to investigate the charges. The Crown Attorney will co-operate with the committee.

SEALED TENDERS, addressed to the undersigned, and endorsed "Tender for Dredging in the Harbor of Port Arthur," will be received at this office until Friday, the 14th April, 1905, for dredging certain portions of the Harbor of Port Arthur and channels leading thereto to a depth of 22 feet of water in Lake Superior. The prices quoted must be per cubic yard of material in the scows, and including the cost of towing the scows to and from the dumping ground, which will be indicated by the engineer in charge, and which must not be in less than eleven fathoms of water in Thunder Bay.

The material to be removed is chiefly composed of clay, boulders and clay, quicksand and hardpan, and different prices will have to be quoted by intending contractors for these different kinds of material in the scow.

It must be distinctly understood that the Department will entertain no claim for compensation on account of towing plant to or from the site of the works, as the prices quoted must cover such towing as well as lost time and all other contingencies usually connected with such works; such as damage by collision with other craft frequenting the harbor, or other causes; also that no tender will be considered from parties who are not at the date of this call for tenders bona-fide owners of the necessary dredging plant, duly registered in Canada.

The plant supplied shall be thoroughly examined by an officer of this Department, and if it be found to be of an inferior description or deemed unfit to perform the work required, then on receipt of notice in writing from the Chief Engineer of the Department of Public Works, such other plant as shall be approved by him shall have to be supplied within one week from the date of said notice, and in the event of failure or refusal to do so, the Department shall have the power to terminate the contract.

Intending contractors must be ready to begin the work within ten days after the date they have been notified of the acceptance of their tender.

It must be distinctly understood that the tenders received will be only for the coming season's work, as the Department does not bind itself to continue the work at the prices quoted after the close of navigation this coming fall.

No allowance will be made for dredging to a greater depth than one foot beyond depth called for, nor for a greater width than that which may be ordered to be made.

Plans showing where dredging is to be performed can be seen in the office of the Chief Engineer of the Department, where also any additional information required can be obtained.

The Department does not bind itself to accept the lowest or any tender.

By order,
FRED. GELINAS,
Secretary.

The Midland Oil and Gas Company

has over 180 acres of oil land and has put down 10 wells, so the land is proved up. An adjoining additional 80 was secured yesterday, making over 260 acres all in the proven belt. Just read this:

The U. S. report on the oil industry places the average daily production of Pennsylvania wells at only one-half a barrel each per day. The Midland wells are pumping

Sixty Barrels a Day Each.

The pumping plant has just been started and this is the surprising result. Nothing like it in the world. The officers and directors of this company are bank men and do not believe in debts, so the company is free from debt. They have nearly $20,000 in cash and bills receivable in the treasury and everything paid for—property, wells, pumping plant, oil tanks, well cleaning machine and everything connected with the company. Have two drilling rigs working night and day sinking wells. Have abundance of gas, which runs the drills and pumping plant, so it only costs about $5 00 a day to produce and market the oil.

From the Kansas City Journal, Feb. 26, 1905.
There is perhaps no people in the same amount of territory in the world who have increased in wealth so rapidly. Everybody is prosperous. Many once poor and hard working families have become immensely wealthy.
Nudge Hale, an old Prisco conductor, has become a millionaire off of oil. He got in the game early. Now he has money as well as oil and gas to burn.
Fred Hetrick, a farmer living near Chanute, had a hard time for years making both ends meet. Life was a hard proposition with him. His royalties now reach $1,000 a month and he is living on easy street.
Joe Heim, of the Kansas City brewery, took a flyer in oil leases. He first put in $500 and refused $12,000 for his investment. Later he put in a lot more money in gas and oil lands and is now figuring high.
George E. Work, the Chicago clothier, took some acres of land near Chanute for a debt a customer owed him. Work's partner refused to stand for the deal, so Work kept the land himself. He has since refused $50,000 for his holdings.
These are a few samples. Hundreds of farmers have become independently rich off their oil royalties, and hundreds of other men have made big money producing oil.
This Kansas oil bearing sand is like the Pennsylvania sand; wells will produce oil for fifty years.
Can give bank references, and dozens from people who have personally examined this great property.

He was surprised at how the sores healed—"I took your New Method Treatment for a serious blood disease with which I had been afflicted for twelve years. I had consulted a score of physicians, taken all kinds of blood medicine, visited Hot Springs and other mineral water resorts, but only got temporary relief. Recommended me for a time, but after discontinuing the medicines the symptoms would break out again—running sores, blotches, rheumatic pains, looseness of the hair, swellings of the glands, palms of the hands scaling, itchiness of the skin, dyspeptic stomach, etc. I had given up in despair when a friend advised me to consult you, as you had cured him of a similar disease 8 years ago. I had no hope, but took his advice. In three weeks' time the sores commenced to heal up and I became encouraged. I continued the New Method Treatment for four months and at the end of that time every symptom had disappeared. I was cured 7 years ago and no signs of any disease since. My boy, three years old, is sound and healthy. I certainly can recommend your treatment with all my heart. You can refer any person to me privately, but you can use this testimonial as you wish." W. LIMITED

Owns a monopoly of the water right privileges in the Thunder Mountain mining district, State of Idaho, U.S.A.; seven water rights in all; one developed and in use. The property of the Company consists of over 1400 acres, with plenty of timber for building and mining purposes, a saw mill fully equipped and in operation, a 10-stamp mill now on its way from the R. R. Station to the property, and 40 additional stamps to be purchased at once and installed during the coming summer. This is the largest and most favorably situated property in the district. Some of the tunnels have been driven over 400 ft., cross-cutting many dikes, demonstrating that we have an inexhaustible body of ore. The ore bodies are sampled by an assayer every 10 ft., and assays run from 40c. to $900 per ton. The ore is free milling, and can be mined and milled for about $1.00 per ton.

This Company has had a phenomenal growth, and "The Thunder Mountain Prospector," published at Roosevelt, Idaho, where the property is located, states that this Company is three times as large as any other Company operating in the district. 30 men at work on the property. Over 600,000 worth of stock sold within the last 90 days. Only 100,000 shares more to be sold at 50c. per share. You cannot afford to miss this opportunity; investigate at once.

INSANE POLICY SEPARATE SCHOOLS

Farmer's Advocate Opposed to Secrarian Education

DUTY OF THE GOVERNMENT

A Dangerous Act to Attempt to Punish Manitoba

The Farmer's Advocate (western edition) has the following excellent article on Separate schools:

Under a Separate school system, the community becomes divided; children that should play together, grow up together, and trade with each other, are kept apart, and, from time to time, as a result of political exigency, snarl at one another from opposite sides of the political fence. When we consider the cosmopolitan nature of the Western population, due principally to the large immigration of recent years, consisting of English, Irish, Scotch, American, German, French, Galician, Russian, Doukhobors, Mormons and what not; each with their religious belief and each of which could claim Separate schools, it almost passes comprehension that any sane man, who is sensible of the fact that he is living in the twentieth century, could be found to support the idea of a Separate school system, which makes for illiteracy, bigotry, race hatred, waste of public money, and limited commerce between Provinces and peoples. It is also worth noticing that the Dominion immigration pamphlets specify, when referring to Western Canada, that a system of free Public schools has been established.

It is common knowledge that segregation in communities of colonies, such as the Barr, Galician and Doukhobors, is inimical to real progress materially, intellectually or otherwise, and also that the most enlightened portions of these segregated congregations are the outer portions where a certain amount of mixing is done with Canadians.

The duty of the Government of Canada is to make out of a large number of dissimilar peoples, a homogeneous nation, and the greatest aid to that work is the national non-sectarian school!

The idea current that Manitoba's stand for national Canadian schools in 1890 is now to be punished by a limitation of her boundaries, is a dangerous one to get abroad, yet one that the politicians have fostered, as a sort of threat to other Provinces and peoples, to whom the leaven of sturdy manhood and national spirit is gradually, although more slowly, but just as surely, working to the surface, when the pronouncement of Manitoba in 1890 and 1896 will be vouched by all Canada.

Canadians have a great future. How great none can foretell, and one that must not be hampered by legislation evolved from minds dominated by a restrictive illiberal, seventeenth-century views.

HOMESTEAD REGULATIONS

Any even numbered section of Dominion lands in Manitoba or the North-west Territories, excepting 8 and 26, which has not been homesteaded, or reserved to provide wood lots for settlers, or for other purposes, may be homesteaded upon by any person who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years of age, to the extent of one-quarter section of 160 acres more or less.

ENTRY

Entry may be made personally at the local land office for the district in which the land to be taken is situate, or if the homesteader desires, he may, on application to the Minister of the Interior, Ottawa; the Commissioner of Immigration Winnipeg, or the local agent for the district in which the land is situate, receive authority for some one to make entry for him. A fee of $10 is charged for a homestead entry.

HOMESTEAD DUTIES

A settler who has been granted an entry for a homestead is required by the provisions of the Dominion Lands Act, and the amendments thereto, to perform the conditions connected therewith, under one of the following plans:

[1] At least six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each year during the term of three years. It is the practice of the Department to require a settler to bring 15 acres under cultivation, but if he prefers he may substitute stock; and 20 head of cattle, to be actually his own property, with buildings for their accommodation, will be accepted instead of the cultivation.

[2] If the father (or mother, if the father is deceased), of any person who is eligible to make a homestead entry under the provisions of this Act, resides upon a farm in the vicinity of the land entered for by such person as a homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence prior to obtaining patent may be satisfied by such person residing with the father or mother.

[3] If a settler was entitled to and has obtained entry for a second homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence prior to obtaining patent may be satisfied by residence upon the first homestead, if the second homestead is in the vicinity of the first homestead.

[4] If the settler has his permanent residence upon farming land owned by him in the vicinity of his homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence may be satisfied by residence upon the said land.

The term "vicinity" used above is meant to indicate the same township, or an adjoining or corresponding township.

A settler who avails himself of the provisions of clauses [2], [3] or [4] must cultivate 30 acres of his homestead, or substitute 30 head of stock, with buildings for their accommodation, and have besides 30 acres substantially fenced.

The privileges of a second entry is restricted by law to those settlers only who completed the duties upon their first homesteads, to entitle them to patent on or before the 3rd of June, 1889.

Every homesteader who fails to comply with the requirements of the homestead law is liable to have his entry cancelled and the land may again be thrown open for entry.

APPLICATION FOR PATENT

Should be made at the end of three years, before the Local Agent, Sub-Agent or the Homestead Inspector. Before making application for patent the settler must give six months notice in writing to the Commissioner of Dominion Lands at Ottawa of his intention to do so.

INFORMATION

Newly arrived immigrants will receive, at the Immigration Office in Winnipeg, or at any Dominion Lands Office in Manitoba or the North-west Territories, information as to the lands that are open for entry, and from the officers in charge, free of expense, advice and assistance in securing lands to suit them. Full information respecting the land, timber, coal and mineral laws, as well as respecting Dominion Lands in the Railway Belt in British Columbia, may be obtained upon application to the Secretary of the Department of the Interior, Ottawa; the Commissioner of Immigration, Winnipeg, Manitoba, or to any of the Dominion Lands Agents in Manitoba or the North-west Territories.

W. W. CORY,
Deputy Minister of the Interior.

N. B.—In addition to Free Grant Lands, to which the Regulations above stated refer, thousands of acres of most desirable lands are available for lease or purchase from railroad and other corporations and private firms in Western Canada.

WHAT WIRELESS IS—WHY IT WORKS

(This is the third of four chapters dealing with this most important scientific phenomenon.)

Synopsis of preceding chapters: Wireless telegraphy was made possible through the discovery that the air was charged with electricity, but which was moving about with no certain direction. Signor Marconi was the first to harness this strange force and make it do his bidding, and that he has done through the medium of his receivers which are as simple as the telegraph instrument, and which involve no wires with the attendant expense of putting up and maintaining the same. The instruments make it possible to guide the current in the air so as to make it carry the message at the will of the sender to the receiving station, which may be read as easily as a letter.

CHAPTER III.

We have seen, in the previous chapters, how simple is the provision of Nature which makes it possible for the electricity in the air to carry the [illegible] how simple in principle are the instruments which control this force. For a better understanding, we will trace the course of an actual message.

The coming Summer will see new Marconi stations built at Halifax, N.S., and at Whittle Rocks, Labrador. A message may be sent from Halifax to Whittle Rocks. This message is handed to the sending operator at Halifax. Through the apparatus on the table before him, a current of electricity is passing from the dynamo, in an adjoining room, through the instrument on the table, and back to the dynamo. Upon receiving the message, he throws a small switch, which changes the course of the current, so that it passes up the wire outside of the station instead of back to the dynamo. The sending operator alternately presses down and releases a lever. Brilliant flashes of electricity jump between two brass rods, protruding across the front of the sending instrument every time that the lever is depressed, and the circuit completed. This is the instrument, previously referred to, which snaps the message off the wire like the snap of a whip and which adds to the distinct spacing between the dots and dashes. The operator varies the length of time that he keeps the lever depressed, and in that way makes long or short signals or dashes and dots which are the telegrapher's signs, equivalent to the letters of the alphabet.

In the receiving station at Whittle Rocks, another operator hears a click and knows that the lever on his machine has moved; that a current is passing through it, and that probably a message is coming. He hears the signal call of his station, and opening a lever on the adjoining apparatus, acknowledges his call. As the dots and dashes roll off without interruption, he translates each combination into the letter which they represent, and the message is written down.

If we could have been at Whittle Rocks when the message was received, or at the Halifax office when the reply was recorded, we might have seen another little instrument doing its work at the same time the receiving lever was clicking off the dots and dashes. We would have noticed a little wheel at one side of the receiving apparatus moving up and down very slightly, and exactly as moved the lever of the receiving apparatus which clicked off the message. We would have found that the edge of the wheel was covered with ink, and that every time it was depressed, it made a mark on a paper tape running under it. These marks were short or long, like dots and dashes, and were duplicates of the dots and dashes made by the big lever. This is the automatic receiver, known as the Wheatstone recorder, that records all messages passing through the receiving instrument. Thus, we would realize that the system had been so thoroughly developed, that every possible provision had been made to guard against mistakes in the transmission of a message. Of course, it takes time to work out all the details of such instruments, but the progress already made proves that Signor Marconi has mastered the hardest part of the problem, and that future development will go forward by leaps and bounds.

(The final chapter, and by far the most interesting of the series, will appear in this paper one week from to-day. Do not miss it.)

SEALED TENDERS, addressed to the undersigned, and endorsed "Tender for dredging in the Kaministiquia River," will be received at this office until Friday, the 14th April, 1905, for dredging certain portions of the River Kaministiquia, and the channel in Thunder Bay leading to the mouth of the river, to a depth of 22 feet of water. The prices quoted must be per cubic yard of material in the scow, and include the cost of towing the scows to and from the dumping ground, which will be indicated by the engineer in charge, and which must not be in less than six fathoms of water in Thunder Bay.

The material to be removed is chiefly composed of clay.

Two prices will have to be given, one for dredging the channel in Thunder Bay and up to McKellar's Creek, and the other for dredging from McKellar's Creek to the Power House.

It must be distinctly understood that the Department will entertain no claim for compensation on account of towing plant to or from the site of the works, as the prices quoted must cover such towing as well as lost time and all other contingencies usually connected with such works; such as damage by collision with other craft frequenting the harbor, or other causes; also that no tender will be considered from parties who are not at the date of this call for tenders bona-fide owners of the necessary dredging plant, duly registered in Canada.

The plant supplied shall be thoroughly examined by an officer of this Department, and if it be found to be of an inferior description or deemed unfit to perform the work required, then on receipt of notice in writing from the Chief Engineer of the Department of Public Works, such other plant as shall be approved by him shall have to be supplied within one week from the date of said notice, and in the event of failure or refusal to do so, the Department shall have the power to terminate the contract.

Intending contractors must be ready to begin work within ten days after the date they have been notified of the acceptance of their tender.

It must be distinctly understood that the tenders received will be only for the coming season's works as the Department does not bind itself to continue the work at the prices quoted after the close of navigation this coming fall.

No allowance will be made for dredging to a greater depth than one foot beyond depth called for, nor for a greater width than that which may be ordered to be made.

Plans showing where dredging is to be performed can be seen in the office of the Chief Engineer of the Department, where also any additional information can be obtained.

The Department does not bind itself to accept the lowest or any tender.

By order,
FRED. GELINAS,
Secretary.

Department of Public Works,
Ottawa, April 7th, 1905.

GOVERNMENT ENDORSEMENT

OF THE

MARCONI WIRELESS TELEGRAPH SYSTEM

O. G. V. Spain, Commander of the Canadian Marine Service, has made his report to the Deputy Minister of Marine and Fisheries, at Ottawa, in that part of the report which deals with the subject of Wireless Telegraphy, there is nothing but favorable comments on the Marconi system as it is installed in the several stations along the St. Lawrence Gulf and River. Among the many favorable comments which he makes, the following are synopsized and are worthy serious consideration as they come from a disinterested source, from a government official thoroughly qualified to express an opinion and from a shrewd observer who is reporting his conclusions from practical tests and indisputable data. He says in part:

(1.) All the stations installed have given a satisfactory service and a large number of messages are passing between the stations and ships regularly.

(2.) All the stations are reporting ships and shipping intelligence to Lloyd's agent at Quebec.

(3.) In many instances vessels have been in communication with Marconi shore stations when enveloped in thick fog, and have found the wireless system an invaluable supplementary aid to the existing fog signal service.

(4.) News of current events furnished to all steamers has proved a boon to passengers and is increasing the popularity of the St. Lawrence route for travellers.

(5.) The important aid to navigation rendered by the Dominion Government in the matter of wireless telegraphy has been greatly appreciated by the Shipping Federation and shipping interests in general.

(6.) The Government has decided to increase the power of the St. Lawrence stations, and to add new stations, so that intercommunication may be had by means of the Marconi system from Fame Point to Belle Isle or Cape Ray. The enormous advantage justifies this step on the part of the Government, because the captain of a steamer will then be able to know just the weather conditions prevailing along the entire St. Lawrence a few hours after leaving Quebec, and can direct his course accordingly.

A more favorable criticism of

would be hard to find. It not only unqualifiedly credits the Company with a great success up to the present time, but it indicates the confidence which the Government has in the future success of the Company. It goes further, and indicates that the Government will continue to lend its aid until a complete circuit of stations to meet all possible demands shall have been installed. It tells of the favorable impression which the service has made upon private shippers and the travelling public as well as the Government. These endorsements from every conceivable source could not have been won if the Company and the system upon which it works were not a complete and unparalleled success.

THE SUCCESS IS NOT SENTIMENTAL, BUT PRACTICAL

and it will mean a steadily increasing revenue for the Company. That revenue will shortly exceed the needs of the Company, and then it will be distributed among those who are stockholders therein. Even before there is a division of the profits annually, there will be an increase in the value of the stock by investors looking for a share of the dividends to be declared. But the shrewdest investor of all is the one who purchases the stock now and shares in the first and every subsequent advance in the stock as well as in the profits. We cannot begin to tell you even a small part of the many things which the company has done, is going to do, and which make its future as attractive as that of the most profitable enterprise in the history of the world of finance. Write for further particulars, but REMEMBER THAT AN INVESTMENT AT THIS TIME WILL BE AT THE LOWEST PRICE WHICH THE STOCK WILL SEE, and that this opportunity will not long be before you. Therefore INVEST now. You can now pay any amount of stock from one share to two hundred shares, and at $5 each. DON'T WAIT. If you are in Montreal, call at our office in the Canada Life Building and see a demonstration of how the Marconi system works, for the instruments for the purpose are installed there.

OFFERING OF 150,000 SHARES OF TREASURY STOCK OF THE

UNITED STATES GOLD CORPORATION

For the purpose of carrying out plans necessary to place the property on a dividend basis

The Board of Directors of the United States Gold Corporation estimate that the business of this company can be placed upon a paying and dividend basis, by the completion of the Klondyke tunnel a distance of 700 feet and by the construction of a modern concentration mill of not less than twenty five tons capacity per day on the property for the treatment of the great bodies of low grade ore, now awaiting treatment. To provide means for the execution of these plans, the Directors of this Company now offer for sale One Hundred and Fifty Thousand shares of Treasury Stock at the nominal price of 15 cents per share for cash.

For the information of investors the Company make the following statement of what a certificate of its stock represents.

Assets and Financial Condition of the United States Gold Corporation

Careful estimates made by the officers and scientific and practical mill men prove to the satisfaction of this company, that the proceeds from the present treasury stock offering will place the property on a paying basis and the further sale of treasury stock will be withdrawn from the market, leaving a treasury reserve fund of over 600,000 shares.

This great enterprise has passed the prospect stage and upon the completion of our tunnel about June 1st, 1905 the energies of the Company will be entirely devoted to production shipment and treatment of its vast tonnage of ore developed through the Klondyke tunnel estimated at 1000 tons per day.

The officers of this Company court rigid investigation by prospective investors of its properties and management.

Persons desiring stock should mail their application to the United States Gold Corporation at Boulder, Colorado, together with draft for amount of shares desired at 15c. per share, for which a certificate of stock will be issued and sent subscriber by return mail. Do not delay sending application as treasury stock will be taken off the market after this offering is subscribed.

Lung, Throat and Catarrhal Troubles

Cold in the Head Cured Quickly if You Breathe Fragrant, Healing

Catarrhozone

The ordinary method of treating catarrh by the stomach is a very indirect way and, as experience has demonstrated, a very useless method to employ.

Fragrant, healing Catarrhozone, is breathed, the air, laden with minute particles of this healing balsamic liquid, spreads itself over the whole area of inflammation.

It reaches the very root of disease instantly destroying by its antiseptic properties the germ life which excites and [illegible] the [illegible] and healing action is at once apparent to the whole diseased surfaces. It cures quickly and it cures permanently.

We affirm that no proprietary medicine has ever brought forth from the people as many voluntary testimonials as Catarrhozone has received.

MRS. M. J. WHITNEY, Clay Street, Topeka, Kan., was cured of nasal catarrh, and say, "I owe Catarrhozone an immense debt of gratitude. It cured me of the most disagreeable catarrh after many doctors had pronounced my case incurable. I do not cough any more, my breath is sweet, and my respiration regular since using Catarrhozone."

MRS. JAMES TWEEDIE, of Jay Bridge, says; "For years my daughter doctored for catarrh. She had dropping in the throat, hawking, nausea, and could not sleep at night. The first days use of Catarrhozone benefitted and it cured so the catarrh never returned."

MR. R. SHELDON, of Leamington, Ont., says; "For two years I unsuccessfully sought a remedy to cure my case of catarrh but permanent results were not attained until Catarrhozone was used. It cured my little boy like magic and he has been quite free from catarrh ever since."

REV. D. R. SMITH, of Whitehead, N.B., says; "Catarrhozone permanently cured me of chronic catarrh of the nose and throat from which I suffered for many years. I heartily recommend Catarrhozone."

MR. R. McCALLUM, of Spring Brook, Ont., says; "A sample of Catarrhozone benefitted me more than years of treatment with doctors, and by using the dollar outfit I was completely cured in a few weeks. I recommend Catarrhozone as the most satisfactory cure for catarrh on this market. Every word said for it is true."

MR. S. T. WRIGHT of Steeds Mills Ont., says; "I had a bad attack of sore throat, with inflamed tonsils and sore chest. I inhaled Catarrhozone and it cured my trouble. I greatly admire its pleasant and soothing effect."

MR. JAMES FERGUSON, of Perth, Ont., writes:—"I have used Catarrhozone for sore throat and cold in the head and find it is a good remedy. I highly recommend it."

MISS CLARA B. COLBY, of London, Ont., writes:—"I had a continuous cold in the head for years, and never used anything giving such quick results as Catarrhozone. I am delighted at last to find a remedy that positively cures colds. I strongly advocate Catarrhozone; it cures every time."

Catarrhozone cures without drugs and disagreeable medicine. It is Nature's cure—soothing, healing and pleasant to use. You simply inhale the medicated vapor of Catarrhozone through a Catarrhozone Inhaler and get cured quickly. Two months treatment costs only one dollar. Hand-Bag Lost

On one of the streets between Hunter and the C.P.R. station a handbag containing a sum of money, two pocket books and a few ladies' calling cards. The finder will be liberally rewarded by leaving it at The Times Bookstore.

Get Your Tag.

The Chief wishes to state that today is the 14th of April, and yet, so far, only one dog tag has been sold. The law requires that every dog in the town shall be tagged before May 1st. Last year the sales of tags totalled 848, and this year it is thought that 1,000 should be disposed of. Every dog owner who has not purchased a tag before May 1st, the time specified, will be prosecuted to the fullest extent of the law.

Y.W.C.A. Notes.

The Dedicatory Service in connection with the new Y.W.C.A. building, will be held on Easter Sunday at 4.15 p.m.

The formal opening will take place on the following Tuesday evening, April 25th, at 8 o'clock.

The House Committee are now ready to receive the furnishings that have been promised, and ask that they be sent to the new building as soon as possible.

A Slight Change

A school teacher, in the Central school, was trying to impress upon his pupil's mind that Columbus discovered America in 1492, so he said; "Now, John, to make you remember the date when Columbus discovered America I will make it rhyme so you won't forget it: 'Columbus sailed the ocean blue in 1492.' Now, can you remember that, John?"

"Yes, sir," replied John.

The next morning when he came to school his teacher said; "John, when did Columbus discover America?"

"Columbus sailed the dark blue sea in 1493."

Mr. Kendry Wins.

Yesterday's Toronto papers record the judgment given in the appeal of Ontario Ladies College v. Kendry, as follows: Ontario Ladies College v. Kendry. Judgment (H.) on appeal by plaintiffs from judgment of Boyd, C., dismissing without costs an action to recover from a merchant in Peterborough certain moneys alleged to be due for five shares of stock of plaintiff in 1892. The trial judge found that there had been misrepresentation by an agent of plaintiffs, and that the subscription had been made upon conditions which were not fulfilled. Appeal dismissed with costs. G. H. Watson, K.C., and J. B. Dow, Whitby, for plaintiffs. E. G. Porter, Belleville, and S. T. Medd, Peterborough, for defendant.

MR. RUDKINS' OFFENDED

Local Collector of Inland Revenue Thinks The Times is Wrong.

Mr. William Rudkins is not pleased with The Times these days. He thinks that a great family journal is not dealing fairly in the discussion of the Northwest school matter. Yesterday evening on George street, he gave The Times "a piece of his mind," as Mr. Bowser would say. We endeavored to explain to our rather irate friend that Protestants wanted no favored church or sect in this free land; that they were willing to give their Roman Catholic fellow citizens every advantages that they themselves possess, and that if all were treated alike there would be no such thing as a "minority" to deal with. Mr. Rudkin's is decidedly a good fellow, but his "Separate School" training has evidently warped his reason in this matter, or he would be willing to concede that the heirarchy is attempting to secure advantages which no other denomination possesses. He himself probably furnishes as good an argument against Separate schools as may be needed.

INTENSE INTEREST.

Unusual Excitement Aroused Over "The Capture of Port Arthur."

Seldom have the people of Peterborough shown as much interest over the advent of any lecturer, as is being aroused by the coming here, on Wednesday, April the 19th, of Mr. Ellis Ashmead Bartlett, the great war correspondent of the London Times. Mr. Ashmead Bartlett's lecture on "The Capture of Port Arthur," is particularly appropriate at this juncture of the present struggle for supremacy in the east, on the part of Russia, and, for the very life of their native land, on that of Japan. The English papers commend very favorably on both his lecture, and on the vivid reality of the photographs taken by the speaker and his brother war correspondents during the fierce fighting that took place before the forts and out-works of Port Arthur. The plan opens for subscribers on Monday, at Ormond & Walsh's drug store, and for the general public on Tuesday at 9 o'clock a.m.

Considering the cheap rates charged for such an exceptional opportunity to see the actual events as they happened, explained by so noted and eloquent a speaker should not be missed by anyone, on April 19th.

Mr. Ellis Ashmead Bartlett.

The great war correspondent of the London Times who was at Port Arthur during the entire siege and capitulation, will deliver his thrilling and intensely interesting lecture on the above subject in the opera house, on Wednesday evening next, April 19th. Reserved seat tickets 50c. and 75c. Plan of hall will be open to subscribers at Ormond & Walsh's on Monday, and for the general public on Tuesday at 9 o'clock. This will without doubt be one of the most thrilling and instructive lectures ever delivered here. It will be illustrated by over 100 unique and realistic views taken by Mr. Bartlett himself.

CUPID'S MIRROR.

"The beauty of a woman's face or figure is but the external sign of the good health within," says Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., the specialist in women's diseases. Further, to be happy and beautiful one must naturally have good health. Now, if a woman has dragging-down feelings, together with constantly returning pains and aches, a too great drain upon her vitality and strength, she will never look beautiful. The feelings of nervousness, the befogged mind, the ill-temper, the pale and wrinkled face, all result from those disorders peculiar to [illegible] and only way to overcome them is to strike at the source of the difficulty. There is every reason why she should write some great specialist, one who has made the diseases of women a specialty for a third of a century like Dr. R. V. Pierce, founder of the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, of Buffalo, N. Y. All correspondence is held sacredly confidential, and he gives his advice free and without charge.

During a long period of practice, Doctor Pierce found that a prescription made up entirely of roots and herbs, without the use of alcohol, cured ninety-eight per cent. of such cases. After using this remedy for many years in his private practice he put it up in a form that can be had at any store where medicines are handled.

In many cases Dr. R. V. Pierce's Favorite Prescription will fit the needs and put the body in healthy condition.

So sure of it is Dr. Pierce, he offers a reward of $500 for women who cannot be cured of Leucorrhea, Female Weakness, Prolapsus, or Falling of Womb. All he asks is a fair and reasonable trial of his means of cure.

Don't allow the dealer to insult your intelligence by offering you a cheap substitute.

TOKIO SAYS NO ENGAGEMENT OCCURRED AT SAIGON

Hospital Ship That Put Into That Port Had a Large Number of Wounded on Board---A Very Dangerous Place.

Manila, April 15.—Rear-Admiral Train, in command of American fleet in Asiatic water, received a telegram at three o'clock yesterday afternoon from Saigon, the capital and principal port of French Cochin China reporting the arrival there of the Russian hospital ship Orelat on the morning of April 13th. The Orelat had many wounded on board.

A despatch received on Thursday by the Chicago Daily News from its correspondent at Saigon said; Rojestvensky's hospital ship arrived here Wednesday night to take on board provisions, coal and medicines. It will leave Thursday at mid-day to rejoin the main squadron. No mention was made of wounded men on board this ship.

Tokio, April 15.—The naval department pronounces the reports of a naval engagement recently off Saigon to be unfounded.

Tokio, April 15.—The Imperial ordinance which declared Mako Harbor on the Pescadores Islands, in the state of siege, becomes operative to-day.

The Pescadores are Japanese islands, said to be strongly fortified, situated in the straits of Formosa, through which Rojestvensky will try to go unless he desires to avoid an engagement, which does not seem likely.

Tokio, April 15.—The following official announcement was made today;

"Our force advancing eastward via Fushun and Hailung road encountered and defeated the enemy on the morning of the 11th at Erhoushu seven miles east of Yingpan. The enemy's strength was one regiment of infantry, six squadrons of cavalry, and four guns. Our force then occupied Taungshih, about 19 miles west of Yingpan. The enemy, in retreating toward Hailung, fought at every step.

"The enemy on the Kirin road has gradually retreated since the 11th, a portion of this force still remaining to bar the passage of the Yushu River."

MOTHER AND SON UNITED

AFTER OVER THIRTY YEARS OF SEPARATION

A Pathetic Incident in a Western Home—Truth Stranger Than Fiction

Milwaukee, April 14.—After 33 years' separation from her son, a Minneapolis mother's heart was filled with joy when Leonard Garland, of Tomah, Wis., the long lost son came home with his stepfather to greet his mother, Mrs. William Aldrich, 49 Eighth street south.

The scene was an effective one and the meeting was an entire surprise to the mother who had supposed that her son had died several years ago.

During the 33 years that the mother and son had not seen or heard of each other they have never lived a greater distance than 150 miles apart. The son is now 35 years old. The separation occurred when the son was but two years old and he had no remembrance of his mother.

Thirty-three years ago in the little town of Berne, Wis., in Monroe county, the Garland family were divided. The son was taken by the father. The mother returned to her parents and moved to Minneapolis where she remarried. The father went to Tomah, Wis., and the mother lost all trace of her son. The boy grew to manhood. He was informed that his mother was dead, and consequently no search was made. The mother was also of the opinion that her son had met death and no attempt was made to reunite the family.

About a month ago a sister-in-law of Mr. Aldrich, the second husband of the mother, made a visit to the Aldrich family in Minneapolis from Tomah, Wis. In talking over the early family affairs the sister-in-law informed Mr. Aldrich that there was a man about the age of 35 in Tomah by the name of Garland, which was the name of the mother at the time of the separation. Nothing was thought of the matter at the time.

However, Mr. Aldrich was impressed with the incident and decided to write to the young man. The early family affairs was recited to the young man in Wisconsin who was believed to be the long lost son. An immediate reply was received and last week Garland came to Minneapolis and the identification was confirmed. Nothing was said to the mother until she was introduced to her son by Mr. Aldrich.

In the evening a reception was tendered the son and two cousins of his, cousins William and Ernest Yates, whom he had never seen were present to help along in the reception.

A SUCCESSFUL SEASON

The Annual Meeting of Peterborough Hockey Club.

On Wednesday the Peterborough Hockey Club held their annual meeting in the Council chamber.

The meeting was not largely attended, those present being Messrs. A. H. Stratton, president, who occupied the Chair, Messrs. T. H. G. Denne, W. G. Morrow, W. H. Bradburn, H. R. H. Kenner, Roland Denne, A. McIntosh, J. S. Knapman and J. H. O'Shea.

The reports of the officers were presented and showed that the season just closed had been most satisfactory from a financial point of view and that the revenue had exceeded that of all previous years.

FINANCIAL STATEMENT.

The principal sources of revenue during the season as compared with last season are as follows;—

	1905	1904
Summer revenue.....$	296.86	$280.00
Door receipts	1 220.50	920.00
Season tickets	800.25	731.00
Peterboro Hockey Club	1,050.15	1030.97
T.A.S. Hockey Club	170.00	402.85
City League	93.82

Out of the receipts of this season, $1,500.00 has been paid on the mortgage held by the Canada Life Assurance Company, leaving a balance still due on that account of $2 500 or just half the original amount of the mortgage.

MR. ALLEN'S APPEAL

James Allen, Late of C. P. R. Hotel Takes Formal Proceedings

As noted in the columns of a former issue of this journal, Mr. Allen, lately proprietor of the C.P.R. Hotel, has decided to enter an appeal against Police Magistrate Dumble's judgment and fine imposed recently on him. Mr. Allen has now taken the formal initiatory steps towards this end, by sending the appended notice to the Magistrate, Mr. D. W. Dumble, Chief Russel, the complaintant, and Allen Lindsay, whose watch was received by Newton Herbert in the C.P.R. Hotel. The appeal is as follows;

In the matter of a certain conviction wherein George I. Rossel, is the complainant and James Allen is the accused.

Take notice that the above mentioned James Allen, of the town of Peterborough in the County of Peterborough, hotelkeeper, intends to enter and prosecute an appeal to the judge of the county court of the County of Peterborough against a certain conviction bearing date on or about the 10th day of April, 1905 and made by D. W. Dumble, Esquire, Police Magistrate, in and for the said town of Peterborough, whereby the said James Allen was convicted that he, the said James Allen on the 1st day of April, 1905, being a holiday, to wit, on Saturday, did sell one watch in pawn from Allen Lindsay, contrary to the liquor license act.

Dated at Peterborough this 13th day of April, 1905. D. O'Connel, Solicitor for James Allen.

SECTARIAN WAR SPREADING

Ontario Legislature to Discuss the Autonomy Bill

Toronto, April 13.—Dr. Beattie Nesbitt's statement at the Centre Toronto nomination proceedings to the effect that he intended to introduce a resolution in the Legislature against the forcing of Separate schools on the West, and the interference of the Dominion Government with provincial rights, is causing great anxiety to a number of the members of the local house. This perturbation is not confined to private members; there are several Cabinet ministers who do not care to have such matters brought up. In this their chief objection comes from the religious belief of many of their constituents.

SHAKE MR. GRUBBE!

Mr. Eustache H. Grubb to Join the Great Army of Benedicts.

The times congratulates both Mr. Eustache and his father, Mr. H. W. Grubbe, on the approaching marriage of the former. The lady who will on the 3rd of May, link her future destiny with that of Mr. Grubbe, is Miss Bertha Marie Roulea, daughter of the late Judge Roulea, of Calgary, N.W.T. Mr. Grubbe, Senior, is well known in town, having for many years been a popular official in the Bank of Toronto, Peterborough, from which he resigned a few years ago, and is probably the oldest Peterborough banker here.

The Times respectfully hopes that the approaching nuptials may be succeeded by long years of health and happiness for the young couple.

THE MUSEUM OPENS

Peterborough's Historical, Entomological, Egyptological Aggregation of Wonders Now on View.

To-day, students of the ancient relics collected from Pompeii, Babylon, Egypt, Asia Minor and Port Hope, can feast on the treasures stored up at Victoria Museum, Inverlea Park. The season of 1905 has begun, and the doors will open at 2 p.m. The hours are from 2 to 5 p.m., each day, except Sundays, between April 15th and October 15th. The museum is free of charge to all. The directors are sparing no trouble or expense to make this nucleus of a collection the foundation of what will one day be a museum in fact. Several citizens have expressed their intention of offering various gifts of interest in addition to those recently given. The museum is in charge of the Peterborough Historical Society, and is well deserving of support, and addition to its treasures.

Separate School Question in Ontario Legislature

It is evident that the sectarian strife over the Autonomy Bill is only at its beginning. Churches, synods and conferences have taken up the cry for a free west, and a demand for religious freedom: Now the Ontario Legislature is to take a hand in the strife. At the election in Centre Toronto the other day, Dr. Beattie Nesbitt said;

"I do not know what the Legislature will do, but I will introduce a resolution declaring against the forcing of Separate schools on the West, and the interference by the Dominion Government with Provincial rights." Before making this statement he asked all opponents of the Separate school clauses to stand up. All obeyed excepting Mr. E. J. Hearn and some other Catholics.

Mr. Edmund Bristol, who had been elected by acclamation, declared himself emphatically against the school clauses of the Autonomy Bills.

Mr. A. E. Kemp referred to the school clauses as "blundering stupidity."

Addresses were also given by Ald. Church and Messrs. W. A. Sheppard and John Galbraith. A resolution was passed lamenting the death of Mr. E. F. Clarke.

RUSSIA IS NOW BEATEN

AND OUGHT TO SUE FOR PEACE AT ONCE

This is the Opinion of the London Times War Correspondent

Ottawa, April 14.—"Had Russia had a good general, Port Arthur would have held out three months longer, and thus given General Kuropatkin a much needed respite," is the opinion of Mr. E. Ashmead Bartlett, the great war correspondent for the London Times, who was present at the entire siege of Port Arthur.

Mr. Bartlett appeared in the Russell Theatre last night, and for two hours gave a most interesting account of the siege as he saw it. The audience was a large one, and the wish of all at the close of the two hours was that the time had been longer.

He is an excellent lecturer, with a good, clear voice, and a dry vein of humor which made the more laughable the ludicrous incidents which he recounted. His lecture throughout was illustrated by lantern views, and some of the bloody battlefields were shown the audience.

The magnificent Russian fleet which had been sunk by the Japanese or blown up by the Russians themselves before the surrender of Port Arthur, was thrown on the canvas. From a distant view the vessels appeared in stately splendor as modern fighting machines, but a nearer view showed them utterly ruined and the decks and fighting tops in shambles. Many present had little or no conception of the appearance of a modern battlefield before last night, but the photographs gave an excellent idea of what difficulties the armies had to contend with.

MR. McBURNEY WORSE

Peterborough Man Hurt in Toronto is in a Precarious Condition.

We regret to state that Mr. Geo. McBurney of Toronto, formerly of Peterborough, who met with a serious accident some days ago, by falling from a scaffolding, is not improving. A card received yesterday by Mr. W. Pringle, of town, states that his condition was far from satisfactory, and that his recovery is not anticipated.

IN AN IRON GRIP

Narrow Escape of Mr. White at the Dickson Mill.

A man named White working at the Dickson Company's mill, yesterday, met with what might have been a most serious accident, if not death. He was tightening a nut on one of the machines, with his wrench, when the sleeve of his smock caught in the cogs, which were rapidly revolving. Almost providentially the wrench he had been using, slipping from his hand by the sudden jerk, caught in the machinery and stopped the flying wheels, just as a good grip was ensured on the cloth. The sleeve of his shirt and smock had to be cut away before White could be released from the iron clasp that so nearly dragged him to death.

Mr. White, almost miraculously escaped without any serious injury. The occurrence was simply the result of an accident, no blame attaching to any one in the mill.

—The Campbellford petitions from the Baptist churches were presented at the last meeting asking that the commissioners liquor license commissioners increase the number of Campbellford. A fact that makes this petition before the next change can be made, and that in that case the commissioners can only grant permits, the commissioners ask the commissioners now that are appointed to strictly enforce the law.

Herald says; Petition and Presbytery laid before the regular meeting will request the ministers not to sign Liquor licenses. In view of the by-law was passed first of March that made, and that in commissioners can only council resolved to ... to grant no ... new commissioners hope to see the law

ORDER OF ELKS

A Lodge of the Canadian Benevolent Protective Order of Elks to be Formed Here.

There is good evidence that we will have established in Peterborough a lodge of the Order of Elks.

Mr. —. R. Colby, of London, deputy grand organizer, is in town and is getting up a charter membership. He is meeting with splendid success. "The Elks," as the new society is familiarly known is largely a social organization.

"The Elks" are a numerous body on the other side and since the order has gained a foothold in Canada, lodges have been organized in Hamilton, Toronto, London, Montreal, Galt, St. John, Chatham, Stratford, Sarnia, Preston, Owen Sound and Winnipeg. The branch here will be known as Peterborough lodge, No. 14. There are already over 3,000 Elks in Canada. Some of the officers are James Glanville, of Toronto, Supreme Exalted ruler, Dr. R. P. Aikman, of Grimsby, supreme secretary; W. H. Wardrope of Hamilton, Grand Exalted ruler, and John Paul of St. Catharines, grand secretary.

Judging by the names of those purposing to join the Elks will start of under most favorable auspices in this town, as some of our best citizens are included.

Police Court

OFFICIALS

Chief of Police, C.I. Rezel
Magistrate, D.W. Dumble

Jaglets may be a heap of fun whilst they last, but they come high in Peterborough. Yesterday morning, Mr. James Wilson was fully convinced of the truth of this axiom. When James has taken the perspective through the bottoms of many glasses of tanglefoot he gets noisy, and that little member, his tongue swings on a pivot of abuse. He unloaded quite a mess of his choicest on the head of a bartender in the C.P.R. Hotel, simply because that expert on judging the various stages of hilarity, from years of observation whilst watching the patrons of different bars, decided as James entered his particular sanctum there was evidence that his would-be customer had had all that should come to him, and refused to exchange good old stingo for the paltry nickle proferred. James got his ugly up and now he has a week in which to let it simmer down, as he inhales the ozone of Castle Neabitt. James Jr. not have enough dough left to pay his fine, which with costs, came to $5.85. These agrees certainly come high!

George May was charged with using unparliamentary language towards Miss Mary A. D'Arcy, but the lady, with that emotional sympathy that characterizes the fair sex was content to let the case go by default and withdrew her complaint. His Worship, with due gallantry, acceded to the lady's request, but the sticker came, when George had not the wherewithal to pay the costs. His Worship enlarged the case until this morning to see if George can dig up the dust.

Joseph Lepine, who is suffering with that tired feeling, was accommodated with a pass to Castle Neabitt, good for one month. Then he can fraternize with Mr. Guy, who yesterday was indulging his aesthetic tastes by delicately manipulating that useful house hold ornament, a mopstick.

As noted in another column, Mr. Allen has registered his appeal against the fine of $20 for a watch pawning case.

The case of R. H. McGuire, who was brought from Toronto Thursday night by High Constable Cochrane, on a charge of obtaining $160 under false pretences, was up yesterday before Judge Edmison at the County Police Court. The case was enlarged until Tuesday to get certain witnesses.

FIRE PROTECTION IMPROVEMENTS WILL SAVE $30,000

The Report of the Underwriters' Association Points to this Conclusion---Public Meeting Thursday Evening to Discuss Inauguration Celebration.

The City Fathers met in Committee of the Whole last night, when there were present; His Worship Mayor Henry Best, and Aldermen Hatten, Hicks, Crowe, Belgey, Leary, McIntyre, Mason, Adams, Johnston, Adam Hall, Tovey.

TOWN NOT LIABLE.

Solicitor E. H. D. Hall reported that should an accident occur at the opera house the town would not be liable for damages for loss of life or injury sustained in any possible disaster there.

THE NEW FIRE HALL.

A communication was at hand from the Canadian Fire Underwriters Association setting forth the saving in insurance the town would enjoy supposing the by-law to provide for a new Fire Hall, chemical engine, an up-to-date alarm system and contingent appliances, is carried by the ratepayers on May 4th, and subsequently put into effect by the Council.

The communication advised that,

Re auxiliary stations—The town's key rate is 1c. for the absence of sub-stations, and as the substitution of such are not at present contemplated, no saving will therefore be assured in this respect.

Re New Fire Alarm System—1c. will be taken off the key rate for this.

Re Standard Chemical Engine—2c. will be struck off the key rate for this.

Re Ladders—2c. will be taken off the key rate if sufficient ladders of a length to reach the top of mercantile buildings are provided. Sixty feet ladders will be necessary to effect this saving, and the Council will govern themselves accordingly.

Re New Steam Engine—As this is to replace the old engine the key rate will not be effected. The engine should have a capacity of 300 gallons a minute.

Re Water Mains—The key rate charge on single mains is 2c., and this cannot be saved until the whole of the present mains are duplicated.

Re Hydrants—The key rate of 1c. will continue until no hydrants in the business section are more than 250 feet apart, and until the present single branch hydrants are replaced by double ones. Some of our hydrants are at present nearly 500 feet apart. The town will not go into this improvement just now.

Re Hose—The 1c. on our key rate for hose will be saved providing the town keeps on hand 4,000 feet of absolutely first-class hose. The department has at present 2,500 feet, and the remaining 1,500 feet necessary to effect this saving will be purchased.

The underwriters also pointed out that another cent off our key rate would be saved were a by-law regulating the storage of crude oil, gasoline, coal oil, etc., etc., in conformity with their regulations put into force. Their basis of allowance for no charge in two gallons, while the town's present by-law permits of the storage of one barrel. The by-law will be amended to effect this saving.

SAVING OF $30,000.

The result of the town's correspondence with the underwriters has resulted in the definite information for the benefit of our ratepayers that the new fire hall and contingent fire protection improvements, as embodied in the by-law, will assure the following reduction in mercantile fire insurance rates;

Alarm system	4c.
Chemical engine	3c.
New ladders	2c.
Additional hose	2c.
Regulating storage of oil, etc. (new)	1c.
	12c.

The Mayor explained that our mercantile insurance amounts to about $2,500,000, and this striking off of 12c. from our key rate, would represent in the aggregate a saving of $3,000—sufficient to build the new fire hall. Of course this would apply to mercantile insurance only, but Ald. Johnston pointed out that it would also have the effect of keeping outside rates where they are now, and be a big step toward securing in future the lowest possible rates attainable.

INAUGURATION DAY.

The question of fittingly celebrating the inauguration of Peterborough as a city again came up. Dominion Day had been suggested as an appropriate occasion on which to rejoice and be exceedingly glad, that Peterborough had at last cast aside her juvenile robes and merged into citydom. And as July 1st falls on a Saturday this year, Monday, July 3rd, was offered as the best day on which to celebrate the dual events. Ald. Hicks reported that although the 57th Regiment are going to Ottawa on Friday, June 30th, they would be back time enough Monday morning to take part in the celebration. Many prominent citizens had offered to co-operate in the scheme.

Some of the aldermen thought that this event might be held on Civic Holiday perhaps on Labor Day, while one suggested the 12th of July.

A public meeting will be held in the Council Chambers Thursday evening next, at eight o'clock, to discuss with citizens ways and means, and the best date on which to celebrate.

QUESTION OF DRAINAGE.

Ald. Tovey submitted that as the C.G.E. Co., are about to add 250 feet to their big building, the town might grade and drain the new street to the north, to prevent an overflow of surface water into the premises.

The Board of Works had already decided to make these suggested improvements.

TO INVESTIGATE.

Ald. Johnston, Chairman of the Fire, Water and Light Committee, here remarked that John Montgomery and his friends did not think he had treated Montgomery fairly in recommending his dismissal from his position as driver in the fire department, for misconduct. Although the Council had endorsed his report, he still would like to hear this committee's opinion on the matter.

Ald. Adam Hall said that if Montgomery had his failings, still he had not missed a fire but once in twelve years, and that was when his alarm did not work. He was a good man in the department.

Ald. Leary remarked that Montgomery was undoubtedly the best horseman the town had had for years; but still it was time the town looked into affairs connected with the Fire Department.

Ald. Adams offered that all should stand on the same footing, and should any be found guilty of the same misconduct as Montgomery they should be meted like treatment.

This was readily concurred in by all.

Ald. Hall—"If others have offended in the same way and are not dismissed, then Montgomery should be re-engaged."

Ald. Hall moved, seconded by Ald. Adams.—That the matter of the conduct of the present employes in the Fire Department be referred to the Fire, Water and Light Committee for investigation.—Carried.

DIVERSION OF CREEK.

Ald. Adams moved, seconded by Ald. Leary.—That W. H. Thompson assist the Engineer in valuating the land to be benefitted by diverting the creek in Ward 5 (Ashburnham). —Carried.

TO FIGHT THE CASE.

The Solicitor was authorized to engage counsel in the case of Mrs. Armour against the town.

OUTFALL SEWER.

The Solicitor reported that he had the consent of the two railways to run the sewer for Ashburnham under their tracks.

CITY SEAL.

Ald. Hall moved, seconded by Ald. Adams.—That the clerk be instructed to have a seal made for the City of Peterborough in accordance with the handsome design drawn by Mr. T. A. S. Hay.—Carried.

WHEEL FOR EVANS.

Ald. Adams moved, seconded by Ald. Johnston.—That H. Evans, the Street Commissioner be furnished a bicycle at the town's expense, to be used in his official capacity.

POLICY IS TO LURE ON HIS FOE

No General Naval Battle Is Likely Just Yet

New York, April 13.—A London despatch to the World, says; Rear Admiral Gayles, a distinguished naval strategist and expert, writes in the London Daily Telegraph;

"We may expect that the whole passage of the Russian fleet to the north through the China Sea will be marked by continual harassing by torpedo boat destroyers, whose supreme object will be to wear down the Russian fleet, ship by ship, and when the supreme moment arrives for action between the battle fleets, if such an event ever does take place. Admiral Togo's superiority may be even greater than at present.

"It is probable that there will be little occurring in the way of a naval action while the Russians are so close to territorial waters. At present they could seek sanctuary at almost any moment if it were desired, and this is not what the Japanese wish. So that if Admiral Rojestvensky does not go into Saigon, French Cochin-China to carry out essential repairs, I should say the first serious engagement will take place north of this French base. It is certain Rojestvensky will give the Philippine Islands as wide a berth as possible on account of the lack of sympathy which is known to exist in the United States with Russia's Far East policy.

"We may take it for granted that Rojestvensky, after passing Saigon, will keep out in the open sea around the south of Formosa. Then anything may happen."

Admiral Sir John Colomb said; "It would seem to be the Japanese policy to keep the Russians in sight, but not to take action until they have got them as near as they may go into Japanese home waters.

"The further the Russians are allowed to go the greater will be the force of the naval reverse—of the naval disaster, perhaps—inflicted upon them.

"It would seem reasonably probable that the Japanese Admiral has it in his power to elect the time and place for the fight, and then——

"Well, then, I suppose it will be the Spanish Armada over again."

The year 1905 must be one of "graft" in the Midland League. Lindsay wants the President elected from their town, and because we presented them with the pennant last year, they would like to have the annual meeting held there. We might inform the Lindsay Post man this is a case of "after me, you come next."—Port Hope Guide.

FERROZONE

SAVED HIS LIFE

After reading the following letter from Mr. H. A. Thurston, of 28 Vermont street east, Indianapolis, Ind., no one will ever doubt the merit of Ferrozone:

"A year ago I took the grippe.
"I was as weak as a child.
"I was no longer able to eat.
"My blood was thin. My cheeks were white and bloodless.
"Doctor gave me all kinds of medicine, but none of them brought me strength.
"My friends said I was wasting away with some slow disease, and I bid them good-bye.
"Then I heard of the wonderful Ferrozone.
"After three days it gave me an appetite. I gained strength and became cheerful. Under Ferrozone I improved steadily. I am well today. I weigh fifteen pounds heavier than ever before, and feel like a new man.

UNION LABEL

PETERBOROUGH, APRIL 15 1905

WHAT WILL IT END IN?

It was the interference of a Papal Delegate with the affairs of England that led to a revolution in England, by which James II. lost his crown and William III. came to the throne. It was the attempted creation of new slave states in the United States that precipitated the great civil war. Saturday Night thinks that a combination of the interference of a Papal Delegate with the affairs of Canada and the attempted creation of new Roman provinces in the Canadian North-West will lead to—what? At present no one can predict—but the worst possible result is discreetly unmentioned. Mgr. Sbarretti, the Papal Delegate to Canada, is clearly convicted of interfering with affairs of State in this country, to which he is a foreigner. He attempted to blackmail the Province of Manitoba into re-establishing Separate schools, under the threat that, if such schools be not re-established, the present narrow boundaries of that Province would mark the limits of its territory forever, whereas, if the Manitoba Government should consent to a re-establishment of such schools, it would "facilitate" matters so far as the extension of Manitoba's boundaries are concerned. Sir Wilfrid Laurier has denied in the House of Commons that Mgr. Sbarretti had any authority from him to make promises or threats to Manitoba in his name or in the name of the Dominion Government. It was quite unnecessary for Sir Wilfrid to make any such denial. He was expected to say exactly what he did say—his statement might have been taken as read. No one would be so foolish as to suppose the Prime Minister would be so indiscreet as to "authorize" the Papal Delegate to speak in his name. These things are not done in that way. It would be clumsy, impolitic and indiscreet. But, denial or no denial, the people of this country know that Sir Wilfrid Laurier has shaped his policy in regard to the Autonomy legislation in such a way as to secure the approval of the Papal Delegate. It is possible that the Prime Minister and the representative of the Pope are so sympathetically constituted that each knows the other's mind without the aid if verbal or written communication, but the Canadian people are not likely to resort to psychical phenomena to obtain an explanation of the mutual understanding and harmony that exists between their Premier and the Pope's attorney at Ottawa. In the Autonomy Bill can be found all the evidence that anyone can reasonably ask to prove that Mgr. Sbarretti has interfered with Canadian affairs and converted the Government into a tool to serve the ends of his church. The disclosures made by Hon. Mr. Rogers, a member of the Manitoba Government, reveal nothing more than has been known since the day the notorious Autonomy Bill was introduced to the House. It is the directness of Mr. Rogers' charge that has produced the outbreak of indignation throughout Canada. Circumstantial evidence, convincing as that on which thousands of men have been hanged, was regarded by many people—hardened partizans—as merely circumstantial, strong enough to hang a man, but unconvincing when employed to convict a political friend. It was the direct evidence of Mr. Rogers that proved the final touch.

ATHLETIC WORLD

BY OUR SPORTING EDITOR.

The Post says Lindsay's clever little southpaw, of last year's team, "Curly Mack," or Joe McLaughlin, will this year play with our sister town, Peterborough, in the Midland League. "Curly's" work of last year was fine, he having won numerous games by his good pitching, and why the Lindsay management are letting him go is a puzzle. He claims he is better than ever this year, and naturally had looked forward to playing in Lindsay's senior nine again, but having been given the cold shoulder without cause, Lindsay will have him for an opponent.

HOMESTEAD REGULATIONS

Any even numbered section of Dominion lands in Manitoba or the North-west Territories, excepting Town 28, which has not been homesteaded, or reserved to provide wood lots for settlers, or for other purposes, may be homesteaded upon by any person who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years of age, to the extent of one-quarter section of 160 acres more or less.

ENTRY

Entry may be made personally at the local land office for the district in which the land to be taken is situate, or if the homesteader desires, he may, on application to the Minister of the Interior, Ottawa; the Commissioner of Immigration Winnipeg, or the local agent for the district in which the land is situate, receive authority for some one to make entry for him. A fee of $10 is charged for a homestead entry.

HOMESTEAD DUTIES

A settler who has been granted an entry for a homestead is required by the provisions of the Dominion Lands Act, and the amendments thereto, to perform the conditions connected therewith, under one of the following plans:

[1] At least six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each year during the term of three years. It is the practice of the Department to require a settler to bring 15 acres under cultivation, but if he prefers he may substitute stock; and 20 head of cattle, to be actually his own property, with buildings for their accommodation, will be accepted instead of the cultivation.

[2] If the father (or mother, if the father is deceased), of any person who is eligible to make a homestead entry under the provisions of this Act, resides upon a farm in the vicinity of the land entered for by such person as a homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence prior to obtaining patent may be satisfied by such person residing with the father or mother.

[3] If a settler was entitled to and has obtained entry for a second homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence prior to obtaining patent may be satisfied by residence upon the first homestead, if the second homestead is in the vicinity of the first homestead.

[4] If the settler has his permanent residence upon farming land owned by him in the vicinity of his homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence may be satisfied by residence upon the said land.

The term "vicinity" used above is meant to indicate the same township, or an adjoining or cornering township.

A settler who avails himself of the provisions of clauses [2], [3] or [4] must cultivate 30 acres of his homestead, or substitute 20 head of stock, with buildings for their accommodation, and have besides 20 acres substantially fenced.

The privilege of a second entry is restricted by law to those settlers only who completed the duties upon their first homesteads to entitle them to patent on or before the 2nd of June, 1889.

Every homesteader who fails to comply with the requirements of the homestead law is liable to have his entry cancelled and the land may again be thrown open for entry.

APPLICATION FOR PATENT

should be made at the end of three years, before the Local Agent, Sub-Agent or the Homestead Inspector. Before making application for patent the settler must give six months notice in writing to the Commissioner of Dominion Lands at Ottawa of his intention to do so.

INFORMATION

Newly arrived immigrants will receive, at the Immigration Offices in Winnipeg, or at any Dominion Lands Office in Manitoba or the Northwest Territories, information as to the lands that are open for entry, and from the officers in charge, free of expense, advice and assistance in securing lands to suit them. Full information respecting the land, timber, coal and mineral laws, as well as respecting Dominion Lands in the Railway Belt in British Columbia, may be obtained upon application to the Secretary of the Department of the Interior, Ottawa; the Commissioner of Immigration, Winnipeg, Manitoba, or to any of the Dominion Lands Agents in Manitoba or the North-west Territories.

W. W. CORY,
Deputy Minister of the Interior.

N. B.—In addition to Free Grant Lands, to which the Regulations above stated refer, thousands of acres of most desirable lands are available for lease or purchase from railroad and other corporations and private firms in Western Canada.

Not Promises

There is all the difference in the world between expectation and realization. There is even a greater difference between promise and performance. In the former case you form your own opinion, and if it is in error, you have none but yourself to blame. In the latter case, you take some one's word or promise for what is to be done, and you place your confidence in them and their judgment. Failure in such a case is a double disappointment, for you have not reaped an expected reward, and your faith in your adviser is shaken.

The history of the wireless telegraph companies reveals that they fall in two classes—THOSE THAT PROMISE and THOSE THAT PERFORM.

The Marconi Companies have never foretold what they are GOING TO DO, but have steadfastly GONE ABOUT THEIR WORK, and when they had ACCOMPLISHED SOMETHING, have stated the fact and have gone on with the next step. Had you rather HEAR PROMISES OF FUTURE SUCCESS or SEE TANGIBLE RESULTS from day to day? MARCONI and his associates have AVOIDED PROMISES and have never made statements which did more than ANNOUNCE his latest ACHIEVEMENT or PERFORMANCE. These performances have succeeded each other with such rapidity that hardly a week passes without some important advance being heralded. THE

Marconi Wireless
(Tel. Co. of Canada Ltd.)

is governed by the same conservatism as the American and English Marconi Companies. It has not made futile PROMISES OF WHAT IT WAS GOING TO DO. IT WAS TOO BUSY IN DOING THINGS. It DOES ITS WORK and never even announces one ACCOMPLISHMENT until it is well on its way to the next ATTAINMENT. DOES NOT SUCH A POLICY APPEAL TO THE CONSERVATIVE INVESTOR? Few details of the tremendous progress made in connection with the installation of the highly successful stations along the Gulf of St. Lawrence were made public until the Commander of the Canadian Marine Service gave his report to the Deputy Commissioner of Fisheries late in the fall. The report showed that the perfect working of each station had been known since midsummer.

The Canadian Company has already completed a net work or successful stations along the St. Lawrence Gulf and there are on Canadian soil thirteen stations already in operation. The Company has already been authorized to build four more stations at prominent points during the coming summer. The transatlantic station at Cape Breton is nearly finished on its new site. The apparatus for installation at that point is constructed and on its way to Cape Breton, where Mr. Marconi is on hand to personally oversee the installation and the successful opening of this great service. These are not promises—they are performances. Compare what Marconi has DONE with what others PROMISE TO DO. Ask yourself a simple question: "If they can do so, why don't they? The answer suggests itself. Can you not foresee the great future this Company has before it? Do you not wish to become a sharer in the success which is at its door? You can do so by becoming a shareholder in the Company. You can purchase any amounts of stock from one SHARE to two hundred shares at $5 per share. The time to invest is now, before the stock undergoes its certain rise.

FORTUNES ARE BEING MADE IN KANSAS OIL

Here's a fortune for you. Not 10% but 100% and no risk of loss. Client of the Oil Fields.

The Midland Oil and Gas Company

has over 180 acres of oil land and has put down 10 wells, so the land is proved up. An adjoining additional 80 was secured yesterday, making over 260 acres all in the proven belt. Just read this:

The U. S. report on the oil industry places the average daily production of Pennsylvania wells at only one-half a barrel each per day. The Midland wells are pumping

Sixty Barrels a Day Each.

The pumping plant has just been started and this is the surprising result. Nothing like it in the world. The officers and directors of this company are bank men and do not believe in debts, so the company is free from debt. They have nearly $20,000 in cash and bills receivable in the treasury and everything paid for—property, wells, pumping plant, oil tank, well cleaning machine and everything connected with the company. Has two drilling rigs working night and day sinking wells. Have abundance of gas, which runs the drills and pumping plant, so it only costs abt $5.00 a day to produce and market the oil.

The Company has about 33 per cent of its stock in the treasury as a reserve.

For a short time the Company will sell a little more of its stock at only

Buy all you can raise money to pay for.

We could talk all day about it and not cover all the strong points. But as the company has this grand property paid for, there is only one side to it, and that is profit. From the Kansas City Journal, Feb. 26, 1905.
There is perhaps no people in the same amount of territory in the world who have increased in wealth so rapidly. Everybody is prosperous. Many once poor and hard working families have become immensely wealthy.
Hodge Hale, an old Prisco conductor, has become a millionaire off of oil. He got in the game early. Now he has money as well as oil and gas to burn.
Fred Hetrick, a farmer living near Chanute, had a hard time for years making both ends meet. Life was a hard proposition with him. His royalties now reach $1,000 a month and he is living on easy street.
Joe Heim, of the Kansas City brewery, took a flyer in oil leases. He first put in $100 and refused $12,000 for his investment. Later he put in a lot more money in gas and oil lands and is now figuring high.
George R. Work, the Chicago clothier, took some acres of land near Chanute for a debt a customer owed him. Work's partner refused to stand for the deal. So Work kept the land himself. He has since refused $50,000 for his holdings.
These are a few samples. Hundreds of farmers have become independently rich off their oil royalties, and hundreds of other men have made big money producing oil.
This Kansas oil bearing sand is like the Pennsylvania sand; wells will produce oil for fifty years.
Can give bank references, and dozens from people who have personally examined this great property.

STRICTURE AND KIDNEY DISEASE CURED—

G. E. WRIGHT.

"I had stricture for eleven years. It finally brought on Bright's Disease of the Kidneys. I had an uncomfortable shooting pain in the groin and feeling as though something was in the urethra. My back was weak and I could scarcely stoop over. Urine was full of sediment. Had a desire to urinate frequently. Family doctors, so-called specialists, patent medicines, electric belts, all failed. I was discouraged. I had spent hundreds of dollars in vain. Finally I consulted Drs. Kennedy & Kergan as the last resort. I had heard a great deal about them and concluded from the fact that they had been established over 25 years that they understood their business. I was delighted with the results. In one week I felt better, and in a few weeks was entirely cured. Have gained sixteen pounds in weight."

23,000 IMMIGRANTS SINCE JANUARY 1

That Number Has Already Arrived This Year in Montreal

RUSH IS UNPRECEDENTED

Canadian West is Filling up With Many Desirable Settlers This Season

Montreal, April 14.—The influx of immigration still continues, and, as Second Vice-President Whyte, of the Canadian Pacific Railway, declares, is calculated to persist in volume until the end of the season.

This morning the Canadian Pacific Railway brought three hundred on a special train from Halifax, all of whom had come over on the Dominion Liner Kensington.

Two of the Allan Line steamers—the Sicilian and the Siberian—brought over nine hundred more, and these will reach the city tomorrow morning on special trains.

As nearly most of these immigrants are destined for the West.

As indicating the tremendous volume of immigration that is constantly going on, even during the winter months, it is pointed out that, since the first of January last 23,000 immigrants have passed through Montreal.

Of this number 21,000 have entered the Windsor station, where they were distributed to their varying destinations, while the balance—2,000—came in at the Bonaventure station.

Roughly speaking, about 5,000 of the aggregate number mentioned came to the city between January 1st and March 15th, more than three-quarters of the whole having consequently passed through the city in [illegible]

While the majority of the immigrants are foreigners, the percentage of residents of the British Isles is rapidly advancing. It is only three or four years ago since an English-speaking immigrant was acknowledly known. Those from Great Britain who came at all came as second-class passengers, and, as such, travelled all the way through to the West. Now the Briton comes out in train loads just as the Doukhobors and the Galicians did in the old days.

BETTER THAN GOLDFIELDS NEVADA

The East Pacific Mining Co.

OF HELENA, MONTANA

OFFERS FIFTY THOUSAND SHARES of its Treasury Stock for sale at

$1.50 PER SHARE

All the money received from the sale of this stock will be used to place larger and improved machinery at the mines; to install an electric power line; and install a large compressor and hoist capable of sinking the property at least one thousand feet deeper. When these improvements and betterments are made the cost of operating the mine will be reduced one-half, and good dividends be continuous and certain.

CONCENTRATOR PURCHASED

We have now purchased a concentrator, and we will begin erecting same immediately, and expect to start same by May 10th. Dividends will commence about the first of July.

We are much gratified at the number of orders we have received in the last two weeks from letters we have sent to different parties throughout the country, and from present indications all of our first issue of stock will be subscribed for inside of thirty days.

The mines are located twenty miles east of Helena, Montana, and have been worked for a number of years, but after closing down for two years were started up again July, 1904. Up to March 1st, 1905, these mines have produced $1,330,898 03, leaving a net profit of $570,346 85. In the month of November, 1904, we encountered some very high grade ore below the lowest level, which assays as follows:—

No. 1 Assay.	Gold ounces.	Silver ounces.	Value.
West of winze, intermediate drift	3685.60	1197,	$74,406.2
No. 2 Assay.
Immediate below No. 4 Tunnel	3351.20	1388.80	77,829.50

In January we pulverized 112 pounds of rich ore, which gave us an average taken from four assays of 885 38 oz. gold and 254 38 oz silver, with a gold scales caught on screen worth $577 60 per ton, making a total valuation of this ore worth $17,551 74 per ton. This 112 pounds brought us $944 00.

ORE RESERVES

Consist of over 23,000 tons of second class concentrating ore mined and placed upon the different dumps with a gross valuation of $250,000.00 according to measurement, and concentrating and assay tests. Besides there is in the old stopes of the mine over 10,000 tons of concentrating ore with a value of $100,000, and a block of ground in the mine, 500 feet by 134 feet, averaging from six inches to three feet in width, worth over $150,000, and new ore is being placed in sight daily.

With these facts and figures it is asked why any of the stock of this company should be offered for sale at any price. The reason is this: The company desires to spend $75,000 without interfering with the workings of this mine to install improved machinery and develop the mine to a further depth of 1500 feet.

Now is your time to invest in a good paying proposition that will last from ten to fifteen years and pay from two to five cents per share per month during that time. We ask everyone who reads this advertisement to come and visit the property, or make any investigation that they desire. The officers of the company are R. A. Bell, Mining Operator, fifteen years, President; A. L. Smith, Vice-President National Bank of Montana, Treasurer, Wm H. Dickinson, Cashier National Bank of Montana, Secretary. Marconi Wins Patent Decision

The United States Circuit Court in a sweeping decision has declared that Marconi's patents prohibit others from using the vital and essential parts of all wireless telegraph systems, viz.: The elevated conductors with ground connections. Marconi says that Wireless Telegraphy is impossible without these essentials. Permanent injunction and judgment for an accounting and costs has issued against the De Forest Company under that decision.

Remember the record of the Bell Telephone, how all other telephonic inventions were declared infringements and were compelled to pay tribute to Bell and finally to surrender to Bell and be swallowed up by him.

History Repeats Itself

WHAT WIRELESS IS WHY IT WORKS

(This is the fifth and last chapter covering the very interesting subject of wireless telegraphy.)

Synopsis of Preceding Chapters—The first chapter showed that wireless telegraphy was made possible through Nature's gift of electricity in the air. It was only necessary for the inventive genius of man to control the direction of this force. The instruments which have been invented and perfected by Marconi and which made it possible to control this subtle power are [illegible] by calling a specific message and delivering it through the various steps from the sender to the receiver.

CHAPTER IV.

In the preceding chapters, we have learned that wireless telegraphy is exceedingly simple in theory and practice, because it involves nothing but basic principles and natural forces in almost unaltered form.

If we were on the top of a ten-story building and wished to get some worthless object down to the ground, we would not put it on our shoulder and carry it down, but would simply throw it over the edge of the roof and gravity would do the rest. It is likewise superfluous to use wires for the transmission of electric currents if nature has provided something which makes it possible to accomplish the same work without them. It requires no gift of prophecy to foresee that wires will be discarded just as printing presses worked by hand and sailing vessels for fast trips have been put aside.

Although Fulton gave us a steamboat which we now look upon as a very crude affair, and Howe constructed a cumbersome sewing machine, we cannot but be thankful for what they did. Suppose the ocean greyhound and the modern sewing machine had been perfected within a decade after their invention, it is impossible to imagine what other perfected and highly developed products would now be at our command. In the Marconi system the developments already parallel those of the steamship and sewing machine, which have required from fifty to one hundred years of mechanical experimenting. In other words, Marconi has given us a perfected wireless telegraph within less than ten years of the time when he became convinced that his theories were borne out by facts. It would be the height of absurdity to assume that he has attained the limit of possible development. One cannot but marvel that he should have accomplished so much in so short a time.

A realization that wireless telegraphy is based upon a simple, free-given force of Nature makes a deep study of the science immensely interesting. One cannot refrain from entering the realms of fancy and wondering what will become of the telephone and telegraph wires, the cables and the instruments which are adapted to their use. The future of shipping, of all forms of communication, and, in fact, of every detail of our daily life in times of peace and war may be forced to pass through a stage of complete change because of the simple discovery of the possibility of sending messages from point to point without any visible connection between them. We have at our command a newer, simpler and better means of applying electricity to the transmission of messages than we ever had before. There is nothing more deserving of your serious thought than this latest product of science—wireless telegraphy.

MARVELOUS CANADIAN EXPANSION

Few residents of Canada fully realize the tremendous expansion which their own country is enjoying. In all lines of industry there is progress, and the last three or four years have seen a commercial growth far beyond the predictions of leading Canadian authorities.

The best evidence of this growth is shown in connection with the railroads and steamships and their allied interests. The Grand Trunk system is to be extended into a transcontinental line, in order to meet the demands of the central and far west, and other transcontinental roads are projected. The records of shipping show a steady increase in volume. The exports and imports are increasing so that they now total over $100,000,000 per annum. The rate of interest is on a par with that of any nation in the world. The interior of the country is becoming more and more densely populated, and a vast tract of fertile soil is rapidly being brought under cultivation. The report of the C. P. R. records over 38,000 acres of land sold to settlers west of Winnipeg. The four leading railroads of Canada weekly return an increase of earnings over a similar period in any previous year. Growth and development are to be expected in any new country, but the Canadian record stands almost alone for the rapidity with which this important progress has been made.

All this has been accomplished

WITHOUT A CANADIAN CABLE

linking this country to a European point. This may seem unimportant, but when one realizes that over $3,000,000 PER YEAR IS SPENT BY CANADIAN CITIZENS for cable messages, and, when it is further realized that this great expenditure passes into the receipt column of cable companies owned in the United States or Europe, the situation assumes a different aspect. Why should this great sum of money go as tribute to outsiders? OUGHT IT NOT TO REMAIN IN CANADA FOR REDISTRIBUTION in the country where it is expended and where it may be TURNED TO FURTHER PROFIT? It is surprising that this tremendous branch of industry is not served by a company owned and operated in Canada.

The Marconi Wireless Telegraph Co. of Canada, Ltd.

will supply this deficiency by the middle of the coming summer. It will TRANSMIT MESSAGES ACROSS THE ATLANTIC and it will do more, for it will also TRANSMIT MESSAGES TO ANY AND ALL SHIPS CROSSING THAT GREAT OCEAN. Signor Marconi is now busily engaged in installing the apparatus at the Glace Bay station which will for ever replace any needed cable service.

The great growth in every other line is being paralleled by the rapid development of the Marconi system. The increase in shipping is greatly benefitted by the added safety, due to the Marconi stations installed along the Atlantic waterways, which have made shipping in those waters free of former terrors.

The Marconi system CAN HANDLE MESSAGES MORE CHEAPLY THAN THE CABLE. Under present conditions the cost of a cablegram is further increased by the cost of telegraphing it from a Canadian point to the nearest cable station in the United States. The Canadian Marconi station will practically monopolize the industry of transatlantic messages. It will do so because, when a given company can equal its competitors in the quality of service and can underbid them in the charge therefor, it inevitably gets all the business that is offered.

This is but one of MANY SOURCES OF INCOME for the Canadian Marconi Company. The transatlantic system is but one of the many remunerative Canadian opportunities under the Marconi erected patents. The shrewdest business men in Canada have recognized what this means, and have placed themselves in a position to SHARE THE PROFITS which this great enterprise is going to enjoy. They have become stockholders of The Marconi Wireless Telegraph Company of Canada, and we have yet to find any one of them who has kept track of the rapid development of the company and who is dissatisfied with its future outlook. The stock is now selling at $5 PER SHARE, and subscriptions will be accepted in any quantity from one share to two hundred shares. The time to invest in this great enterprise is, NOT WHEN IT HAS BEEN FULLY DEVELOPED and has reached a stationary stage. By that time the price of its stock will have so advanced that you can buy but one share for the same money with which you may now purchase hundreds of shares. On the same basis, the dividends will not pay only about five per cent. on your investment instead of the FIFTY PER CENT. OR MORE PER YEAR which should be the return if you buy the stock at present prices. We therefore reiterate that sound and conservative judgment should urge you to make a purchase before the price of the stock has advanced, and when there is still an allotment which may be obtained at $5 per share. That means that YOU SHOULD IMMEDIATELY INVEST whatever funds you have in what promises to be a rival of the great Bell Telephone which has long since

MADE ITS STOCKHOLDERS WEALTHY

CATHOLIC NURSES BARRED

WOULD EXCLUDE THEM FROM METHODIST HOSPITALS

Waterbury, Conn., April 14.—At the New York conference of M. E. Churches today, in presenting the report of the Committee on Methodist Hospitals, Dr. J. M. Buckley, of New York, editor of The Christian Advocate, remarked that the money of any man who had a legal title to it would be accepted without any question. Dr. Buckley's statement that as long as he was President of the Board of Trustees no Catholic should be engaged as a nurse in the hospital aroused discussion.

Rev. Francis G. Howell, of Brooklyn, characterized Dr. Buckley's position as "too narrow altogether." Mr. Howell said that Protestant nurses were employed in Catholic hospitals, and he saw no reason why Catholic nurses should not serve in the Methodist hospital.

Tubecuosis The Lungs Cured

World's Greatest Physician Eulogo Catarrhozone, which kills all the Germ Heals the Membranes, Cures Th roughly.

That consumption is due to the presence of germs in the air passages is now admitted by all physicians. Before the disease can be cured of course these germs must be killed. Liquid medicine taken into the stomach can't possibly reach the air cells of the lungs, and is therefore useless.

Catarrhozone never fails to kill the bacilli of consumption for the following reasons, which are plain to every thinking person:

First—Each breath of medicated air you draw through Catarrhozone Inhaler is at once sent through every air cell and air passage in the throat, bronchial tubes and lungs; it is then sure to reach the nest of the consumption germs.

Being a powerful antiseptic Catarrhozone at once kills these germs and establishes such a healthy condition in the lungs that microbes can't live there. Once the cause of the disease is removed it is only a matter of time till you get well and strong again.

That Catarrhozone does perform wonderful cures in Tubercular Troubles can no longer be doubted. Ample evidence of its marvellous merit is witnessed every day. Thousands have been cured after all else has failed by this great germ destroyer, which is enabled to the very source of the disease.

Mrs. G. P. McCluskly, writing from Salt Lake City, U.S., says; "My doctor ordered me to Colorado, where I first used Catarrhozone. I inhaled it probably twenty times a day. In one week it stopped my cough completely, and it was not very long in taking every bit of soreness and hoarseness out of my throat. The antiseptic vapor of Catarrh-zone must certainly have killed all the germs of consumption in my lungs, for I came home in seven months a cure. My doctor says Catarrhozone is a marvel. It is of the greatest assistance in lung trouble, and cured me permanently."

Not only consumption but every form of catarrh and throat trouble is easily cured by Catarrhozone. Two months' treatment costs $1.00. At druggists or by mail from N. C. Polson & Co., Hartford, Conn., U.S.A., and Kingston, Ont. For a quick and certain cure use only Catarrhozone.

A Bishop in Douro

The Lakefield News says; On Sunday afternoon last two Englishmen from Peterborough, whilst driving through Douro, had the misfortune to upset their buggy, the horse also being thrown. In order to get the animal back onto its feet they proceeded to strip the harness off him. In taking the bridle off the horse suddenly rose to its feet and started across the country. The horse belonged to a prominent Peterborough livery stable, and at latest accounts is still at large.

Do you remember the little things that gave us so much pleasure when we were young? With what zest did we sit down to the table after our play was over and eat the mush and milk our mother put before us. But as we get older it takes more to give us pleasure. Mush and milk no longer tastes good to us, and our digestion may be impaired. The best advice we can give to such a person is to tone up the stomach with Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It is nature's most valuable and health-giving agent—made without the use of alcohol. It contains roots, herbs and barks, and is the concentration of nature's vitality as found in the fields and woods. This remedy has a history which speaks well for it because it was given to the public by Dr. R. V. Pierce, founder of the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, at Buffalo, N. Y., nearly druggists in ever increasing quantities. Some medicines, tonics or compounds, enjoy a large sale for a few years, then disappear from the public attention, but Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has proved such a reliable blood remedy and tonic that it often enjoys the confidence of several generations in a family, and its increased sales year by year coming from the recommendations of those who have tried it, prove its lasting merit, so that every bottle bears the stamp of public approval. Every other blood-maker and tonic for the stomach that we know of contains alcohol, but Dr. Pierce guarantees that no alcohol is contained in his "Medical Discovery."

BRITAIN STANDS ACCUSED OF UNFRIENDLY ACTIVITY

Transmitting Intelligence of Rojestvensky's Whereabouts Stirs Russian Press---Is Admiral Togo Challenged?

St. Petersburg, April 17.—No further news beyond that contained in the foreign telegrams have been received regarding the squadron commanded by Vice-Admiral Rojestvensky, but the impression continues that he is steaming towards the Island of Formosa with the intention of giving battle, if Admiral Togo accepts the challenge.

Some of the papers, notably the Novoe Vremya, still manifest irritation at the activity of British warships in reporting the movements of the Russian squadron. The Novoe Vremya says the vessels of all nations are observing neutrality. "With the exception, of course, of Great Britain," taking particular exception to the fact that the British cruiser Iphigenia transmitted by wireless telegraphy the information that she had passed Admiral Rojestvensky's squadron 140 miles from Saigon, which was very important news to the Japanese, inasmuch as Rojestvensky had succeeded in slipping by the Japanese scouts.

"For a commercial ship to report such a fact upon arrival at a portis quite natural," says the Novoe Vremya, "but the news is then more or less old, and in the meantime the squadron might have changed its course; but for a man of war to send such information to a coast station by wireless telegraphy is unfriendly.

"However, this is not the firsttime the British have conveyed a valuable warning to their friends. During the Chino-Japanese war, in which Great Britain was on the side of China, a British cruiser at Weihaiwei warned the Chinese admiral by firing a salute upon the approach of the Japanese fleet, although at night it is not the custom to salute on that occasion."

Paris, April 16.—A despatch to the Temps from Saigon, French Cochin China, says Admiral Rojestvensky did not sight any Japanese scouts during his entrance into the China Sea.

It is expected that the Russian squadron will re-provision off the coast of Annam.

Port Said, April 17.—Information has reached here to the effect that a fifth division of the Russian second Pacific squadron, under the command of Vice-Admiral Voessarago, and composed of the battleships Imperator, Alexander II., Slava and Paul I., the armored cruiser Pamyat Azova and the second-class cruiser Admiral Kornikoff will traverse the Suez Canal in July or August.

"DEATH OR VICTORY"

Paris, April 16.—Gaston Dru telegraphs from St. Petersburg to the Echo de Paris that Admiral Rojestvensky's last telegram before leaving Nossi Be was singularly laconic and eloquent. He wires:

"I WILL NOT TELEGRAPH AGAIN BEFORE BATTLE. IF I AM BEATEN YOU WILL LEARN IT FROM TOGO. IF I DEFEAT HIM I WILL ANNOUNCE IT TO YOU."

M. Dru adds that the telegram was accepted as meaning that the Russian Admiral seeks victory or death.

MR. SMIFF'S OPINION

Thinks Church and State is bad Combination

Our esteemed contemporary, the Bobcaygeon Independent, says: This young country cannot afford to have any more trouble over this interference of ecclesiasticism in state affairs. Such action should be taken throughout the country as will squelch it out for all time. The combination of church and state is one that the old countries, including France, have decided to abolish. It is one, that in this country, should not be permitted to extend an inch further than it has already got foothold, even if no other means can be found than the breaking of confederation, and annexation to the States. Many years ago warning was given in these columns, that if ever a break were made in confederation the west would lead the way. Papal abiegates and Bishop Langevin may think their selfish interests are of more consequence to them than the interests of the nation. Premiers may think the success of their parties is of greater importance to them today than the concerns of the future, but sooner or later the people will be aroused and then the reckoning will be short and decisive. It may be that the exposure of the unseen hand will lead to an eradication of the schemers without the necessity of drastic measures. It is to be hoped for the peace of the country that it may.

AN IMPORTANT DECISION

Marconi Company Wins an Important Suit.

New York, April 12. — The United States Circuit Court has handed down its decision in the case of the Marconi Wireless Telegraph Company of America vs. the DeForest Wireless Telegraph Company, and it is unqualifiedly in favor of the Marconi Company.

In the course of his decision, Judge Townsend reviews the history of wireless telegraphy, including reference to the experiments of all the leading scientists who have devoted their attention to the subject. He characterizes the attempts of all the other scientists as unsuccessful, and says: "It would seem, therefore, to be a sufficient answer to the attempts to belittle Marconi's great invention that, with the whole scientific world awakened by the disclosures of Hertz in 1887 to the new and undeveloped possibilities of electric waves, nine years elapsed without a single practical or commercially successful result, and that Marconi was the first to describe and the first to achieve the transmission of definite intelligible signals by means of these Hertzian waves. Other inventors, venturing forth on the sea of electrical movement, met the rising tide of the Hertzian waves and allowed them to roll by without appreciating that this new current was destined to carry onward the freight and traffic of the world's commerce. Marconi, daring to hoist his sail and explore the unknown current, first disclosed the new highway."

Judge Townsend holds that the important claims covering the use of elevated conductors and grounded connections, in combination with the imperfect electrical contact or receiving device, were good and valid law. Elevated conductors and grounded connections are essential to wireless telegraphy and are used by all practical systems today. The honorable judge says: "As Marconi confessedly disclosed in his patent the first successfully operating commercial apparatus and developed it,—the defendant should not be permitted to escape infringement by claiming that Marconi, in describing his conductor as insulated, was necessarily confined to a form in which the insulation was absolute at both ends. But whatever interpretation of the term 'insulated' be adopted, the decision of the question of infringement rests upon the fact that the Marconi invention in suit is a primary invention and, as such, is entitled to a broader range of equivalents, so as to prevent the appropriation of the substance of the invention by a mere change in form of accomplishing a mere change in degree.'

"Therefore," Judge Townsend held, "the DeForest system was an infringement of claims 1 and 2 of the suit as brought, and an injunction is issued against the DeForest Company, restraining it from the further use of this great invention, and also an accounting, and the complainant to recover one-half of its costs."

Judge Townsend further points out, step by step, the progress of Marconi's achievement and its uninterrupted tangible progress.

Signor Marconi expresses himself as entirely satisfied with the decision, because elevated conductors, against the use of which all other systems are enjoined, are essential for practical wireless telegraphy.

Betts, Betts, Sheffield & Betts, the eminent New York attorneys and specialists in patent litigation, give it as their opinion that the decision is a sweeping victory for the Marconi system and that it places the Marconi Company in command of the wireless less field in the United States.

DRUG HABITS

Easily Formed But Hard To Break.

A man down in old Virginia tells of his experience which points a simple and effective way out. He says:

"About 15 years ago my wife, through using coffee and laudanum for relief of neuralgia, became addicted to the habits, continuing until she had about destroyed stomach, nerves, and mind. This brought on periods of dementia lasting from one to two weeks, growing steadily worse until the 3rd of August last year our family physician called in consultation another doctor, who had been Resident Physician at our State Insane Asylum.

"They decided the only hope was to place her in a sanitarium, otherwise she would be hopelessly insane before the year was out. On investigation we found the charges for such a patient beyond our means so it was necessary to face the worst at home.

"Upon the advice of a friend she stopped the use of coffee, of which she was very fond, and began the use of Postum Food Coffee as a remedy for the constipation which accompanied the attacks. The result was more than we expected. It not only relieved the constipation greatly but aided her to break the laudanum habit for when she found herself possessed of the desire to 'take something' a cup of strong Postum would allay the desire and soothe and refresh her.

"This led to the regular use of Postum, and Grape-Nuts that also seemed to nourish and strengthen the overwrought nerves, she steadily got better and better and today, instead of being in the insane asylum she is still with us in her own home, sounder in mind and body than for several years past. The attacks of dementia have steadily grown milder and less frequent until now we have reason to believe that she will soon be fully restored—sound in mind and body.

"I know this has been accomplished entirely by the aid of Postum and Grape-Nuts, for not since that consultation over a year ago has she taken a particle of medicine of any sort.

"In writing this my greatest desire is to bring the use of your products to the notice of some other unfortunate trembling upon the brink of that most terrible of all calamities, insanity, and I thoroughly believe and know that leaving off coffee and other drugs and taking good food and drink is the surest means by which it can be averted. I give the name of our family physician, also the consulting physician, who can vouch for the truth of what I have written. You are at liberty to furnish name and address to anyone really interested." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

THE MISSIONARY CONVENTION

Public Meeting to be Addressed by a Japanese

The 29th annual meeting of the Women's Foreign Missionary Society of the Presbyterian church in Canada, Western Division, will be held in St. Paul's church, Peterborough, on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, May 2nd, 3rd and 4th. A public meeting will be held on Wednesday evening, 3rd prox., when Rev. Sidney L. Gulick, of Japan, will speak on the subject; "Japan's new attitude towards Christianity." About 300 delegates will be present.

Any friends who would like to entertain one or more of these delegates can hand their names and post office address to Miss Alice Hall, Secretary of arrangements, or to Miss Martha Dickson, Secretary of the Billiting Committee, as early a date as possible.

A DISTRACTED WIFE

A Hamilton Lady Disturbed by the Recent Alleged Attempted Murder

As noted in this journal a few days ago, there was a rumor published in the local press, and reprinted in a Toronto paper, that a man had been found tied and drugged on the C.P.R. bridge here. We noted, at the time of publication that The Times could find no real justification for the sensational report, and that the police did not give it much credence. Whether true or foundationless, a lady in Hamilton, who saw the report in a newspaper, is "almost distracted" over the account, having evidently seen or appeared to recognise some likiness between the man discribed and her husband, who is missing. She has through the medium of a friend, written to the Chief of Police been asking for full particulars. The Chief could see nothing to identify the so said drugged man with the party wanted in Hamilton; however he has answered the letters.

63 PER CENT. INCREASE

Startling Increase in Telephone Service Here in Three Years.

The Bell telephone agent in Peterborough is a hustler and the people recognize it. In April, 1903, there were 467 phones in use in this town, now there are 616 or an increase of about 63 per cent. in three years.

Arrangements have been finally completed whereby the Bell system will be extended, in the immediate future to Indian River. The tour of inspection taken by Mr. Doan, local agent of the Bell Company, over the proposed route from here to Indian River, has resulted in the arrangements, as contemplated, and as noted in this journal before, being made, whereby the company has acquired right of way over the G.N.W. poles. The Ennismore extension is somewhat hanging fire owing to the farmers who would greatly benefit by the service, not complying with the very reasonable offers made by the company. Matters may however yet be adjusted.

PETERBOROUGH IN '37.

An Old Settler in This Neighborhood Recalls Bygone Times

At 710 Water - street resides a gentleman who remembers when Peterborough consisted of one or two log houses. Mr. W. H. Long, is staying with his son, Mr. W. J. Long, who is employed at the Ontario Canoe Company, and is one of the few original settlers in this neighborhood now alive. He was born 80 years ago in the County of West Meath, Ireland, and came here in 1837, having lived for a short time in Sidney near Belleville, and has resided in this neighborhood ever since. When he came to settle here, George street consisted of two or three small wooden shops, a tavern and blacksmith shop. His mode of conveyance, when coming to Peterborough, was oxen power; Mr. Long had difficulty in those old days to get his oxen shod, having to drive them to Cobourg for this purpose. Dr. McNabb was in charge of the medical end of business affairs then.

Mr. Long knew several of the original Irish immigrants brought here by Peter Robinson, and a strong, sturdy lot of men they were. He at one time was in charge of a farm belonging to the late Mr. Sam Dickson in Cavan. Mr. Long married Miss Clark, of Brighton, 56 years ago, and the old gentleman only a few weeks ago lost his partner and he moved to this town to live. Mr. Long tells how it was not an unusual practice, owing to the lack of proficient carpenters, for married folk to use the hewed out wooden sap trough for cradle purposes. He had for some time the contract of watering the town streets, and used to draw the water from the Central creek by horse power; his whole district for water was from Charlotte street at the creek, along George to Hunter and down Water streets to the market. Owing to the lack of transportation facilities and proper roads, the people used to carry bags of grain, on their backs, seven miles to the only grist mill, and then pack back the flour, by the same mode of carriage. He has been a life long Reformer until Sir Wilfrid Laurier ascended the quarter deck of the Ship of State, and dictated the policies of Canada; but since that time has changed his politics. In speaking of politics Mr. Long says that in his early life Peterborough people had to go to Cobourg to vote. The old gentleman is in a wonderful state of preservation, both mentally and physically, considering his age.

NEW TAX COLLECTOR.

New Duties Thrust Upon the Local Police Force.

The Police Office, Saturday night was thronged by people who pay poll tax. This was to pay the poll tax, $1.05, for the year 1904. In default of paying this by the 15th of April, summonses would be issued for any delinquents, who would then be brought before his Worship, who, in turn, would fine them and add the costs in the case. The Chief had to draw heavily on his stock of good nature and turn Tax Collector in addition to several other duties incumbent on him. Some of them even wanted him to accept their water rates, so as to save the discount.

Police Court OFFICIALS

Chief of Police, G.I. Hazel
Magistrate, D.W. Dumble

The case in which Geo. May was charged with using grossly insulting language to the wife of a local restaurant keeper's wife, was enlarged until to-morrow. The lady offered, as noted before, to withdraw the charge, but complaintant would have to pay the costs. It is now up to the complainant to put up the costs or proceed with the trial or fix it up with May so that he pays the costs of the case. Of course every enlargement of this case is adding expense that will have to be paid by one of them, so it is advisable that a settlement be attained soon as possible.

An old gentleman in town owns a dog. The dog is a cross between mastiff and St. Bernard, and big as a politician's promises, but not so hollow. Several people have complained to the Chief that this dog has a partiality for cats, in fact they charge that it killed both poor tabby and the night-warbling Thomas a few days ago. The old gentleman brought his dog into the police station Saturday morning to show the Chief a muzzle he had had constructed and placed on his dog's biting apparatus to see if this compromise would save the dog's life and reputation. The old gentleman departed with his canine elephant and a good generous smile.

Two young men, one dressed in a brown frock coat, and both in a most decided smell of unlaundried garments, entered the station on Saturday, and in mutilated English, asked the Chief if they might remain on a lot to the north of Macdonnell street until Monday, as their wagon was broken down and they could not emigrate sooner. It appears that a party of Bulgarians have camped on a vacant lot belonging to Mr. T. A. S. Hay, at first by his permission. On Saturday Mr. Hay wrote the Chief asking that the band be moved on as the neighbors were complaining. Hence the visit of these loud smelling gentlemen to the station. In his imperfect English, he of the bright red coat, assured the Chief that they are Christians and the best of men, accompanying his assertions by vehement crossings and genuflections. A compromise was effected with Mr. Hay by which he allowed the wandering minstrels from Sofia to remain until 10 o'clock Monday morning.

On Saturday afternoon His Worship filled the seat of justice, at a special meeting of the Court. A married man was haled before him to answer a charge of misconduct and bad treatment of his wife. The man is one of that very numerous class of drinking men who, because when treating, and spending the money his family needs on a lot of langers on, are naturally used well, and to their faces assured they are fine fellows, by those playing him for a "sucker" (pardon the European expression of speech); but who will go to their families and make home and hell synonymous. His wife, against the advice of neighbors who know the truth of affairs, has until now refused to take action; but the limit has been passed. The case was enlarged until Monday.

PREMISES SECURED

The Novel-ti Company Are Now Committed to Locating Here.

As noted in a former issue, negotiations have been in progress, with a view to obtaining a site for the new Novel-ti Company, Limited. This concern has now definitely secured a location on Water street, between Hunter and Simcoe street opposite the public library, the large hall and adjoining apartments formerly occupied by the Maccabees, and will commence alterations in the building at once. The company is capitalized at $40,000 and will employ about fifty hands. As noted before they will manufacture neckties and similar neck-wear.

Mr. H. G. Brown, who has been the designer with Tooke Bros., Limited, for the past six years, and who is one of the most talented designers in America, will have this part of the business. The concern will be under the management of Mr. G. F. Atwood, who has had a wide experience in all branches of the business.

The company will sell only to the trade and their representatives will cover Canada from the Atlantic to the Pacific.

PATRONISE HOME INDUSTRY

Frustrate Attempt Made to Swamp a Peterborough Industry.

As noted in a former issue of this journal, the Brewers' Association are attempting to coerce the Calcutt Brewing and Malting Company into joining the combine or, in default of their complying with this demand, to undersell them so that they would have to retire from the arena of legitimate competition. On Saturday an emissary of the combine was working this town in their interests. He offered the hotel keepers ale at $10 a bbd., with six months time in which to pay for it, whilst the usual terms on which ale is sold is $13 a bbd. and for cash. Such of the hotel keepers, as he called on, turned him and his proposition down flat, one Simcoe street hotel man who has been for many years in the business said he would not take the combine's ale if they supplied it free, so long as this attempt was made to wipe out a Peterborough industry.

It is to be hoped that the hotelmen of Peterborough will be a unit in opposing this unfair attempt to get control of the Peterborough market, so that, when their sinister purpose might be attained, the combine could, and certainly would, make them put up enough, to recoup the ale barons for their temporary loss. The whole public of Peterborough should demand Peterborough made products when good goods are sold at fair living prices.

A GOOD SHOWING

Annual Meeting of Royal-Victoria Life Insurance Company Great Satisfactory Report.

At the 27th annual meeting of the Royal Victoria Life Insurance Company, held at the Company's Head Office, Place D'Armes, Montreal, March 20th, the directors and shareholders, had good cause for self congratulation. The Financial Report for the year was most reassuring to all concerned, both share and policy holders. The assets of the company were shown to be of a most desireable character being $208 488.70 deposits with the Dominion Government, the balance, making a grand total of $1,244,436.76, being loans on first-class securities, cash, and uncalled capital guaranteed. The receipts for the year were $150,091.40, mainly from premium, with a substantial amount of interest.

The results for last year show an all round increase over the corresponding sources of revenue in 1904. In 1903 the annual increase of the company was $29,673.78, which compared with that of last year, $150,091.40 shows that progressive, though Conservative policy characterizes the history of the Royal Victoria Life Insurance Company. Mr. Jas. Crotlern one of Montreal's strongest business men, was unanimously re-elected President. Other leading officials, including Mr. David Burke, as General Manager, were also unanimously re-elected to their various position of trust; This shows conclusively the enthusiastic reliance placed in the judgement of these gentlemen, by the shareholders. The Annual Statement, as shown in detail in another column, is a most encouraging proof of the prosperity of this company.

A DISTINGUISHED LECTURER

Ashmead Bartlett, Who Will Address Peterborough Audience on Wednesday Evening.

Mr. Ellis Ashmead Bartlett, the great war correspondent of the London Times, who is to deliver an illustrated lecture on the "Siege and Fall of Port Arthur," is a son of Sir Ellis Ashmead Bartlett, civil lord of the admiralty under Lord Salisbury's first administration, being by profession a barrister, but his love for a life of adventure and activity has led him to seek the field of battle. His experience as a war correspondent has been considerable, being attached to the Turkish headquarters during the Turko-Grecian war and also having been servee in South Africa. He left England at the outbreak of the present war and was constantly with the Japanese forces until the surrender of Port Arthur.

The Kingston Whig says of Mr Bartlett;—

"An audience of over seven hundred people greeted Ellis Ashmead Bartlett in his illustrated lecture at the Grand Opera House last evening. The lecturer was special war correspondent of the London Times at Port Arthur during the siege and capitulation of that fortress and his illustrations and sketch of the campaign brought the different scenes vividly before the minds of his hearers.

His style as a lecturer is distinguished by a vast fund of information with perfect clearness of expression and the instructive portion of his address was so cleverely interpolated with anecdotes and humorous occurrences of the campaign that his audience was never wearied. His impressions and opinions of the many and varied problems which have been open to discussion throughout the campaign were of more than usual interest, coming as they did from one who has seen much of the struggle and is thus able to speak with a great degree of certainty. At the close of the lecture, Mr. Bartlett was given a hearty ovation."

IN A STATE OF SIEGE

Pescadores Islands Will be Scene of Naval Fight

Tokio, April 17.—It is officially announced that a state of siege, beginning yesterday, has been declared, covering the harbor limits and vicinity of Makung, a port in Peng-Hu Island, between Formosa and China, and also the Pescadores Islands, which virtually form part of the same group as Peng-Hu.

C.G.E. CO. ENLARGEMENT

This Mammoth Factory to be Increased in Capacity.

It is safe to say that in the near future, the large establishment of the Canadian General Electric Company, will be greatly enlarged, if not doubled. This has not yet been made officially, but it is learned from a semi-official source that in the near future some extensive additions to the already immense works of the company will be made.

One of the first things which will be done will be the duplicating of the new building erected last year to the north end of the company's property.

For some time the Company has been cramped for space in their manufacturing department and the increase of business has been so great that it has become absolutely necessary to make these extensions.

A COMPLAINT

J. J. Turner & Sons Complain About Purchase of Fire Hose.

(To the Editor of The Times.)

Dear Sir,—We will thank you to publish the following statement in your widely circulated paper, we wish to show to taxpayers of the town the kind of men they elected to look after the affairs of this corporation. We saw by the papers that it was the intention of the Corporation to buy fire hose, rubber coats and rubber boots. We immediately wrote to the Chairman of the Fire, Light and Water Committee, Ald. Johnston, which committee is composed of Messrs. Johnston, Adam Hall, Tovey, McIntyre and Crowe, and asked him not to go out of town to buy these goods, as we could supply them at the same price as they could be bought in Toronto by the Corporation. Ald. Johnston came to see us and he said he would not go out of town to buy anything that he could get in town and as cheap. We informed Ald. Johnston that we could supply the goods at the same price as the Corporation could buy them in Toronto, and if the Corporation wished we would have the goods shipped direct from the factory to them. Alderman Johnston asked us to put in a tender and send it to him, which we did and we did not hear any more about the matter, until we saw the account in the papers that the goods had been bought. We waited for some time to see if Ald. Johnston could or would explain his action in the matter after promising us that he would not go out of town to buy the goods, but as he did not call upon us, we wrote to him and asked him to call and see us, when we informed him that we would wait one week for him to call and explain, as we did not want to say or do anything that would be unfair, but the week has expired and he had not the courage to call and face us after the promise he made and broke. However, Ald. Johnston and Chief Rutherford went to Toronto to buy the goods that could have been bought through any merchant here or ourselves, and the taxpayers have to pay $8.90 more for the goods than they could have been bought in Peterborough, and also have to pay $10.45 for expenses for the little excursion of Ald. Johnston and Chief Rutherford to Toronto, making a total of $19.35 that the taxpayers are called upon to pay through the fine judgment of Ald. Johnston, and the fine judgment of the Fire, Water and Light Committee and also the members of the Council that instructed this committee to go out of town to buy the goods. If this order had been left with one of our merchants in town, that merchant would have got the cash discounts, which the Corporation does not get. We think it is a very bad example for our Corporation to go out of town to buy goods and also to send two men to do what any one ordinary man could do, but then two is company, and the taxpayers were paying for it.

We have supplied several other corporations with firemen's supplies, but it seems we could not supply our own Corporation and the town we are paying taxes in. Taxpayers, Alderman Johnston is the man that is asking you to vote twenty-five thousand dollars for a new fire hall. Probably Ald. Johnston will want to get the plans of this fire hall made in Toronto, or perhaps bring the materials or men from Toronto to build it. Any taxpayers wishing to see our tender for the goods and also the invoice for the goods bought from the Gutta Percha and Rubber Company, and also the bill for expense for the nice trip to Toronto, can see them by calling upon our Town Clerk or Town Treasurer.

Thanking you, Mr. Editor for your valuable space, we remain,

Respectfully yours,

J. J. TURNER & SONS.

HOLTS' EDUCATED PARROTS

HIS LINGUISTIC BIRDS TALK SEVERAL LANGUAGES

Has Established a Farm Near Victor and Hope to Accumulate a Fortune --Like Actors, They Carry on a Conversation.

Vancouver, B.C., April 17.—The latest Pacific coast enterprise is a parrot farm, which is enabling its founder, Martin Holts, to accumulate a fortune. Holts is an American. Travelers from Mexico state that he established his unique farm near Victoria. While running as a conductor on the old Monterey & Mexican Gulf Railway, now a part of the Mexican Central system, Holts had daily to pass through the heart of the parrot country. He collected many birds and taught them to talk English. He made a good thing "on the side" by selling the birds to tourists.

The thought then came to Holts that he could make more money by retiring from the railway and devoting his whole time to raising parrots. He followed this plan and bought a large tract of forest near Victoria, which teemed with wild parrots. He fitted up a ranch in a remarkable way. Wire netting was placed around and over the trees and the birds were confined therein. Then he started to teach them to talk. He has a pretty good knowledge of Spanish, French and German as well as English, and some of his parrots are good linguists.

As a general rule, however, he contented himself with teaching each bird only one language. He divided his flock of several thousand birds into four classes, one for each language. He then took a few birds and instructed them. These educated birds he placed among the others and they became teachers. The parrots quickly picked up from the speaking birds the words that Holts had impressed upon them. The American believes that the standard of intelligence of parrots can be greatly increased by proper attention in breeding them. In his collection of parrots, which now numbers several thousand, he says he has several which are seemingly possessed of reasoning powers. He even thinks he will be able to get them to carry on conversation with each other. He has been able to make some of them learn parts like actors, and carry on a conversation of thirty minutes' duration.

GENIUS RECOGNIZED.

Toronto Appreciates the Talent of Miss Alice Roger of Peterborough.

With the pride that Peterborough always takes in the success of her sons and daughters abroad, it is satisfactory to see that Toronto, as well as Peterborough recognizes the acknowledged ability of Miss Alice Roger of the Peterborough Conservatory of Music. The Toronto Evening News, adverting to a recital held in Toronto last Friday, says;

"Miss Alice H. Roger gave evidence last night at the King Edward that she is a pianist of talent. She played a recital of rather exacting character, and showed not only a well-developed technique, but a gift of poetic imagination that stood her in good stead in her readings. Greig's Tone Picture, op. 3, No. 4, a composition, although brief, is weaving many charms was played in excellent taste, while her interpretation of Arensky's Caprice op. 43. No. 6 showed that she had fully appreciated the bright and merry humor of the composition. Chopin-Liszt's "Maiden's Wish," Tschaikowsky's "Humoresque," Beethoven's "Rondo in G major" and preludes by Chopin and Chaminade were also included in the program. It is regrettable that Miss Roger did not give an opportunity to judge of the breadth of her art by playing one of the classic sonatas, but nevertheless the recital was interesting. Miss Evelyn Street, violinist, and Mr. Harold Jarvis, tenor, assisted. Mr. Jarvis sang, among other numbers, a setting by Miss Roger of the well-known poem, "Du bist wie eine blume."

MISFORTUNES OF RUSSIA

Naval Victory in the Far East Lies its Only Hope

St. Petersburg, April 16. — Count Okuma's recent speech, in which he indicated that Japan would demand the cession of Vladivostock and an indemnity of two milliard rubles"($1,030,000,000) reveals to Russia that unless the unexpected happens it will not get out of this war without sacrificing all that it recently grasped in the far east. To add to the bitterness of this knowledge comes England's resolution to exclude the Russian language from its schools, the demand made by the Poles and the Jews for their rights, the revolt in Caucasia, the fact that the Powers are settling Macedonian affairs without consulting Russia, and the increasing agrarian troubles. All this is teaching the Czar that there is little mercy for a defeated nation.

Rojestvensky's moves are being watched with breathless expectation. The fate of the country is bound to the success or non-success of the fleet. Rojestvensky is the national hero. It is hoped that he will be able to avoid battle until he has been reinforced by Admiral Niebogatoff's ships. Russian prestige hangs on the issue of the naval struggle. Interior reforms also depend on it. The Novoe Vremya, the organ of Bureaucracy, says, "Our great Admiral's feat has already gained for us the esteem of the world. A naval victory would put an end to all this plotting and disturbance in the interior, while it would also rob our rival in the east of all the fruits of his past victories.

LACROSSE.

Mr. Peter Haffey, president of the Chippewa Lacrosse Club, said last night; "We are not opposed to the application of the Toronto Lacrosse Club for admission to the senior C.L.A. series. On the contrary, we would welcome it. The opposition to the Toronton will come from other quarters than ours, if there is any opposition at all. As regards to our being a one-man club, we can prove that our membership is larger than any other senior C.L.A. club to-day."—Toronto Star.

PETERBOROUGH, APRIL 17 1905

DEFENSE OF INDIA

One who has held high office in India writes in the North American Review for April a stirring article on the problem of India's defense, under the head of "The Call of Lord Kitchener." This problem was recently under anxious consideration, as the result of which Lord Kitchener perfected a plan of operations against the contingency more or less remotely apprehended. The choice lay between the policy of mounting guard, so to speak, on the frontier of India, and that of making preparations for meeting Russia the moment she should violate the northern frontier of Afghanistan, and fighting it out on the territory of the Amir. The latter course was decided on as being the wiser and in the long run the more economical; and "Anglo-Indian," as the writer signs himself, discusses the measures which must be taken to render it practicable. As to the army and the sources from which it might be recruited, "Anglo-Indian" says:

"If we include the Imperial Service troops and the Volunteers—a small force under 30,000 men—Lord Kitchener has an army of 203,000 Indians and over 74,000 British regulars. He can increase his Indian troops if he can find the money and if he can simultaneously add to his British force—for the most elementary principle of our Indian administration is that, both in peace and in war, the British soldier should be close to the Indian sepoy, and that the sepoys should not be outnumber the soldiers by more than two to one. Another axiom of the Indian military system is that the artillery should—with the exception of a few mountain batteries—be British. Both these limitations cramp the power of expansion; but, civilized as India is becoming, Lord Kitchener still has good recruiting-grounds, and the Sikhs, Ghiorkas, Pathans, Punjabi Mohammedans, and Dicras, properly trained and well led, will hold their own with any fighting-men in the world. Lord Kitchener has also splendid material for irregular cavalry in the warrior caste of Rajputana, and an endless supply of irregular infantry as he draws near the country of the frontier. But he wants officers. It would not be over the mark to say that for his existing army, and for irregular forces, which might be usefully employed, if India had to be defended against a foreign army, more than one thousand officers in addition to the present strength would be required. They must know the languages and the customs of the Indian races, and they cannot be improvised at a moment's notice."

FREAK LEGISLATION

State Legislatures across the border have a unique reputation for "freak legislation." But thus far the Provincial Legislatures of Canada have pretty well escaped this mark of provincialism. Our local law-makers seem usually to have a sense of responsibility and an appreciation of the proper and possible scope of law.

But there is a bill before the Quebec Legislature just now which would read better under a Kansas date line. It proposes to enact that "whenever it shall be established to the satisfaction of the Lieutenant-Governor-in-Council that a majority of the persons employed in the province at any trade or occupation whatever are in favor of the maximum working hours per day or week in such trade or occupation being fixed or changed, the Lieutenant-Governor may, by Order-in-Council, proclaim the maximum number or working hours per day or week for such trade or occupation." Violations of this proclamation shall be punishable by fine of fifty dollars, or, failing its payment, imprisonment for three months.

That is, for example, if a majority of the railway employes in Quebec should come to the conclusion that they would like to work no more than five hours a day for, say, five days a week, they would only have to "satisfy" the Lieutenant-Governor-in-Council that they held this opinion, when the Government could "proclaim" these absurd hours and the railways would have to observe them or go out of business. In sober second thought surely no one would propose to put such tremendous powers in the hands of any Government; and yet this precious bill already has its first and second reading inscribed on its back.

If such a measure is practicable at all, the workingmen then have reason to complian that if it does not go far enough. If a majority of the persons engaged in any occupation can fix the profitable working hours, they can as easily fix the pay they are to get for them; and consequently this bill should have another clause enacting that when a majority of the persons engaged in any trade or occupation shall favor an increase in wages, it shall be within the power of the Lieutenant-Governor-in-Council to "proclaim" that rate of wages, and send any stubborn employers who are unable to pay them to gaol. That would bring in the millenium with a rush; and why should we be without the millenium when a little clause in a little bill will get it for us?

WORRYING THE WORKERS

Toronto is soon to lose another of its large factories, which is being driven or enticed to Montreal by the less onerous system of commercial taxation in that city. Discussing the causes of removal, the president, Mr. H. O. Warren, complained of the worriment and discomfort which the city of Toronto keeps upon its manufacturers. What he says on this point may have application in some other centres of industry:

"My firm has never asked for anything from the city. All we want is peace and quietness and a cessation of this badgering that we are subjected to by the authorities, despite the fact that we pay out a quarter of a million every year in Toronto in salaries.

"By the new assessment act we have been practically forced to become assessors. We are required to supply the assessment details for all of our employes at ten days' notice, and when one has men working on piece work and day work he cannot begin to give the required facts.

"Then there is the smoke bylaw. We are required to do an impossible thing—to consume smoke—and have to go to immense expense attempting what everybody knows is impossible. We can lessen it, and we try to, but the authorities are not content to stop at that. They keep on worrying us. On the other hand the trains come in and out, leaving infinitely more soot and smoke and grime than we do, and the city does not touch them."

There is much reason in the complaint of this captain of industry, provided the facts are as he states them. If a city wants factories it must not sniffle at the smoking chimney, nor be over exacting in laying petty obligations on busy men. You cannot have a factory town in full flourish and a villa town at the same time. Rather wear two or three collars a day with factory soot and smoke flying about—since factory and soot are inseparable—than a clear air in a city or town where factories flee from or cannot be induced to locate.

Performance Not Promises

There is all the difference in the world between expectation and realization. There is even a greater difference between promise and performance. In the former case you form your own opinion, and if it is in error, you have none but yourself to blame. In the latter case, you take some one's word or promise for what is to be done, and you place your confidence in them and their judgment. Failure in such a case is a double disappointment, for you have not reaped an expected reward, and your faith in your adviser is shaken.

The history of the wireless telegraph companies reveals that they fall in two classes—THOSE THAT PROMISE and THOSE THAT PERFORM.

The Marconi Companies have never foretold what they are GOING TO DO, but have steadfastly GONE ABOUT THEIR WORK, and when they had ACCOMPLISHED SOMETHING, have made a simple announcement of the fact and have gone on with the next step. Had you rather HEAR PROMISES OF FUTURE SUCCESS or SEE TANGIBLE RESULTS from day to day? MARCONI and his associates have AVOIDED PROMISES and have never made statements which did more than ANNOUNCE his latest ACHIEVEMENT. The performances have succeeded each other with such rapidity that hardly a week passes without some important advance being heralded. THE

(Tel. Co. of Canada Ltd.)

is governed by the same conservatism as the American and English Marconi Companies. It has not made futile PROMISES OF WHAT IT WAS GOING TO DO. IT WAS TOO BUSY IN DOING THINGS. It DOES ITS WORK and never even announces one ACCOMPLISHMENT until it is well on its way to the next ATTAINMENT. DOES NOT SUCH A POLICY APPEAL TO THE CONSERVATIVE INVESTOR? Few details of the tremendous progress made in connection with the installation of the highly successful stations along the Gulf of St. Lawrence were made public until the Commander of the Canadian Marine Service gave his report to the Deputy Commissioner of Fisheries late in the fall. The report showed that the perfect working of each station had been known since midsummer.

The Canadian Company has already completed a net work at successful stations along the St. Lawrence Gulf and there are on Canadian soil thirteen stations already in operation. The Company has already been authorized to build four more stations as promised, to be put in during the coming summer. The transatlantic station at Cape Breton is nearly finished on its new site. The apparatus for installation at that point is constructed and on its way to Cape Breton, where Mr. Marconi is on hand to personally oversee the installation and the successful opening of this great service. These are not promises—they are performances. Compare what Marconi has DONE with what others PROMISE TO DO. Ask yourself a simple question: "If they can do so, why don't they? The answer suggests itself. Can you not foresee the great future this Company has before it? Do you not wish to become a sharer in the success which is at its door? You can do so by becoming a stockholder in the Company. You can purchase any amount of stock from one share to two hundred shares at $5 per share. The time to invest is now, before the stock undergoes its certain rise.

FORTUNES ARE BEING MADE IN KANSAS OIL

Here's a fortune for you. Not 10% but 100% and no risk of loss. Giant of the Oil Fields.

The Midland Oil and Gas Company

has over 180 acres of oil land and has put down 10 wells, so the land is proved up. An adjoining additional 80 was secured yesterday, making over 260 acres all in the proven belt. Just read this:

The U. S. report on the oil industry places the average daily production of Pennsylvania wells at only one-half a barrel each per day. The Midland wells are pumping

Sixty Barrels a Day Each.

The pumping plant has just been started and this is the surprising result. Nothing like it in the world. The officers and directors of this company are bank men and do not believe in debts, so the company is free from debt. They have nearly $20,000 in cash and bills receivable in the treasury and everything paid for—property, wells, pumping plant, oil tanks, well cleaning machine and everything connected with the company. Have two drilling rigs working night and day sinking wells. Have abundance of gas, which runs the drills and pumping plant, so it only costs about $5.00 a day to produce and market the oil.

The Company has about 33 per cent of its stock in the treasury as a reserve.

For a short time the Company will sell a little more of its stock at only

7½ CTS. A SHARE

From the Kansas City Journal, Feb. 26, 1905.

There is perhaps no people in the same amount of territory in the world who have increased in wealth so rapidly. Everybody is prosperous. Many once poor and hard working families have become immensely wealthy.

Hudge Hale, an old Frisco conductor, has become a millionaire off of oil. He got in the game early. Now he has money as well as oil and gas to burn.

Fred Hetrick, a farmer living near Chanute, had a hard time for years making both ends meet. Life was a hard proposition with him. His royalties now reach $1,000 a month and he is living on easy street.

Joe Heim, of the Kansas City brewery, took a flyer in oil leases. He first put in $500 and refused $12,000 for his investment. Later he put in a lot more money in gas and oil lands and is now figuring high.

George K. Work, the Chicago clothier, took some acres of land near Chanute for a debt a customer owed him. Work's partner refused to stand for the deal. So Work kept the land himself. He has since refused $50,000 for his holdings.

These are a few samples. Hundreds of farmers have become independently rich off their oil royalties, and hundreds of other men have made big money producing oil.

This Kansas oil bearing sand is like the Pennsylvania sand; wells will produce oil for fifty years.

Can give bank references, and dozens from people who have personally examined this great property.

A MENACE TO SHIPS

Terrible Winter Has Strewn Atlantic With Wrecks

New York, April 15. — Death is abroad on the North Atlantic these days, and it is a death more terrible than the elements can wreak. It comes without warning, striking as the assassin strikes—suddenly, and swiftly. It is the death that is dealt by the derelict.

This winter has made of the Western Ocean a vast graveyard. In years there have not been so many disasters as the records show for the past four months, and hardly a day arriving out from deep water but has a report to add of one or more derelicts seen or a spar standing upright in the water marking a submerged hulk lying there to take some unfortunate vessel to the bottom with her.

From the Bahamas to the coast of Newfoundland, along the American coast and far to the eastward the Atlantic is strewn with wreckage of every description. In the lanes of the great liners more than forty derelicts are lying, and it seems a miracle that the proud mail carriers have escaped unharmed.

The terrible danger to sea travelers which has been produced by the past winter has been brought to the attention of the Government at Washington, and the Navy Department has been instructed to take immediate steps to remove it. Acting under these instructions the collier Lebanon has been selected for the duty of derelict destroyer. She will be fitted out at the Brooklyn Navy Yard or at the Norfolk as rapidly as possible, and in another month should be at her important work.

War vessels have been assigned in years past for this service, the cruiser Atlanta or Newark one season and the San Francisco another. When they came upon the abandoned hulks they painted targets on their sides when possible and improved their marksmanship with six-inch guns. But existing conditions will not permit of such leisurely tactics. More businesslike methods must be adopted.

Gun-cotton will be the chief agent of destruction employed by the Lebanon. Where the hull is not submerged and fire can avail the torch will be applied, but where wet and water-logged timbers shall make explosives necessary gun-cotton will be used. Sea and weather permitting, it will be taken by gunners from the collier to the derelict and detonated by electricity. Under other circumstances spar torpedoes will have to be used. Work as hard as she will, the Lebanon, if she gets away in a month, will not be able to complete the work that is cut out for her much before next fall.

Most of the derelicts are vessels which belonged to the coastwise trade and the fisheries. The most dangerous wrecks are those laden with lumber. Their cargoes keep them afloat indefinitely, but it is when the water has soaked in thoroughly and overcome the buoyancy of the hull and its wooden contents, bringing them below the surface of the sea, that the derelict is in its deadliest phase.

Every obstruction and menace to navigation is noted by the United States Hydrographic Office as vessels report them, and their wanderings are traced until they are destroyed or pass in their own way from the ken of men and living ships. Each month the Government publishes a chart for the benefit of seafarers showing the position of derelicts when last reported, their previous positions, logs, stray spars, trees and every imaginable obstruction seen on the high seas which might injure a vessel. But with all this labor and care ships go out and never come back.

A RARE OPPORTUNITY

To obtain a gilt edge investment in a great gold mining enterprise, developing a rich mineral area in an undeveloped mineral empire in Northwestern Colorado

OFFERING OF 150,000 SHARES OF TREASURY STOCK OF THE

UNITED STATES GOLD CORPORATION

For the purpose of carrying out plans necessary to place the property on a dividend basis

The Board of Directors of the United States Gold Corporation estimate that the business of this company can be placed upon a paying and dividend basis, by the completion of the Klondyke tunnel a distance of 700 feet and by the construction of a modern concentration mill of not less than twenty five tons capacity per day on the property for the treatment of the great bodies of low grade ore, now awaiting treatment. To provide means for the execution of these plans, the Directors of this Company now offer for sale One Hundred and Fifty Thousand shares of Treasury Stock at the nominal price of 15 cents per share for cash.

For the information of investors the Company make the following statement of what a certificate of its stock represents.

Assets and Financial Condition of the United States Gold Corporation

Careful estimates made by the officers and scientific and practical mill men prove to the satisfaction of this company, that the proceeds from the present treasury stock offering will place the property on a paying basis and the further sale of treasury stock will be withdrawn from the market, leaving a treasury reserve fund of over 600,000 shares.

This great enterprise has passed the prospect stage and upon the completion of our tunnel about June 1st, 1905 the energies of the Company will be entirely devoted to production shipment and treatment of its vast tonnage or ore developed through the Klondyke tunnel estimated at 1000 tons per day.

The officers of this Company court rigid investigation by prospective investors of its properties and management.

Persons desiring stock should mail their application to the United States Gold Corporation at Boulder, Colorado, together with draft for amount of shares desired at 15c. per share, for which a certificate of stock will be issued and sent subscriber by return mail. Do not delay sending application as treasury stock will be taken off the market after this offering is subscribed.

Marconi Wins Patent Decision

The United States Circuit Court in a sweeping decision has declared that Marconi's patents prohibit others from using the vital and essential parts of all wireless telegraph systems, viz.: The elevated conductors with ground connections. Marconi says that Wireless Telegraphy is impossible without these essentials. Permanent injunction and judgment for an accounting and costs has issued against the defendant company under that decision.

Remember the record of the Bell Telephone, how all other telephonic inventions were declared infringements and were compelled to pay tribute to Bell and finally to surrender to Bell and be swallowed up by him.

History Repeats Itself

WHAT WIRELESS IS WHY IT WORKS

(This is the fourth and last chapter covering the very interesting subject of wireless telegraphy.)

Synopsis of Preceding Chapters—The first chapter showed that wireless telegraphy was made possible through Nature's gift of electricity in the air. It was only necessary for the inventive genius of man to control the direction of this force. The instruments which have been invented and perfected by Marconi and which made it possible to control this subtle power so that it does his bidding, are described. This is further explained by taking a specific message and following it through the various steps from the sender to the receiver.

CHAPTER IV.

In the preceding chapters, we have learned that wireless telegraphy is exceedingly simple in theory and practice, because it involves nothing but basic principles and natural forces in almost unaltered form.

If we were on the top of a ten-story building and wished to get some wall bricks down to the ground, we would not put it on our shoulder and carry it down, but would simply throw it over the edge of the roof and gravity would do the rest. It is likewise superfluous to use wires for the transmission of electric currents if nature has provided something which makes it possible to accomplish the same work without them. It requires no gift of prophecy to foresee that wires will be discarded just as printing presses worked by hand and sailing vessels for fast trips have been put aside.

Although Fulton gave us a steamboat which we now look upon as a very crude affair, and Howe constructed a cumbersome sewing machine, we cannot but be thankful for what they did. Suppose the ocean greyhound and the modern sewing machine had been perfected within a decade after their invention, it is impossible to imagine what other perfected and highly developed products would now be at our command. In the Marconi system the developments already parallel those of the steamship and sewing machine, which have required from fifty to one hundred years of mechanical experimenting. In other words, Marconi has given us a perfected wireless telegraph within less than ten years of the time when he became convinced that his theories were borne out by facts. It would be the height of absurdity to assume that he has attained the limit of possible development. One cannot but marvel that he should have accomplished so much in so short a time.

A realization that wireless telegraphy is based upon a simple, free-given force of Nature makes a deep study of the science immensely interesting. One cannot refrain from entering the realms of fancy and wondering what will become of the telephone and telegraph wires, the cables and the instruments which are adapted to their use. The future of shipping, of all forms of communication, and, in fact, of every detail of our daily life in times of peace and war may be forced to pass through a stage of complete change because of the simple discovery of the possibility of sending messages from point to point without any visible connection between them. We have at our command a newer, simpler and better means of applying electricity to the transmission of messages than we ever had before. There is nothing more deserving of your serious thought than this latest product of science—wireless telegraphy.

MARVELOUS CANADIAN EXPANSION

Few residents of Canada fully realize the tremendous expansion which their own country is enjoying. In all lines of industry there is progress, and the last three or four years have seen a commercial growth far beyond the predictions of leading Canadian authorities.

The last evidence of this growth is shown in connection with the railroads and steamships and their allied interests. The Grand Trunk system is to be extended into a transcontinental line, in order to meet the demands of the central and far west, and other transcontinental roads are projected. The records of carrying show a steady increase in volume. The exports and imports are increasing so that they now total over $100,000,000 per annum. The rate of interest is on a par with that of any nation in the world. The interior of the country is becoming more and more densely populated, and a vast tract of fertile soil is rapidly being brought under cultivation. The report of the C. P. R. records over 38,000 acres of land sold to settlers west of Winnipeg. The four leading railroads of Canada weekly return an increase of earnings over a similar period in any previous year. Growth and development are to be expected in any new country, but the Canadian record stands almost alone for the rapidity with which this important progress has been made.

All this has been accomplished

WITHOUT A CANADIAN CABLE

linking this country to a European point. This may seem unimportant, but WITH ONE REALIZES THAT OVER $3,000,000 PER YEAR IS SENT BY CANADIAN CITIZENS for cable messages, and, when it is further realized that this great expenditure passes into the receipt column of cable companies owned in the United States or Europe, the situation assumes a different aspect. Why should this great sum of money go as tribute to outsiders? OUGHT IT NOT TO REMAIN IN CANADA FOR REDISTRIBUTION in the country where it is expended and where it may be TURNED TO FURTHER PROFIT? It is surprising that this tremendous branch of industry is not served by a company owned and operated in Canada.

The Marconi Wireless Telegraph Co. of Canada, Ltd.

will supply this deficiency by the middle of the coming summer. It will TRANSMIT MESSAGES ACROSS THE ATLANTIC and it will do more, for it will also TRANSMIT MESSAGES TO ANY AND ALL SHIPS CROSSING THAT GREAT OCEAN. Signor Marconi is now busily engaged in installing the apparatus at the Glace Bay station which will forever replace any needed cable service.

The great growth in every other line is being paralleled by the rapid development of the Marconi system. The increase in shipping is greatly benefitted by the added safety, due to the Marconi stations installed along the Atlantic waterways, which have made shipping in those waters free of former terrors.

The Marconi system CAN HANDLE MESSAGES MORE CHEAPLY THAN THE CABLE. Under present conditions, the cost of a cablegram is further increased by the cost of telegraphing it from a Canadian point to the nearest cable station in the United States. The Canadian Marconi station will practically monopolize the industry of transatlantic messages. It will do so because, when a given company can equal its competitors in the quality of service and can underbid them in the charge therefor, it inevitably gets all the business that is offered.

This is but one of MANY SOURCES OF INCOME for the Canadian Marconi Company. The transatlantic system is but one of the many remunerative Canadian opportunities under the Marconi-erected patents. The shrewdest business men in Canada have recognised what this means, and have placed themselves in a position to SHARE THE PROFITS which this great enterprise is going to enjoy. They have become stockholders of The Marconi Wireless Telegraph Company of Canada, and we have yet to find any one of them who has kept track of the rapid development of the company and who is dissatisfied with its future outlook. The stock is now selling at $5 PER SHARE, and subscriptions will be accepted in any quantity from one share to two hundred shares. The time to invest in this great enterprise is, NOT WHEN IT HAS BEEN FULLY DEVELOPED and has reached a stationary stage. By that time the price of its stock will have so advanced that you can buy but one share for the same money with which you may now purchase hundreds of shares. On the same basis, the dividends will not you only about five per cent. on your investment instead of the FIFTY PER CENT. OR MORE PER YEAR which should be the return if you buy the stock at present prices. We therefore reiterate that sound and conservative judgment should urge you to make a purchase before the price of the stock has advanced, and when there is still an allotment which may be obtained at $5 per share. That means that YOU SHOULD IMMEDIATELY INVEST whatever funds you have in what promises to be a rival of the great Bell Telephone which has long since

The Canadian Northwest

HOMESTEAD REGULATIONS

Any even numbered section of Dominion lands in Manitoba or the North-west Territories, excepting 8 and 26, which has not been homesteaded, or reserved to provide wood lots for settlers, or for other purposes, may be homesteaded upon by any person who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years of age, to the extent of one-quarter section of 160 acres more or less.

ENTRY

Entry may be made personally at the local land office for the district in which the land to be taken is situate, or if the homesteader desires, he may, on application to the Minister of the Interior, Ottawa; the Commissioner of Immigration Winnipeg, or the local agent for the district in which the land is situate, receive authority for some one to make entry for him. A fee of $10 is charged for a homestead entry.

HOMESTEAD DUTIES

A settler who has been granted an entry for a homestead is required by the provisions of the Dominion Lands Act, and the amendments thereto, to perform the conditions connected therewith, under one of the following plans:

[1] At least six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each year during the term of three years. It is the practice of the Department to require a settler to bring 15 acres under cultivation, but if he prefers he may substitute stock; and 20 head of cattle, to be actually his own property, with buildings for their accommodation, will be accepted instead of the cultivation.

[2] If the father (or mother, if the father is deceased), of any person who is eligible to make a homestead entry under the provisions of this Act, resides upon a farm in the vicinity of the land entered for by such person as a homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence prior to obtaining patent may be satisfied by such person residing with the father or mother.

[3] If a settler was entitled to and has obtained entry for a second homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence prior to obtaining patent may be satisfied by residence upon the first homestead, if the second homestead is in the vicinity of the first homestead.

[4] If the settler has his permanent residence upon farming land owned by him in the vicinity of his homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence may be satisfied by residence upon the said land.

The term "vicinity" used above is meant to indicate the same township, or an adjoining or cornering township.

A settler who avail's himself of the provisions of clauses [2], [3] or [4] must cultivate 30 acres of his homestead, or substitute 20 head of stock, with buildings for their accommodation, and have broken 30 acres substantially fenced.

The privilege of a second entry is restricted by law to those settlers only who completed the duties upon their first homesteads to entitle them to patent on or before the 2nd of June, 1889.

Every homesteader who fails to comply with the requirements of the homestead law is liable to have his entry cancelled and the land may again be thrown open for entry.

APPLICATION FOR PATENT

Should be made at the end of three years, before the Local Agent, Sub-Agent or the Homestead Inspector. Before making application for patent the settler must give six months notice in writing to the Commissioner of Dominion Lands at Ottawa of his intention to do so.

INFORMATION

Newly arrived immigrants will receive, at the Immigration Office in Winnipeg, or at any Dominion Lands Office in Manitoba or the north-west Territories, information as to the lands that are open for entry, and from the officers in charge, free of expense, advice and assistance in securing lands to suit them. Full information respecting the land, timber, coal and mineral laws, as well as respecting Dominion Lands in the Railway Belt in British Columbia, may be obtained upon application to the Secretary of the Department of the Interior, Ottawa; the Commissioner of Immigration, Winnipeg, Manitoba, or to any of the Dominion Lands Agents in Manitoba or the North-west Territories.

W. W. CORY,
Deputy Minister of the Interior.

N. B.—In addition to Free Grant Lands, to which the Regulations above stated refer, thousands of acres of most desirable lands are available for lease or purchase from railroad and other corporations and private firms in Western Canada.

The Twentieth Century Mining & Power Co.

LIMITED

Owns a monopoly of the water right privileges in the Thunder Mountain mining district, State of Idaho, U.S.A.; seven water rights in all; one developed and in use. The property of the Company consists of over 1400 acres, with plenty of timber for building and mining purposes, a saw mill fully equipped and in operation, a 10-stamp mill now on its way from the R. R. Station to the property, and 40 additional stamps to be purchased at once and installed during the coming summer. This is the largest and most favorably situated property in the district. Some of the tunnels have been driven over 100 ft. cross-cutting many dikes, demonstrating that we have an inexhaustible body of ore. The ore bodies are sampled by an assayer every 10 ft., and assays run from 40c. to $800 per ton. The ore is free milling, and can be mined and milled for about $1.00 per ton.

This Company has had a phenomenal growth, and "The Thunder Mountain Prospector," published at Roosevelt, Idaho, where the property is located, states that this Company is three times as large as any other Company operating in the district. 30 men at work on the property. Over $60,000 worth of stock sold within the last 30 days. Only 100,000 shares more to be sold at 50c. per share. You cannot afford to miss this opportunity; investigate at once.

Not Only Relief, but Lasting Cure

Is What You Get From Catarrhozone Which Eradicates Every Trace o Catarrh From the System.

Relief is a good thing, but we soon get tired of it and look for a remedy that will drive the seeds of Catarrh right out of the system. It is only a waste of time to trifle with internal dosing. You must treat Catarrh locally because it is a local disease.

The most sensible treatment is Catarrhozone which really does reach the diseased membranes in a most thorough way. Every case of catarrh can be cured if Catarrhozone is used. It unquestionably penetrates every air cell and air passage of the breathing organs. It completely destroys the catarrh germs and heals all the inflamed surfaces.

Every requirement of an ideal catarrh cure is embraced in Catarrhozone. Other treatments may have failed to even bring relief, but one trial is sufficient to prove merit in Catarrhozone not found in the ordinary snuff or wash that unscrupulous people sometimes recommend for catarrh.

If you are subject to colds, catarrh or throat trouble you will find quick relief and lasting cure in Catarrhozone. Mrs. K. P. Fairbanks, of Parkdale, was cured of chronic catarrh by this remedy and endorses it in the following letter, which speaks for itself:

"I suffered continually from catarrh which affected my throat. My nostrils were usually inflammed and I was greatly bothered with droppings in the throat which made me sick at my stomach. I had a bad taste in my mouth, and felt a ringing in my ears. I read of Catarrhozone and commenced to use it. In a few days it helped me more than I ever expected. I used it four times daily and it two weeks most of the disagreeable symptoms disappeared. I continued the Catarrhozone treatment for six weeks and was perfectly cured. The catarrh has never returned."

Every complete outfit of Catarrhozone sufficient for two months' use is guaranteed to permanently cure; trial size 25c. Sold by druggists or by mail from N. C. Polson & Co. Hartford, Conn., U.S.A., or Kingston, Ont.

Mr. Ellis Ashmead Bartlett

The great war correspondent of the London Times who was at Port Arthur during the recent siege and capitulation, will deliver his thrilling and intensely interesting lecture on the above subject in the opera house, on Wednesday evening next, April 19th. Reserved seat tickets, 50c. and 75c. Plan of hall will be open to subscribers at Ormond & Walsh's on Monday, and for the general public on Tuesday at 9 o'clock. This will without doubt be one of the most thrilling and instructive lectures ever delivered here. It will be illustrated by over 100 unique and realistic views taken by Mr. Bartlett himself.

—Those who want to see the siege of Port Arthur through the spectacles of an actual eye-witness of the land and naval engagements, can do so when they attend the lecture, and see the lime light views, taken on the spot, by Mr. E. Ashmead Bartlett, the great war correspondent of the London Times, on April 19th.

Local Incidents

BY THE TIMES MAN ON THE STREET.

—The Court of Revision will meet to-night.

—Many young men are taking stock in the Y.M.C.A. Dormitory Company.

—Mr. H. O. Fisk is making several improvements to his residence, 371 Water street.

—The popular men's meetings at the Y.M.C.A. will close at the end of the month.

—Mr. Joseph L. Welch, of the Patterson Candy Works, Toronto, has been called home by the sad death of his father.

—Next Sunday is the day the ladies wear their best bib and tucker, including that creation of their milliners' yclept "hats."

—The Street Railway Company put an additional car on the Jackson Park line Saturday afternoon. No. 16 now carries a green sign.

—At yesterday morning's service in St. Luke's, Miss K. Wilson sang "The Palms," and in the evening Mr. Jos. Legge sang "Jerusalem."

—Dr. Bingham states that the general health of the town is good at present, only a few colds and no diphtheria or scarlet fever being reported.

—"The Victor's Reward" was the subject of Rev. J. G. Potter's address at the popular men's meeting in the Y.M.C.A. yesterday. Miss Parnell sang.

—Mr. William Fowler a veteran settler in Monaghan, was in town Saturday, and whilst in a reminiscent mood gave some Peterborough friends a synopsis of Peterborough's ancient history.

—Two pictures embroidered in silk 120 years old, by Marion Wilson afterwards Mrs. Page, ancestor of Mrs. Catherine E. Fowler, of Peterborough, have been presented by the latter to the Victoria Museum.

A prominent liveryman in town was heard on Saturday to say that over ten per cent. of all horses in the country are blind. So are 100 per cent. of those that will not see argument, no matter how presented or backed by common sense.

—There was a large market Saturday. Prices were about the same as the preceding week. Butter and eggs were plentiful, butter running from 20 to 23c. a pound. Maple syrup was short and sold at $1.35 to $1.45 a gallon.

—The Collegiate Institute Literary Society will hold an open meeting in the Y.M.C.A. Hall this evening at eight o'clock to which the public is invited. A good musical and literary program has been prepared and a debate will take place on the question "That a Republican form of Government is preferable to a Monarchial." As the room may not hold all that are likely to attend, public school children cannot be admitted.

When you want a life-like Portrait in Oil, Crayon, or Water Color, don't fail to come to B. Hudson's Studio, where the work and prices are always right. Gifts in Pictures, Frames and Fancy Work. Lessons in Painting and Pyrographic Work. Studio, 134 Brock street, Peterborough.

HOW TO HOLD A HUSBAND.

The best known guide to married happiness is to hold the husband as you won the lover—by cheerfulness of disposition, patience and keeping your youthful looks. Of course a great many women are handicapped by those ills to which women are heir. The constantly recurring troubles which afflict her are apt to cause a sour disposition, nervousness and a beclouded mind.

Dr. R. V. Pierce, the specialist in women's diseases, of Buffalo, N. Y., after a long experience in treating such diseases, found that certain roots and herbs made into a liquid extract, would help the majority of cases. This he called Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. Thousands of women have testified to its merits, and it is put up in shape to be easily procured and is sold by all medicine dealers. This is a potent tonic for the womanly system. So much faith has Dr. Pierce in its merits that he offers $500 reward for any case of Leucorrhea, Female Weakness, Prolapsus, or Falling of Womb, which he cannot cure. All he asks is a fair and reasonable trial of his means of cure.

Mrs. T. Dolan, of Madrid, Perkins Co., Nebr., writes: "I was cured of painful periods by the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, and his Compound Extract of Smart-Weed. I think Dr. Pierce's medicines the best in the world."

"Favorite Prescription" makes weak women strong, sick women well. Accept no substitute for the medicine which works wonders for weak women.

Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser is sent free on receipt of stamps to pay customs and mailing only. Send 31 one-cent stamps for the paper-covered book, or 50 stamps for the cloth-bound volume. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, 663 Main Street, Buffalo, N. Y.

Russian Fleet Means Fight.

Says British Naval Expert, Compares the Russian and Japanese Fleets, and Declares that Togo is in Worse Position Than was Nelson at Trafalgar.

London, April 18.—H W. Wilson, the noted naval expert, has written his views on the prospects for a great naval battle. "The Russian fleet evidently means to fight," Mr. Wilson said, "though the fleet must be cooled before attempting the run to Vladivostock. The re-cooling may be effected at some French port in the Kwangchau Islands, in the China Sea or at some point on the Chinese coast.

"The Japanese have the Russian fleet absolutely located. It has been carefully watched by special agents of the Japanese navy. Because of this the Russians cannot surprise the Japanese fleet.

"Japan's first interest is not to fight an immediate, decisive battle, but to first weaken the Russians by skirmishing, torpedo and mine attacks and by cutting off the transports and weak colliers, which are unable to keep in close touch with the main port of the Russian fleet.

"The Russian battleships will be engaged only after a series of small, preliminary successes.

"The battle will be fought at as long range as that of August 10 last in an effort to injure the Russian ships and force them to take refuge in neutral bases, where they will be disarmed rather than to have them captured by the Japanese or destroyed.

HOLDS TOGO'S FLEET WEAKER.

"These tactics are dictated by the inferiority of Admiral Togo's fleet in number and quality of battleships. Admiral Togo's element of superiority is in the greater speed, although this is not so great as commonly believed, as the Russians have attempted cleaning the bottoms of their ships by means of divers. Another element of superiority possessed by Admiral Togo is the personnel of his men. They are trained to the highest degree of perfection and have the incentive of fighting for liberty and home.

"No decisive result can be anticipated, as the Russians have superior numbers of heavy fighting ships, and this is as true to-day as when Nelson said it.

"The odds against Admiral Togo are greater than those against Nelson at Trafalgar.

THE CRISIS OF THE WAR.

"The real battle may not be expected for a week or ten days, although skirmishing between the fast vessels of the two fleets should begin to-day or to-morrow."

THE NEW YORK PLAGUE

Cerebro-Spinal Meningitis a Doctor's Puzzle

New York, April 18.—The commission of eminent physicians which is now co-operating with the New York Board of Health in investigating the epidemic of cerebro-spinal meningitis has, confessedly, made little progress in reaching efective preventive measures. In a clinical way, they are studying all the cases reported in New York, tabulating their history as far as it can be learned, examining into the conditions of their environment as to local and neighborhood sanitation, and endeavoring to determine to what extent it is to communicate from one person to another. The chief reason that the medical staff of the local sanitary administration cannot accomplish more of value to the public in the study of this dread disease is the difficulty of securing and retaining competent bacteriologists. Men of this kind are not numerous, and when employed in the laboratories of the department they get rather less pay than a patrolman on the police force. Men capable of conducting and initiating original investigating or even of following to authoritative conclusions those laid out for them, do not care to take such positions. Leading physicians express the opinion that the epidemic here and in the vicinity will gradually subside within the next thirty days, simply because epidemics of contagious and infectious diseases habitually attain their maximum development during March and April and disappear in the early summer.

WITH MANY OFFENSES

Why General Kuropatkin Was Dismissed by Czar

London, April 18.—A Russian correspondent sends a curious story concerning the dismissal of General Kuropatkin, and vouches for its authenticity. He says it it not surprising that the recall of General Kuropatkin has excited little comment in St. Petersburg. Everybody expected it after the fall of Mukden. The reason is as follows. About six weeks ago M. Demchinski, a Russian of high standing and a great personal favorite of the Czar, wrote a long memorandum from Manchuria, addressed, through M. Souvorin, the editor of the Novoe Vreyma, to the Russian press and people.

In this memorandum M. Demchinski charged General Kuropatkin with many offences, and accused him of being entirely responsible for the disasters to the Russian arms. A detailed account was given of the condition of affairs in Manchuria, and opinion was expressed that if General Kuropatkin was allowed to continue in the position in the position of commander-in-chief Russia would never win a victory. The most popular person in the Far East, continued M. Demchinski, was "papasha" (dear little father) Linevitch, and he was the only military man with sufficient skill to retrieve the Russian fortunes.

This communication created a great sensation in St. Petersburg, and copies of it were circulated all over Russia after the editor of the Novoe Vreyma had first forwarded it to the Czar. The latter had also received another communication from the front to the effect that Kuropatkin's plans were to make a grand stand at Mukden, and that he had taken an oath on his sword not to move an inch from that place. The Czar decided to let Kuropatkin stand or fall by the oath he had taken. So when the news of the loss of Mukden was received he without delay summoned the Grand Dukes by telephone to an extraordinary council, drew their attention to M. Demchinski's charges and announced Kuropatkin's dismissal.

CZAR'S LIFE IN GREAT DANGER

Precautions Being Taken to Prevent Assassination

TERRORISTS AT WORK

Russian Emperor in a State Bordering on Collapse

Paris, April 18.—Some interesting details respecting the condition of the Czar's life, as they appear to his defenders, have been communicated to the St. Petersburg correspondent of a Paris journal through an officer of police. He says that his Majesty's view is understood to be that all possible precautions must be taken to thwart criminal plans, not so much in his own personal interest as for the sake of those who entirely depend upon him. Therefore, Czarskoye Selo, from the railway station to the imperial apartments, is filled with detectives, spies, and troops. Hard by the palace are barracks in continuous communication with his Majesty's household, so that the soldiers, who are ever ready, could be summoned at a moment's notice.

Inside the edifice itself are trusty warriors devoted body and soul to "Gods' lieutenant," so that it is absolutely impossible for any unauthorised outsider to enter. "And yet," says this officer, "the devilish ingenuity of the terrorists makes one shudder. Recently, for instance, when we investigated the case of the explosion in the Hotel Bristol, our men made a discovery which horrified them, and, indeed, all of us. They found the costume of a police officer—nothing more—but what it signified was that the diabolical criminal who was killed by his own bomb intended to disguise himself as a police officer, get close access to some dignitary or other personage, and then perpetrate a horrible crime."

Had A Lively Experience

E. Ashmead Bartlett, who is to lecture in the opera house in Peterborough, on Wednesday evening next, had an extremely difficult time in reaching Kingston in time to fill his engagement in that city. He arrived with about twenty-five other passengers at Cape Vincent, and here they found no conveyance to bring them to Kingston. The owner of a tug offered for $25 to bring the belated passengers over to Wolfe Island. The majority of the latter, for different reasons, did not accept and it cost the lecturer $15 for his portion of the tug's expenses. Reaching Wolfe Island, he hired a rig to drive him across and then hired a skiff to complete the journey. He did the rowing of the skiff for himself and was a somewhat tired tourist when he reached the city at six o'clock in the evening, a little behind time, but still with a good margin in which to prepare for his evening's engagement.

STRIKE BRINGS OUTRAGE

Non-union Man Beaten, Burned With Acid, Branded With Red-hot Iron

Elgin, Ill., April 18.—W. H. Price, a nonunion tinner, was badly beaten, burned with acid and branded with a red-hot soldering iron by two strike sympathizers this afternoon. The man was alone in the room at the time of the outrage, and when found was in a serious condition. A riot call was turned in and several police responded with the patrol wagon. No trace of the assailants can be found, and the police have no description of the men. The affair has aroused great indignation among citizens.

CARRIE NATION'S PROGRAM

In Jail She Signs Deeds Conveying Topeka Property

Wichita, Kan., April 17.—Mrs. Carrie Nation, who is in jail here, today signed deeds conveying her Topeka property to private persons, and announced her intention, after serving out her jail sentence, of leaving Kansas and settling in Oklahoma, where she will devote her attention to efforts to have a prohibition clause in the constitution when Oklahoma secures statehood.

Mrs. Nation is in prison awaiting the decision of an appeal to the District Court for joint smashing.

The property sold was that which the Women's Christian Temperance Union, at the State Convention here last October, refused to accept as a gift from Mrs. Nation.

LOCKET PRESENTED

Mr. Jas. Hyde Receives Valuable Token of Regard.

On Saturday night about forty of the heads of the different departments at the C. G. E. Works, with a number of Mr. James Hyde's friends, gathered at the C. P. R. Station, before the departure of the midnight train for the east, to bid farewell to that gentleman, who left for Montreal, where he will reside in the future.

Before the train pulled out, Mr. R. E. Harding, on behalf of Mr. Hyde's friends, presented him with an address, expressing regret at the departure from town, and Mr. Wilson, as a tangible proof of the esteem in which Mr. Hyde was held, presented him with a gold locket, with his monogram raised on it.

Mr. Hyde was deeply moved by this demonstration on the part of his friends, and expressed his appreciation of this kindness in a brief speech, in which he referred to the pleasant relations he had always enjoyed with his fellow employes.

As the train pulled out three hearty cheers were given for Mr. Hyde.

A SOUND PROPOSITION

Good Opportunity for Investment in a Proven Mine.

Among propositions offered to the speculating and investing public, a great proportion of which are purely speculative, is one now advertised in another column, in which the public is not asked to take long chances on what may or may not be of value in the future, but one in which the evidence and experience of a reliable engineer are based on what is already known to be the nucleus of a fixed and tested mining investment of good promise. The Charter-Raton Mining and Milling Company, of Colorado, with offices at 42 Broadway, New York, is now placing on the market a small proportion of their stock, of which $600,000 is Treasury stock, at $1.00 a share, 10 per cent. payable on allotment and the balance payable 10 per cent. monthly for nine months. The company own 20 acres, and tunnel site of 3,000 feet in length, with water power 1,700 feet in length, included in the company's property. Their property is located in Breckenridge Mountain, in Upper Union Mining District, Clear County, Colorado, two and one half miles west of the town of Empire, which has good railroad facilities. The company has five full sized mining claims, with strong fissure veins, and two good mill sites. The property is plentifully supplied with all timber that will be wanted. The property is so situated that the greatest economy is assured for mining operations. The titles have been examined, found absolutely secure and now registered, with the County Clerk and Recorder of Clear Creek County, Col.

The water-power is of unusual power and regularity, giving 200 horse power the year round. The development operations have shown that the Logan claim assays up to $90 per ton, mostly gold. Owing to its location, the property of the Charter-Raton Mining Company, is easily accessible every day in the year. In order, to raise funds for immediate prosecution of work on these valuable mines, already proved to be rich in gold ore, the company will, for a limited time, place 200,000 shares on the market at 20 cents per share, payable as noted above.

The company want to secure a good reliable leather to work this district and place stock for the Charter-Raton Milling and Mining Company. Address 42 Broadway, New York.

THE official tests by the Inland Revenue Department of the Canadian Government show the Royal to be a pure baking powder, superior to all others in leavening strength.

It therefore makes purer, more wholesome and economical food than any other baking powder or leavening agent.

Royal Baking Powder is more convenient for use than cream of tartar and soda and makes finer-flavored food.

A BIG PLAN OF CAMPAIGN.

Ottawa, April 16.—A plan of campaign is being prepared by the Conservative members from Ontario and the West, to be put into operation against Sir Wilfrid's Autonomy Bill. It will take the form of organized obstruction in the House of Commons on every clause of the bill. The battle cry will be "Fight the Bill."

A meeting of members will be held this week or early next, at which full details of the plan will be discussed. Dr. Sproule, W. F. MacLean and Col. Hughes will likely be the lieutenants of Mr. Borden in the endeavor.

It is proposed to hold public meetings in Toronto, Hamilton and London, at which the Conservative position on the Autonomy Bill will be explained by prominent public men, and resolutions denouncing the action of the Government passed. These resolutions will be forwarded to the House and read there.

The Conservatives are determined to fight the matter to a finish.

GOLD BRICKS

Star of the East Gold Mine Ships 87 Ounces of Gold.

ged by express from Peterborough, that reminded one of the adage, that "Good goods are put up in small packets."

The Star of the East Gold Mining Development Company, shipped two gold bricks, representing the first commercial output of the company's mine in Barrie township. The two bricks weighed 87 ounces, which at the value of $20 per ounce, as appraised by the Philadelphia mint, to which they were consigned, are worth $1,740. The bricks on Saturday morning were on view at the office of the company and were shipped later in the day to Philadelphia through the Bank of Montreal.

OBITUARY

Death of Mr. Edward Welch, 33 Elm Street on Sunday.

We regret to have to chronicle the death on Sunday, at 33 Elm street, of Mr. Edward Welch, at the age of 64 His death was caused by heart failure, deceased being only seriously ill for two days before the end came.

The deceased was born in Tipperary, Ireland, but has lived in Peterborough nearly all his life, and was well and favorably known by a large circle of friends. A wife and six children survive him—three sons and three daughters as follows; Mrs. E. G. Hilland, Deborah and Minnie, at home; William, Ashland, Wis.; Harry, of Chicago; and Joseph of Toronto. The funeral will take place to-day at three o'clock, to St. Peter's cemetery.

MUST AVOID DEBT

Ontario Civil Servants Get Strict Orders From Toronto

Officers and employees of the Ontario Government must not in future run into debt. If they do they will be dismissed from the service. They must also personally superintend the work in their offices and should they persist in not doing so will be dismissed.

Orders to this effect were passed by the Ontario Government on April 6 and signed by the Lieutenant-Governor. Copies of these orders were received by the officials at the court house this morning. The order reads:

"Failure of personality to attend and to provide the duties of his office or position by public officer or servant shall be sufficient cause for his removal from office.

"The incurring of debts by an officer or clerks of the civil service which they are unable to pay by reason of living beyond their means or otherwise shall be sufficient cause for their removal from office; and the giving of orders upon the treasurer by such officers or clerks unless given previous authority so to do by the treasurer in writing is prohibited."

SQUIRE HENTHORN'S COURT

A Reminiscence of Fifty Years Ago

Yesterday an old timer dropped into the city editor's sanctum of this great family journal, to discuss the Autonomy bill. He said he had always been a Liberal in politics, but was now "agin' the government," on account of its Separate school policy. Growing reminiscent, our visitor started to relate incidents connected with the town which happened 50 years ago.

On one occasion a Jehu from Douro was brought before Squire Henthorn, on a charge of furious driving. The charge was laid by Constable Arnot. Amongst the witnesses were Messrs. Wm. Lundy, Edmund Chamberlen, Wm. Clurton, Robert Walton, and others.

The defendant explained that he could not have been going fast, as his horse was over 27 years of age, and it was a physical impossibility to travel at a faster rate than a walk.

"Well," ruled Squire Henthorn, "you do not seem to have been exceeding the speed limit, but at the same time I think you must have been guilty of something; I will fine you ten shillings for loitering."

'WARE QUARTERS.

Bogus Quarters Circulating in Port Hope.

The Port Hope Guide says: We were shown a counterfeit coin bearing a close resemblance to the genuine. It was one of the old issue of Queen's head dated 1901, is of lead alloyed with tin or some other metal to give gloss, has good ring and appearance and though the same thickness is a penny weight lighter than the genuine. The lettering on the face and milling on edges though sharp were imperfect. The edge showed where the casting was finished, trimmed off.

This is a dangerous counterfeit, for it will three good coins passed over the counter of three banks without detection. It would be well to keep a sharp lookout on all silver coins for this though a dangerous counterfeit, may easily be detected from its smooth, greasy feeling and from the fact that it may easily be beat by hand. This is not the case with a true quarter. If any are offered, keep a memo. of by whom and the source may be found.

MR. FROATES ILL.

Mr. Miles Froats, the Well-Known Cutter Gone to the Hospital.

The many friends in Peterborough, of Mr. Miles Froats, the well known tailor and cutter, for many years with Messrs. LeBrun & Co., but lately in business for himself, will regret to learn that yesterday afternoon, he was removed from his boarding place on Water street, opposite the Market Square, to the Nicholls Hospital in the ambulance. Mr. Froats has been losing strength and health for some months past, and when taken to the hospital yesterday was considered seriously run-down. He is a widower, and has a daughter employed as bookkeeper in a local grocery store, so any of his friends could do him a good turn by visiting him at the hospital.

A SOURIS WEDDING

A Pretty Wedding in Which a Former Peterborough Man Was Made Happy.

The many Peterborough friends of Mr. W. J. Pilling, formerly a resident of this town, will be interested in the despatch from Souris, Man., which says in part;

"On Wednesday evening the home of Mr. J. W. Butler, was the scene of a very pretty wedding, when their daughter, Mary Emeline, was married to Mr. Wm. J. Pilling, recently of Peterborough. The bride looked beautiful in a handsome dress of white silk, with orange blossoms. She carried a shower bouquet of white roses. Her younger sister, Miss Isabelle, being bridesmaid, looked very pretty in a dainty dress of pale blue silk organdie. She carried a bouquet of pink carnations and ferns.

The bridegroom was accompanied by Mr. Wilfred Patterson, formerly of Peterborough, as best man. The house was decorated with red, white and blue forming an arch under which the bridal party stood.

At half past six as the organ pealed forth, the wedding march, the groom entered, took his place, followed by the bride, leaning on the arm of her father. After the ceremony, which was performed by the Rev. J. S. Muldrew, the bridal party led the way to the dining room.

"The table was nicely decorated, and had a beautiful five-story bride's cake in the center. After the repast the guests moved freely about, enjoying the hospitality of the host and hostess.

The large number of beautiful presents attested the esteem in which the bride is held among her large circle of friends, who join in wishing her popular husband a long and happy married life. The groom's present to the bride was a gold bracelet set in opals and pearls, and to the bridesmaid a gold crescent brooch set in brilliants.

The people of Quebec demand the right to regulate their own educational laws in their own way. Why should they refuse a similar right to the people of other Provinces? The people of Quebec would not permit the people of the other Provinces to meddle with their school laws. Why should they meddle with the school laws of other Provinces?

OPEN MEETING

Of the Philomathean Literary Society Last Night

The open meeting of the Philomathean Literary Society of the Collegiate Institute held in the Y.M.C.A. last night was a most enjoyable and entertaining affair, being a very fitting conclusion of the society's meetings preparatory to the Easter vacation.

In the introductory remarks of Mr. Fennendon, Principal of the Institute who was the chairman for the evening, reference was made to the urgent need of an assembly room in the new Collegiate Institute. The fact of this statement was plainly visible by the large number present.

The following program was rendered:—

Piano Duet—Miss Hazel Sanderson and Miss Lexa Dame.

Solo—Mrs. Eardley-Wilmot.

Reading—"The Four Horse Race" — Mr. Cecil Arnott.

Solo—Mrs. Jas. Dawson.

Debate—"Resolved That a Republican Form of Government is better than a Monarchy."

Mr. Burton Miller, was leader of the affirmative, and was ably supported by Miss Zetta Harper. The negative was upheld by Lincoln Bruce, as leader, supported by Miss Kathleen Martin. The young debaters showed considerable tact in presenting their arguments. The judges, Mr. R. M. Denniston, and Mr. George Roger, Col. Edwards being unable to act, failed to agree on a mutual decision. Mr. Denniston favoring the affirmative and Mr. Rogers the negative.

While the judges were discussing the different points of the arguments

JAPANESE CAPTURE MANY OF THE RUSSIAN COLLIERS

Rojestvensky Puts in at Kamranh Harbor for 48 Hours Where They Received Provisions and Then Went on to Huron.

Saigon, April 18.—The Japanese recently captured a large number of colliers off the coast of Cochin-China.

Six men, supposed to be Japanese, landed some days ago at Cape St. James, near here, from an Ahamese junk, and after a brief stay, re-embarked.

A number of Russian warships are anchored in Kamranh Bay, where they are revictualling.

The steamer Eridan, which was purchased by a local French firm, sailed yesterday evening with a full cargo of provisions for the Russian squadron.

The health of the Russians is remarkably good. Only eight deaths from disease have occurred since their departure from Europe, out of an effective force totalling 18,000 men. A Russian officer suffering from beri-beri is in the hospital here. The other sick men who were brought here by the Russian hospital ship Orlet include Prince Cantacuzene, but the reports that the Orlet had wounded men on board are unfounded, as there had been no fighting up to the time of her arrival.

Miss Marguerite Burnett rendered a violin solo in a very pleasing manner, which called forth an encore.

Recitation—Miss Hazel Pentland.

Col. Edwards made a few remarks and was the mover of a vote of thanks seconded by Mr. James Fife, to the society for the evening's entertainment, which closed with the singing of "God Save the King."

COURT OF REVISION

The Proceedings of Last Night's Session.

Last night a session of the Court of Revision was held in the Town Clerk's office. The principal business transacted was the further consideration of assessments of sewers constructed last year as local improvements. Dr. Andrew Haig's assessment on King street was reduced to 43 feet 6 in. and 2ft. 3in. part of lane, and J. J. McRain's assessment was increased to 64 feet, 10 inches.

C. Tyrie's assessment on Sherbrooke street was confirmed. The assessments for the sewers as amended at this and the former sitting were confirmed.

Dog taxes for 1904 for John Loucks and John Watt were remitted, and the dog tax for 1905 for M. W. Brown also remitted.

H. H. Overend applied for remission of statute labor tax for 1904, granted, on condition that he files a receipt showing that he paid statute labor tax for that year in Smith town.

H. L. Conway for remission of statute labor tax; not granted.

Y.W.C.A. for a remission of balance of taxes for 1904; not granted.

ANOTHER BANK

Bank of Ottawa to Open a Branch Here, with Mr. Hollingshead as Manager.

That Peterborough is fast becoming the cynosure of attention by the mercantile and industrial world, and that the right class of men are raised or trained in this town, is shown conclusively, again, by the advent of another bank in our midst, with a Peterborough gentleman as manager.

The Bank of Ottawa will about June 1st open a branch in Peterborough, which will make the sixth chartered bank in this town.

This new addition to our already strong representation of banking interests is the result of a visit recently made to Peterborough by the general manager of this strong bank. The bank has completed arrangements whereby they have secured the premises on George street now occupied by Mr. P. Simons, merchant tailor in the Morrow Block.

The Bank of Ottawa is one of the most substantial banking institutions in the country, and has 45 branches in the different provinces. The head office is at Ottawa. The authorized capital stock of the bank is $3,000,000, and the paid up capital $2,500,000. The reserve fund amounts to $2,573,202, or more than the amount of the capital stock, and upon the Stock Exchange on Saturday, buyers offered 230 for this stock, which, for a stock with a par value of 100, is an indication that it is a sound institution. It pays dividends of 4 1-2 per cent. half yearly.

The following gentlemen are members of the Board of Directors for the Bank of Ottawa, and they stand high in the financial world:—George Hay, President; David MacLaren, Vice-President; H. N. Bate, John Mather, George Burn, General Manager; Hon. George Bryson, Denis Murphy, H. K. Egan, George H. Perley, M.P., D. M. Finnie, Assistant General Manager; J. B. Fraser, L. C. Owen, Inspector.

That there is every confidence placed in the future of this town, by the commercial world, and, particularly so, by the banking interests of the country, is exemplified by two of the strongest banks in Canada, within a few months, opening up branches in a town of some 15,000 inhabitants. That a strong bank, like the Bank of Ottawa should enter into commercial competition with so many others that have been here for many years, is a true financial barometrical indication of the position Peterborough holds in the financial world.

The location secured by the new bank is a particularly happy selection, and will doubtless result in the Bank of Ottawa getting their share of public patronage. In their choice of manager, the bank has shown judgment and discernment. Mr. A. A. Hollingshead is a general favorite, not only with the customers of the Bank of Ontario, with which he has in this town, been associated for ten years, but, with the general public. As accountant of the Ontario Bank he has become thoroughly conversant with the banking business. During his long residence here, Mr. Hollingshead has made a great many friends by whom the news of his accession to the managership of the new bank will be received with pleasure.

Police Court

OFFICIALS

Chief of Police, G. H. Rogers
Magistrate, D. W. Dumble

The first case that engaged his Worship's attention yesterday morning was that of a complaint made by Mr. W. Bradburn against Mr. John Dunsford. The case arises out of an alleged interference with an officer whilst engaged in his duties, on behalf of the complaint, in a rent collection affair. This case was enlarged until Thursday.

At a special session of the Police Court, held yesterday afternoon, a rather unusual case was under consideration. A Miss Graham, had engaged the window of a local store, with privileges of the same, for the purpose of exhibiting a most gorgeous display of artistically manufactured jewellery, in which splurent diamonds, rubies and jewels that would throw Solomon in all his glory into convulsions with envy, were resplendent.

Of an evening, the glitter and sheen of this show case full of imitation jewels would give the passer by the blind staggers. Unfortunately the lady owner of this goloonda blaze of jewels, omitted the formality of obtaining a transient trader's license, costing $100, and the Chief's eagle eye, caught by the glitter of these gems of a certain price was rivited on the spot, long enough to cause his mind to wander to the town by-law providing for the necessity of this license. The lady, at the special session, gracefully admitted the omission and went down into her purse for a $25 fine, with $3.35 costs. Last night the jewellery was conspicuous by its absence from the window.

In yesterday's court was aired one of those family jars that unfortunately occur too frequently in some families. A man named H. H. Hillier, was charged by his wife, Love Hillier, with having assaulted her on or about the 15th inst. The lady stated that her husband is not a drinking man, that they have been married some 17 years, and that lately her husband had used threatening language towards her. His Worship strongly advised the matrimonial pair to settle their difficulties out of Court, which was fortunately accomplished, as shown by the subjoined letter signed by Mrs. Hillier.

Peterborough, April 17th, 1905.

Having caused the arrest of my husband on Saturday, the 15th, inst., upon a charge of assaulting me, I now wish to express, in a public manner, my regret at having taken this course of action. In laying the information, I was ill-advised, and the cause of it was an insignificant misunderstanding arising between my husband and myself, and not that he struck me, as might appear from the nature of the proceedings.

In an account of these proceedings published in one of the local papers, it is stated that my husband belonged to the drinking class. This is not so, as my husband is temperate in his habits and is a hard-working and an industrious man and devotes all his earnings to the support of his family and I certainly have no cause of complaint in that regard.

LOVE HILLIER.

In our report of Saturday's police news, we stated, without mentioning any names that a man had been arrested, and in course of the report, intimated that the man arrested was a drinking man. As Mr. Hillier has called at this office, and taken exception to the article, seemingly considering that it referred to himself, although no name had been mentioned, we might say that by Mr. Hillier's own assertion and that of Mrs. Hillier's given above, as well as by investigations since made, we are able to say that the alleged assault was not the result of liquor, as is not, according to all evidence able to be collected to this date, a drinking man, nor can he be truthfully be said to have ever been drunk, and is evidently a hard working man. It is a pleasure duty to record that the difficulty between this man and wife has been settled out of Court, thus saving the publication of domestic troubles that concern only those directly interested.

WEATHER NOTES

Tuesday.—Temperature about the same.

"Now I Know the Joy of Health."

I am Brimming Over with Vitality —Appetite is Good—I Sleep Well—I Feel Happy.

FERROZONE

Made Me Feel Like New

One of the earliest settlers in the town of Tutnbull, Man., is Mr. John W. McNichol. Everybody knows him; knows how poor his health was for years.

Thanks to Ferrozone, Mr. McNichol is a hearty, strong man today. Here is his statement:

"Last spring I was terribly run down.

"I was so completely fagged out I couldn't do any hard work.

"In the morning I was tired—my limbs ached all over.

"Appetite?—I simply didn't have any.

"Sleepless?—Yes, nervous and unhappy too.

"I braced up at once after taking Ferrozone. It put new life and vitality into my body. My nerves are strong, I eat heartily, I sleep well. Now I know the joy of health.

JOHN W. McNICHOL."

Won't you take Ferrozone too? It's really a marvellous tonic, some people say there is almost witchery in the way it builds you up. It's concentrated nourishment — that's what Ferrozone is—just one chocolate coated tablet to take three times a day. No other medicine in the world restores so quickly. Price 50c. per box, or six for $2.50, at all dealers, or by mail, from N. C. Polson & Co., Hartford, Conn., U.S.A., and Kingston, Ont.

RUSSIA'S EVIL GENIUS

On account of his baleful influence over his nephew, the Czar, the late Grand Duke Sergius was called "the evil genius of Russia." The Grand Duke Vladimir, a brother of Sergius, has now succeeded to his title, which properly belongs to the real master of Nicholas II., Pobyedonosteff, the procurator general of the Holy Synod, the man, who, since 1881, has been the all powerful ruler of Russia.

This man with the unspellable name began his career at the Russian court as tutor of the young sons of Alexander II. The Czar, who, early in his reign, emancipated the serfs and cherished other ideas of reform for which Russia was not then ready, did not much sympathize with Pobyedonosteff, but the tutor obtained an abiding influence over the young Princes.

When, twenty-one years ago, on the assassination of his father, Alexander III. came to the throne, he made the former tutor his chief adviser, and soon as procurator-general of the Holy Synod, he became virtually the pope of the Greek church. He held absolute rule over Alexander III. as long as he lived, and now the son, Nicholas II., a man of finer and more humane nature than his father, is equally under the sway of this bigoted despot, who is responsible for the taking away of Finland's liberties, for the Jewish and other religious prosecutions and for more of the atrocities that have of years been committed by the Russian government.

Before the appointment of this apostle of mediaevalism to his present lofty position he was professor of civil law at the University of Moscow and was considered the highest legal authority in Russia. He is now the dictator of the Czar, in both civil and religious matters, and may be called the supreme ruler of the Empire. The great champion of autocracy and orthodoxy, he despises parliaments and constitutions, and holds in contempt all ideas of civil and religious liberty. When the nobles of the realm, and among Count Tolstoy, addressed letters to the Czar, urging certain reforms in the interests of the people, Nicholas might perhaps have heeded their words of wisdom and warning if his master and mentor, the procurator-general, had not sent him a letter with quite opposite advice, on which he is still acting.

Pobyedonosteff is a strong and trenchant writer and his writing of the recent date have been collected in a large volume entitled "Muscovite Studies." With great parade of logic and learning he assails all those ideas which have made for modern progress and hurls his anathemas at constitutional government, trial by jury, freedom of the press, free schools, religious and civil liberty. Parliamentary government he calls "the great lie of our times," and public education "a device of the evil one."

The greatest hope for Russian reform lies in the fact that this most powerful fanatic and aggressive of reactionaries is now 78 years old and that, although he still retains his youthful vigor of intellect and actions, his days of pernicious activity are nearly over.

OLD AGE PENSIONS

They don't believe in chloroforming old men in Massachusetts. Instead they are talking pretty seriously about soothing their declining years with pensions. The Massachusetts House of Representatives debated the other day a pension measure adversely reported by one of its leading committees. But in spite of this handicap the bill received a surprisingly generous support. It got 85 votes, against 97 in opposition. Last year a similar measure was defeated by 90 votes to 84. In itself the defeated age pension scheme was far from Radical. It proposed to give $3 a week to all male citizens of Massachusetts of sixty-five years or over. But the applicant for a pension was to have paid poll taxes continuously for twenty-five years. He was to be required also to show that he had not within five years previously been convicted of a felony; that he possessed a good moral character, and that he was not addicted to the use of intoxicating liquors. It was argued in support of the project that it would greatly increase the States revenues from poll taxes, and that it would greatly reduce the number of paupers now maintained as public charges in the local almshouses. No estimate of the probable cost of the experiment was submitted, however, and the measure was attacked and defended mainly on theoretical grounds. Its advocates declared, in effect, that the State owed every worthy citizen a certain support in his old age, regardless of his own efforts to secure himself against hopelessness and indigence. The opponents of the scheme denounced it as a hindrance to thrift and self-denial and as a departure from the doctrine of free competition and individual responsibility.

PURE MILK

The agitation in New York for pure milk, brought about by the doctors' statements of the slaughter of the innocents by impure and adulterated milk, still goes on. Three of the great railways have been induced to carry milk into New York, every can packed in ice in refrigerator cars, and the smaller lines are expected to follow suit. A New York paper says:

The health department has also made unusual preparations to take care of the milk supply after it reaches the railroad terminals in this city and Jersey. The milk will be kept cold until it is actually delivered to the retail consumers in New York.

The milk embalmed with formaldehyde is to be seized and destroyed. Even three drops of formaldehyde in a forty-quart can of milk will be sufficient to cause the condemnation of the milk. No preservatives whatever are to be allowed. Nor will any dirty milk be permitted to be delivered in the city. All milk must contain at least 3 per cent. of pure cream, and all bottled milk should contain 3 per cent. of cream. Moreover, any farmer or dealer caught drawing off the cream down to 3 per cent. basis will be arrested and punished.

All of which goes to show that too much care cannot be taken in the handling of milk, and that the result in the increased health of the community, and the lowering of the infant death rate, amply warrant the sanitary measures that have been adopted.

Performance Not Promises

There is all the difference in the world between expectation and realization. There is even a greater difference between promise and performance. In the former case you form your own opinion, and if it is in error, you have none but yourself to blame. In the latter case, you take some one's word or promise for what is to be done, and you place your confidence in them and their judgment. Failure in such a case is a double disappointment, for you have not reaped an expected reward, and your faith in your adviser is shaken.

The history of the wireless telegraph companies reveals that they fall in two classes—THOSE THAT PROMISE and THOSE THAT PERFORM.

The Marconi Companies have never foretold what they are GOING TO DO, but have steadfastly GONE ABOUT THEIR WORK, and when they had ACCOMPLISHED SOMETHING, have made a simple announcement of the fact and have gone on with the next step. Had you rather HEAR PROMISES OF FUTURE SUCCESS or SEE TANGIBLE RESULTS from day to day? MARCONI and his associates have AVOIDED PROMISES and have never made statements which did more than ANNOUNCE his latest ACHIEVEMENT or PERFORMANCE. These performances have succeeded each other with such rapidity that hardly a week passes without some important advance being heralded. THE

(Tel. Co. of Canada Ltd.)

is governed by the same conservatism as the American and English Marconi Companies. It has not made futile PROMISES OF WHAT IT WAS GOING TO DO. IT WAS TOO BUSY IN DOING THINGS. It DOES ITS WORK and never even announces one ACCOMPLISHMENT until it is well on its way to the next ATTAINMENT. DOES NOT SUCH A POLICY APPEAL TO THE CONSERVATIVE INVESTOR? Few details of the tremendous progress made in connection with the installation of the highly successful stations along the Gulf of St. Lawrence were made public until the Commander of the Canadian Marine Service gave his report to the Deputy Commissioner of Fisheries late in the fall. The report showed that the perfect working of each station had been known since midsummer.

The Canadian Company has already completed a net work of successful stations along the St. Lawrence Gulf and there are on Canadian soil thirteen stations already in operation. The Company has already been authorized to build four more stations as prominent points during the coming summer. The transatlantic station at Cape Breton is nearly finished on its new site. The apparatus for installation at that point is constructed and on its way to Cape Breton, where Mr. Marconi is on hand to personally oversee the installation and the successful opening of this great service. These are not promises—they are performances. Compare what Marconi has DONE with what others PROMISE TO DO. Ask yourself a simple question: "If they can do so, why don't they?" The answer suggests itself. Can you not foresee the great future this Company has before it? Do you not wish to become a shares in the success which is at its door? You can do so by becoming a stockholder in the Company. You can purchase any amount of stock from one share to two hundred shares at $5 per share. The time to invest is now, before the stock undergoes its certain rise.

FORTUNES ARE BEING MADE IN KANSAS OIL

Here's a fortune for you. Not 10% but 100% and no risk of loss. Giant of the Oil Fields.

The Midland Oil and Gas Company

has over 180 acres of oil land and has put down 10 wells, so the land is proved up. An adjoining additional 80 was secured yesterday, making over 260 acres all in the proven belt. Just read this:

The U. S. report on the oil industry places the average daily production of Pennsylvania wells at only one-half a barrel each per day. The Midland wells are pumping

Sixty Barrels a Day Each.

The pumping plant has just been started and this is the surprising result. Nothing like it in the world. The officers and directors of this company are bank men and do not believe in debts, so the company is free from debt. They have nearly $20,000 in cash and bills receivable in the treasury and everything paid for—property, wells, pumping plant, oil tanks, well cleaning machine and everything connected with the company. Have two drilling rigs working night and day sinking wells. Have abundance of gas, which runs the drills and pumping plant, so it only costs about $5.00 a day to produce and market the oil.

The Company has about 33 per cent of its stock in the treasury as a reserve.

For a short time the Company will sell a little more of its stock at only

As soon as the drilling rigs can put them down.

From the Kansas City Journal, Feb. 26, 1905.

There is perhaps no people in the same amount of territory in the world who have increased in wealth so rapidly. Everybody is prosperous. Many once poor and hard working families have become immensely wealthy.

Hudge Hale, an old Frisco conductor, has become a millionaire off of oil. He got in the game early. Now he has money as well as oil and gas to burn.

Fred Hetrick, a farmer living near Chanute, had a hard time for years making both ends meet. Life was a hard proposition with him. His royalties now reach $1,000 a month and he is living on easy street.

Jep Helm, of the Kansas City brewery, took a flyer in oil leases. He first put in $500 and refused $12,000 for his investment. Later he put in a lot more money in gas and oil lands and is now figuring high.

George E. Work, the Chicago clothier, took some acres of land near Chanute for a debt a customer owed him. Work's partner refused to stand for the deal, So Work kept the land himself. He has since refused $50,000 for his holdings.

These are a few samples. Hundreds of farmers have become independently rich off their oil royalties, and hundreds of other men have made big money producing oil.

This Kansas oil bearing sand is like the Pennsylvania sand; wells will produce oil for fifty years.

Can give bank references, and dozens from people who have personally examined this great property.

If you inherited or contracted any Blood Disease you are never safe unless the virus or poison has been eradicated from the system. At times you see alarming symptoms, but live in hope no serious results will follow. Have you any of the following symptoms? Sore throat, ulcers on the tongue or in the mouth, hair falling out, aching pains, itchiness of the skin, sores or blotches on the body, eyes red and smart, dyspeptic stomach, sexual weakness—enlarged glands. Don't trust to luck. Don't ruin your system with the old fogy treatment—mercury, potash and patent medicines, which suppress the symptoms for a time only to break out again when happy in domestic life. Don't let quacks experiment on you. Our NEW METHOD TREATMENT is guaranteed to cure you. OUR GUARANTEES ARE BACKED BY BANK BONDS that the Blood or Skin disease will never return. Before Treatment After Treatment

Wm. H. Patterson, of Saginaw, Mich., relates his experience: "I do not like notoriety and especially of this kind, but I feel I owe this much to Drs. K. & K. for the great good they have done me. I had a serious blood disease when 24 years of age. The skin and blood symptoms gradually developed. Pimples and ulcers formed, running sores broke out, hair became loose, pains in the bones and joints, dyspeptic stomach, foul breath, itchy skin, etc. It is needless for me to say I tried doctors. I grew to hate the looks of one. I visited Hot Springs twice for four months each time. It helped me temporarily, but in six months after returning home I was as bad as ever. Finally a Doctor friend of mine advised me to see Drs. Kennedy & Kergan. ... for 25 years, and as they made a specialty of these diseases and treated the worst cases by the hundred they ought to be expert in curing them. I was afraid of exorbitant charges, ... advice. They agreed to treat me under a guarantee or no pay. I investigated their financial standing and found they were perfectly responsible, so I commenced the New Method Treatment. The symptoms disappeared one by one, ... health restored in four weeks and in three months I was entirely cured. Yes, sir, I can recommend the New Method Treatment ... Blood Diseases."

HOLTS' EDUCATED PARROTS

HIS LINGUISTIC BIRDS TALK SEVERAL LANGUAGES

Has Established a Farm Near Victor and Hope to Accumulate a Fortune ...Like Actors, They Carry on a Conversation.

Vancouver, B.C., April 17.—The latest Pacific coast enterprise is a parrot farm, which is enabling its founder, Martin Holts, to accumulate a fortune. Of course Holts is an American. Travellers from Mexico state that he established his unique farm near Victoria. While running as a conductor on the old Monterey & Mexican Gulf Railway, now a part of the Mexican Central system, Holts had daily to pass through the heart of the parrot country. He collected many birds and taught them to talk English. He made a good thing "on the side" by selling the birds to tourists.

The thought then came to Holts that he could make more money by retiring from the railway and devoting his whole time to raising parrots. He followed this plan and bought a large tract of forest near Victoria, which teemed with wild parrots. He fitted up a ranch in a remarkable way. Wire netting was placed around and over the trees and the birds were confined therein. Then he started to teach them to talk. He has a pretty good knowledge of Spanish, French and German as well as English, and some of his parrots are good linguists.

As a general rule, however, he contented himself with teaching each bird only one language. He divided his flock of several thousand birds into four classes, one for each language. He then took a few birds and instructed them. These educated birds he placed among the others and they became teachers. The parrots quickly picked up from the speaking birds the words that Holts had impressed upon them. The American believes that the standard of intelligence of parrots can be greatly increased by proper attention in breeding them. In his collection of parrots, which now numbers several thousand, he says he has several which are seemingly possessed of reasoning powers. He even thinks he will be able to get them to carry on conversation with each other. He has been able to make some of them learn parts, like actors, and carry on a conversation of thirty minutes' duration.

HOMESTEAD REGULATIONS

Any even numbered section of Dominion lands in Manitoba or the North-west Territories, excepting 8 and 26, which has not been homesteaded, or reserved to provide wood lots for settlers, or for other purposes, may be homesteaded upon by any person who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years of age, to the extent of one-quarter section of 160 acres more or less.

ENTRY

Entry may be made personally at the local land office for the district in which the land to be taken is situate, or if the homesteader desires, he may, on application to the Minister of the Interior, Ottawa; the Commissioner of Immigration Winnipeg, or the local agent for the district in which the land is situate, receive authority for some one to make entry for him. A fee of $10 is charged for a homestead entry.

HOMESTEAD DUTIES

A settler who has been granted an entry for a homestead is required by the provisions of the Dominion Lands Act, and the amendments thereto, to perform the conditions connected therewith, under one of the following plans:

[1] At least six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each year during the term of three years. It is the practice of the Department to require a settler to break 15 acres under cultivation, but if he prefers he may substitute stock; and 35 head of cattle, to be actually his own property, with buildings for their accommodation, will be accepted instead of the cultivation.

[2] If the father (or mother, if the father is deceased), of any person who is eligible to make a homestead entry under the provisions of this Act, resides upon a farm in the vicinity of the land entered for by such person as a homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence prior to obtaining patent may be satisfied by such person residing with the father or mother.

[3] If a settler was entitled to and has obtained entry for a second homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence prior to obtaining patent may be satisfied by residence upon the first homestead, if the second homestead is in the vicinity of the first homestead.

[4] If the settler has his permanent residence upon farming land owned by him in the vicinity of his homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence may be satisfied by residence upon the said land.

The term "vicinity" used above is meant to indicate the same township, or an adjoining or cornering township.

A settler who avails himself of the provisions of clauses [2], [3] or [4] must cultivate 30 acres of his homestead, or substitute 20 head of stock, with buildings for their accommodation, and have besides 80 acres substantially fenced.

The privilege of a second entry is restricted by law to those settlers only who completed the duties upon their first homesteads to entitle them to patents on or before the 2nd of June, 1889.

Every homesteader who fails to comply with the requirements of the homestead law is liable to have his entry cancelled and the land may again be thrown open for entry.

APPLICATION FOR PATENT

Should be made at the end of three years, before the Local Agent, Sub-Agent or the Homestead Inspector. Before making application for patent the settler must give six months notice in writing to the Commissioner of Dominion Lands at Ottawa of his intention to do so.

INFORMATION

Newly arrived immigrants will receive, at the Immigration Office in Winnipeg, or at any Dominion Lands Office in Manitoba or the North-west Territories, information as to the lands that are open for entry, and from the officers in charge, free of expense, advice and assistance in securing lands to suit them. Full information respecting the land, timber, coal and mineral laws as well as respecting Dominion Lands in the Railway Belt in British Columbia, may be obtained upon application to the Secretary of the Department of the Interior, Ottawa; the Commissioner of Immigration, Winnipeg, Manitoba, or to any of the Dominion Lands Agents in Manitoba or the North-west Territories.

W. W. CORY,
Deputy Minister of the Interior.

N. B.—In addition to Free Grant Lands, to which the Regulations above stated refer, thousands of acres of most desirable lands are available for lease or purchase from railroad and other corporations and private firms in Western Canada.

BETTER THAN GOLDFIELDS NEVADA

The East Pacific Mining Co.

OF HELENA, MONTANA

OFFERS FIFTY THOUSAND SHARES of its Treasury Stock for sale at

$1.50 PER SHARE

All the money received from the sale of this stock will be used to place larger and improved machinery at the mines; to install an electric power line; and install a large compressor and hoist capable of sinking the property at least one thousand feet deeper. When these improvements and betterments are made the cost of operating the mine will be reduced one-half, and good dividends be continuous and certain.

CONCENTRTOR PURCHASED

We have just purchased a concentrator, and we will begin erecting same immediately, and expect to start same by May 10th Dividends will commence about the first of July.

We are much gratified at the number of orders we have received in the last two weeks from letters we have sent to different parties throughout the country, and from present indications all of our first issue of stock will be subscribed for inside of thirty days.

The mills are located twenty miles east of Helena, Montana, and have been worked for a number of years, but after closing down for two years were started up again July, 1904. Up to March 1st, 1905, these mines have produced $1,300,898 93, leaving a net profit of $570,346 85. In the month of November, 1904, we encountered some very high grade ore below the lowest level, which assays as follows:—

	Gold ounces.	Silver ounces.	Value.
No. 1 Assay. West of winze, intermediate drift	3685.60	1197,	$74,406.2
No. 2 Assay. Immediate below No. 4 Tunnel	3851.20	1388.80	77,829.50

In January we pulverized 112 pounds of rich ore, which gave us an average taken from four assays of 885.38 oz. gold and 254.38 oz. silver, with a gold scales caught on screen worth $577.60 per ton, making a total valuation of this ore worth $17,551 74 per ton. This 112 pounds brought us $944 00.

ORE RESERVES

Consist of over 23,000 tons of second class concentrating ore mined and placed upon the different dumps with a gross valuation of $250,000.00 according to measurement, and concentrating and assay tests. Besides there is in the old stopes of the mine over 10,000 tons of concentrating ore with a value of $100,000, and a block of ground in the mine, 500 feet by 134 feet, averaging from six inches to three feet in width, worth over $150,000, and new ore is being placed in sight daily.

With these facts and figures it is asked why any of the stock of this company should be offered for sale at any price. The reason is this: The company desires to spend $75,000 without interfering with the workings of this mine to install improved machinery and develop the mine to a further depth of 1500 feet.

Now is your time to invest in a good paying proposition that will last from ten to fifteen years and pay from two to five cents per share per month during that time. We ask everyone who reads this advertisement to come and visit the property, or make any investigation that they desire. The officers of the company are R. A. Bell, Mining Operator, fifteen years, President; A. L. Smith, Vice-President National Bank of Montana, Treasurer; Wm. H. Dickinson, Cashier National Bank of Montana, Secretary. Marconi Wins Patent Decision

The United States Circuit Court in a sweeping decision has declared that Marconi's patents prohibit others from using the vital and essential parts of all wireless telegraph systems, viz.: The elevated conductors with ground connections. Marconi says that Wireless Telegraphy is impossible without these essentials Permanent injunction and judgment for an accounting and costs has issued against the defendant company under that decision

Remember the record of the Bell Telephone, how all other telephonic inventions were declared infringements and were compelled to pay tribute to Bell and finally to surrender to Bell and be swallowed up by him.

History Repeats Itself

WHAT WIRELESS IS WHY IT WORKS

(This is the fourth and last chapter covering the very interesting subject of wireless telegraphy.)

Synopsis of Preceding Chapters—The first chapter showed that wireless telegraphy was made possible through Science's gift of electricity to the ether. It was only necessary for the inventive genius of man to control the direction of this force. The instruments which have been invented and perfected by Marconi and which make it possible to control this subtle power so that it does his bidding, are described. This is further explained by taking a spoken message and following it through the various steps from the sender to the receiver.

CHAPTER IV.

In the preceding chapters, we have learned that wireless telegraphy is exceedingly simple in theory and practice, because it involves nothing but basic principles and natural forces in almost unaltered form.

If we were on the top of a ten-story building and wished to get some worthless object down to the ground, we would not put it on our shoulder and carry it down, but would simply throw it over the edge of the roof and gravity would do the rest. It is likewise superfluous to use wires for the transmission of electric currents if nature has provided something which makes it possible to accomplish the same work without them. It requires no gift of prophecy to foresee that wires will be discarded just as printing presses worked by hand and sailing vessels for fast trips have been put aside.

Although Fulton gave us a steamboat which we now look upon as a very crude affair, and Howe constructed a cumbersome sewing machine, we cannot but be thankful for what they did. Suppose the ocean greyhound and the modern sewing machine had been perfected within a decade after their invention, it is impossible to imagine what other perfected and highly developed products would now be at our command. In the Marconi system the developments already parallel those of the steamship and sewing machine, which have required from fifty to one hundred years of mechanical experimenting. In other words, Marconi has given us a perfected wireless telegraph within less than ten years of the time when he became convinced that his theories were borne out by facts. It would be the height of absurdity to assume that he has attained the limit of possible development. One cannot but marvel that he should have accomplished so much in so short a time.

A realization that wireless telegraphy is based upon a simple, free-given force of Nature makes a deep study of the science immensely interesting. One cannot refrain from entering the realms of fancy and wondering what will become of the telephone and telegraph wires, the cables and the instruments which are adapted to their use. The future of shipping, of all forms of communication, and, in fact, of every detail of our daily life in times of peace and war may be forced to pass through a stage of complete change because of the simple discovery of the possibility of sending messages from point to point without any visible connection between them. We have at our command a newer, simpler, and better means of applying electricity to the transmission of messages than we ever had before. There is nothing more deserving of your serious thought than this latest product of science—wireless telegraphy.

MARVELOUS CANADIAN EXPANSION

Few residents of Canada fully realise the tremendous expansion which their own country is enjoying. In all lines of industry there is progress, and the last three or four years have seen a commercial growth far beyond the predictions of leading Canadian authorities.

The best evidence of this growth is shown in connection with the railroads and steamships and their allied interests. The Grand Trunk system is to be extended into a transcontinental line, in order to meet the demands of the central and far west, and other transcontinental roads are projected. The records of shipping show a steady increase in volume. The exports and imports are increasing so that they now total over $100,000,000 per annum. The rate of interest is on a par with that of any nation in the world. The interior of the country is becoming more and more densely populated, and a vast tract of fertile soil is rapidly being brought under cultivation. The report of the C. P. R. records over 36,000 acres of land sold to settlers west of Winnipeg. The four leading railroads of Canada weekly return an increase of earnings over a similar period in any previous year. Growth and development are to be expected in any new country, but the Canadian record stands almost alone for the rapidity with which this important progress has been made.

All this has been accomplished

WITHOUT A CANADIAN CABLE

linking this country to a European point. This may seem unimportant, but when one realizes that over $3,000,000 PER YEAR IS SPENT BY CANADIAN CITIZENS for cable messages, and, when it is further realized that this great expenditure passes into the receipt column of cable companies owned in the United States or Europe, the situation assumes a different aspect. Why should this great sum of money go as tribute to outsiders? OUGHT IT NOT TO REMAIN IN CANADA FOR REDISTRIBUTION in the country where it is expended and where it may be TURNED TO FURTHER PROFIT? It is surprising that this tremendous branch of industry is not served by a company owned and operated in Canada.

The Marconi Wireless Telegraph Co. of Canada, Ltd.

will supply this deficiency by the middle of the coming summer. It will TRANSMIT MESSAGES ACROSS THE ATLANTIC and it will do more, for it will also TRANSMIT MESSAGES TO ANY AND ALL SHIPS CROSSING THAT GREAT OCEAN. Signor Marconi is now busily engaged in installing the apparatus at the Glace Bay station which will forever replace any needed cable service

The great growth in every other line is being paralleled by the rapid development of the Marconi system. The increase in shipping is greatly benefitted by the added safety, due to the Marconi stations installed along the Atlantic waterways, which have made shipping in those waters free of former terrors.

The Marconi system CAN HANDLE MESSAGES MORE CHEAPLY THAN THE CABLE. Under present conditions, the cost of a cablegram is further increased by the cost of telegraphing it from a Canadian point to the nearest cable station in the United States. The Canadian Marconi station will practically monopolise the industry of transatlantic messages. It will do so because, when a given company can equal its competitors in the quality of service and can underbid them in the charge therefor, it inevitably gets all the business that is offered.

This is but one of MANY SOURCES OF INCOME for the Canadian Marconi Company. The transatlantic system is but one of the many remunerative Canadian opportunities under the Marconi perfected patents. The shrewdest business men in Canada have recognized what this means, and have placed themselves in a position to SHARE THE PROFITS which this great enterprise is going to enjoy. They have become stockholders of The Marconi Wireless Telegraph Company of Canada, and we have yet to find any one of them who has kept track of the rapid development of the company and who is dissatisfied with its future outlook. The stock is now selling at $5 PER SHARE, and subscriptions will be accepted in any quantity from one share to two hundred shares. The time to invest in this great enterprise is, NOT WHEN IT HAS BEEN FULLY DEVELOPED and has reached a stationary stage. By that time the price of its stock will have so advanced that you can buy but one share for the same money with which you may now purchase hundreds of shares. On the same basis, the dividends will net you only about five per cent. on your investment instead of the FIFTY PER CENT. OR MORE PER YEAR which should be the return if you buy the stock at present prices. We therefore reiterate that sound and conservative judgment should urge you to make a purchase before the price of the stock has advanced, and when there is still an allotment which may be obtained at $5 per share. That means that YOU SHOULD IMMEDIATELY INVEST whatever funds you have in what promises to be a rival of the great Bell Telephone which has long since

The Twentieth Century Mining & Power Co.

LIMITED

Own a monopoly of the water right privileges in the Thunder Mountain mining district, State of Idaho, U.S.A.; seven water rights in all; one developed and in use. The property of the Company consists of over 1400 acres, with plenty of timber for building and mining purposes, a saw mill fully equipped and in operation, a 10-stamp mill now on its way from the R. R. Station to the property, and 40 additional stamps to be purchased at once and installed during the coming summer. This is the largest and most favorably situated property in the district. Some of the tunnels have been driven over 600 ft. cross-cutting many veins, demonstrating that we have an inexhaustible body of ore. The ore bodies are sampled by an assayer every 10 ft., and assays run from 40c. to $600 per ton. The ore is free milling, and can be mined and milled for about $1.00 per ton.

This Company has had a phenomenal growth, and "The Thunder Mountain Prospector," published at Roosevelt, Idaho, where the property is located, states that this Company is three times as large as any other Company operating in the district. 30 men at work on the property. Over $60,000 worth of stock sold within the last 90 days. Only 100,000 shares more to be sold at 25c. per share. You cannot afford to miss this opportunity; investigate at once.

Air Carries Healing Medicine

THAT CURES COLDS, CATARRH AND DISEASES OF THE THROAT LUNGS AND BRONCHIAL TUBES

About the healing power of the air of the pine woods everybody knows, but to supply it in the form of medicine seemed almost beyond realization. After many years of careful study a scientific remedy now known as Catarrhozone has been produced which enables the sufferer to breathe into his lungs all the healing properties of the balsamic pine woods air. This marvellous remedy has conquered catarrh. It unquestionably does cure it permanently.

You cannot fail to be cured by Catarrhozone, because it reaches and destroys the cause of the disease. You simply inhale the antiseptic vapor. It instantly spreads to every part of the breathing organs. The micro-organisms infecting the diseased tissues of your nose, throat and lungs die instantly. There is nothing left to cause inflammation. Any spots that are raw and sore are quickly healed by Catarrhozone and you are soon completely cured.

It is impossible to breathe through a Catarrhozone inhaler without at once feeling better. Your head is cleared of mucous discharge, your nostrils are cleansed of all putrid matter, the phlegm is removed from your throat. Every trace of catarrh is searched out of the system by Catarrhozone, which thoroughly disinfects and purifies every organ of the body.

Catarrhozone is the only natural remedy for catarrh. It cures by cleansing and purifying all diseased tissues, not by deadening the stomach by drugs. It is a clean, simple and satisfactory remedy that is endorsed by the clergy, and universally prescribed by the medical profession because it is scientific and absolutely certain to effect lasting cures.

Don't be misled into accepting a substitute for Catarrhozone, which alone can cure thoroughly. It is so powerfully healing that colds disappear in an hour, coughs in two hours and even chronic catarrh in a comparatively short time. Two months' treatment $1, sample size 25c. At druggists or by mail from N. C. Polson & Co., Hartford, Conn., U.S.A., and Kingston, Ont.

Peterborough at Bisley

Color-Sergt. W. Moore of the 57th Regiment has received word from Major Winter, President of the Dominion Rifle Association to report for membership on the Canadian section of the Bisley team. This is quite an honor, not only to Sergeant Moore, but also to the 57th Regiment to be represented in a corps which will compete with the best marksmen of the Empire. Sergeant Moore belongs to No. 1 Company of the Regiment, and though a comparatively young man at the butts has made a record for himself to be proud of having won a number of valuable prizes. He says that it is his intention to accompany the Bisley team. It is understood that Mr. Geo. Fitzgerald also stood well up in the list of those eligible for selection.

HOW FOOD WORKS

A Sure Way out of Bowel Troubles.

So called "septic appendicitis" will often hang on for years. This is caused by white bread, potatoes and other forms of starchy food that the individual does not properly digest, and it is useless to attempt to make a permanent change by any form of drug, for all drugs "wear out" and in time refuse to benefit where the cause of the disturbance is not removed.

Septic appendicitis is a general term from a diseased condition of the bowels caused from undigested starch, and, as stated above, it may go on for years; yet people must have starchy food.

It is a well established fact among physicians and individuals who have made the experiment, that when bowel disturbances are shown, a change in food must be made, and that the famous predigested food—Grape-Nuts—is the most perfect remedy, for it contains no medicine of any sort, but is made up of the selected parts of wheat and barley in which the starchy part has been changed into the form of sugar that is found in the human intestines after the starchy part of the food has been perfectly digested.

When Grape-Nuts food is used in place of bread or any of the other forms of starch, the body is supplied with the necessary elements already in the form of this sugar (known as "Post sugar") and is therefore ready for immediate assimilation for the first act of digestion has taken place outside of the body and during the process of manufacture.

Absolute certainty of results can be depended upon and the disease relieved by this method.

A prominent Missouri editor tells this cheerful story:

"For three years I suffered from septic appendicitis, with all that involves. The aid of physicians was inadequate, and the difficulty of finding food that would assimilate without great annoyance in the region of the veriform appendix was fairly insurmountable until I struck Grape-Nuts.

"Grape-Nuts I relish and digest comfortably. They have not only proven to be most satisfying and nutritious food, but they have actually healed my ailment. I am, today, after several months use of Grape-Nuts, absolutely free from any disorder whatever—in perfect health—and I attribute my strength of mind and body to Grape-Nuts." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

There's a reason.

THOMAS A. EDISON, the inventor, in mapping out the problems of the future, gives first place to the necessity of fighting the bacteria which give us our diseases. Next to the actual bacteria of disease, the mosquitos and flies are the most dangerous enemies of man. The mosquito with its bite injects into our veins malaria, yellow fever, and other fatal troubles. The fly, with spongy feet, collects the invisible germs of diseases, spreads them over our food and poisons us with typhoid, cholera and other plagues of the human race.

Dr. Pierce, the eminent physician of Buffalo, N. Y., says, "If each person will consider his system as an army of men which he controls as a general, and will see to its proper provisioning and that it has plenty of ammunition in the shape of good red blood, he will be able to overcome the enemy in these germs of disease." Every healthy man has five million red blood corpuscles to every square millimeter of blood. The best tonic for increasing the red blood corpuscles and building up healthy tissue is no doubt Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. This medicine has been on the market for over a third of a century and numbers its cures by the thousand.

Many popular patent medicines or tonics are made up largely of alcohol and will shrink the corpuscles of the blood and make them weaker for resistance. What is needed is an alterative extract, like Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, made of roots and herbs, without the use of alcohol, that will assist the stomach in assimilating or taking from the food such elements as are required for the blood, also an alterative that will assist the activity of the liver and cause it to throw off the poisons in the blood. When we have accomplished this we have put the system in a fortified condition so strong that it can repel the germs of disease which we find everywhere—in the street-cars, the shops, the factories, the bedrooms, wherever many people congregate, or where sunlight and good air do not penetrate.

Accept no substitute for "Golden Medical Discovery," There is nothing "just as good" for diseases of the stomach, blood and lungs.

Neglected constipation means headache, heart-burn, sour stomach, foul taste in the mouth, biliousness, pimples, and palpitation of the heart. Constipation is promptly cured by Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. One for mild cases, otherwise two.

THE NAVAL SITUATION

The present outcry by Japan against French violation of neutrality is probably without any particular justification. Although no positive confirmation has been received, the indications are, as stated yesterday, that the Russian fleet reached Kamranh Harbor on Wednesday, and left on Friday at the expiration of the 48-hour limit, and sailing north 350 miles, again put in at Turan Bay, which it entered on Sunday, and will likely leave to-day. There is little probability of it again staying in any port until it has seized a naval base, arrived at Vladivostock, or battled with the Japanese fleet. Talk of it remaining in the China Sea until Nebogotoff's squadron joins it, which could not be for several weeks, appears to be arrant nonsense, for the very good reason that it would be folly on the part of Admiral Rojestvensky to stay for so long a period in a place where his fleet was in constant danger of attack from the enemy's torpedoes, when he could easily have joined Nebogotoff near Jibutil or in the Indian Ocean and proceeded east together. The fact that Rosajtvensky went on alone, and his whole course of action since then, show a determination to force a fight at the first opportunity, and a confidence in his ability to win. Even if self-preservation were not considered, the certainty of serious international complications if he attempted to use neutral ports for several weeks would have decided him against a protracted delay in the China Sea.

COMING BACK FROM THE WAR

Russian Naval and Military Officers From Pt. Arthur

PORT ARTHUR CAST AWAY

Had Ample Provisions and Ammunition and Could Have Held out Longer

Montreal, April 19.—Nine Russian officers who formed part of the Russian agrrison of Fort Arthur passed through Montreal en route for New York.

They came from Japan, having been released on parole not to serve during the war, and proceeded to Che Foo. From there they went to Hong Kong and thence took ship for Vancouver. On the same train was a party of Russian naval officers also released on parole. The distrust and dislike of the two branches of the service was exemplified by the fact that the two parties have nothing to do with one another but keep entirely apart and distinct.

In conversation with a reporter one of the gentlemen expressed the opinion that Port Arthur could have held out for some time longer. There remained plenty of ammunition, lots of provisions and supplies when the fortress was surrendered.

"No," he remarked, "Stoessel was no hero. He need not have surrendered and there was great indignation among our forces when the announcement was made that the fort would be surrendered."

The rest of the party were more guarded in their expressions of opinion. All stated that the treatment received from the Japanese was excellent. Two of the party had been wounded, one in the shoulder, the other in the arm. They spoke no English, but French and German fluently. On the same train there arrived a party of English sailors. They belonged to three colliers which had been captured by the Japanese while attempting to enter Vladivostok. They stated that the treatment accorded them by the Japanese was excellent. Although the prize court condemned their vessels and contents the Japanese had permitted them to retain possession of their personal effects. They went right on through to New York, where they will take passage for Liverpool.

ANOTHER DREDGE

The "Emmerson" to be Fitted Up and Placed on the Raging Canal

Our local fleet is soon to be increased without depleting the squadrons of either Rojestvensky or Togo. That fine maritime creation, that now graces the waters of the T.V.C., near the Lift Lock, is with due formality to be named the "Emmerson," as a compliment to the well-known public lawgiver.

She will be placed in commission, and put to use in connection with the prosecution of the work on the canal. The machinery will include the engine and boiler and the dredging apparatus. The dredge will be used as an auxiliary to the two at present used by the department. These are the "Trent" and the "Otonabee," one of which has been engaged at work in the river below the American Canal Company's works, making preparations for the utilization of the river for navigation purposes.

With the placing in commission of the new dredge the department will be able to push forward the work of deepening the river and canalizing it in those parts in which at present it is too shallow for navigation, where the dredge will be used at first has not yet been decided. but it is probable that the first consideration will be given to the vicinity of Peterborough.

THE SEPARATE SCHOOL QUESTION

How it is Regarded by our Neighbors

BAFFLES COMPREHENSION

That Sir Wilfrid Would Attempt to Saddle Separate Schools on the West

New York, April 19.—The Evening Post says: The relation of state to religious education, which has sorely disturbed France and England of recent years now becomes an urgent issue in Canada. The western territories of Saskatchewan and Alberta are to be erected into self-governing provinces, and Sir Wilfrid Laurier seeks so to frame their organic law that sectarian schools shall permanently have a right to support from the public funds. Sir Wilfrid, it will be recalled, was the author of the famous Manitoba compromise, which nine years ago put an end to a bitter sectarian strife by secularizing state education, allowing, however, the representatives of any sect half an hour a day for religious instruction in the schoolhouse. In view of the eminent success of this agreement, it baffles comprehension that Sir Wilfrid should now wish to saddle sectarian schools upon the entire North-West. For this volte-face two explanations are given: First, that the Premier finds himself bound by the Constitution to perpetuate Separate schools; next, that the peculiar conditions of the new provinces make a mixed system expedient.

As for the constitutional plea, the British North America Act, the school clauses of which were framed with regard to the conflicting claims of Protestant Toronto and Catholic Quebec, stipulates that when a province is admitted to the Dominion its religious schools shall retain all rights enjoyed at the time of admission. How far Alberta and Saskatchewan, not even geographical names at the promulgation of the British North America Act in 1867, are to be regarded as provinces, is clearly a problem for Canadian legists. There is plausibility, however, in the view that the school clause applied only to provinces actually in being when the organic law was drawn. Much is to be said also for the common sense argument that it is folly to bind an autonomous province perpetually to any from of education. In short, the common sense of Canada will regret that Sir Wilfrid has given the benefit of the doubt not to generous ideals of provincial independence, but to a very contestable and possibly obsolete clause of the Constitution.

But, unluckily, common sense may have rather little to do with the matter one way or the other. While Protestants are trying to starve out existing Catholic schools, Catholics are seeking to secure an inalienable lien upon the public purse. We are told that the Premier has struck hands with the Papal delegate, Mgr. Sbarretti, to restore the Separate school system in Manitoba. It is charged that the extension of that province to Hudson Bay most eagerly desired by its inhabitants, will be made conditional upon abolishing the secular public schools. Rumors of this sort should be received with all reserves; they suggest, however, the heat with which the reopening of the old quarrel has been accompanied.

Now, the picture of Sir Wilfrid hiding under the cassock of the delegate of the holy see is frankly incredible. The Premier is emphatically his own man, and when he both belies his own record and fathers a most unpopular policy, he unquestionably does so for his own reasons. Obscure these reasons certainly are, but it may fairly be assumed that they are political. There are no peculiar social conditions in the great wheat-growing territories which make a Separate school system imperative. In fact, the influx of Protestant settlers from the United States is so great that the vested interests of the Roman Catholic schools would soon be intolerably burdensome. Evidently, Sir Wilfrid's eye was less on the territory of the dispute than on the general political status of the Dominion. It is possible that he sees in an avowedly pro-Catholic policy a means of repairing the disorganization caused in the Liberal stronghold, Quebec, by the resignation of the Parent Ministry, and of pressing the advantage recently gained in Ontario through the overthrow of the Ross Government. But if such be his hope, we believe it will be disappointed. There has been no more jealous advocate of self-government in the past than Sir Wilfrid Laurier. His famous rebuke of the Manitoba school contest rested upon that theory; only recently he has claimed for Canada greater powers of diplomatic negotiation than Great Britain allows her. For him now to regulate in perpetuity the school affairs of autonomous provinces must excite as great dismay among his real friends as bitterness among his enemies.

BACK IN TORONTO

Ex-Premier Ross Reached Toronto Yesterday.]

Toronto, April 18.—Hon. George W. Ross, ex-Premier of Ontario, arrived in Toronto this morning after a visit of some six weeks to Jamaica. He was much browned and considerably improved in health.

"I do not anticipate taking my seat in the House until after the Easter holidays," said he to the reporters.

When asked if he would still retain the leadership of the Opposition, Mr. Ross replied that he would talk about that on some other occasion.

In reply to a question concerning his health, Mr. Ross said; "My rheumatism has not been much relieved, though the rest has been most valuable to me. I come back almost entirely ignorant of the course things have been taking. The last paper I saw was on March 30."

WAR ON TUBERCULOSIS

Big Convention of Medical Men Consider Remedies

Atlanta, Ga., April 18.—Not only the United States, but Germany, France, Italy and even far-away Japan, will be represented at the convention of the American Anti-Tuberculosis League, which will begin in this city to-day. The meetings convened for organization this afternoon in the hall of the House of Representatives of the State capitol. Dr George Brown, of Atlanta, will call the gathering to order, and Governor Terrell will deliver an address of welcome. The roll call will probably show an attendance of nearly 1,000 delegates. These will include not only eminent physicians from all over the country, but also many State and city health officers, members of congress, sanitary experts and others. The sessions of the congress will continue through the greater part of the week. Addresses will be delivered by medical men of International prominence and there will be an exhaustive discussion of recent discoveries and the most advanced methods of fighting the dreaded white plague.

STILL ANOTHER.

Peterborough's Prosperity Attracts The Canada Feather Washing Co.

It is almost getting a chestnut to mention another industry for Peterborough, so fast are they pouring in, or enquiries indicative of their intentions of locating here being received and considered.

The company, which is known as the Canada Feather Washing Company, has permanent branches in many of the larger cities throughout the Province, and will commence operations in Peterborough within a few days. The business, which will include the renovating and cleansing of feather beds, mattresses, etc., is an entirely new branch of business in Peterborough, and one of which the necessity has been much felt. The company will also purchase feathers in any quantity. The process used is the most modern, the special feature being their thorough sterilization and medication.

The company may locate permanently in town, but in any event, will remain for a period of four or five months. The machinery has already arrived and will be installed as soon as quarters can be secured. Several delivery wagons will be in operation in the course of a few days.

The manager, Mr. Harry Sisons, will be in town about the end of the week, and will reside at the Munro House.

There is only one point to be considered, and in this case there is probably room for weighing the matter, as possibly being opposition to already settled companies, viz., will this company come under the Transient Traders' by-law, if they only intend remaining for a few months?

OFFICERS ELECTED

Semi-Annual Meeting of St. Andrew's Y. P. Guild.

On Monday night there was a large turn out of the St. Andrew's Young People's Guild. The Rev. J. A. Potter, in a most interesting address, which was entitled "Glorifying God in Our Recreations," gave the young people some very timely hints as to beneficial places and kinds of amusements. He showed conclusively and in a manner that could hurt no one's feelings, that some kinds of sport are clean, whilst others are detrimental to those engaging in them.

The semi-annual election of officers also took place, resulting as follows.

RUSSIAN USE OF FRENCH PORTS AROUSES ANGER

Anglo-Japanese Alliance Should Now Be Invoked, Says a Japanese Paper---Where is Vice-Admiral Rojestvensky and His Fleet?

Tokio, April 19.—Discussing the presence of vessels of the Russian Second Pacific Squadron at Kamranh Bay, on the east coast of French Indo-China, the Jiji Shimpo declares that the use of the Island of Madagascar by the Russian squadron was a direct and prolonged violation of the principle of neutrality, but, on account of the distance, Japan in that instance simply lodged a protest. Japan, however, insists that Russia is now using Kamranh Bay as a base for action against her opponent, and says Russia intends to use it as the point for effecting a junction with the remaining division of the squadron.

"If the use of Kamranh Bay is continued," the paper adds, "Japan must regard its neutrality as completely ignored, and she will not be obliged to respect neutrality herself. Violations of neutrality in distant ports are not important, but when close to the zone of war, it is impossible to view them with the same leniency."

Necessary for Japan to Notify England and Obtain Her Aid.

The Jiji Shimpo further declares that France is lending the Russians efficient assistance, thus actually joining issue with Russia against Japan, and that it is now necessary for Japan to notify Great Britain, and obtain her cooperation according to the terms of the Anglo-Japanese alliance.

"Protests," the paper asserts, "are unavailing. The time for action has come."

The Nichi Nichi to-day says France has been a party to keeping the location of the Russian squadron a secret, and adds that France does not observe the twenty-four hour rule. But, the Nichi Nichi continues, the spirit of neutrality affords no excuse for extending such hospitality to a belligerent squadron, and it expresses the hope that France will take steps to abide by her obligations and duties as a neutral power.

The Asahi Simbun asserts that France has deliberately kept the presence of the Russian squadron a secret, expresses regret at the fact, and hopes the Government of Japan will act decisively.

The French Government Has Taken All Possible Precautions

Paris, April 19.—The French Government has taken every precaution to secure the observance of neutrality in French waters in Indo China. To this end instructions have been sent to M. Beau, Governor-General of Indo-China, calling his attention to the regulations concerning the observance of neutrality issued at the outset of the war. These are identical with the neutrality rules in force during the Spanish-American war.

It is believed that Admiral de Jonquieres, commander of the French naval forces at Saigon, in proceeding to Kamranh Bay, where part of the Russian Second Pacific Squadron has been seen, is following the Governor-General's instructions.

Only The Japanese Scouts Are South of the Port of Hong Kong

Singapore, April 19.—A correspondent on board the Prince Heinrich is positive he observed five battleships, six cruisers, and a number of colliers anchored in Kamranh Bay, which is a land-locked harbor, about 200 miles north-east of Saigon.

The Japanese fleet, except its scouts, is north of Hong Kong. The Japanese have six battleships and eight first-class cruisers ready for action, besides 12 converted merchantmen, which are used for scouting duty.

The Japanese cannot have six battleships unless the old and small Chin Yuen, captured in the China-Japan war, and the Yashima, which has persistently been reported as sunk by a Russian mine, are included.

The Navy Department Declare The Tsugaru Straits Closed.

Tokio, April 19.—The Navy Department to-day declared Tsugaru Straits a zone of defence, with the usual maritime restrictions.

The Tsugaru Straits are about 500 miles directly east of Vladivostock, and between the Nippon, the principal island of Japan and Yezo, the island to the north. They are regarded as the most natural route for the Russian fleet to take to Vladivostock, but their being close to navigation and the placing of mines, which the declaration signifies, does not necessarily mean that the Japanese will wait to give battle in the straits.

CANADIAN GENERAL ELECTRIC ISSUE NEW STOCK

Total Amount of $2,000,000 Sanctioned--$1,000,000 to be Offered Just Now.

Toronto, April 18.—The shareholders of the Canadian General Electric Company, held a meeting this morning, and decided to increase the capital stock from $3,000,000 to $5,000,000, and to do this by issuing 20,000 shares of common stock at $100 per share.

All of the authorized stock had been taken up and the full amount paid up. To extend the business, as well as to complete several projects in view, it was deemed necessary to make this increase.

Of the stock only 9,000 shares will be issued at present, and there will be offered to holders of common stock to be taken at present, and these will be their holdings, at a premium rate of $125 for every share at $100.

WASTE PAPER.

Do Not Throw Your Waste Paper Loose on the Street.

At this particular time of year, when there is no snow to wet and retain it, and, unusually, high winds to drive it any distance, the custom of throwing waste papers, whether wrapping paper or newspapers, carelessly on the streets is very provocative of accident or possibly death, from runaway horses. Last night, at seven o'clock, a piece of loose paper, caught by the wind, twisting and whirling up George street, frightened a horse attached to a delivery wagon standing in front of a grocery store. The horse took immediate fright, and suddenly turning round, broke a shaft in its efforts to escape this imaginary flying danger. Fortunately its driver who was standing near by, assisted by other citizens succeeded in preventing what seemingly was the start of a furious runaway. The danger is still greater to horses whilst in motion, as it is a horse with cast-iron nerves that will not take fright from a flying piece of paper.

INJURED BY ACCIDENT

Mr. Walter Reid Falls Between Cars at the Cereal Company.

Yesterday morning about 11 o'clock the Dan Spence Ambulance was summoned on an emergency call, and with Mr. Bellegham handling the reins, went at full gallop to the American Cereal Company's Works. It appears a young man, named Walter Reid, was injured, though at the present time it is hard to give anything definite as to the seriousness or otherwise of those injuries.

It appears that Mr. Reid, who is engaged in the shipping department, was carting goods from one car to another. He had a truck load of cases, and was taking it out of one car when the gangway between them dropped, with the result that he fell between the cars, and the truck and cases fell on top of him. Mr. Reid was taken at quick speed, the ambulance not being five minutes elapsed between arrival at the works and leaving, to the Nicholls Hospital, where Dr. Brown attended to his injuries. It was found that he had a cut on his upper lip, which required three stitches to close. His head was also bruised and he was injured in the chest. He was unconscious until after he had reached the hospital, and suffered severely from the shock.

Whether there were any serious internal injuries or not has not as yet been determined, but he is in a condition which requires close medical attention, and it will be some days before he will be altogether out of danger.

As far as can be learned there was no blame attached to the company as it was purely an accident.

EMMIGRATION SLACKENS

Farmers and Others Beginning to Think Peterborough Good Enough

In these columns lately we have recorded the deplorable departure of many of our local people, mainly farmers, who were leaving for the far west and North-west. The C.P.R. traffic in settlers moving from here has lately shown strong symptoms, in this particular, of slackening up.

Only ten or twelve passengers left Peterborough this week for the West, some going on Monday night to Toronto, where they took the 1.45 p.m. train yesterday for Winnipeg. No stock went yesterday, and the C.P.R. agent said that few more cars, if any, would leave, the reason being that people had gone earlier to get their crops in, the earlier spring allowing work on the land some weeks ago.

Although quite a number from this vicinity have left for the West and others are still leaving from nearby parts of Ontario, the marked decrease in emmigration from this town and county, shows that things are considered as giving promise of a satisfactory state of affairs in Peterborough.

PURCHASING FIRE HOSE

Messrs J. J. Turner & Sons Reply to Ald. Johnston

[To the Editor of The Times.]

Dear Sir,—We notice a statement in yesterday's Examiner that Alderman Johnston says Chief Rutherford recommended the Paragon Hose, and that that the Gutta Percha & Rubber Co. will not supply this brand of hose to local dealers, and that we could not purchase this brand of hose at any price, and, as that was the brand of hose required, there was nothing else but to buy it from the manufacturer. Now, when Alderman Johnston makes this statement, he knows, or should know, that it is not a true statement, as we tendered for the Paragon Hose with Couplings, and at the same price as the Corporation paid for it, namely 9½c. per foot for the same hose and made by the same company, and offered to have it sent direct from the factory. We are quite aware that the Rubber Co. would prefer to sell direct to the Corporation, as they do not allow the Corporation the cash discount which they allow the dealer. Alderman Johnston wants to try and make the tax payers believe that he is right, but we do not think they are so easily fooled. We put in the tender for the goods and if we could not get them, we would be very foolish to tender for them. We could have brought the goods from the Gutta Percha & Rubber Co. cheaper than Alderman Johnston bought them, and the tax-payers would have been saved quite a few dollars, but then it is nice to have a trip to Toronto at the tax-payers' expense.

Thanking you, Mr. Editor, for your valuable space, we remain,

Yours respectfully,
J. J. TURNER & SONS.

Peterborough, April 18th.

P.S.—We notice also that Alderman Johnston states that we telephoned to the Gutta Percha and Rubber Co. for prices, and that an irresponsible boy gave the prices to us. Mr. Johnston has not stated the truth in this case, we wrote the Gutta Percha & Rubber Co., on Feb. 11th, 1905, for prices, and copy of letter can be seen in our letter book by anyone who wishes and we have their reply by letter, Feb. 13th, which can also be seen. Mr. Johnston must have a lively imagination, or is it an intentional falsehood on his part? Thanking you for your valuable space, we remain.

Respectfully yours,
J. J. TURNER & SONS.

Police Court

OFFICIALS
Chief of Police, G.I. Hunt
Magistrate, D.W. Dumble

"Not guilty, but don't do it again," is practically the result of his Worship's decision yesterday in the case of Thomas J. Miles, charged, a few days ago, with horse theft. It will be remembered by our readers that this young man hired a horse and rig from a Lundsay liveryman, ostensibly to drive out a few miles into the country, on the understanding that he would be back by noon. Instead of doing this he drove to Springville and tried to sell the horse and rig for $40, worth quite $200. Miles was brought here by P.C. McGinty, and after his trial, Magistrate Dumble reserved judgement to ascertain the young man's antecedents. At yesterday's Court, his Worship gave the young man a heart to heart talk, and, to prevent his surely becoming a confirmed criminal, in case he was sent to prison, allowed him to go on suspended sentence. Should Miles ever, enter this cheap plan of horse dealing again, unknown to the horse's owner, he will find that the horse will throw him badly, throw him over a stone fence, where he will remain till the horse has gone the way of all horse flesh. Miles got off lightly, as all the evidence was dead against him.

The remaining business of the Court was a mutual admiration and love feast. The friction that had entered the otherwise connubial bliss of a matrimonial couple was smoothed over, as was a dispute between a local painter and a lady who had objected to some unlady like remarks made to her by the Knight of the brush. All went merry as a marriage bell.

ANOTHER WAR CLOUD RISING

Serious Strife Between France and Germany

OVER MOROCCO DIFFICULTY

Relations Between the Two Countries is Severely Strained

London, April 19.—Two recent official utterances, one from the French and the other from the German side, furnish addition indication that the relations between the two powers may soon be seriously strained. One of these is the assertion that the French Government sent to Berlin a copy of the Anglo-French agreement regarding Morocco before it was signed, so as to give the German Government an opportunity to express approval or disapproval of its terms; the other is the announcement by Germany's representative in Morocco that the Government intends to protect the autonomy of that State, thus implying rather plainly that it is endangered by the agreement. Instead of a diplomatic opinion about the modus vivendi arrived at by Great Britain and France, there were given to the world two speeches, one by Chancellor Von Buelow in Berlin, the other by the German Emperor in Tangier, conveying much the same announcement of Germany's attitude as her official representative has just put forth.

The immediate results are the outbreak of anti-French spirit in Spain, and the peremptory refusal of the Sultan of Morocco to carry out the political reforms suggested by the French Government. Both are annoying incidents from the standpoint of France, for both Spain and Morocco are her next-door neighbors. The King of Spain is about to visit France and great preparations are making to give him a splendid reception, one feature of it being a naval review in which both British and Spanish ships will participate. On account of her national weakness and the friendliness of her rulers to France, little permanent trouble is likely to be caused by Spain.

It is quite otherwise with Morocco. The Sultan has very little control over many of the wild tribes whose territory marches with the Algerian frontier, and for France the chiefs of these tribes have no more regard than they have for their own titular ruler. To stop their raids a large standing army will be necessary unless the Algerian officials are to have the right of reprisal. But if French troops invade Moroccan territory it is open to the German Government to call this an attack on Morocco's autonomy and to send forces to the Sultan's assistance. Such intervention would at once be pronounced by France a casus belli. Meanwhile, under strong provocation, the French journals display admirable command of temper in dealing with a situation that is at present dangerous and may speedily become critical.

BASEBALL.

Things are shaping up for a great game here on Good Friday and the large crowd that will turn out will see baseball played as it should be. "Yebbie" Flaherty, who returns to Galt in a few days, to again do duty as slab artist for the team of that town, will be in the box for three innings on Good Friday against the strong Progressives of Toronto. Dan McCabe, with Gillespie behind the bat, will also twirl for three innings, Douglass, the new pitcher signed, finishing the game. Pilling, 1b.; Sheridan, 2b.; Shay, ss.; and Stayne, 3b., will complete the infield, while the outfield will be made up with Wareham, Simpson, Connors, and a couple of others.

The game should be a great exhibition as the Progressives have a reputation for playing fast ball, and Manager MacEwan's aggregation appear to be very strong. It will give the fans the opportunity of seeing the local club's new players in action.

Bobby Stayne who has been signed to hold down third base on the local team is a fast little player. He played with the Diamonds at Stanley Park and led the Toronto City League at the bat, batting .356 and fielding .947 leading each players as Billy Redden. Besides being a good player his habits are faultless off and on the field. Bobby will prove a popular player for Peterborough. He will be in the game on Good Friday.

The annual meeting of the Midland League will be held in the Queen's Hotel, Port Hope, on Friday at two o'clock. The delegates from Peterborough will be Messrs. E. E. Layfield, M. Connors and R. MacEwan.

• • • •

Manager MacEwan seems to have in every way made good his promise to give Peterborough a fast team. The aggregation he has collected looks like the real mahogany and they should be well supported by the local fans. Turn out on Good Friday and keep your part of the agreement by encouraging the team.

LACROSSE.

It seems that great interest is awakening this spring in lacrosse circles in Peterborough. The Peterborough Lacrosse Club has held their annual meeting and the general tone of things present prognosticated a successful season here. The financial statement showed a small balance to the good. Mr. George Rickarby said that sooner than have any misunderstanding he would heartily support the local team.

The election of officers took place, resulting as follows;—

Patrons and Patronesses—Mr. and Mrs. A. Elliot, Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Hattan, Mr. and Mrs. H. LeBrun, Mr. T. E. Bradburn, M.P.P., Mr. R. R. Hall, M.P., and Mrs. Hall, Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Stratton, Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Morrow.
Hon. Pres.—Wm. Rudkins.
Hon. Vice Pres.—J. J. Howden.
President—W. S. Davidson.
1st Vice Pres.—Wm. Crowley.
2nd Vice Pres.—Dr. Wightman.
Sec. Treas.—E. M. Best.
Asst. Sec. Treas.—J. Davis.
Executive—H. Morgan, W. Cavanah, R. M. Glover, J. McCabe, and E. McNichall.

The executive appointed the delegates to the annual meeting of the C.L.A. in Toronto on Friday.

The amalgamation of the T.A.S. team with the Peterboroughs ensures good lacrosse players and games this year.

UNION LABEL

PETERBOROUGH, APRIL 19 1905

PROLONGING USEFUL LIFE TO 90

As an offset to the disquieting suggestions of Dr. Osler relative to chloroform as an appropriate treatment for sexagenarians—which, by the way, is something very different from what he really said—Dr. Wiley, Chief of the Bureau of Chemistry, in the Department of Agriculture, Washington, promulgates the conclusion that science has done and is doing much to lengthen the useful span of human life, and may expect in a few years to advance the limit of activity to ninety.

Lest those started on the toboggan slide of old age take too much comfort from this comfortable prediction, it is well that they should bear in mind the qualifications which Dr. Wiley finds necessary for the attainment of the age of ninety. The man who desires to grow very old must start with a good pedigree. This is difficult unless his forefathers were more than ordinarily considerate in providing for him. A good pedigree, from the point of view of vital statistics, is as desirable as an ample inheritance from the social point of view. But if one lacks it, where shall he get it, and what can science do to help him acquire it.

Life must be started right. "Babies must not be too fat," Dr. Wiley does not suggest it, but perhaps he would agree to the proposition that since fat babies start life handicapped and are pretty sure to suffer a retardation of normal development in after life, a due regard for the average would require that they be drowned or otherwise disposed of. Assuming, however, that the human being starts right and is not too fat in infancy, habits must be carefully looked after. "To live long one must live moderately, both as to eating and drinking. It is not necessary to be a prohibitionist, but one must not dissipate." What floodgates of protest will not such dangerous and pernicious liberality of views throw open! One need not envy Dr. Wiley the task of reading and answering his correspondence during the next few months. Again, "Workers should exercise their talents in a way to prolong life, by following the great endeavors by periods devoted to play." No doubt this is true, but whether one may do it or not would seem to depend a good deal upon what he works at and who his employer is. Summing up, Dr. Wiley says:

Scientific facts and developments give assurance that the average human life of usefulness will be increased to seventy years, instead of forty and that the maximum of ordinary activity will be increased from the present threescore years and ten to ninety years. Then there will be more examples of men who have lived properly who will reach a century of life. What used to be regarded as a generation was thirty-three and a third years, but now it is more than forty years.

In matters of this kind it will do one very little good to be an optimist unless he has good basis for his optimism. He must have a good pedigree, and every advantage in heredity. As a baby he must not have been fat. His youth must have been one of judicious temperance and self-restraint. His work must have been so arranged as to permit him to alternate it and play in about equal proportions. He must not eat or drink too much, and it is at least extremely desirable that he should not worry about anything. Under these conditions he may reasonably expect to be alive and in fairly good health at ninety; but as there are a great many more who live to ninety and beyond it than have qualified for it by the methods of Dr. Wiley's prescription, we are not quite sure that the light he has thrown upon the conditions of longevity is as luminous as it might be.

BY-LAW NO.

A By-Law to provide for borrowing the sum o Twenty-Five Thousand Dollars for the purchase of a Site for, and to pay for the erection and equipment of a Fire Hall, the installation of a Fire Alarm System and the purchase of a Chemical Engine, a new Fire Steamer, Extension Ladders and other apparatus for Fire Protection in the Town of Peterborough.

Passed this Day of 1905.

WHEREAS the Fire, Water and Light Committee of the Council of the said Town has reported that it is necessary to provide for improved fire protection by the purchase of suitable land for, and to erect a new and modern Fire Hall thereon, and to equip the same in a proper manner, and to install a fire alarm system, and to purchase a Chemical Fire Engine, a New Fire Steamer, Extension ladders and other necessary apparatus for efficient fire protection in the said town at the estimated cost of twenty-five thousand dollars, and it is desirable to pass this By-law to be submitted to the vote of the duly qualified electors of the Town of Peterborough to authorize the borrowing of the said sum of twenty-five thousand dollars for the purposes aforesaid, which is the amount of the debt intended to be created by this By-law.

AND WHEREAS in order to raise the said sum of twenty-five thousand dollars it will be necessary to issue Debentures of the said Corporation for the said amount.

AND WHEREAS the amount of the whole rateable property of the Municipality, according to the last revised assessment roll, being for the year 1905, is the sum of five million six hundred and fifty-nine thousand six hundred and eighty-nine ($5,659,689).

AND WHEREAS the amount of the existing debenture debt of the Municipality, exclusive of local improvement debts, but including the debt of two hundred and ninety-two thousand dollars ($292,000) incurred for the purchase and improvement of the Waterworks, and the amount of the Debentures authorized, but not yet issued, is the sum of six hundred sixty-six thousand and fifty-six dollars and eighty-one cents ($666,056.81).

AND WHEREAS it will require the sum of one thousand dollars ($1,000) to be raised annually for a period of twenty years, the currency of the debentures to be issued under and by virtue of this By-law to pay the interest of the said debt, and the sum of eight hundred and eighty-four dollars and three cents ($884.03) to be raised annually during the said period for the payment of the said debt, each last mentioned sum being sufficient with the estimated interest on the investment thereof to discharge the said debt when the same becomes payable, making in all the sum of one thousand eight hundred and eighty-four dollars and three cents ($1,884.03) to be raised annually as aforesaid, by a special rate on the whole rateable property of the Municipality.

THE CORPORATION OF THE TOWN OF PETERBOROUGH BY THE COUNCIL THEREOF THEREFORE ENACTS AS FOLLOWS:

1. This By-law shall take effect on the day of the final passing thereof.

2. It shall be lawful for the Corporation of the said Town of Peterborough to borrow the sum of twenty-five thousand dollars for the purposes aforesaid and to issue the debentures of the said Corporation for the said sum, such Debentures to be sealed with the Corporate Seal of the Town of Peterborough and to be signed by the Mayor and Treasurer and countersigned by the Secretary of the Commissioners of the Peterborough Town Trust, and to be made payable within twenty years after the same thereof, and to bear interest at the rate of four per centum per annum, payable half-yearly on the thirtieth day of June and the thirty-first day of December in each year, and to have coupons attached thereto for the payment of such interest; such debentures as to principal and interest to be payable at the office of the Secretary of the Commissioners of the Peterborough Town Trust in the Town of Peterborough.

3. There shall be raised and levied during each year of the currency of the said debentures by a special rate upon all the rateable property of the Municipality, the sum of one thousand dollars ($1,000) for payment of the interest, and the sum of eight hundred and eighty-four dollars and three cents ($884.03) as a sinking fund for the payment of the said debt at the maturity thereof, making together the sum of one thousand eight hundred and eighty-four dollars and three cents ($1,884.03) to be raised annually as aforesaid.

4. The proceeds of the said debentures when sold shall be applied to none or all the purposes following namely:

For the purchase of a site for and the erection of a Fire Hall and the equipment of the same. To instal a fire alarm system. To purchase a Chemical Engine, a new Fire Steamer, Extension Ladders, and other necessary apparatus for fire protection and improvement of the Fire Department.

5. The votes of the electors of the Town of Peterborough qualified to vote upon a By-law for creating debts shall be taken upon this By-law on Thursday, the 4th day of May, 1905, commencing at the hour of 9 o'clock in the forenoon and closing at the hour of 5 o'clock in the afternoon of the same day, at the following polling places and before the following Deputy Returning Officers respectively, that is to say:

Performance

Not Promises

There is all the difference in the world between expectation and realization. There is even a greater difference between promise and performance. In the former case you form your own opinion, and if it is in error, you have none but yourself to blame. In the latter case, you take some one's word or promise for what is to be done, and you place your confidence in them and their judgment. Failure in such a case is a double disappointment, for you have not reaped an expected reward, and your faith in your adviser is shaken.

The history of the wireless telegraph companies reveals that they fall in two classes—THOSE THAT PROMISE and THOSE THAT PERFORM.

The Marconi Companies have never foretold what they are GOING TO DO, but have steadfastly GONE ABOUT THEIR WORK, and when they had ACCOMPLISHED SOMETHING, have made a simple announcement of the fact and have gone on with the next step. Had you rather HEAR PROMISES OF FUTURE SUCCESS or SEE TANGIBLE RESULTS from day to day? MARCONI and his associates have AVOIDED PROMISES and have never made statements which did more than ANNOUNCE his latest ACHIEVEMENT or PERFORMANCE. These performances have succeeded each other with such rapidity that hardly a week passes without some important advance being heralded. THE

(Tel. Co. of Canada Ltd.)

is governed by the same conservatism as the American and English Marconi Companies. It has not made futile PROMISES OF WHAT IT WAS GOING TO DO. IT WAS TOO BUSY IN DOING THINGS. It DOES ITS WORK and never even announces one ACCOMPLISHMENT until it is well on its way to the next ATTAINMENT. DOES NOT SUCH A POLICY APPEAL TO THE CONSERVATIVE INVESTOR? Few details of the tremendous progress made in connection with the installation of the highly successful stations along the Gulf of St. Lawrence were made public until the Commander of the Canadian Marine Service gave his report to the Deputy Commissioner of Fisheries late in the fall. The report showed that the perfect working of each station had been known since midsummer.

The Canadian Company has already completed a net work of successful stations along the St. Lawrence Gulf and there are on Canadian soil thirteen stations already in operation. The Company has already been authorized to build four more stations at prominent points during the coming summer. The transatlantic station at Cape Breton is nearly finished on its same site. The apparatus for installation at that point is constructed and on its way to Cape Breton, where Mr. Marconi is on hand to personally oversee the installation and the successful opening of this great service. These are not promises—they are performances. Compare what Marconi has DONE with what others PROMISE TO DO. Ask yourself a simple question: "If they can do so, why don't they?" The answer suggests a limit. Can you not foresee the great future this Company has before it? Do you not wish to become a sharer in the success which is at its door? You can do so by becoming a stockholder in the Company. You can purchase any amount of stock from one share to two hundred shares at $5 per share. The time to invest is now, before the stock undergoes its certain rise.

FORTUNES ARE BEING MADE IN KANSAS OIL

Here's a fortune for you. Not 10% but 100% and no risk of loss. Giant of the Oil Fields.

The Midland Oil and Gas Company

has over 180 acres of oil land and has put down 10 wells, so the land is proved up. An adjoining additional 80 was secured yesterday, making over 260 acres all in the proven belt. Just read this:

The U. S. report on the oil industry places the average daily production of Pennsylvania wells at only one-half a barrel each per day. The Midland wells are pumping

Sixty Barrels a Day Each.

The pumping plant has just been started and this is the surprising result. Nothing like it in the world. The officers and directors of this company are bank men and do not believe in debts, so the company is free from debt. They have nearly $20,000 in cash and bills receivable in the treasury and everything paid for—property, wells, pumping plant, oil tanks, well cleaning machine and everything connected with the company. Have two drilling rigs working night and day sinking wells. Have abundance of gas, which runs the drills and pumping plant, so it only costs about $5.00 a day to produce and market the oil.

The Company has about 33 per cent of its stock in the treasury as a reserve.

For a short time the Company will sell a little more of its stock at only

From the Kansas City Journal, Feb. 26, 1905.
There is perhaps no people in the same amount of territory in the world who have increased in wealth so rapidly. Everybody is prosperous. Many once poor and hard working families have become immensely wealthy.
Hudge Hale, an old Frisco conductor, has become a millionaire off of oil. He got in the game early. Now he has money as well as oil and gas to burn.
Fred Hetrick, a farmer living near Chanute, had a hard time for years making both ends meet. Life was a hard proposition with him. His royalties now reach $1,000 a month and he is living on easy street.
Jep Heim, of the Kansas City brewery, took a flyer in oil leases. He first put in $500 and refused $12,000 for his investment. Later he put in a lot more money in gas and oil lands and is now figuring high.
George S. Work, the Chicago clothier, took some acres of land near Chanute for a debt a customer owed him. Work's partner refused to stand for the deal, so Work kept the land himself. He has since refused $80,000 for his holdings.
These are a few samples. Hundreds of farmers have become independently rich off their oil royalties, and hundreds of other men have made big money producing oil.
This Kansas oil bearing sand is like the Pennsylvania sand; wells will produce oil for fifty years.
Can give bank references, and dozens from people who have personally examined this great property.

VARICOCELE CURED

NO NAMES USED WITHOUT WRITTEN CONSENT.

Confined to His Home for Weeks.

"Heavy work, severe straining and evil habits in youth brought on a double varicocele. When I worked hard the aching would become severe and I was often laid up for a week at a time. My family physician told me an operation was my only hope—but I dreaded it. I tried several specialists, but soon found out all they wanted was my money. I commenced to look upon all doctors as little better than rogues. One day my boss asked me why I was off work so much and I told him my condition. He advised me to consult Drs. Kennedy and Kergan, as he had taken treatment from them himself and knew they were square and skilful. He wrote them and got the New Method Treatment for me. My progress was somewhat slow and during the first month's treatment I was somewhat discouraged. However, I continued treatment for three months longer and was rewarded with a complete cure. I could only earn $18 a week in a machine shop before treatment, now I am earning $21 and never lose a day. I wish all sufferers knew of your valuable treatment.

JAPANESE NEUTRALITY

Praise for the way Russian Admiral Handled Ships

Hong Kong, April 18.—The German steamer Brunhilda arrived here today from Singapore, and reported that she was stopped for two hours by three Russian cruisers, April 14th, thirty miles north of Cape Padaran. The Brunhilda counted altogether 33 vessels steaming north-northeast at ten knots. The ships appeared to be in good condition.

A report in current here that a portion of the Russian squadron has reached a bay in Chinese waters north of Hong Kong.

Cape Padaran, off the east coast of Cochin-China, is not far south of Kamranh Bay, where it is reported a number of Russian warships are anchored and revictualling.

RUSS SHIPS AT TURAN.

London, April 19.—A special despatch from Hong Kong says that a portion of the Russian squadron was seen Sunday at Turan Bay, about 350 miles north of Kamranh Bay.

Turan Bay is between latitude 16 and latitude 17 north. According to advices from Haifong to a Paris newspaper, forty Russian vessels were recently sighted in that latitude steaming north.

FRENCH LOOKING ON.

Saigon, April 19.—Admiral de Jonquieres has rejoined the French cruiser Descartes in Kamranh Bay, Cochin-China, about 200 miles north-east of Saigon.

"TIME'S UP," SAY JAPS.

Tokio, April 19.—It is calculated here that the Russian squadron arrived at Kamranh Bay at noon April 12, and therefore had been occupying the port 48 hours when seen at noon April 14.

The information received regarding vessels of the Russian squadron being seen at Kamranh Bay, April 14, reached Tokio to-day, and was given to the public through a brief communication from the Navy Department. The news was a surprise because it was generally doubted that France would permit the use of her ports to a belligerent squadron engaged in offensive operations.

FIGHT IN HARBOR.

The Japanese Government is silent on the subject of its intentions, but it is expected that it will make representations to France. The response of France is eagerly awaited, particularly as to whether France admits the squadron was within territorial waters when off Madagascar. If she denies it in this instance, it will give Japan an opportunity to take the Russian vessels without violating France's neutrality.

HOMESTEAD REGULATIONS

Any even numbered section of Dominion lands in Manitoba or the North-west Territories, excepting 8 and 26, which has not been homesteaded, or reserved to provide wood lots for settlers, or for other purposes, may be homesteaded upon by any person who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years of age, to the extent of one-quarter section of 160 acres more or less.

ENTRY

Entry may be made personally at the local land office for the district in which the land to be taken is situate, or if the homesteader desires, he may, on application to the Minister of the Interior, Ottawa; the Commissioner of Immigration Winnipeg, or the local agent for the district in which the land is situate, receive authority for some one to make entry for him. A fee of $10 is charged for a homestead entry.

HOMESTEAD DUTIES

A settler who has been granted an entry for a homestead is required by the provisions of the Dominion Lands Act, and the amendments thereto, to perform the conditions connected therewith, under one of the following plans:

(1) At least six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each year during the term of three years. It is the practice of the Department to require a settler to bring 15 acres under cultivation, but if he prefers he may substitute stock; and 20 head of cattle, to be actually his own property, with buildings for their accommodation, will be accepted instead of the cultivation.

(2) If the father (or mother, if the father is deceased), of any person who is eligible to make a homestead entry under the provisions of this Act, resides upon a farm in the vicinity of the land entered for by such person as a homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence prior to obtaining patent may be satisfied by such person residing with the father or mother.

(3) If a settler was entitled to and has obtained entry for a second homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence prior to obtaining patent may be satisfied by residence upon the first homestead, if the second homestead is in the vicinity of the first homestead.

(4) If the settler has his permanent residence upon farming land owned by him in the vicinity of his homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence may be satisfied by residence upon the said land.

The term "vicinity" used above is meant to indicate the same township, or an adjoining or cornering township.

A settler who avails himself of the provisions of clauses (2), (3) or (4) must cultivate 30 acres of his homestead, or substitute 20 head of stock, with buildings for their accommodation, and have besides 10 acres substantially fenced.

The privilege of a second entry is restricted by law to those settlers only who completed the duties upon their first homesteads to entitle them to patent on or before the 2nd of June, 1889.

Every homesteader who fails to comply with the requirements of the homestead law is liable to have his entry cancelled and the land may again be thrown open for entry.

APPLICATION FOR PATENT

Should be made at the end of three years, before the Local Agent, Sub-Agent or the Homestead Inspector. Before making application for patent the settler must give six months notice in writing to the Commissioner of Dominion Lands at Ottawa of his intention to do so.

INFORMATION

Newly arrived immigrants will receive, at the Immigration Office in Winnipeg, or at any Dominion Lands Office in Manitoba or the North-west Territories, information as to the lands that are open for entry, and from the officers in charge, free of expense, advice and assistance in securing lands to suit them. Full information respecting the land, timber, coal and mineral laws, as well as respecting Dominion Lands in the Railway Belt in British Columbia, may be obtained upon application to the Secretary of the Department of the Interior, Ottawa; the Commissioner of Immigration, Winnipeg, Manitoba, or to any of the Dominion Lands Agents in Manitoba or the North-west Territories.

W. W. CORY,
Deputy Minister of the Interior.

N. B.—In addition to Free Grant Lands, to which the Regulations above stated refer, thousands of acres of most desirable lands are available for lease or purchase from railroad and other corporations and private firms in Western Canada.

WE INVITE YOU, MR. INVESTOR

To join with us in the development of our magnificent acreage in Clear Creek County, Colorado, and to share in the profits that will accrue from this great gold mining enterprise. We are now doing the most careful development work and any shot may open ore. By joining with us now you get stock in an honestly managed, legitimate mining company that has all the ear marks of a dividend payer.

TO HELP US OPEN ORE

And insure the early completion of the tunnel we offer a small block of full paid, non-assessable stock on the monthly payment plan, payable 10 per cent. with subscription, and 10 per cent. a month for 9 months, or for cash at prices that will yield handsome returns.

THIS IS NOT A PROSPECT, BUT A PROVEN MINE

We invite the most rigid investigation. Our capitalization is $1,000,000, par value of shares $1.00 each; $400,000 is treasury stock. The company owns outright, free from debt, 2 full fized mining claims of 5 acres each, two mill sites of 5 acres each, the sunflower placer of 20 acres and the Ora tunnel site 3,000 feet long on Breckenridge mountain, in Upper Union Mining District, Clear Creek County, near the Town of Empire, in one of the richest sections of Colorado. The tunnel is now in a distance of 200 feet and rapid progress is being made under the direction of Mr. Charles H. Morris, a mining engineer of 30 years' standing in Colorado.

Send for engineers report and free literature. We want you to investigate this enterprise. Address

Own a monopoly of the water right privileges in the Thunder Mountain mining district, State of Idaho, U.S.A.; seven water rights in all; one developed and in use. The property of the Company consists of over 1400 acres, with plenty of timber for building and mining purposes, a saw mill fully equipped and in operation, a 10-stamp mill now on its way from the R. R. Station to the property, and 40 additional stamps to be purchased at once and installed during the coming summer. This is the largest and most favorably situated property in the district. Some of the tunnels have been driven over 400 ft., cross-cutting many dikes, demonstrating that we have an inexhaustible body of ore. The ore bodies are sampled by an assayer every 10 ft., and assays run from 40c. to $900 per ton. The ore is free milling, and can be mined and milled for about $1.00 per ton.

This Company has had a phenomenal growth, and "The Thunder Mountain Prospector," published at Roosevelt, Idaho, where the property is located, states that this Company is three times as large as any other Company operating in the district. 30 men at work on the property. Over $60,000 worth of stock sold within the last 90 days. Only 100,000 shares more to be sold at 50c. per share. You cannot afford to miss this opportunity; investigate at once.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

Marconi Wins Patent Decision

The United States Circuit Court in a sweeping decision has declared that Marconi's patents prohibit others from using the vital and essential parts of all wireless telegraph systems, viz.: The elevated conductors with ground connections. Marconi says that Wireless Telegraphy is impossible without these essentials. Permanent injunction and judgment for an accounting and costs has issued against the defendant company under that decision.

Remember the record of the Bell Telephone, how all other telephonic inventions were declared infringements and were compelled to pay tribute to Bell and finally to surrender to Bell and be swallowed up by him.

History Repeats Itself

WHAT WIRELESS IS WHY IT WORKS

(This is the fourth and last chapter covering the very interesting subject of wireless telegraphy.)

Synopsis of Preceding Chapters—The first chapter showed that wireless telegraphy was made possible through Nature's gift of electricity to the air. It was only necessary for the inventive genius of man to control the direction of this force. The instruments which have been invented and perfected by Marconi and which made it possible to control this subtle power so that it does his bidding, are described. This is further explained by taking a specific message and following it through the various steps from the sender to the receiver.

CHAPTER IV.

In the preceding chapters, we have learned that wireless telegraphy is exceedingly simple in theory and practice, because it involves nothing but basic principles and natural forces in almost unaltered form.

If we were on the top of a ten-story building and wished to get some worthless object down to the ground, we would not put it on our shoulder and carry it down, but would simply throw it over the edge of the roof and gravity would do the rest. It is likewise superfluous to use wires for the transmission of electric currents if nature has provided something which makes it possible to accomplish the same work without them. It requires no gift of prophecy to foresee that wires will be discarded just as printing presses worked by hand and sailing vessels for fast trips have been put aside.

Although Fulton gave us a steamboat which we now look upon as a very crude affair, and Howe constructed a cumbersome sewing machine, we cannot but be thankful for what they did. Suppose the ocean greyhound and the modern sewing machine had been perfected within a decade after their invention, it is impossible to imagine what other perfected and highly developed products would now be at our command. In the Marconi system the developments already parallel those of the steamship and sewing machine, which have required from fifty to one hundred years of mechanical experimenting. In other words, Marconi has given us a perfected wireless telegraph within less than ten years of the time when he became convinced that his theories were borne out by facts. It would be the height of absurdity to assume that he has attained the limit of possible development. One cannot but marvel that he should have accomplished so much in so short a time.

A realization that wireless telegraphy is based upon a simple, free-given force of Nature makes a deep study of the science immensely interesting. One cannot refrain from entering the realms of fancy and wondering what will become of the telephone and telegraph wires, the cables and the instruments which are adapted to their use. The future of shipping, of all forms of communication, and, in fact, of every detail of our daily life in times of peace and war may be forced to pass through a stage of complete change because of the simple discovery of the possibility of sending messages from point to point without any visible connection between them. We have at our command a newer, simpler and better means of applying electricity to the transmission of messages than we ever had before. There is nothing more deserving of your serious thought than this latest product of science—wireless telegraphy.

MARVELOUS CANADIAN EXPANSION

Few residents of Canada fully realise the tremendous expansion which their own country is enjoying. In all lines of industry there is progress, and the last three or four years have seen a commercial growth far beyond the predictions of leading Canadian authorities.

The best evidence of this growth is shown in connection with the railroads and steamships and their allied interests. The Grand Trunk system is to be extended into a transcontinental line, in order to meet the demands of the central and far west, and other transcontinental roads are projected. The records of shipping show a steady increase in volume. The exports and imports are increasing so that they now total over $100,000,000 per annum. The rate of interest is on a par with that of any nation in the world. The interior of the country is becoming more and more densely populated, and a vast tract of fertile soil is rapidly being brought under cultivation. The report of the C. P. R. records over 36,000 acres of land sold to settlers west of Winnipeg. The four leading railroads of Canada weekly return an increase of earnings over a similar period in any previous year. Growth and development are to be expected in any new country, but the Canadian record stands almost alone for the rapidity with which this important progress has been made.

All this has been accomplished

WITHOUT A CANADIAN CABLE

linking this country to a European point. This may seem unimportant, but when one realizes that over $3,000,000 PER YEAR IS SPENT BY CANADIAN CITIZENS for cable messages, and, when it is further realized that this great expenditure passes into the receipt column of cable companies owned in the United States or Europe, the situation assumes a different aspect. Why should this great sum of money go as tribute to outsiders? OUGHT IT NOT TO REMAIN IN CANADA FOR REDISTRIBUTION in the country where it is expended and where it may be TURNED TO FURTHER PROFIT? It is surprising that this tremendous branch of industry is not served by a company owned and operated in Canada.

The Marconi Wireless Telegraph Co. of Canada, Ltd.

will supply this deficiency by the middle of the coming summer. It will TRANSMIT MESSAGES ACROSS THE ATLANTIC and it will do more, for it will also TRANSMIT MESSAGES TO ANY AND ALL SHIPS CROSSING THAT GREAT OCEAN. Signor Marconi is now busily engaged in installing the apparatus at the Glace Bay station which will for ever replace any needed cable service.

The great growth in every other line is being paralleled by the rapid development of the Marconi system. The increase in shipping is greatly benefitted by the added safety, due to the Marconi stations installed along the Atlantic waterways, which have made shipping in those waters free of former terrors.

The Marconi system CAN HANDLE MESSAGES MORE CHEAPLY THAN THE CABLE. Under present conditions, the cost of a cablegram is further increased by the cost of telegraphing it from a Canadian point to the nearest cable station in the United States. The Canadian Marconi station will practically monopolize the industry of transatlantic messages. It will do so because, when a given company can equal its competitors in the quality of service and can underbid them in the charge therefor, it inevitably gets all the business that is offered.

This is but one of MANY SOURCES OF INCOME for the Canadian Marconi Company. The transatlantic system is but one of the many remunerative Canadian opportunities under the Marconi erfected patents. The shrewdest business men in Canada have recognised what this means, and have placed themselves in a position to SHARE THE PROFITS which this great enterprise is going to enjoy. They have become stockholders of The Marconi Wireless Telegraph Company of Canada, and we have yet to find any one of them who has kept track of the rapid development of the company and who is dissatisfied with its future outlook. The stock is now selling at $5 PER SHARE, and subscriptions will be accepted in any quantity from one share to two hundred shares. The time to invest in this great enterprise is NOT WHEN IT HAS BEEN FULLY DEVELOPED and has reached a stationary stage. By that time the price of its stock will have so advanced that you can buy but one share for the same money with which you may now purchase hundreds of shares. On the same basis, the dividends will not you only about five per cent. on your investment instead of the FIFTY PER CENT. OR MORE PER YEAR which should be the return if you buy the stock at present prices. We therefore reiterate that sound and conservative judgment should urge you to make a purchase before the price of the stock has advanced, and when there is still an allotment which may be obtained at $5 per share. That means that YOU SHOULD IMMEDIATELY INVEST whatever funds you have in what promises to be a rival of the great Bell Telephone which has long since

Or it may even exceed the brilliant record of that famous corporation.

Thousands Annualy Cured by Catarrhozone

MR. ARCHIBALD BASS, of New Harbor, writes; "Catarrhozone proved itself a remarkable remedy in my case. I suffered terribly from catarrh in the throat and my nose was so stuffed up every morning I could hardly draw my breath. The mucous dropped back into my stomach, spoil my digestion and kept me sick all the time. Catarrhozone relieved in a short time and cured perfectly."

MRS. W. F. BREACH, of Chapman, writes; "I have used a great many catarrh remedies but none of them ever helped like Catarrhozone. It cleared out my nose and throat and stopped a ringing noise in my ears. Catarrhozone is very pleasant and simple to use and many times better than any other catarrh remedy."

MR. LAWRENCE KENNEDY, of New West Annan, says; "For three years I tried doctors but my catarrh grew worse and worse. I got no relief till I used Catarrhozone." It was not very long a curing me so perfectly that the disease has never returned."

MR. JOSEPH De ROCHE, one of the most prominent and highly respected citizens of Loggieville, N.B., says; "I used Catarrhozone for a sore throat, cold in the head and bad cough. I always felt relief immediately. It cured the discharge from my nose and restored my sense of smell lost through the effects of catarrh."

Catarrhozone is simple, convenient and pleasant. It is warranted to instantly relieve and permanently cure.

—Mr. J. S. Kenyman, who is engaged in the telephone and telegraph pole business here, has this year handled 12,000 poles, which took the united efforts of 30 men and 10 teams to get out last winter. The Bell Telephone Company purchased 9,000 of his cut.

—Mr. J. W. Mollroy, who has been appointed city passenger agent for the Canadian Pacific Railway, has leased the residence No. 571 Aylmer street, formerly occupied by Mr. James H. Moore. Mr. Mollroy's wife and family will remove from Galt to Peterborough next week.

—The Woman's Missionary Auxiliary of the Charlotte street Methodist church will hold their annual Easter Thank-offering service in the Lecture Room of the church, this evening, April 19th, at 8 o'clock. There will be a good program, consisting of vocal and instrumental music, and an address by Mrs. (Rev.) A. R. Campbell, on "The Present Aspects of our Work." All are cordially invited to attend.

—The services at St. Luke's during Holy Week, will be:—Wednesday, 8 p.m., Evensong and sermon by the Rev. R. A. Armstrong, B.A., of St. James church, Orillia; Thursday, 4.30, Evensong; Good Friday, 10.30, Morning Prayer and sermon by the Rector, subject, "Watching the Crucified." Offertory for missions to the Jews; 12 to 3 p.m., three hours' service, commemorating the Lord's agony upon the cross, with addresses on the "Seven Words from the Cross." There will be no evening service.

Wayside Tales of April

The April number of Wayside Tales just out is profusely and beautifully illustrated. The original Aubrey Beardsley drawings are reproduced with Oscar Wilde's "Salome," which is continued in this issue, and the fiction is illustrated by Earl Shearer and other leading artists. The short stories this month are unusually clever, particularly "A Dead Hand," by Julia Truitt Bishop, "A Tramp's Last Ditch" by George Elmer McCollough, and "Pearl—A Story of the Occult," by T. A. Bland. For the serious minded there are a number of able and scholarly articles by foremost thinkers and writers of the day, and Lewis Worthington Smith's beautiful "Night and the Crowd" is a literary gem of the first water. At all stands. 10c.

HE WORE A BLANKET

A Curious Incident at the C. P. R. Station

A man wearing a Pullman blanket, a pair of ball-bats, a broad smile and a freshly lighted cigar, glided softly through the waiting room of the C.P.R. yesterday morning. The crowd thought the man was either drunk or crazy, and some were just getting ready to restrain him when he clambered into a carriage and ordered the driver to take him to the Snowden House.

He explained to the driver that he went to bed when the train left Montreal, and not being able to sleep, he got up and went forward into the smoker in his night shirt. At Ottawa the train was divided into two sections, and he and his clothes became separated. He had a trunk with him, so he decided that the best way out of his predicament was to go directly to his trunk. He managed to borrow 50 cents and was thus spared the humiliation as well as the chilliness of riding up town on a street car.

At the hotel the mock Indian was hurried to a room, and retired until his trunk could be brought to him.

COMPLETE DESTRUCTION

House Furniture and Barns Burnt in the Township of Emily.

On Sunday night there occurred in the township of Emily, one of those fast and furious fires, that lacking proper apparatus for extinguishing flames as well as trained hands to fight the firey element, so quickly wipe out a farmer's house and properties.

Mr. R. Donoghue, who lives on concession 11, is a victim of the fire fiend. A fire, which it was supposed originated in a chimney, burst forth in his residence, and quickly spreading, soon had the place so completely enveloped in flame and smoke that by the time assistance was summoned from those engaged in seeding operations, and at distant parts of the farm, or before neighbors could render any real assistance, the place was doomed; the flames quickly spread to the adjacent barns and warehouses, and, fanned by the breeze, were soon roaring merrily. All buildings on Mr. Donoghue's place were completely destroyed, even including the domestic furniture. We understand that there was no insurance on any of the buildings or furniture, at least, there was none a few months ago. Mr. Donoghue in receiving much sympathy from his neighbors, with whom he was very popular, over this heavy loss.

GOING ABROAD

Salvation Army Band to Play in Campbellford on Good Friday.

The fine brass band that nightly discourses sweet strains through our local streets, and incidentally helps to bring a shower of silver into the Army's coffers, is certainly causing those who assisted the Salvationists to procure their fine new instruments to feel that their charity was well applied.

A series of musical entertainments have been arranged for by the Salvation Army Band during Easter Bandmaster Packham of Toronto will come and assist with these meetings. Mr. Packham is a great cornet soloist. He plays God Save the King and other selections in five octaves, and Robin Adair in three.

The first meeting will be given in the barracks here to-morrow evening. On Friday the band will give two entertainments in Campbellford, and on Saturday and Sunday they will hold meetings in Lindsay, returning home on Monday.

The Canadian Pacific Railway will issue return tickets at single fare for the Easter Holidays, good going April 20, 21, 22 23 and 24, returning until April 25th. See regular advertisement in this paper, and secure tickets and all information from W. Mollroy, City Passenger Agent, No. 543 George Street.

Great Labour Saving Device

A machine has recently been invented and will be tested soon by a bank in Philadelphia for counting coins. It can be adjusted as to speed so as to count and wrap up 20,000 coins an hour, doing the work of about ten clerks. The machine used in English banking houses is a weigh scale, into which gold coins are shovelled and returns calculated to a farthing. This great family journal has long been on the lookout for a labor-saving device of this kind.

Obituary

Mr. Robt. Fair, has received word that his cousin, Mr. Julian T. Veeder, died in Pittsburg, Pa., on Thursday, April 13th. The late Mr. Veeder, was for some time, and until four years ago a resident of Peterborough, and was a student at the C.G.E. Works here and during his residence in this town made many friends and was very popular. His family formerly lived in Schenectady, N.Y., but removed to Pittsburg, where deceased lived with his father, Dr. A. T. Veeder. Deceased was 29 years of age and was unmarried.

LILIES OF HEALTH AND BEAUTY.

In a recent interview with Mrs. Lily Langtry, she very wisely said:

"The fact that I believe in the superior force of mind over matter does not blind me to the truth that the foundation of every successful life is good health; that the key-stone to physical beauty is perfect physical health.

"A sick woman cannot be a beautiful woman, nor can she be anything but what we English call a poor-spirited woman.

"To a great extent a woman's beauty is measured by her vitality—by her health.

"Work, Sunshine, Exercise, Water and Soap, Plain, Nourishing Food, Lots of Fresh Air, and a Happy, Contented Spirit—there, as you say, 'honest and true,' is my working rule for youth, youthful spirits and youthful looks."

One great secret of youth and beauty for the young woman or the mother is the proper understanding of her womanly system and well-being. Every woman, young or old, should know herself and her physical make-up. A good way to arrive at this knowledge is to get a good doctor book, such for instance as "The People's Common Sense Medical Adviser," by R. V. Pierce, M. D., which can readily be procured by sending thirty-one cents in one-cent stamps for paper-bound volume, or fifty cents for cloth-bound copy, and addressing Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

"Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription can always be relied upon to cure when everything else fails," writes Mrs. Dr. Nielsen, of 4300 Langley Avenue, Chicago, Ills. "It is a certain cure for female troubles, diseases in their worst forms. I suffered for years with ulceration, intense pains and a dreadful backache, which unfitted me for my work. Finally I grew so ill had to keep to my bed. In this extremity I used 'Favorite Prescription' for three months and then I was well. Only those who have passed through such a siege of sickness as I have will understand how much I value Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription."

Dr. Pierce offers $500 reward for any case of Leucorrhea, Female Weakness, Prolapsus, or Falling of Womb which he cannot cure. All he asks is a fair and reasonable trial of his means of cure. No substitute for "Favorite Prescription" offers so much.

THE NAVAL SITUATION

Definite information concerning the rival fleets is still lacking. A despatch is published in London to-day from Tokio expressing the opinion that Rojestvensky intends to remain in a French Cochin-China port for some time, but this may be only a ruse de guerre. Should such a contingency eventuate, then there would be very strong probability of Japan appealing to Great Britain to make the Anglo-Japanese alliance more than an agreement upon paper. It is true that France officially denies that any aid or countenance to Russia is being lent by officials in Cochin-China; but it is possible for quite a lot of supplies to be sent aboard ship without "official" knowledge. One phase of the day's news which will appeal directly to English-speaking people is that the routes of mail steamers plying between Europe and America and China and Japan are beshrown with floating mines, so that there is very grave danger of innocent folk suffering by the destruction of great merchant vessels.

JAPAN WILL WIN NAVAL BATTLE

Prominent Japanese in Montreal Speaks of War

WILL BECOME CHRISTIAN

No Such Thing as the Yellow Peril Exists

Montreal, April 20.—K. Okura, a young Japanese who wears Occidental clothes and gold-rimmed eye glasses, who speaks of his father as "the pater" and his mother as "the mater," and who has just completed his second year at the University of Cambridge, Eng., arrived in Montreal on Saturday, and is registered at the Windsor.

Mr. Okura is the son of T. Okura, the founder of the great Japanese contracting company, the first Japanese to establish an office abroad (Mr Okura founded his in London nearly forty years ago), and who personally contributed some $400,000 to the Japanese war fund.

Mr. Okura speaks very good English. He should, for he received his early education in a private school in London. He is now on his second visit to Canada. He spoke freely of affairs in Japan.

"Do I think Japan will win? Oh yes, I should say I jolly well think so," he replied.

"We have had the best of it from the start. The next battle will be a naval one. I am sure that the Japanese will win it. Togo will win it. He has just been luring the Russian fleet until he gets it beyond the reach of neutral ports, so that when he hits it, he'll jolly well wipe it out, don't you know."

"I ought to be interested in the naval part of the war, you know, because the pater placed all the first contracts for Japanese warships with the Armstrongs, of Newcastle.

"Both sides are well pleased with their bargain."

"Oh, Japan will win all right," continued Mr. Okura.

"No," he remarked in answer to a query, "there is no such thing as a yellow peril. The Japanese and the Chinese are not the same. I should jolly well say not. The Chinese look upon the Japanese just as they do upon Europeans. There is no possibility of an Asiatic combination under the leadership of Japan. That's all bally rot." Mr. Okura grew quite slangy as he warmed up to his subject.

"Japan has lost nothing of her picturesqueness, of her artistic ideals about which Whistler and Arnold wrote. She has adopted the best of your European civilizations."

"Will she become Christian?" "Yes, but a modernized form of Christianity. Now, in my family, my father is a Christian, my mother is a Buddhist, and me, I'm Shinto. Japan is the one nation in the world where there is perfect religious freedom. A child is not influenced in his youth to adopt any religion. When he becomes of age, when he reaches the age of 21, he can adopt whatever religion he pleases."

Mr. Okura will remain in Montreal for several days, and will then go direct to New York. His trip is purely one of pleasure. He will return in a few weeks' time to England.

MOROCCOBAN WAR CLOUD THICKENS

France and Germany May Come to Blows

FRANCE IN THE RIGHT

And Will Have the Moral Support of Britain and the United States.

London, April 20.—In Morocco the political situation has assumed a phase which calls to mind Salisbury's warning, given some years ago, that the great war between the powers was most likely to occur, not in China, Egypt, Asia Minor, or the Balkans, but in Morocco. France, which has assumed to exercise a sort of suzerainty over the Shereefian Empire, has found her intentions suddenly blocked by the Sultan. More serious still, it is plain enough that the Kaiser has encouraged the revolt, and is the master spirit behind the tottering throne of the Moorish potentate. This makes the rebuff all the harder for France to endure. A situation has been created which may become critical the first minute that the patriotic Frenchman thinks of Alsace and Lorraine. The slumbering hatred between the two nations may spring to arms at a whisper.

FRANCE'S CORRECT ATTITUDE.

So far France has admirably kept her temper in the face of the Kaiser's rather melodramatic and offensive diplomacy. Her attitude has been proper and dignified, while that of the German Emperor has been taken with little regard for the national pride of German Emperor has been taken with little regard for the national pride of France or any other power. When the Anglo-French treaty was signed and France's intentions towards Morocco fully set forth, Germany was notified. That she was notified even before the signing is now alleged. At any rate Germany was not ignored, but was treated as was Spain. It cannot be charged therefore that the course of France was underhand. To the official communication Germany returned a short note, acknowledging the receipt of the French announcement, but made no further sign. A year and a half later the Kaiser suddenly contests the validity of France's claims and foments discord in Morocco. He even makes a personal visit to the Sultan at a critical moment, and thus turns the scales against his ancient enemy.

GERMANY TAKES ADVANTAGE OF WAR.

It is no secret that Germany is taking advantage of the Russo-Japanese war, and of France's financial connection therewith, to make a stand she might have shrunk from were France's money free, and her ally ready to live up to the terms of the Russo-French alliance. Everyone knows that Russia would be unable to help France at present, and might also be unwilling, for the Czar has not received that enthusiastic backing from the French nation which he desired. The assumption that France, without Russian help, is a contemptible adversary to be thwarted at will must be particularly galling to such a fiery and patriotic people, and will have an influence on French public opinion. Britain is, fortunately, out of the game, as she acknowledged French suzerainty in Morocco 18 months ago. Were she not, she would in all probability throw in her lot with France and [illegible] as she may be said of Spain, which also accepted the situation without demur. Now, France having got rid of two of her Moroccan rivals, finds the third openly challenging her. It looks as though Germany had only waited to see France isolated before throwing down the gauntlet.

WHEN WAR WAS NEAR.

It will be recalled that once before France was on the verge of war because of her interests in Morocco, and that England's stake there was so important that she was ready to meet any hostile move on the part of France. At that time the Kaiser, who has never been friendly to Britain, was understood to sympathize with her against France, the reason being not that he hated England less, but France more. It is quite probable that in view of this rupture between France and England the announcement of their agreement a couple of years later came as a complete surprise to Germany. The negotiations which led up to this alliance were not carried on with any particular secrecy, but the impression was that matters relating to the west coast of Africa, Siam and Newfoundland would be decided, and that each power had too many interests in Morocco to withdraw there. Thus the astonishment of diplomatic Europe was great when England relinquished all her Moroccan claims, only stipulating that for 30 years her trade should enjoy equal rights with the trade of France.

FRANCE'S AMBITION.

France's aim is to exert an influence in Morocco tantamount to the British position as regards Algeria and Tunis. Could she extend her sway to Morocco, she would dominate a vast stretch of territory with great possibilities from a commercial and military point of view. Her recent proposal to the Sultan was tantamount to the establishment of a protectorate, since it provided for the administration of the Shereefian Government under French control and direction, and also for the occupation by French troops of various strategical points in the Moorish Empire. To this proposal the Sultan vigorously dissents, and Germany takes the ground that Morocco is an independent and sovereign power, and that she will recognise no intermediary in her dealings with it. Should France decide to push her claims it seems inevitable that she will clash with Germany, unless she can effect her ends by diplomacy with the Sultan, who is a weak and vacillating but well meaning ruler. That the situation is a dangerous one in view of the bad blood between Germany and France cannot be denied. Whether Germany is as pugnacious as she pretends is a problem, and Germany for a generation has never been "asked a question."

Manila, April 20—Three war vessels were sighted at Batangas at 2 o'clock this morning. Their nationality is unknown.

ANNUAL MEETING

Of the Western Bank of Canada Shows a Profit of $78,836.36 for Last Year.

A most gratifying record is that shown by the Western Bank of Canada, as judged by the report of their business transaction and standing at the 23rd annual meeting held on the 28th of February last, with the President in the Chair. The financial statement was most encouraging to all concerned, directorate, shareholders and customers, alike.

The net profits amounted to $78,836.36 or about 18 1-4 per cent. upon the average paid up capital, which added to the balance brought forward, amounts to $81,724.06. Out of this, dividends at the rate of 7 per cent. yearly have been paid to shareholders; $32,500 placed to Rest Account and $11,200.21 carried to Profit and Loss. The deposits of the bank have increased $967,092.25, and the gross assets $718,148.86 over the previous year. The rest account now equals 50 per cent. of the paid up capital.

After the election of the Directorate, John Cowan, Esq., was unanimously elected President. The assets of this notably strong bank, which are all of a most conservative character, amount to $5,162,653.86.

TO-NIGHT'S MEETING

To Determine When and How We Shall Celebrate Our Birth as a City.

It is to be hoped that there will be a large and representative audience in the Council chamber to-night. The subject for discussion is one that interests every one, whether the individual's motives for attending are actuated by business or pleasure. The meeting is called to discuss openly how and when we shall celebrate the fact that we are casting aside the worn out garments of a town to don the garb and dignity of a city. Every one present can obtain an attentive hearing, and everyone may contem the latent spark that might illuminate the decision of those in charge of this important undertaking. The press of the whole Dominion will note, more or less at length, that Peterborough has entered the sisterhood of cities, and it behooves us to do it in a fit and proper manner. If Peterborough is to continue the growth that now characterizes her, we must draw the attention of the country to this focal point of opportunity for investment and industry.

During the past few years we have placed our town in a somewhat analogous position to that of the worst parts of Ireland, where they are kept poor by absentee landlords, a great part of our floating revenue has gone lately to other places every holiday in the rockets of outgoing excursionists. Let us get up a day's amusement that will attract the presence and dollars of the outsiders, and, at the same time, make a red letter day for Peterborough, in the minds of both visitors and citizens.

A good program, augmented by judicious advertising, and managed by men with their minds on the celebration rather than on their own pockets, will ensure a good day for the town, with lasting benefit to the whole community.

THE FALL OF PORT ARTHUR

Thrilling Story by Ellis Ashmead Bartlett

OF LONDON TIMES STAFF

Opera House Filled Last Night to Hear the Great War Correspondent

Had Stoessel sacrificed himself, and held Port Arthur, as he well might have done for three months longer, he would have saved Kuropatkin his recent crushing defeat on the Sheikhe, and retained General Nogi and the third Japanese army before the fortress. This, in brief, was the opinion given by Mr. Ashmead Bartlett, war correspondent of the London Times, who was present throughout the operations at Port Arthur, in his lecture before a large audience in the opera house last evening.

Mr. Bartlett was introduced by Mr. J. H. Burnham, in a few well chosen words.

Mr. Bartlett stated that the Japanese, on entering Port Arthur, found sufficient provisions to last three months. Another fact that showed Stoessel's ability to hold out longer had he so desired, was the large number of the garrison, 24,000 being able to march out at the capitulation. The lecturer's graphic word pictures of the great men of the war in the East—Togo, Nogi and Stoessel—conveyed a distinct idea of the personality of each, and changed them for the audience from mere unpronounceable names in the newspapers, to almost personal acquaintances. The lecture, which was illustrated with many views, was devoted to a brief summary of the early operations before Port Arthur, the later days of the siege, the thrilling attacks on the east and west fortifications, and the fierce fighting before 203 Metre Hill finally fell to the Japanese. Incidents in the daily life in the trenches among the soldiery were told effectively. The Jap's love of cleanliness, his devotion to his Emperor, his carelessness of life, were all touched upon in turn. An inordinate lover of sweets, he would purchase these at the canteen, carry them with him into the trenches, and when he realised that the operations of the next twenty-four hours might end his career, he prepared for the future by eating all his sweets, smoking his last cigarette and cheerfully lying down to sleep, until the word to advance was given. It was seldom the Japanese soldiers refused to advance, even in the face of the hottest fire. Once when a refusal did occur, an entire regiment was sent behind the lines to do three months' recruit drill, and then instead of being given an opportunity to redeem themselves, were put to guard the lines of communication.

GURIOUS STONE-THROWING.

During a large part of the siege the Russian and Japanese trenches were not more than fifty or sixty yards apart, and on one occasion a Japanese soldier was struck on the head by a stone thrown from the enemy's lines. Examining it he found a letter from a Russian officer asking that an enclosed despatch to his mother might be forwarded to Russia. The letter contained ten roubles to pay for its transmission. Finding that the amount was fifteen roubles short, the Japanese soldiers made up the amount themselves and next day threw a stone into the Russian lines with a message saying the despatch had been sent, and that they had collected the money necessary to send it. Later, the Russians sent another stone into the trenches thanking the Japs for their courtesy and enclosing the fifteen roubles.

Another side of the picture was presented by Mr. Bartlett, when he told of the trenches lined with mealie stalks, filled with dead and dying Japanese into which the Russians poured oil, and burned to death hundreds of the Mikado's soldiers. The wonderful control of the army exercised by the general in command, owing to the perfect telephone service, was especially emphasized by the lecturer. Whether he was a hundred yards or ten miles away the general was constantly in communication with the outlying trenches, and the word of command for a sortie was given by pressing a telephone button. The difficulties of supplying the commissariat department of the Japanese army were pointed out by Mr. Bartlett, and also the discomfort experienced by the soldiery in their little shelters. On very cold days hostilities were entirely suspended and the men retired like rabbits to their burrows. At times the cold was so intense that it was impossible to go out with the face uncovered. During warm weather, the correspondents lived in tents, but later the Chinese, at the request of the authorities, gave up half their houses to the correspondents. Mr. Bartlett occupied one room of a two-roomed house, while sixteen people occupied the other. The Chinese were principally employed by the Japanese as stretcher-bearers, and as the fighting was practically continuous, they had plenty to do.

THE FINAL FIGHT.

The description of the final fight to obtain 203 Metre Hill, important because it commanded the harbor, was most interesting. Seventeen times had the Japs been pulsed before they finally succeeded. Prior to the eighteenth, and successful attempt, the General commanding had all the regimental colors collected and on them each regiment swore to win or die. In spite of the Japanese belief that they were instrumental in sinking the Russian war ships in the harbor, Mr. Bartlett expressed the belief that the Russians opened the valves causing their own vessels to sink in the shallow harbor. Prior to the surrender they dismantled the vessels, and made them utterly useless.

The capitulation, the interview between the Japanese and Russian officers, and the final evacuation were all described. Stoessel's first query was as to the whereabouts of Kuropatkin, his second as to that of Rojestvensky's fleet. In order not to hurt Stoessel's feelings the Japanese did not enter Port Arthur until January 13, after he had left. The treatment of the prisoners of war was excellent, the lecturer expressing the belief that never before had men under similar circumstances been so well treated. There were many women and children in Port Arthur, but so utterly had they lost fear of the shells, that the children played a sort of game in which the town was divided into squares, and they bet into which the next projectile would fall.

Finally, Mr. Bartlett expressed the belief that in the coming naval engagement the odds were with Togo. If Russia were wise she would obtain what terms she could. That they would not be hard terms he was sure, as Japan only wanted an opportunity to develop her resources and infant industries, and find an outlet on the mainland for her population, which was much too large for the country.

At the conclusion of the lecture a vote of thanks to Mr. Bartlett was moved by Col. Edwards and seconded by Mr. Fessenden, and carried amid applause.

SPRING ASSIZES

Mr. Preston K.C., of Napanee, Will be Crown Prosecutor

The Spring Assize Court will open in Peterborough on Tuesday next, April 25th.

Hon. Mr. Justice Anglin will preside. There are several important civil cases which will come up for trial. The criminal docket is light. Mr. Preston, K.C., of Napanee, will be the Crown prosecutor.

A NEW STORE

Mr. Simons Preparing to Move to 403 George Street.

Mr. P. Simons is preparing for his removal, which will take place on or about the 1st of May. He has to vacate his present premises, 403 George street, to make way for the Bank of Ottawa. Mr. Simons will occupy the store immediately north of his present stand, and now occupied by the almond-eyed washee-washee Celestials, Sing Ling, One Thumb, Ding-Dong & Co.

Mr. Simons will make extensive alterations and additions to his new store, that will make it strictly up-to-date. Without any disrespect to our Chinese fellow citizens, it will remove a permanent eyesore from the busy portion of our main thoroughfare when Ling Ding & Co., move on.

RAILWAY OFFICIALS IN TOWN

They Spend the Day Here and Leave for the West.

Peterborough was yesterday visited by some prominent railway men who took advantage of their stop-over to see some of our principal sights of interest, and in particular our world's wonder, the Lift Lock.

Messrs. C. E. E. Usher, General Passenger Agent, Montreal; C. B. Foster, District Passenger Agent, Toronto and J. J. Ross, Travelling Passenger Agent, all of the Canadian Pacific Railway, were here on business, and took advantage of their stopping over to favor The Times with a personal and friendly call. In the afternoon, these gentlemen, accompanied by Mr. W. McIlroy, the new and justly growing popular local agent of the C.P.R. drove in a cab over to the Lift Lock. Here every courtesy was extended to the prominent visitors, who spent a long time overlooking this stupendous work. They expressed themselves as vastly pleased and amazed with the perfect work and the immensity of the Lock. Mr. McIlroy then showed the visitors as much of the town as their limited time allowed. The officials left for the west on completion of their visit.

THE BRIGADE ANGRY

Deputation to Wait on Fire, Water and Light Com. to Protest

At an indignation meeting, held on Tuesday night, by the local firemen, a discussion was carried on over the recent action of the Committee of the Whole. The members decidedly expressed their indignation over the insinuations that had been made. They object to a slur being cast on them as a body for an indiscretion committed by one or more individual members.

They point out that there is at present in force in the brigade a strict set of rules, covering the deportment of its members, and if any member is guilty of an infraction of these rules, he is fined.

They think, and so do others, who have not the honor of belonging to the brigade, that the title of "Dronee" is neither becoming nor applicable. They state that the present trouble has arisen over a man who was not a fireman, and over whose actions the chief had no control.

The brigade has been under the present chief for 25 years, and Mr. Rutherford has been a member of the brigade for 36 years.

It was finally decided to appoint a deputation consisting of Chief Rutherford, Assistant Chief W. Turner, and the secretary, W. Metheral, to wait upon the Fire, Water and Light Committee, and to express to the members of that committee the resentment which the brigade feels at the action taken by the committee.

BRUTAL MURDER

Miss Lowery, of Rodney, Clubbed to Death Yesterday Morning by a Masked Man--She Was Watching Beside a Bed-Ridden Woman, Who Was Compelled to Remain Alone All Night After the Tragedy Occurred.

St. Thomas, April 20.—A brutal murder was committed one mile from Rodney village last night. An unknown tramp entered the house occupied by Miss Lowry and Mrs. Covil, two elderly ladies, and demanded money. Miss Lowry resisted, and the tramp put her out of the house and murdered her. He also brutally assaulted Mrs. Covil, who is an invalid. No trace has been received of the tramp.

WOMEN WERE ALONE.

The murder was committed about midnight at Mrs. Benjamin Covil's residence, Old Rodney. The man knocked at the door and asked for money, and, on being refused, grabbed hold of Miss Eliza Lowry, who is a sister of James Lowry, Rodney, and who lived with Mrs. Covil, dragged her outside, and pounded her head to a jelly with a club. He then re-entered the house, and with threats of violence secured from Mrs. Covil all the money she had.

WAS MIDDLE AGED.

Mrs. Covil was so excited and weak that she was unable to call anyone till eight o'clock this morning, when a boy, passing, was called in by her, and Miss Lowry's mutilated body found. Mrs. Covil describes the man as being tall, middle-aged, wearing stiff hat and frock coat.

NO POWER

P. Hamilton Mfg. Company Shut Down Yesterday.

The Peter Hamilton Mfg. Co., on George street, was as far as the manufacturing department is concerned, shut down all yesterday morning. The trouble arose out of lack of power, something having gone wrong with the machinery. The difficulty was adjusted in the afternoon, when the men were able to resume work.

LICENSEES FOR 1905.

COMMISSIONERS MEET AND CONSIDER APPLICATIONS.

Shop Licenses Only Granted on Fully Complying with All Requirements of the Law.

Yesterday's session of the License Commissioners, caused many of our former license holders to sit on the anxious seat for some time, as there was a rumor current throughout the town that three heads of applicants were to be decapitated.

There were present Messrs. M. A. Morrison, chairman; H. LeBrun, J. Griffin, and George Cochrane, inspector, and secretary.

Two of the applications for hotel licenses in Peterborough were laid over, and three were granted, subject to inspection, all the others being granted.

One hotel license in Lakefield was extended one month to allow the holder to dispose of it. Only one shop license was granted in Peterborough, the others failing to comply with the provisions of the law, which on this matter is not only explicit but peremptory. It says, in few-et words, that liquor and groceries must be kept absolutely apart, not as now done in a half manner. The employes of the liquor store, as well as the manager, must be engaged in the one line of business exclusively, and that none of the grocery clerks or employes must have any connection with the liquor store.

A deputation waited upon the Commissioners representing the Peterborough Ministerial Association, composed of Rev. J. C. Davidson, president; Rev. Dr. Crothers, Rev. J. G. Lewis, and Rev. E. A. Langfeldt.

Rev. J. G. Potter was also present, representing the Peterborough Prohibitory Union.

A resolution, passed by the Association, was presented by the president, which asked the Commissioners to limit the number of licenses, and to see that the law was observed to the letter. A letter signed by Messrs. R. E. Layfield, President, and other officers and committeemen of the Young Conservative Club, on behalf of the club, comprising some 700 young men, asking the Commissioners to do their duty without fear or favor, regardless of party pressure. They protested against the issuance of licenses to certain hotels in town under present ownership, as these hotels, as run, are simply drinking holes and abodes of loafers and drunkards. The club also asked that the Inspector now carry out and enforce the law, and not as in the past be subservent to the powers that be.

They further request that the present inspector's report be not adopted without the fullest investigation, as it has heretofore been notoriously unfair and partizan in his carrying out his duties.

The applications considered, with the method of disposing of them, were as follows;

Geo. N. Graham, tavern, Peterborough, granted, subject to inspection.

R. J. Munro, tavern, Peterborough, granted.

J. B. Laroque, tavern, Peterborough, granted.

Stephen Holland, tavern, Peterborough, granted.

George Liggett, tavern, Peterborough, granted.

T. Cavanagh, tavern, Peterborough, granted, subject to inspection.

Margaret O'Shea, tavern, Peterborough granted.

Austin Dunn, tavern, Peterborough, laid over.

James Flynn, tavern, Peterborough, granted.

Mary Bowman, tavern, Peterborough, granted.

M. C. Tuley, tavern, Peterborgeouh laid over.

J. M. Brooks, tavern, Peterborough, granted, subject to inspection.

John Clancy, tavern, Peterborough, granted.

James Allen, tavern, Peterborough license transferred to Rickerby Bros.

R. B. Jackson, tavern, Peterborough, granted.

Patrick Horan, tavern, Peterborough, granted.

John C. Conroy, tavern, Peterborough, granted.

Geo. White, tavern, Peterborough granted.

Jas. Dolan, tavern, Peterborough laid over.

F. J. Mitchell, shop, Peterborough, laid over.

J. C. Sullivan, shop, Peterborough, laid over.

Lucy Brown, shop, Peterborough, laid over.

Alex. Elliott, shop, Peterborough, granted.

Wm. Collins, shop, Peterborough, laid over.

Chas. A. Kelly, shop, Peterborough, laid over.

Alex. Elliott, wholesale, Peterborough, granted.

Wm. Leahy, tavern, Lakefield, granted.

J. M. Furlong, tavern, Lakefield, extended one month.

Jas. E. Kearney, wholesale, Smith, not granted.

George Brown, Wholesale, Smith, not granted.

The following resolution was passed by the Board;

"Resolved that all holders of hotel licenses shall be required to leave their bar room windows entirely free from blinds, screens or any other obstruction, during prohibited hours, and that no chairs, seats or lounges shall be allowed in the bar room."

The Commissioners authorized the issuing of the following open letter to all holders of liquor licenses in the riding;

To Licensed Victuller of West Peterborough;

Gentlemen,—Having been honored by the Government with the appointment of License Commissioners for West Peterborough, we take this opportunity of addressing you, asking for your co-operation in the enforcement of the Liquor License Act.

It is the policy as laid down by the Government that the law shall be enforced, therefore our duty is clear, and we have instructed the Inspector to see that the will of the Government is carried out. This we consider reasonable, for on several occasions the people have voted for a prohibitory measure and not having received it, are entitled to a strict enforcement of the existing laws. Also to the licensee who observes the law. It is but fair that his competitors should do likewise. And it is our opinion that a rigid enforcement and observance of the present statutes together with any amendments that may from time to time be made, would meet to a certain extent the demand for a prohibitory law, thereby leaving you in peaceful possession of your business from time to come.

If for any reason it becomes expedient to reduce the number of licenses in the town of Peterborough or any of the municipalities under our jurisdiction, the men who are the most lax in their observance of the law will be the ones cut off. Such offences as supplying liquor to minors, to men already intoxicated, to Indians, and selling during prohibitory hours, will be breaches of the law that should disqualify a man for a renewal of his license.

Trusting that you will do your duty as faithful observers of the law.

Yours faithfully,

Signed.

M. A. MORRISON
H. LEBRUN.
J. GRIFFIN,
Commissioners.

The Board then adjourned to meet on Saturday, April 29th.

Mr. John Allen is a gentleman who honors Bobcaygeon by calling it "Home." Mr. Allen should remain in Bobcaygeon; the sights and gaities of town life upset his reason. At least town tones is too much for his thought-box and when he run up against Peterborough sanglefoot, Mr. Allen loses control of his common sense and decency. At yesterday morning's court he was charged with indecent exposure and several other things contrary to the peace and etiquette of Peterborough. On Tuesday John got a fairly large cargo of 48 underproof whiskey aboard and sailed from the Port of Common sense to be wrecked on the bar of Justice. He entered a private house, without waiting for the formality of an invitation, and unknown by or to the inmates. Then John's wits entirely went back on him; he stripped off his coat and vest and more. The police were notified and yesterday morning, his Worship after giving him a tongue thrashing, fined the wanderer from Bobcaygeon, 05 with costs of $4.60.

John could have saved $9.60 plus the price of his house, in addition to a swelled head by remaining at home employed in the saw-mill. For recreation he could have purchased a copy of Bro. Smiff's Independent.

UNION LABEL

PETERBOROUGH, APRIL 20 1905

BRITAIN'S EASTERN ALLY

Mr. Joseph Chamberlain, at the Liberal Unionist Club yesterday, struck a strong keynote on the Anglo-Japanese alliance, not before it was wanting. He spoke of it as one of the greatest diplomatic achievements of the last quarter century, and promised the Liberal Unionist support to Lord Lansdowne in carrying out the treaty in letter and spirit. Mr. Chamberlain believed that a defensive understanding between Britain and Japan would make for long peace in the far East, and secure their mutual possessions.

The existing alliance was signed on January 30th, 1902, for the period of five years. Since the war broke out, in February, 1904, Britain has not had forced upon her any onerous obligation in connection with it. If there has been a benevolent neutrality it has been exercised rather toward Russia than her ally. Ships have left her shores to join the Russian fleet, coal has been allowed from Cardiff to replenish Russia's supply, and in the matter of the North Sea fishermen, Japan was permitted to be put on trial as a reason for firing upon British seamen. Yet Japan has not complained. She has fought the war without the least attempt at British entanglement, and has shown an example of good faith and moderation throughout that has won the favorable regard of all nations.

For Great Britain, according to Alfred Stead, a luminous writer on this Anglo-Japanese relationship, the gains from the treaty, even before the war, were substantial. British diplomacy assumed a new importance at Pekin, when backed by Japan, and amongst other results the Thibetan expedition was rendered possible. Since the war began the advantages to British diplomacy in Europe have been very considerable. There can be no doubt that Great Britain got the best of the bargain, Great Britain is envied throughout Europe in having seen clearly enough to ally herself to the coming power before the world knew Japan's worth.

There are statesmen in England who have not taken this view, and who seem to have little care whether the treaty is renewed or not. Yet men of the world like Mr. Stead declare that on the ground of "expediency" alone, it will pay England better to be allied to Japan than to return to her former "splendid isolation." Mr. Joseph Chamberlain strongly coincides with this view. He evidently realizes that the time is ripe for the nation to speak out for a renewal of the treaty under which peace and commerce can be secured with the permanent protection of the outlying portions of both nations.

As things are in Europe, a faithful ally is a rare possession. It has been shown that on the continent and in the far East the Japanese alliance means great things for Great Britain. The Japanese are quite ready to keep it up and extend its scope. It is of as much importance to Britain to be supported by Japan in China. It is of equal importance to Japan to be supported by Britain in maintaining the foothold gained as the result of the war. Japan advocates a widening of the alliance to cover the questions of Persia, of Thibet, of India, as well as those of Manchuria, China and Corea, among her newly-acquired interests. Japan says in effect, "Let each ally have equal rights and benefits; let the alliance, instead of limiting the extent of the war, serve as a means of preventing all wars. The danger is equally great for both, because Russia will not more easily forget Thibet than Manchuria."

Their Great British Ally can look with greater advantages from the Japanese alliance should she wish. On the other hand, if the treaty lapsed through British action or inaction, there would be cause for anxiety. There are already in Australia and elsewhere existing questions which, quiescent during the alliance, would come up for settlement were there no alliance. Nor could Japan be blamed, if she were cast off, for seeking Asiatic friends. The effect upon the native races subject to Great Britain in Asia is thus worthy of consideration. The progress of Japan has fired their imagination, but they refrain from seeking her as a leader because Japan is the friend of Great Britain. All which is held to prove that, on the score of national expediency, if on no other, it is well not only to continue the alliance with Japan, but to preserve international morality in all dealings with such an ally.

EDITORIAL COMMENT.

Monsignor Sbarretti is an Italian. He is not here as a preacher, or a teacher, or a ruler in the church; but altogether as a diplomatist and a politician. He succeeds two others, the first of whom had sufficient power to suppress those bishops who held the promises of Liberal members and were asking for the fulfilment. If the price of leaving Manitoba partly free was the compact that the remainder of the West should be bound for all time to Separate schools, that was a good bargain on the part of Monsignor Merry Del Val and his successors. But the great desire of Manitoba for extension so that she would not be effaced by her neighbors, gave the present delegate and these politicians with whom he was acting a new opportunity and he sought to make the most of it by opening negotiations which he seems to have hoped to keep secret.

Bobcaygeon Independent: A movement is said to be on foot to ask certain members of Parliament to resign. It would be a good plan. No important measure should be permitted to pass through Parliament, not having been before the people at an election, without the sanction of a popular plebiscite. Provision should be made, that a petition by a certain number of citizens should prevent the third reading of the bill, until the opinion of the people is taken by popular vote.

FRANCE'S NOBLE EXAMPLE

COMPLETE SEPARATION OF CHURCH AND STATE

A National Public School is to be Instituted in Which no Roman Catholic Dogmas will be Taught

Paris, April 18.—It is apparent that nothing will satisfy the French people except the total separation of the church and state. A national school, which will be absolutely free from religious sects, will be instituted. M. Dreschael, ex-President of the Chamber of Deputies, and a member of the Academy, in an interview on this question, expresses himself as follows:

"The question before the country is substantially the abandonment of the regime that has governed for five centuries the relations of France with the Catholic church, and the creation of a new one.

"The mixing of politics with religion is odious, but the work of separation should be undertaken in a common effort of equity. A grave question is that of the devolution of property, and I believe this phase of the case should be dealt with by means of a special law. In my opinion, it would be unjust to hand over purely and simply to the Communes edifices erected. It is true, on property belonging to the Communes, but with the money of churchmen. The only thing to avoid is furnishing weapons to the opponents of separation.

"The separation of church and state must be absolute, if we will have a peaceful solution of this important question. It must be remembered that France today was not what she was centuries ago, when 98 per cent. of her population were of one religious belief. Today, we are a people of sects innumerable, and the only remedy for a peaceful future for the Republic is total separation. A state subjugated to a clerical policy is condemned to perish."

Performance Not Promises

There is all the difference in the world between expectation and realization. There is even a greater difference between promise and performance. In the former case you form your own opinion, and if it is in error, you have none but yourself to blame. In the latter case, you take some one's word or promise for what is to be done, and you place your confidence in them and their judgment. Failure in such a case in a double disappointment, for you have not reaped an expected reward, and your faith in your adviser is shaken.

The history of the wireless telegraph companies reveals that they fall in two classes—THOSE THAT PROMISE and THOSE THAT PERFORM.

The Marconi Companies have never foretold what they are GOING TO DO, but have steadfastly GONE ABOUT THEIR WORK, and when they had ACCOMPLISHED SOMETHING, have made a simple announcement of the fact and have gone on with the next step. Had you rather HEAR PROMISES OF FUTURE SUCCESS or SEE TANGIBLE RESULTS from day to day? MARCONI and his associates have AVOIDED PROMISES and have never made statements which did more than ANNOUNCE his latest ACHIEVEMENT or PERFORMANCE. These performances have succeeded each other with such rapidity that hardly a week passes without some important advance being heralded. THE

(Tel. Co. of Canada Ltd.)

is governed by the same conservatism as the American and English Marconi Companies. It has not made futile PROMISES OF WHAT IT WAS GOING TO DO. IT WAS TOO BUSY IN DOING THINGS. It DOES ITS WORK and never even announces one ACCOMPLISHMENT until it is well on its way to the next ATTAINMENT. DOES NOT SUCH A POLICY APPEAL TO THE CONSERVATIVE INVESTOR? Few details of the tremendous progress made in connection with the installation of the highly successful stations along the Gulf of St. Lawrence were made public until the Commander of the Canadian Marine Service gave his report to the Deputy Commissioner of Fisheries late in the fall. The report showed that the perfect working of each station had been known since midsummer.

The Canadian Company has already completed a net work of successful stations along the St. Lawrence Gulf and there are on Canadian soil thirteen stations already in operation. The Company has already been authorized to build four more stations as prominent points during the ensuing summer. The transatlantic station at Cape Breton is nearly finished on its new site. The apparatus for installation at this point is constructed and on its way to Cape Breton, where Mr. Marconi is on hand to personally oversee the installation and the successful opening of this great service. These are real promises—they are performances. Compare what Marconi has DONE with what others PROMISE TO DO. Ask yourself a simple question: "If they can do so, why don't they?" The answer suggests itself. Can you not see therein the great future this Company has before it? Do you not wish to become a sharer in the success which is at its door? You can do so by becoming a stockholder in the Company. You can purchase any amount of stock from one share to two hundred shares at $5 per share. The time to invest is now, before the stock undergoes its certain rise.

W. SALISBURY, PETERBOROUGH, ONT.

WE INVITE YOU, MR. INVESTOR

To join with us in the development of our magnificent acreage in Clear Creek County, Colorado, and to share in the profits that will accrue from this great gold mining enterprise. We are now doing the most careful development work and any shot may open ore. By joining with us now you get stock in an honestly managed, legitimate mining company that has all the ear marks of a dividend payer.

TO HELP US OPEN ORE

And insure the early completion of the tunnel we offer a small block of full paid, non-assessable stock on the monthly payment plan, payable 10 per cent. with subscription, and 10 per cent. a month for 9 months, or for cash at prices that will yield handsome returns.

THIS IS NOT A PROSPECT, BUT A PROVEN MINE

We invite the most rigid investigation. Our capitalization is $1,000,000, par value of shares $1.00 each; $600,000 is treasury stock. The company owns outright, free from debt, 3 full fixed mining claims of 5 acres each, two mill sites of 5 acres each, the sunflower placer of 20 acres and the Ora tunnel site 2,000 feet long on Breckenridge mountain, in Upper Union Mining District, Clear Creek County, near the Town of Empire, in one of the richest sections of Colorado. The tunnel is now in a distance of 200 feet and rapid progress is being made under the direction of Mr. Charles H. Morris, a mining engineer of 30 years' standing in Colorado.

Send for engineers report and free literature. We want you to investigate this enterprise. Address

FORTUNES ARE BEING MADE IN KANSAS OIL.

Here's a fortune for you. Not 10% but 100% and no risk of loss. Giant of the Oil Fields.

The Midland Oil and Gas Company

has over 180 acres of oil land and has put down 10 wells, so the land is proved up. An adjoining additional 80 was secured yesterday, making over 260 acres all in the proven belt. Just read this:

The U. S. report on the oil industry places the average daily production of Pennsylvania wells at only one-half a barrel each per day. The Midland wells are pumping

Sixty Barrels a Day Each.

The pumping plant has just been started and this is the surprising result. Nothing like it in the world. The officers and directors of this company are bank men and do not believe in debts, so the company is free from debt. They have nearly $20,000 in cash and bills receivable in the treasury and everything paid for—property, wells, pumping plant, oil tanks, well cleaning machine and everything connected with the company. Have two drilling rigs working night and day sinking wells. Have abundance of gas, which runs the drills and pumping plant, so it only costs about $5.00 a day to produce and market the oil.

The Company has about 33 per cent of its stock in the treasury as a reserve.

For a short time the Company will sell a little more of its stock at only

We could talk all day about it and not cover all the strong points. But as the company has this ground properly paid for, there is only one side to it, and that is profit. Don't buy stock in a company that tells you what they will do, but buy in this company, that has proved its property, and every dollar you put in makes it better. From the Kansas City Journal, Feb. 26, 1905.

There is perhaps no people in the same amount of territory in the world who have increased in wealth so rapidly. Everybody is prosperous. Many once poor and hard working families have become immensely wealthy.

Hodge Hale, an old Frisco conductor, has become a millionaire off of oil. He got in the game early. Now he has money as well as oil and gas to burn.

Fred Hetrick, a farmer living near Chanute, had a hard time for years making both ends meet. Life was a hard proposition with him. His royalties now reach $1,000 a month and he is living on easy street.

Joe Heim, of the Kansas City brewery, took a 6700 in oil leases. He first put in $500 and refused $12,000 for his investment. Later he put in a lot more money in gas and oil lands and is now figuring high.

George R. Work, the Chicago clothier, took some acres of land near Chanute for a debt a customer owed him. Work's partner refused to stand for the deal. So Work kept the land himself. He has since refused $60,000 for his holdings.

These are a few samples. Hundreds of farmers have become independently rich off their oil royalties, and hundreds of other men have made big money producing oil.

This Kansas oil boring sand is like the Pennsylvania sand; wells will produce oil for fifty years.

Can give bank references, and dozens from people who have personally examined this great property.

NERVOUS DEBILITY

OUR NEW METHOD TREATMENT will cure you, and make a man of you. Under its influence the brain becomes active, the blood purified so that all pimples, blotches and ulcers heal up; the nerves become strong as steel, so that nervousness, bashfulness and despondency disappear; the eyes become bright, the face full and clear, energy returns to the body, and the moral, physical and sexual systems are invigorated; all drains cease—no more vital waste from the system. The various organs become natural and manly. You feel yourself a man and know marriage cannot be a failure. We invite all the afflicted to consult us confidentially and free of charge. Don't let quacks and fakirs rob you of your hard-earned dollars. WE WILL CURE YOU OR NO PAY.

☞NO NAMES USED WITHOUT WRITTEN CONSENT.

THREATENED WITH PARALYSIS.

Peter E. Summers, of Kalamazoo, Mich., relates his experience:

"I was troubled with Nervous Debility for many years. I lay it to indiscretion and excesses in early youth. I became very despondent and didn't care whether I worked or not. I imagined everybody who looked at me guessed my secret. Imaginative dreams at night weakened me—my back ached, had pains in the back of my head, hands and feet were cold, tired in the morning, poor appetite, fingers were shaky, eyes blurred, hair loose, memory poor, etc. Numbness in the fingers set in and the doctor told me he feared paralysis. I took all kinds of medicines and tried many first-class physicians, wore an electric belt for three months, went to Mt. Clemens for baths, but received little benefit. While at Mt. Clemens I was induced to consult Drs. Kennedy & Kergan, though I had lost all faith in doctors. Like a drowning man I commenced the New Method Treatment and it saved my life. The improvement was like magic—I could feel the vigor going through my nerves. I was cured mentally, physically and sexually. I have sent them many patients and will continue to do so."

TO FIGHT THE UNIONS

Employing Printers Form a Powerful Organization

Chicago, April 19.—The Employing Printers Association, which was organized at Kansas City, Mo., adopted resolutions taking a decided stand against the eight-hour day and the closed shop. In addition to the adoption of the resolution the almost unanimous sentiment among the delegates is against entering into any contracts with organized labor in the future. The resolutions adopted are as follows:

"Resolved, That we are unalterably opposed to the inauguration of the eight-hour day in our respective offices and that under no circumstances will we submit to it and that we will oppose it even to the extent of opening all our offices, believing that the attempt to enforce it will work detriment both to the employer and employee; that all demands for the eight-hour day prior to January 1 next and thereafter shall be resisted according to the tenor fo this resolution.

"Resolved, That any member of this organization who is now conducting a closed shop and who may desire to open the same shall have the moral and financial assistance of this association to accomplish that end, it being understood, however, that nothing in this resolution shall interfere with the honorable discharge of obligations now in force.

"Resolved, That we pledge our hearty co-operation to the United Typothetae of America in combating the demand for the eight-hour day and solicit their co-operation in the same work undertaken by our association.

"Resolved, That the executive committee of this organization is intrusted with power to act to devise ways and means at once for supplying the demands for machine operators and compositors."

It was decided to make the southwestern association an auxiliary to the United Typothetae of America, and each member of the new organization will be expected to contribute liberally to the emergency fund of the United Typothetae between now and January 1, in order that the demands of the International Typographical Union may successfully be resisted.

The southwestern association is expected to gather in all of the employing printers in the southwest during the next few months. This organization, together with the United Typothetae of America, takes in practically all of the large printing establishments of the United States and Canada.

TWO RAILWAYS PURCHASED

Sir Wm. Van Horne and Associates Active in Rio

New York, April 19.—F. S. Pearson, of this city, and his associates, Sir Wm. Van Horne and Ross and McKenzie of Toronto, who are building a great power-generating plant for Rio de Janerio under corporate name of Rio de Janerio Tramway, Light and Power Company, have bought the two most important street railway systems of Rio, viz., Cara Urbanos, and Sao Christivao. The purchase price for these roads was paid in cash in Rio last week, and the new interests are now operating the two railways.

McCarthy on Separate Schools

London, April 19.—Michael McCarthy, who is a Roman Catholic, and author of "Priests and People in Ireland," in a letter in The Chronicle, says: "For several years past I have noticed with regret the spread of priestly power in Canada. I have an intimate knowledge of the evils of sectarian education, as manipulated by priests under the sanction of the Government in Ireland, and I believe no greater misfortune could happen such a colony as Manitoba than the endowment of priests' schools."

A RARE OPPORTUNITY

To obtain a gilt edge investment in a great gold mining enterprise, developing a rich mineral area in an undeveloped mineral empire in Northwestern Colorado

OFFERING OF 150,000 SHARES OF TREASURY STOCK OF THE

UNITED STATES GOLD CORPORATION

For the purpose of carrying out plans necessary to place the property on a dividend basis

The Board of Directors of the United States Gold Corporation estimate that the business of this company can be placed upon a paying and dividend basis, by the completion of the Klondyke tunnel a distance of 700 feet and by the construction of a modern concentration mill of not less than twenty-five tons capacity per day on the property for the treatment of the great bodies of low grade ore, now awaiting treatment. To provide means for the execution of these plans, the Directors of this Company now offer for sale One Hundred and Fifty Thousand shares of Treasury Stock at the nominal price of 15 cents per share for cash.

For the information of investors the Company make the following statement of what a certificate of its stock represents.

Assets and Financial Condition of the United States Gold Corporation

10 per cent dividends returns on investment per annum	66⅔

Careful estimates made by the officers and scientific and practical mill men prove to the satisfaction of this company, that the proceeds from the present treasury stock offering will place the property on a paying basis and the further sale of treasury stock will be withdrawn from the market, leaving a treasury reserve fund of over 600,000 shares.

This great enterprise has passed the prospect stage and upon the completion of our tunnel about June 1st, 1905 the energies of the Company will be entirely devoted to production shipment and treatment of its vast tonnage of ore developed through the Klondyke tunnel estimated at 1000 tons per day.

The officers of this Company court rigid investigation by prospective investors of its properties and management.

Persons desiring stock should mail their application to the United States Gold Corporation at Boulder, Colorado, together with draft for amount of shares desired at 15c. per share, for which a certificate of stock will be issued and sent subscriber by return mail. Do not delay sending application as treasury stock will be taken off the market after this offering is subscribed.

Marconi Wins Patent Decision

The United States Circuit Court in a sweeping decision has declared that Marconi's patents prohibit others from using the vital and essential parts of all wireless telegraph systems, viz.: The elevated conductors with ground connections. Marconi says that Wireless Telegraphy is impossible without these essentials. Permanent injunction and judgment for an accounting and costs has issued against the defendant company under that decision.

Remember the record of the Bell Telephone, how all other telephonic inventions were declared infringements and were compelled to pay tribute to Bell and finally to surrender to Bell and be swallowed up by him.

History Repeats Itself

WHAT WIRELESS IS WHY IT WORKS

(This is the fourth and last chapter covering the very interesting subject of wireless telegraphy.)

Synopsis of Preceding Chapters—The first chapter showed that wireless telegraphy was made possible through Nature's gift of electricity in the air. It was only necessary for the inventive genius of man to control the direction of this force. The instruments which have been invented and perfected by Marconi and which made it possible to control this subtle power so that it does his bidding, are described. This is further explained by taking a possible message and following it through the various steps from the sender to the receiver.

CHAPTER IV.

In the preceding chapters, we have learned that wireless telegraphy is exceedingly simple in theory and practice, because it involves nothing but basic principles and natural forces in almost unlimited form.

If we were on the top of a ten-story building and wished to get some worthless object down to the ground, we would not put it on our shoulder and carry it down, but would simply throw it over the edge of the roof and gravity would do the rest. It is likewise superfluous to use wires for the transmission of electric currents if nature has provided something which makes it possible to accomplish the same work without them. It requires no gift of prophecy to foresee that wires will be discarded just as printing presses worked by hand and sailing vessels for fast trips have been put aside.

Although Fulton gave us a steamboat which we now look upon as a very crude affair, and Howe constructed a cumbersome sewing machine, we cannot but be thankful for what they did. Suppose the ocean greyhound and the modern sewing machine had been perfected within a decade after their invention, it is impossible to imagine what other perfected and highly developed products would now be at our command. In the Marconi system the developments already parallel those of the steamship and sewing machine, which have required from fifty to one hundred years of mechanical experimenting. In other words, Marconi has given us a perfected wireless telegraph within less than ten years of the time when he became convinced that his theories were borne out by facts. It would be the height of absurdity to assume that he has attained the limit of possible development. One cannot but marvel that he should have accomplished so much in so short a time.

A realization that wireless telegraphy is based upon a simple, free-given force of Nature makes a deep study of the science immensely interesting. One cannot refrain from entering the realms of fancy and wondering what will become of the telephone and telegraph wires, the cables and the instruments which are adapted to their use. The future of shipping, of all forms of communication, and, in fact, of every detail of our daily life in times of peace and war may be forced to pass through a stage of complete change because of the simple discovery of the possibility of sending messages from point to point without any visible connection between them. We have at our command a newer, simpler and better means of applying electricity to the transmission of messages than we ever had before. There is nothing more deserving of your serious thought than this latest product of science—wireless telegraphy.

MARVELOUS CANADIAN EXPANSION

Few residents of Canada fully realize the tremendous expansion which their own country is enjoying. In all lines of industry there is progress, and the last three or four years have seen a commercial growth far beyond the predictions of leading Canadian authorities.

The best evidence of this growth is shown in connection with the railroads and steamships and their allied interests. The Grand Trunk system is to be extended into a transcontinental line, in order to meet the demands of the central and far west, and other transcontinental roads are projected. The records of shipping show a steady increase in volume. The exports and imports are increasing so that they now total over $100,000,000 per annum. The rate of interest is on a par with that of any nation in the world. The interior of the country is becoming more and more densely populated, and a vast tract of fertile soil is rapidly being brought under cultivation. The report of the C. P. R. records over 30,000 acres of land sold to settlers west of Winnipeg. The four leading railroads of Canada weekly return an increase of earnings over a similar period in any previous year. Growth and development are to be expected in any new country, but the Canadian record stands almost alone for the rapidity with which this important progress has been made.

All this has been accomplished

WITHOUT A CANADIAN CABLE

linking this country to a European point. This may seem unimportant, but when one realizes that over $3,000,000 PER YEAR IS SPENT BY CANADIAN CITIZENS for cable messages, and, when it is further realized that this great expenditure passes into the receipt column of cable companies owned in the United States or Europe, the situation assumes a different aspect. Why should this great sum of money go as tribute to outsiders? OUGHT IT NOT TO REMAIN IN CANADA FOR REDISTRIBUTION in the country where it is expended and where it may be TURNED TO FURTHER PROFIT? It is surprising that this tremendous branch of industry is not served by a company owned and operated in Canada.

The Marconi Wireless Telegraph Co. of Canada, Ltd.

will supply this deficiency by the middle of the coming summer. It will TRANSMIT MESSAGES ACROSS THE ATLANTIC and it will do more, for it will also TRANSMIT MESSAGES TO ANY AND ALL SHIPS CROSSING THAT GREAT OCEAN. Signor Marconi is now busily engaged in installing the apparatus at the Glace Bay station which will for ever replace any needed cable service.

The great growth in every other line is being paralleled by the rapid development of the Marconi system. The increase in shipping is greatly benefitted by the added safety, due to the Marconi stations installed along the Atlantic waterways, which have made shipping in those waters free of former terrors.

The Marconi system CAN HANDLE MESSAGES MORE CHEAPLY THAN THE CABLE. Under present conditions, the cost of a cablegram is further increased by the cost of telegraphing it from a Canadian point to the nearest cable station in the United States. The Canadian Marconi station will practically monopolize the industry of transatlantic messages. It will do so because, when a given company can equal its competitors in the quality of service and can underbid them in the charge therefor, it inevitably gets all the business that is offered.

This is but one of MANY SOURCES OF INCOME for the Canadian Marconi Company. The transatlantic system is but one of the many remunerative Canadian opportunities under the Marconi erected patents. The shrewdest business men in Canada have recognized what this means, and have placed themselves in a position to SHARE THE PROFITS which this great enterprise is going to enjoy. They have become stockholders of The Marconi Wireless Telegraph Company of Canada, and we have yet to find any one of them who has kept track of the rapid development of the company and who is dissatisfied with its future outlook. The stock is now selling at $5 PER SHARE, and subscriptions will be accepted in any quantity from one share to two hundred shares. The time to invest in this great enterprise is, NOT WHEN IT HAS BEEN FULLY DEVELOPED and has reached a stationary stage. By that time the price of its stock will have so advanced that you can buy but one share for the same money with which you may now purchase hundreds of shares. On the same basis, the dividends will not you only about five per cent. on your investment instead of the FIFTY PER CENT. OR MORE PER YEAR which should be the return if you buy the stock at present prices. We therefore reiterate that sound and conservative judgment should urge you to make a purchase before the price of the stock has advanced, and when there is still an allotment which may be obtained at $5 per share. That means that YOU SHOULD IMMEDIATELY INVEST whatever funds you have in what promises to be a rival of the great Bell Telephone which has long since

HOMESTEAD REGULATIONS

Any even numbered section of Dominion lands in Manitoba or the North-west Territories, excepting 8 and 26, which has not been homesteaded, or reserved to provide wood lots for settlers, or for other purposes, may be homesteaded upon by any person who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years of age, to the extent of one-quarter section of 160 acres more or less.

ENTRY

Entry may be made personally at the local land office for the district in which the land to be taken is situate, or if the homesteader desires, he may, on application to the Minister of the Interior, Ottawa; the Commissioner of Immigration, Winnipeg, or the local agent for the district in which the land is situate, receive authority for some one to make entry for him. A fee of $10 is charged for a homestead entry.

HOMESTEAD DUTIES

A settler who has been granted an entry for a homestead is required by the provisions of the Dominion Lands Act, and the amendments thereto, to perform the conditions connected therewith, under one of the following plans:

[1] At least six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each year during the term of three years. It is the practice of the Department to require a settler to bring 15 acres under cultivation, but if he prefers he may substitute stock; and 20 head of cattle, to be actually his own property, with buildings for their accommodation, will be accepted instead of the cultivation.

[2] If the father (or mother, if the father is deceased), of any person who is eligible to make a homestead entry under the provisions of this Act, resides upon a farm in the vicinity of the land entered for by such person as a homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence prior to obtaining patent may be satisfied by such person residing with the father or mother.

[3] If a settler was entitled to and has obtained entry for a second homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence prior to obtaining patent may be satisfied by residence upon the first homestead, if the second homestead is in the vicinity of the first homestead.

[4] If the settler has his permanent residence upon farming land owned by him in the vicinity of his homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence may be satisfied by residence upon the said land.

The term "vicinity" used above is meant to indicate the same township, or an adjoining or corresponding township.

A settler who avails himself of the provisions of clauses [2], [3] or [4] must cultivate 30 acres of his homestead, or substitute 30 head of stock, with buildings for their accommodation, and have besides 40 acres substantially fenced.

The privilege of a second entry is restricted by law to those settlers only who completed the duties upon their first homesteads to entitle them to patent on or before the 2nd of June, 1889.

Every homesteader who fails to comply with the requirements of the homestead law is liable to have his entry cancelled and the land may again be thrown open for entry.

APPLICATION FOR PATENT

Should be made at the end of three years, before the Local Agent, Sub-Agent or the Homestead Inspector. Before making application for patent the settler must give six months notice in writing to the Commissioner of Dominion Lands at Ottawa of his intention to do so.

INFORMATION

Newly arrived immigrants will receive, at the Immigration Office in Winnipeg, or at any Dominion Lands Office in Manitoba or the North-west Territories, information as to the lands that are open for entry, and from the officers in charge, free of expense, advice and assistance in securing lands to suit them. Full information respecting the land, timber, coal and mineral laws, as well as respecting Dominion Lands in the Railway Belt in British Columbia, may be obtained upon application to the Secretary of the Department of the Interior, Ottawa; the Commissioner of Immigration, Winnipeg, Manitoba, or to any of the Dominion Lands Agents in Manitoba or the North-west Territories.

W. W. CORY,
Deputy Minister of the Interior.

N. B.—In addition to Free Grant Lands, to which the regulations above stated refer, thousands of acres of most desirable lands are available for purchase from railroad and other corporations and private firms in Western Canada.

The Twentieth Century Mining & Power Co.

LIMITED

Own a monopoly of the water right privileges in the Thunder Mountain mining district, State of Idaho, U.S.A.; seven water rights in all; one developed and in use. The property of the Company consists of over 1400 acres with plenty of timber for building and mining purposes, a saw mill fully equipped and in operation, a 10-stamp mill now on its way from the R. R. Station to the property, and 40 additional stamps to be purchased at once and installed during the coming summer. This is the largest and most favorably situated property in the district. Some of the tunnels have been driven over 400 ft., cross-cutting many dikes, demonstrating that we have an inexhaustible body of ore. The ore bodies are sampled by an assayer every 10 ft., and assays run from 40c. to $800 per ton. The ore is free milling, and can be mined and milled for about $1.00 per ton.

This Company has had a phenomenal growth, and "The Thunder Mountain Prospector," published at Roosevelt, Idaho, where the property is located, states that this Company is three times as large as any other Company operating in the district. 30 men at work on the property. Over $60,000 worth of stock sold within the last 90 days. Only 100,000 shares more to be sold at 50c. per share. You cannot afford to miss this opportunity; investigate at once.

Catarrh Cannot be Cured by Dosing

IT IS A LOCAL DISEASE AND IF CURED MUST BE LOCALLY TREATED.

Seven people out of ten suffer from catarrh. There is no lack of medicines, and if dosing would cure, very few cases of catarrh would be found.

You probably have it yourself. How much benefit have you obtained so far from medicine-taking? A little relief is all that you have derived. You have spent lots of money and yet the catarrh is growing worse all the time.

Has it ever occurred to you how desirable and how successful a treatment would be that you could breathe to where the disease existed. Perhaps you have thought about this form of cure but you have been unable to find a remedy that could be pleasantly and safely used.

Try Catarrhosone, it can be broken up by the air and carried in small drops to every part of the breathing organism. It touches the catarrh with healing, that is why it cures.

This healing, balsamic, vegetable substance is so volatile that the air greedily takes up from the inhaler, so antiseptic that it instantly destroys the microbes which produce disease of the breathing organs, and so soothing that it relieves congestion subdues inflammation, and stops mucous discharge.

Plainly Catarrhosone is an ideal remedy for diseases of the throat, lungs and nasal passages. If you have catarrh, bronchitis or asthma all are equally curable by Catarrhosone. You have been told why this is so. These diseases are all modifications of an inflammatory condition of the lining membranes of the throat and nasal passages.

Now, bear in mind, you breathe Catarrhosone. Do you not think this is a rational treatment—a certain way of reaching the diseased surfaces which lie so far in the cavity of the body or in the head that they can be reached in no other way.

You cannot possibly fail to obtain quick cure from any of these maladies if you use Catarrhosone.

All dealers in medicine sell Catarrhosone. Trial, 25c., complete outfit, $1.00, which will last two months and is guaranteed to cure permanently. Sent postpaid to any address by N. C. Polson & Co., Kingston, Ont., and Hartford, Conn., U.S.A.

THE WESTERN BANK OF CANADA

TWENTY-THIRD ANNUAL MEETING OF THE SHAREHOLDERS

The following shareholders were present: John Cowan, W. F. Cowan, J. A. Gibson, R. S. Hamblin, C. W. Scott, Thos. Miller, Dr. McIntosh, Thos. Paterson, W. W. Tamblyn, R. Foster, W. H. Williams, T. H. McMillan, Hy. Swan, John McLaughlin and others.

The President occupied the chair, and Mr. T. H. McMillan acted as Secretary to the meeting.

THE REPORT

The Directors have pleasure in submitting the Twenty-third Annual Report for the year ending on the 28th of February, 1905.

The business of the Bank has continued active and progressive. The net profits of the year have amounted to $78,836.80, or about 16 1-4 per cent. upon the average paid up capital of the Bank, which, added to the balance carried forward from the previous year of $2,897.76, amounts to $81,734.56.

Out of this sum two half-yearly Dividends of 11-2 per cent. each have been paid, absorbing $36,924.81. $32,500 carried to the Rest Account, and $10,-236.25 carried forward to the credit of Profit and Loss.

The Deposits of the Bank have increased $467,068.35, and the circulation $34,640, and the gross assets $715,148.25 over the previous year. The losses of the year were small.

The Rest Account of the Bank now stands at $250,000, which is equal to 50 per cent. of the paid-up capital.

The Agencies of the Bank have been recently inspected, and were found in a satisfactory condition.

JOHN COWAN, President.

Moved by the Chairman, and seconded by Mr. Hamlin, that the report as read be adopted, printed and circulated among the Shareholders.—Carried.

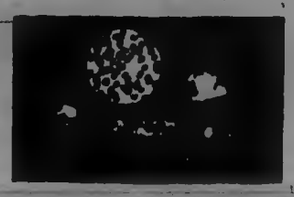
Mr. Foster, seconded by Mr. Swan, moved that the thanks of the Shareholders are due and are hereby tendered to the President, Vice-President and Directors of the Bank for the manner in which they have conducted the affairs of the Bank during the past year.—Carried.

Mr. W. W. Tamblyn, seconded by Mr. Miller, moved that the thanks of the Shareholders be given to the Cashier and other officers of the Bank for their attention to the interests of the Bank.—Carried.

Dr. McIntosh, seconded by Mr. Gibson, moved that this meeting do now proceed to elect, by ballot, seven Directors to fill the place of those retiring, and that Messrs. C. W. Scott and John McLaughlin be scrutineers for said election, and that the poll remain open for one hour to receive the votes of the Shareholders, but that should five minutes elapse at any time without a vote being taken, the poll shall be declared closed, and that the Scrutineers be paid $4 each for their services.—Carried.

The Scrutineers reported the following gentlemen as having received the unanimous vote of the Shareholders, viz.: John Cowan, Esq., R. S. Hamlin, Esq., W. F. Cowan, Esq., Dr. McIntosh, W. F. Allen, Esq., T. Paterson, Esq., and J. A. Gibson, Esq., who were duly elected Directors for the ensuing year. A vote of thanks was then tendered to the Chairman for his able conduct in the chair, and the meeting then adjourned.

At a subsequent meeting of the new Board, John Cowan, Esq., was unanimously elected President and R. S. Hamlin, Esq., Vice-President.



THE GUARDIAN OF OUR BODY.

The foremost biologist of our day, M. Metschnikoff, has shown the world of science that there are leucocytes in our blood that act as scavengers or policemen. These policemen which are called phagocytes look out for the noxious or poisonous elements in our blood. Various offending elements are picked out of the blood and tissues by these policemen and destroyed. Therefore our lives are protected by these blood-cell-policemen, the phagocytes, and we enjoy immunity from disease so long as our blood contains plenty of phagocytes and red blood corpuscles.

"A new broom sweeps clean"—and in order to put our own house in order we must get rid of all the poisons in the blood with a new broom such as an alterative extract made from roots and herbs—without the use of alcohol, as Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, a specific for making rich red blood—for eradicating the poisons from the blood. In some way the policemen in the blood are increased in number and strength—so that we are put in the best possible shape to resist disease—to cure neuralgia, colds, catarrh, and incipient consumption.

"The more study and time is given to the subject the more we find that the blood is the center of life"—says Dr. R. V. Pierce, the noted specialist of Buffalo, "the health and comfort of the average person depends entirely on this blood supply—for the heart must have pure blood or it will not pump and keep the body supplied regularly like the beautiful automatic engine it is. The nerves must be fed on pure blood—or we suffer the pain of neuralgia, which is the cry of the starved nerves for food. Headaches, cold in the head, catarrh—and many other things are due to stagnation of the blood."

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets are a mild laxative. No other medicine equals them for gentleness and thoroughness.

NAPANEE WANTS OWN LIGHT PLANT

TOWN NOW IN DARKNESS

Existing Companies Not in a Position to Furnish Light—People go Around With Lanterns

Toronto, April 20.—The Ontario Government was waited upon yesterday by a deputation from Napanee, which was introduced by Mr. T. G. Carscallen, M.P.P., They come for the purpose of requesting the Government to pass a bill enabling them to build a lighting plant, and thereby put an end to all the town's trouble. At present the streets are dark, and coal oil and candles are the only illuminants, and lanterns have become a necessary article to everybody who wishes to go out after nightfall. On the deputation were;—Mayor Lowrey, A. S. Tunmerly, chairman of the Fire and Light Committee, and Charles A. Walters, Mr. W. F. Herrington, and Mr. C. C. Robinson are acting as counsel for the town.

The position taken by the town is this; There are three lighting companies there—one gas and two electric—yet, notwithstanding this, the streets have not been lighted, except occasionally, for 15 months, and private houses for 18 months. Churches, factories, stores, halls, etc., are also not lighted, except by coal oil. The town is prepared to pay for electric lighting, but can't get it, and can't build a plant of their own because of the Commee Act, which provides that no municipality can build or own a plant until they have made an offer to purchase all existing ones which can or shall furnish light.

ITALIAN STRIKE FAILS

A GASOLINE MOTOR CAR

Union Pacific's Experiment May Lead to Great Results

Omaha, Neb., April 21.—Railway officials who yesterday made a 200-mile trip in the Union Pacific gasoline motor car which will be placed in commission by that road to-day express the opinion that the success of the car will result in a revolution of suburban and branch line railroad passenger and freight service. Yesterday's test of the Union Pacific car was the final one before placing it in practical service between Grand Island and St. Paul, Neb., where it will make two trips daily as a branch train.

TORONTO AND THE C. P. R.

Denied That Queen City Will Presently be Placed on Main Line

Montreal, April 21.—At the head office of the C.P.R. here, it is denied that Toronto will, on the completion of the line to Sudbury, be actually placed on the main line between Montreal and the west in the sense that trains will run from Montreal through Toronto to the west.

The distance which would thus be added to the main line as it exists at present would militate against such a change. The people of Toronto will of course, be given a better and a quicker service between the former points, and the consentanio will be much better maintained. The new line will cut off sixty miles of the space traversed by the G.T.R., over which the C.P.R. now has running rights for one of its cars, which is subsequently attached to the train for the west. A similar arrangement will be continued by the C.P.R., with the difference that the train hauling the car will belong to the company and that faster time and closer connections will be made. Toronto will then, to all intents and purposes, have advantages similar to Montreal in its relation to the main line.

GO TO HAMILTON.

Colonial Ink Company Has Finally Decided to Leave Peterborough.

As noted in the columns of a former issue, the Colonial Ink Company, has for some time had under contemplation, an idea of exchanging Peterborough for Hamilton as their headquarters.

They have finally decided to remove their plant to Hamilton. This decision was arrived at by the shareholders at a general meeting held to consider the matter in the Ambitious City.

Their real reason for moving is the reduction in factory cost, which the removal would effect. The principal item of reduction being those of power and rent. The fact that this company can secure power cheaper in Hamilton does not mean that the usual price of power in that city is lower than it is here, because Mr. Jones, the secretary of the company states that he does not know any place in Canada where the price of power under ordinary conditions is lower than in Peterborough, but in the case of this company, they have a good offer from a concern which has a surplus of power, and this fact, combined with a lower rent influenced the move.

It is likely that the company will remove in about three weeks or a month.

WIRELESS STATIONS

Japan Said to Have Established Them on Sunda Islands

London, April 21.—The Chronicle says that Holland is enquiring into a rumor that Japan has established wireless telegraph stations on some of the less frequented of the Sunda Islands. If the rumor is found to be true, Holland will make an energetic protest, and probably submit a complaint to The Hague tribunal.

He was dropping a stick of dynamite into the hole, when it exploded. Both hands and arms were blown off up to elbows, and one side of the head torn away. Doctors hold out no hope of his recovery. He is a single man with no relatives here.

ZEMSTVOS FOR POLAND

Governor of Warsaw Calls Representatives to Arrange Details

London, April 21.—The St. Petersburg correspondent of the Times says that the Zemstvo system will be extended to the ten Polish and nine Western provinces. It is reported that M. Maximovich, Governor-General of Warsaw, has summoned a number of representative Poles to act as a consultative body regarding the details. This confirms the statement that the Government intends to make the Zemstvos the basis of an electoral system.

MRS. CHADWICK RELEASED

The Total Bail Required for Her was $52,000

Cincinnati, April 19.—Mrs. Cassie L. Chadwick, who has been convicted and sentenced to prison for 10 years on procuring money by false pretenses, was admitted to bail for the sum of $5,000, by Judge Lurton, of the United States Circuit Court of Appeals, after consultation with the other judges of the circuit, pending appeal proceedings, which are to come before the court next October.

Cleveland, April 19.—J. P. Dawley, chief counsel for Mrs. Chadwick, stated that the $5,000 bond named by the Circuit Court of Appeals at Cincinnati for the release of his client, was in addition to the $47,000 fixed here by the United States District Court and the County Criminal Court. The total required is therefore $52,000.

TOGO WILL WIN WITHOUT DOUBT

Defeat Would Mean Russia's Triumph

CZAR'S TROUBLED DREAM

The World Expects Russia Fleet Will be Annihilated

London, April 21.—Should Togo be defeated by Rojestvensky in the great naval battle which is so imminent, and which may have been opened by now, a blow would be struck at Japan which might more than compensate Russia for all her past losses. It is interesting to note that for the first time since the beginning of hostilities Japan is on the defensive. It is true that her attitude is that of a man who expects a terrier to fly at him, and that there is little doubt of the ultimate result. At the same time, friends of Japan must be conscious of a feeling of uneasiness when they consider the vast issues which are at stake. Russia has everything to gain and little to lose, while Japan has everything to lose and little to gain. Togo defeated, the sea coast cities of Japan lie practically defenceless. The invasion of the islands would become a fact just as soon as the ice leaves Vladivostock harbor, and troops from Harbin could be hurried there to be transported to the heart of the enemy's country. Oyama cut off from his base would be helpless as long as he could not control the Siberian Railway from Harbin to Vladivostock. Linevitch's tactics would be to leave Oyama in Manchuria or Siberia, and hie himself to Japan. Some such dream as this may have soothed the troubled slumbers of the Czar. It is worth discussing, not because of its probability, but because it is one of the two things which may happen. The odds against it are probably about a thousand to one. From every quarter, naval experts agree in treating Rojestvensky as a doomed man. His own ability is problematical, the efficiency of his crews cannot be great, the fighting power of his ships will be at the lowest ebb. He has fewer guns than Togo, and is weaker in every important particular. Moreover, he is fighting far from a base, and on this account every day the battle lasts will tell against him, quite irrespective of the losses he may suffer. Togo and his men are seasoned veterans, who fight as naturally on the water as an otter. Ship for ship they are at this moment the most formidable warriors afloat. They are fully conscious of the tremendous issue which they are called upon to decide. Of their patriotism there is no question. The odds are on their side and certainly the good wishes of every British subject are with the Japanese in the approaching struggle.

JAPS AT MANILA

Warships Lying in an Inlet 120 Miles North of Manila

Manila, April 21.—Customs house officers report that two warships supposed to be Japanese are lying in an inlet near Lingayen Gulf, about 120 miles north of Manila. Rear-Admiral Train has hurried the gun boat Quiros to the spot to enforce neutrality.

GERMANY GRABBING MINES

Demands Exclusive Privileges in the Shantung Peninsula

Pekin, April 21.—Germany has just demanded exclusive mining rights in the Prefectures of Tengchow, Liaotow, and Chingchow, in the Shantung Province. These prefectures cover the entire Shantung Peninsula, including the neutral zone around Chefoo.

Japan Protests to France.

Momentous Five-Hour War Conference at Toki Results in Strongly Worded Missive of Objection to Protection Afforded Baltic Squadron.

London, April 20.—According to one Tokio correspondent a momentous war conference lasting five hours was held there on Wednesday, attended by the elder statesmen, the Premier and Ministers.

Other Tokio correspondents state that Japan has addressed a protest to France on the Russian squadron's presence in Kamranh Bay, but that France has not yet replied.

The Daily Telegraph's correspondent declares that a Japanese fleet is ready to sail for Kamranh Bay.

Chicago, April 20.—A special to the News from Tokio says; "At a conference of the elder statesmen and the principal Cabinet Ministers to-day, a strongly worded protest was sent to France regarding its frequent violations of neutrality in providing shelter for and rendering assistance to Russia's Baltic fleet at Madagascar and at Kamranh Bay."

THE SUCCESSION DUTIES

THE PROVINCES MAY ADOPT A UNIFORM RATE

The Treasurer of Quebec Sends an Invitation to His Colleagues of the Other Provinces to Attend a Conference-- Ontario Accepts

Toronto, April 21.—If any amendments are made to the succession duties act this session they will not be of great importance, but next session there will be some radical changes. This will follow as the result of a conference of treasurers of the various Provincial Governments to be held, probably at Quebec, in September next. The suggestion was made by Treasurer McCorkill of Quebec and it has been accepted by several of the gentlemen invited, including, it is understood, the Treasurer of Ontario. The Province and Quebec are particularly interested in having a uniform succession duty, as a number of the cases with which their respective succession duties offices deal involve properties and moneys in both Provinces. It is thought that all the other Provinces will be equally willing to adopt a uniform measure, and that there will be no difficulty in arriving at a satisfactory conclusion.

Any amendments this session will probably have reference to making it clear that estates, the net values of which are under a certain amount will not be liable for succession duties.

CAPTURE OF FORMOSA

What the Russian Admiral Aims to Accomplish

Paris, April 21.—A despatch to the Echo de Paris states that according to a Russian naval staff officer, Rojestvensky is trying to capture the Island of Formosa, with the purpose of establishing a base there.

KISHINEFF JEWS LEAVING

Fear Another Massacre on the Occasion of the Russian Easter

London, April 21.—A despatch from St. Petersburg to the Exchange Telegraph Company says that the Jews of Kishineff and other towns of South Russia are hastily leaving their homes in fear of what may happen during the coming celebration of the Russian Easter. There is great fear of further massacres.

FRANCE AND GERMANY AGREE

Morroccan Question Satisfactorily Arranged Between the Powers

Paris, April 21.—The Echo de Paris learns that an agreement between France and Germany upon the Moroccan question is ready for conclusion in it France admits the principle of the open door in Morocco so far as regards Germany. She declares herself opposed to all exclusively monopolies. Germany agrees not to interfere with the reformatory work of France, and accords mandate to her in Morocco, limited by the open door and the Sultan's suzerainty.

A MATRIMONIAL SCHEME

Assiniboia Man After Fifty English Girls

Montreal, April 21.—Benjamin Pipe of Weyauke, Assiniboia, is on the way to England with a strong argument to induce fifty healthy, experienced, good-looking girls to accompany him back to the prairies. The girls will begin as servants at about fifteen dollars a month, but it will be understood that the fault will lie in them if they do not soon thereafter become mistresses of fifty households. Wives, not servants, are what, in Mr. Pipe's opinion, the west needs, wives to make homes and bind the young men to the soil. It will be made clear to the girls that the west offers every opportunity for the matrimonially inclined.

A WARSHIP IN A STREET

STRANGE FATE OF A CENTURY-OLD BRITISH FRIGATE

Formed Part of the Escort of Napoleon I. to St. Helena, now High and Dry in Cardiff, and Used as an Industrial School

London, April 21.—The Daily Express published the following;—Attention is drawn to the strange fate of the old frigate Havannah, which was built in 1811, and formed part of the escort of Napoleon I. to St. Helena, by an answer given in Parliament by Mr. Pretyman, Secretary to the Admiralty.

The Havannah, he stated, was sold by public auction at Pembroke. "An old is not afloat, but high and dry, and forming part of a street in Cardiff, also will presumably have to be broken up before she can be removed. The land on which she rests has to be cleared of all debris within a certain "time."

Inquiries at Cardiff show that the frigate has for some years been used as an industrial school. She stands back about twenty feet from the pavement in Penarth road, close to the River Taff.

The vessel was floated to its present position in 1861, and enclosed by a bank, while the creek in which she lay was partly filled with earth, and used as a vegetable garden and playground for the lads in the industrial school kept on board. On several occasions the tide has risen above the bank and floated the vessel.

GREAT TRIPLE ALLIANCE

Britain, Japan and United States Should Join Hands

Tokio, April 20.—Count Okuma, one of the framers of the constitution and former Minister of Finance, said to a Star correspondent to-day that he was pleased that Chamberlain and other English politicians are favorable to renewing the Anglo-Japan alliance on a broader basis and making it offensive and defensive. He believed that the United States should also join making triple alliance, which would be absolutely impregnable and the surest guarantee of the world's peace and the development of the Orient through the "open door" policy along the right lines.

REFORESTING IN ONTARIO.

The Ontario Government to Announce Their Policy This Session

It is reported that the Whitney Government will this session announce a definite policy on the question of reforestation. The policy practically amounts to a system of permanent forest reserves, on which the timber will be sold only as it comes to maturity, and the price paid will be regulated by the amount actually cut, that is to say, measuring will be by the thousand feet, and not by the acreage.

Competent men declare that the ultimate outcome of the plan now before the Government would be to give Ontario a forest reserve of 10,000,000 acres, yielding a yearly revenue of at least $30,000,000.

WAIT AWHILE

Mr. E. O. Patterson is Opposed to Making This Town a City

Mr. E. O. Patterson, in a communication to the local press, says:

"With reference to the application of the Town Council, applying to the Legislature that an Act be passed creating the town into a city, I am informed that there has been no vote of the citizens taken instructing the Council to apply to the Legislature, and I, as a citizen, think the Council is very unwise in making the application, and creating the town into a city, providing the Act is passed.

According to law, any town whose population reaches 15,000, declares itself a city, the same as a young man becomes of age when he is 21, and I think it would be more in keeping with the importance of the best town in Canada, to become a city by this method, rather than by begging the Parliament of Ontario to create us a city a year or so before we would become one by reason of natural growth.

The population of Peterborough is today about 14,200, and I have no doubt that inside of twelve or eighteen months, that we will have the necessary population, and it will be a unique situation to become a city by reason of growth in population, as most of the cities that have been created during the past ten or twelve years have all become cities by begging Parliament to create them. City government is more expensive than town government, and I think if the citizens understood thoroughly, they would not approve of the action taken by the Council."

A GOOD INVESTMENT

Grand Opportunity for Conservative Investment in a Reliable Company

Parties with money to invest in what gives every promise of being a paying concern would do well to study carefully the advertisement in another column of the Richmond and Drummond Fire Insurance Co. Fire insurance companies recently have suffered severe reverses, owing to their concentration of large amounts of risks in small and crowded areas. The rates in the past have been altogether inadequate in comparison with the risk involved.

The Richmond and Drummond Fire Insurance Company have taken over the business of an already old established business; hence they will save a great proportion of the initial expenses involved in placing a new company. They will also start business under much more favorable auspices on account of the already raised schedule of premiums.

The proposition they offer of shares at $100 each, with 25 per cent. payable on allotment and a further call of five per cent. annually for three years, making only 40 per cent. demanded on the investment, coupled with their unique prospects for economical business seems to present a most favorable chance for investment of capital.

SEASON CLOSED

Y. M. C. A. Literary and Debating Society Closes Season with a Banquet.

The current season of the Y.M.C.A. Literary and Debating Society has now closed, and they celebrated the event, Wednesday evening, by holding a most interesting banquet.

Mr. Kenner, the critic of the society, presided, and opened the program with a short address.

The toast to "The King" was proposed by Mr. C. Coleman, who has had the pleasure of seeing His Majesty.

"The Occasion we Celebrate," was dealt with by Mr. P. K. Holmes in an able manner.

The toast "The Ladies" was proposed by Mr. R. R. Orr in most appropriate language.

"Our Literary Society as an Educator" was briefly spoken on by Mr. H. Snook. He hoped that incentive to study engendered in the society might cause the members to think kindly of Andrew Carnegie-a standing offer to pauperise himself.

Here the members all received envelopes, which were found to contain subjects for impromptu speeches such as Bowling Alleys, Humbug, Tennyson Club, Theatres, Immigration, Autonomy Bill, Our Critic, Sports, etc. All responded.

On the subject of "Debates I've Lost and Won" Mr. R. J. P. Dormer humorously delivered himself.

Mr. Williamson responded to the toast "The Y." The subject was broad, as its million members might indicate. He congratulated the society on a successful season and considered it one of the most important and useful branches of the Association work. He spoke appreciately of the Critic, Mr. Kenner, attributing a great deal of the interest of the meetings to his valuable services.

The toast, "Happy to Meet, Sorry to Part, Happy to Meet Again" was proposed by the chairman, and the society meetings for the season ended.

W. M. SOCIETY.

Annual Meeting of Charlotte Street Women's Missionary Society

The Charlotte street Auxiliary of the Women's Missionary Society held annual meeting Wednesday night in the school house adjoining. After the devotional service was concluded, Mrs. (Rev.) W. J. Jolliffe reading a portion of the 19th chapter of St. John, the scene where Christ is before Pilate, previous to His crucifixion.

Mr. Miller, of the Mark street church, then gave a solo in a most pleasing manner, which was followed by the treasurer's report, read by Mrs. Thos. Adlum.

The report showed that last year was much the most successful one in the history of the local auxiliary.

Then followed a violin solo by Mr. Jones, "Meditation," by Faucennier, which was rendered with true artistic expression, and good tone quality.

The Secretary's report came next, in which it was stated that the thank offering last year from all the auxiliaries of our Canadian Methodist church was $16,579. A more liberal offering than that of any previous year. Last year the combined efforts of the N. M. S. of Canadian Methodism, realized the sum of $42,513, an increase of upwards of $6,000 over the amount raised the preceding year, and also $10,000 worth of goods were sent in bales and boxes to different missions. Of this amount our Bay of Quinte branch raised $7,797. The money was appropriated as follows: To Japan $24,225, to China $13,221; to Indian work in North-West $4,700; to French work $4,000; Chinese Rescue Home, Victoria, B. C., $1,000; Galicians $2,700.

INAUGURATION CELEBRATION ON LABOR DAY, SEPT. 4TH

So Decided the Public Meeting Last Night--- Council Asked to Change Date of City o Peterborough's Incorporation to Sept. 1st

A fairly large and representative meeting of citizens was held in the Council Chamber last night, when the question of ways and means and the most appropriate date for fittingly celebrating the inauguration of Peterborough as a city came up for discussion.

The bill now before the Legislature asks that Peterborough's city inauguration date from July 1st next, and, consequently, Dominion Day had been considered the best date on which to demonstrate. Unfortunately, however, the 57th. Regiment had previously arranged to take a trip to Ottawa on Friday, June 30th, returning the following Monday, and, as their presence was considered essential to a successful celebration, the committee of Aldermen in charge of the proceedings desired an expression of opinion from representative citizens on the desirability of publicly christening the town "city" on some other day than the first. Hence the public meeting last night.

CITIZENS' COMMITTEE.

The following were named a Citizens' committee to act in conjunction with the Aldermanic committee: H. Winch, H. LeBrun, Alex. Gibson, J. D. Conroy, R. B. Rogers, John Crane, R. E. Layfield, W. H. Denham, A. H. Stratton, D. Walker, Rev. Father McColl, T. F. Matthews, Col. Miller, W. H. Hill, E. G. Patterson, Wm. Hamilton, T. H. G. Denne, D. Davidson, M. J. Hutchinson, S. S. Moore, R. F. McWilliams, W. Davidson, C. P. Murty, W. H. Moore, P. Campbell, A. T. Hammet, D. Hughes Charles, K. Hardley Wilmott, T. Rutherford, J. H. Learmouth, Dr. Morgan, R. M. Dennistoun, F. D. Kerr, J. S. Knapman, R. Neill, J. J Howden, R. Glover, A. A. Hollingshead, W. H. Bradburn, J. M. Brooks, Rev. J. C. Davidson.

His Worship Mayor Henry Best presided, and Town Clerk Armstrong acted as Secretary of the meeting.

Mr. Harry Winch suggested that the public demonstration in honor of this event include a trades procession, headed by school children, in the morning, with sports and other games in the afternoon. Also that Mayors and Councils of surrounding municipalities be invited to take part. He also urged that the band and regiment be present.

Mr. W. H. Moore suggested that as there are other Peterboroughs than this, we follow the precedent set by such places as Toronto, Winnipeg and Ottawa, and assume some other name, "the City of Otonabee," for instance. Nothing definite was arrived at in this respect.

Mr. Larmouth suggested that a Scotch regiment—either that of Toronto and Montreal—be invited to take part in the celebration. This met with approval.

On motion of Mr. Larmouth, all details of the celebration were left in the hands of the committee.

On motion of W. H. Moore, seconded by John Crane, the Mayor was named honorary chairman of the committee.

THE DATE.

Ald. Adam Hall suggested that in order to allow the regiment to be present on this occasion, the demonstration be held on Labor Day, September 1st.

Rev. J. C. Davidson offered the opinion that the date should be one which will allow the Peterborough Old Boys an opportunity of being present—say on a public holiday when reduced railway rates are available. He approved of Labor Day, providing the regiment could be got together for that date. The presence of the 57th would, he urged, lend an appreciable color to the proceedings. This was heartily endorsed by the meeting.

Mr. W. H. Moore was afraid that should the function be delayed too long after incorporation on July 1st, citizens would cool off the notion of celebrating, and the proceedings consequently prove a fizzle. He submitted that as Peterborough was incorporated a town on July 1st, 1850, Dominion Day would be a very appropriate date on which to publicly assume city clothing.

On motion of Mr. T. H. G. Denne, seconded by Mr. W. S. Robinson, the Council will be asked to have Peterborough's incorporation as a city dated September 1st, and the committee advised to hold the public demonstration in honor of this event on Labor day, September 4th.

The meeting then adjourned.

NO LIBERAL PARTY WORTH THE NAME

The Globe Says Party is Opposed to Autonomy Bill

IS A FOOL'S PARADISE

Liberals Who Cannot Bring Themselves to Approve of Federal Interference

Toronto, April 21.—Those who suppose that opposition to the educational clauses in the Northwest Autonomy bills is confined to Toronto, and that it is dependent on Orangeism for its vitality, are living in a Fool's Paradise. It may be that the noisiest clamor is being made by Toronto Tories and by newspapers catering for ultra-Protestant and Tory or quasi-Tory support. But such opposition is utterly without significance, and may safely be disregarded both by the public and by Parliament. And it may be, too, that public opinion on this and other questions is represented as inadequately and as uncertainly in a Toronto club as in the lobbies and smoking-rooms of the House of Commons. That point need not be argued.

But the point of capital importance, and which cannot be disproved by shutting one's eyes to its undesired existence or by shouting bravely that it does not exist, is the unmistakable fact that not in Toronto alone but in scores of centres throughout this Province the surest and steadiest and most intelligent men cannot bring themselves to approve of the Dominion Parliament, on any pretext whatsoever, interfering in the educational affairs of the new Provinces. The men who make this objection are not Tories. They are not Orangemen. They are Liberals. They are, some of them, the men who give virility and prestige to Liberalism in their constituencies, and without whom there would be no Liberal party worthy of the name. To ignore the fact of their opposition, to minimise its significance, or to misunderstand its quality is to play the part of children in a situation which demands the wisdom and courage of men.

Another delusion is the notion that this significant opposition is wholly based upon racial or religious prejudices. There are, to be sure, race-and creed fanatics here and there throughout Ontario whose occupation would be gone and whose enjoyment of life would be destroyed were they unable periodically to raise a scare about "French-Canadian domination" or "the aggression of the hierarchy." But there is no endurance in any opposition they may excite; and if the present controversy is politically abortive it will in largest measure, be due to the public revolt from the part played by the leading organs of anti-French and anti-Catholic fanaticism. The opposition that counts, however, and that will survive when the frenzy of the professional firebrands is past, is the deliberate and convinced opposition of the men in dominantly Protestant constituencies who have never bowed the knee to the Baal of race-and-creed prejudice, and who again and again defended the inalienable rights of religious minorities against unjust political antagonisms. These are Protestant Liberals who fought the P.P.A. and its minions in their anti-Catholic campaign in Ontario ten years ago, who would not join the Equal Rights movement or withdrew from it when it was diverted to baser purposes, and who in every campaign of bigotry since Confederation stood resolutely for the principle and the practice of religious tolerance and racial unity. To class these men, and men of their spirit, with the Toronto sensationalists, or to regard their opposition as either misjudged or short-lived, is to comfort one's self in a Fool's Paradise.

Members of the Liberal party in the House of Commons would follow the counsels of prudence if, during the Easter recess, they sounded the most intelligent and most significant opinion of their leading support. The echo-voice of the purblind partisan is unimportant, and members of Parliament ought to guard against the soothing tones of those who would heal the hurt of the Liberal party lightly with their Peace! Peace! when there is no peace. A public man cannot afford to live in a Fool's Paradise.

ATHLETIC WORLD

BY OUR SPORTING EDITOR.

(Crowded out of yesterday's issue.)

The chief event of interest in Peterborough on Good Friday, will be the ball game, when that fast aggregation, the Progressives from Toronto, will meet the local seniors on the T.A.S. grounds at 2.30. That the visitors are a crack team is proven by the fact that they are booked to meet the Toronto Eastern League team, this afternoon, and the same team will play here to-morrow.

It will be the first and last opportunity to see Bobbie Flaherty perform here this season, as the clever twirler is leaving for Galt in a few days. With Terrance, of the Strathconas, behind the bat, the battery should be very strong. All the new players will be in the game. Bobby Stayner, the fast little infielder, will cover third, with Shay at shortstop, Sheridan at second and J. Pilling at first. This will be the fastest infield that has represented Peterborough for some time. Wareham, Simpson, Connors and several others will be tried out in the outfield.

* * * *

—The following is the team which represented the Progressives in their game with the Torontos yesterday afternoon, and it is probable that they will have the same line-up to-day against the local seniors here; Downing, Mack, Curry, Walker, Walsh—Nicholson, Neal, Funk, Marks Hurst, Shea, Phelan, O'Hearn and Spencer.

HINTS FROM THE SEA FIGHT OF AUG. 10.

In discussing the coming fight between Togo and Rojestvensky the Times remark to occasionally made that it will be the first set engagement in the open sea that has ever been fought by modern steel fleets. It is true that none of the naval engagements of the Chinese-Japanese or of the Spanish-American war answered the question as to what a free and fair naval engagement would be like under modern conditions, and it is also true that the most sensational engagements at sea during the past year have been of a different type. Nevertheless there has been but one sea fight in which fleet met fleet under conditions which give us an idea of the character of the battle that is to come. This was the fight off Round Island Aug. 10

The ill-fated Admiral Withoeft took his fleet of six battle ships, four cruisers and two destroyer divisions out of Port Arthur in the early morning, the weather being fine and bright. Togo came in sight of him in the middle of the morning with four battle ships, two armored cruisers, four protected cruisers and several destroyer divisions. Togo manoeuvered for position till half-past two, and then began to fire at 9,000 yards. The big ships took the brunt of the fighting on both sides. In time the range was reduced to 4,000 yards. The loss of life was heavy, and most of the ships were struck repeatedly, but no vital damage was done to any of them. At half-past six, however, the Czarevitch, Withoeft's flag ship, was hit at the base of the foremast. Withoeft and all his flag officers were killed, and almost at the same moment the steering gear of the ship was wrecked. The signal was put up, "The admiral transfers the command," but as the Czarevitch swung round the other Russian battle ships followed her, and in a moment the whole line was in confusion, the ships bunched together so that they were an easy target for the Japanese. The Russians sought what safety they could in individual flight. The Japanese sent destroyers after them, but without succeeding in sinking any of the ships of the line, though a number of Russian destroyers fell victims.

The significant points of the battle were Togo's superiority in manoeuvering, his superiority in fire—though this latter was not sufficient to be decisive—the ineffectiveness of the destroyers, and, last but not least, the element of chance whereby the Russian fleet—as a fleet—became suddenly helpless and at the mercy of the Japanese.

In the light of this battle, in which luck played so great a part, it must be admitted that Togo cannot be at all sure of his victory until he has actually won it. Rojestvensky's chance of success may be small, but the chance he certainly has.

ANTITOXIN FOR LAZINESS

The antitoxin for laziness is sure to have a great future. If proof is wanted one has but to consider the magnificent past of "that tired feeling" which is now to be overcome. The jesters will have their day, but the joke will be on them in the end, for unripe silly season, but a genuine product of a German laboratory, at least as well authenticated as other antitoxins have been when they were first announced.

The theory on the basis of which the antitoxin was sought was in substance that physical exhaustion is the result of a peculiar form of poisoning. Prolonged strain makes the fires of the body burn rapidly. Among the products of combustion are certain poisonous materials which are left in the tissues. Rest is necessary to give the body a chance to throw them off. Hence if these poisons could be counteracted by an anti-poison the period of necessary rest might perhaps be greatly reduced.

To secure the poison, or toxin, Dr. Wolfgang Weichardt of Berlin forced a guinea pig to exert itself till it was in an extreme stage of exhaustion. He then killed it, and secured from its crushed muscles the toxin in the form of yellowish brown scales, which were so unstable that to keep them they had to be put in sealed tubes in liquid air. No such poison could be obtained from normal guinea pigs, and a little of it injected into other pigs killed them within twenty-four hours. The antitoxin was obtained by inoculating horses in the ordinary manner.

Many tests were made with the toxin and antitoxin on small animals, and finally on human beings. One of the latter tests showed that a young woman on taking four quarter-gramme doses of the antitoxin was able to lift two kilogrammes 2,478 meters with the middle finger of her right hand, whereas without the stimulation she could lift the weight only 1,583 meters.

If the antitoxin does what is hoped it will not only be of great aid to athletes in their feats of endurance, but will also be of value in treating cases of nervous exhaustion and convalescents from serious sicknesses. For the ordinary "tired feeling" it should be of value as much through the threat of administering it as through its actual use.

THREE RUSSIAN FLEETS

Instead of one fleet for the Japanese to pursue and destroy, there are now three, the main Russian body in the China Sea, the battleships, presumably under Rojestvensky's immediate command, and the three fast and powerful armored cruisers at Vladivostok. With the addition of a fourth, now destroyed these three, under the command of Skrydloff, showed more enterprise and did Japan more damage than any other Russian force afloat or ashore, capturing and destroying merchantmen, making landings, really threatening the Japanese communications with the mainland, and repeatedly making good their retreat to Vladivostok after their raids. The Japanese could not then spare force enough from the blockade of Port Arthur to prevent these raids. The necessity of watching Port Arthur is now removed, but the two squadrons of Rojestvensky take the place of the ships there as a source of Japanese anxiety.

BRITAIN REWARDS HER SOLDIERS

Great Britain's greatest soldiers and sailors receive great rewards for their services. It is now proposed to give an honarium of $125,000 to Admiral Sir John Fisher, the First Lord of the Admiralty. Lord Wolseley received an award of $125,000 after the Ashanti expedition and another equal amount at the conclusion of the Egyptian war in 1882. Lord Alcester received a peerage and $125,000 for the bombardment of Alexandria, a days work, which was valuable largely because it disclosed the weakness of the British navy at that time. Lord Roberts received $500,000 besides his full pay as Commander-in-Chief for his work in the Boer war, and Lord Kitchener received $250,000 for his services in the same struggle.

EDITORIAL COMMENT.

While the Government is endeavoring to deprive the new Western Provinces of home rule, it might send another petition to the British Government asking for home rule for Ireland.

DANGER OF FELINES

Vicious Cat Attack Children While Asleep in Bed

Hamilton, April 19.—A vicious cat attacked two little daughters of J. Bloom, John street south, while the children were asleep in their bed. The screams of the little ones attracted the attention of the father, who on hurrying to their assistance, found the face of one of the little girls badly torn, the cat having evidently tried to scratch her eyes out. The cat was promptly killed.

Performance Not Promises

There is all the difference in the world between expectation and realization. There is even a greater difference between promise and performance. In the former case you form your own opinion, and if it is in error, you have none but yourself to blame. In the latter case, you take some one's word or promise for what is to be done, and you place your confidence in them and their judgment. Failure in such a case is a double disappointment, for you have not reaped an expected reward, and your faith in your adviser is shaken.

The history of the wireless telegraph companies reveals that they fall in two classes—THOSE THAT PROMISE and THOSE THAT PERFORM.

The Marconi Companies have never foretold what they are GOING TO DO, but have steadfastly GONE ABOUT THEIR WORK, and when they had ACCOMPLISHED SOMETHING, have made a simple announcement of the fact and have gone on with the next step. Had you rather HEAR PROMISES OF FUTURE SUCCESS or SEE TANGIBLE RESULTS from day to day? MARCONI and his associates have AVOIDED PROMISES and have never made statements which did more than ANNOUNCE his latest ACHIEVEMENT or PERFORMANCE. These performances have succeeded each other with such rapidity that hardly a week passes without some important advance being heralded. THE

(Tel. Co. of Canada Ltd.)

is governed by the same conservatism as the American and English Marconi Companies. It has not made futile PROMISES OF WHAT IT WAS GOING TO DO. IT WAS TOO BUSY IN DOING THINGS. It DOES ITS WORK and never even announces one ACCOMPLISHMENT until it is well on its way to the next ATTAINMENT. DOES NOT SUCH A POLICY APPEAL TO THE CONSERVATIVE INVESTOR? Few details of the tremendous progress made in connection with the installation of the highly successful stations along the Gulf of St. Lawrence were made public until the Commander of the Canadian Marine Service gave his report to the Deputy Commissioner of Fisheries late in the fall. The report showed that the perfect working of each station had been known since midsummer.

The Canadian Company has already completed a net work of successful stations along the St. Lawrence Gulf and there are on Canadian soil thirteen stations already in operation. The Company has already been authorized to build four more stations, or provisions points during the coming summer. The transatlantic station at Cape Breton is nearly finished on its new site. The apparatus for installation at that point is constructed and on its way to Cape Breton where Mr. Marconi is on hand to personally oversee the installation and the successful opening of this great service. These are not promises—they are performances. Compare what Marconi has DONE with what others CONFESS TO DO. Ask yourself a simple question: "If they can do so, why don't they?" The answer suggests itself. Can you not forsee the great future this Company has before it? Do you not wish to become a sharer in the success which is at its door? You can do so by becoming a stockholder in the Company. You can purchase any amount of stock from one share to two hundred shares at $5 per share. The time to invest is now, before the stock undergoes its certain rise.

HOMESTEAD REGULATIONS

Any even numbered section of Dominion lands in Manitoba or the North-west Territories, excepting 8 and 26, which has not been homesteaded, or reserved to provide wood lots for settlers, or for other purposes, may be homesteaded upon by any person who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years of age, to the extent of one-quarter section of 160 acres more or less.

ENTRY

Entry may be made personally at the local land office for the district in which the land to be taken is situate, or if the homesteader desires, he may, on application to the Minister of the Interior, Ottawa; the Commissioner of Immigration Winnipeg, or the local agent for the district in which the land is situate, receive authority for some one to make entry for him. A fee of $10 is charged for a homestead entry.

HOMESTEAD DUTIES

A settler who has been granted an entry for a homestead is required by the provisions of the Dominion Lands Act, and the amendments thereto, to perform the conditions connected therewith, under one of the following plans:

[1] At least six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each year during the term of three years. It is the practice of the Department to require a settler to bring 15 acres under cultivation, but if he prefers he may substitute stock; and 20 head of cattle, to be owned by him on the cultivation

[2] If the father (or mother, if the father is deceased), of any person who is eligible to make a homestead entry under the provisions of this Act, resides upon a farm in the vicinity of the land entered for by such person as a homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence prior to obtaining patent may be satisfied by such person residing with the father or mother.

[3] If a settler was entitled to and has obtained entry for a second homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence prior to obtaining patent may be satisfied by residence upon the first homestead, if the second homestead is in the vicinity of the first homestead.

[4] If the settler has his permanent residence upon farming land owned by him in the vicinity of his homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence may be satisfied by residence upon the said land.

The term "vicinity" used above is meant to indicate the same township, or an adjoining or cornering township.

A settler who avails himself of the provisions of clauses [3], [3] or [4] must cultivate 30 acres of his homestead, or substitute a 20 head of stock, with buildings for their accommodation, and have besides 80 acres substantially fenced.

The privilege of a second entry is restricted by law to those settlers only who completed the duties upon their first homesteads to entitle them to patent on or before the 2nd of June, 1889.

Every homesteader who fails to comply with the requirements of the homestead law is liable to have his entry cancelled and the land may again be thrown open for entry.

APPLICATION FOR PATENT

Should be made at the end of three years, before the Local Agent, Sub-Agent or the Homestead Inspector. Before making application for patent the settler must give six months notice in writing to the Commissioner of Dominion Lands at Ottawa of his intention to do so.

INFORMATION

Newly arrived immigrants will receive, at the Immigration Offices in Winnipeg, or at any Dominion Lands Office in Manitoba or the Northwest Territories, information as to the lands that are open for entry, and from the officers in charge, free of expense, advice and assistance in securing lands to suit them. Full information respecting the land, timber, coal and mineral laws, as well as respecting Dominion Lands in the Railway Belt in British Columbia, may be obtained upon application to the Secretary of the Department of the Interior, Ottawa; the Commissioner of Immigration, Winnipeg, Manitoba, or to any of the Dominion Lands Agents in Manitoba or the North-west Territories.

W. W. CORY,
Deputy Minister of the Interior.

N. B.—In addition to Free Grant Lands, to which the Regulations above stated refer, thousands of acres of most desirable lands are available for lease or purchase from railroad and other corporations and private firms in Western Canada.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

THE Richmond & Drummond Fire Insurance Comp'y

Authorized Capital - - - $500,000

AMOUNT OF EACH SHARE $100.00

This Company has been incorporated under a Dominion charter, and will transact business throughout the Dominion of Canada, being operated in connection with the Richmond, Drummond & Yamaska Fire Insurance Company), which has been established over a quarter of a century.

The extraordinarily rapid growth of business along all lines, which we are witnessing in the Dominion, is producing each year the demand for greater insurance facilities, and at the present time it is unquestionable that there is both room and need for a new stock company. That fire business during the last few years has not been profitable in Canada has been due mainly to the inadequacy of the rates obtained. These have now been largely increased and put upon a footing promising, with efficient management, a good return upon the capital invested.

It is the intention in conducting the business to follow the system of writing moderate lines over a wide territory, thereby avoiding the risk of large conflagrations, a plan which has been proved by long experience to be the safest and most profitable in its results.

The Company will be under the same management as the "Richmond, Drummond & Yamaska Mutual," and will thereby be put in a position to organize and establish agencies at a minimum of expense, thus avoiding to a large extent the heavy preliminary expenses to be faced by new companies. It is anticipated that during the early years of the company's existence a large amount of business will be written, at an expense ratio no greater than that shown by established concerns.

The Board of Directors comprises the following gentlemen:—

C. C. Cleveland, Esq., Danville, Que., of J. L. Goodhue & Co., manufacturers leather belting, Director Royal Paper Mills Co.

E. W. Tobin, Esq., M.P., Bromptonville, Que., merchant and lumber dealer. Director Brompton Pulp & Paper Co.

S. W. Jenckes, Esq., Sherbrooke, Que., President of Jenckes Machine Co.

M. G. Cromble, Esq., Kingsbury, Que., of Williamson & Cromble, lumber exporters.

C. Blouin, Esq., M.L.A., Levis, Que., of J. B. Blouin & Son, boot and shoe manufacturers.

C. N. Lyster, Esq., Kirkdale, Que., farmer and live stock exporter.

S. McMorine, Esq., Richmond, Que., of McMorine Bros., dry goods merchants.

Hon. Wm. Mitchell, Drummondville, Que., Senator, President Drummond Lumber Company.

F. Prefontaine, Esq., South Durham, Que., President Richmond, Drummond & Yamaska Mutual Fire Insurance Company.

J. C. McCaig, Esq., Richmond, Que., Manager, Richmond.

It is intended to begin operations with a subscribed capital of $250,000, 25 per cent. paid up. A further call of 5 per cent. will be made annually for the next three years, making 40 per cent, in all, or $100,000 cash capital.

$150 000 of above amount is now offered for public subscription, as above, in any amount from 1 share up.

The Directors reserve the right to reduce any application of more than ten shares.

Prospectus, with full particulars, and forms of application for stock, may be obtained from any of the Directors, or from

WE INVITE YOU, MR. INVESTOR

To join with us in the development of our magnificent acreage in Clear Creek County, Colorado, and to share in the profits that will accrue from this great gold mining enterprise. We are now doing the most careful development work and any shot may open ore. By joining with us now you get stock in an honestly managed, legitimate mining company that has all the ear marks of a dividend payer.

TO HELP US OPEN ORE

And insure the early completion of the tunnel we offer a small block of full paid, non-assessable stock on the monthly payment plan, payable 10 per cent. with subscription, and 10 per cent. a month for 9 months, or for cash at prices that will yield handsome returns.

THIS IS NOT A PROSPECT, BUT A PROVEN MINE

We invite the most rigid investigation. Our capitalization is $1,500,000, par value of shares $1.00 each; $600,000 is treasury stock. The company owns outright, free from debt, 8 full fised mining claims of 5 acres each, two mill sites of 5 acres each, the sunflower placer of 20 acres and the Ora tunnel site 2,000 feet long on Breckenridge mountain, in Upper Union Mining District, Clear Creek County, near the Town of Empire, in one of the richest sections of Colorado. The tunnel is now in a distance of 200 feet and rapid progress is being made under the direction of Mr. Charles H. Morris, a mining engineer of 20 years' standing in Colorado.

Send for engineers report and free literature. We want you to investigate this enterprise. Address

JAPAN WILL WIN NAVAL BATTLE

Prominent Japanese in Montreal Speaks of War

Montreal, April 18.—K. Okura, a young Japanese who wears Occidental clothes and gold-rimmed eye glasses, who speaks of his father as "the pater" and his mother as "the mater," and who has just completed his second year at the University of Cambridge, Eng., arrived in Montreal on Saturday, and is registered at the Windsor.

Mr. Okura is the son of T. Okura, the founder of the great Japanese contracting company, the first Japanese to establish an office abroad (Mr Okura founded his in London nearly forty years ago), and who personally contributed some $500,000 to the Japanese war fund.

Mr. Okura speaks very good English. He should, for he received his early education in a private school in London. He is now on his second visit to Canada. He spoke freely of affairs in Japan.

"Do I think Japan will win? Oh yes, I should say I jolly well think so," he replied.

"We have had the best of it from the start. The next battle will be a naval one. I am sure that the Japanese will win it. Togo will win it. He has just been luring the Russian fleet until he gets it beyond the reach of neutral ports, so that when he hits it, he'll jolly well wipe it out, don't you know.

"I ought to be interested in the naval part of the war, you know, because the pater placed all the first contracts for Japanese warships with the Armstrongs, of Newcastle.

"Both sides are well pleased with their bargain."

"Oh, Japan will win all right," continued Mr. Okura.

"No," he remarked in answer to a query, "there is no such thing as a yellow peril. The Japanese and the Chinese are not the same, I should jolly well say not. The Chinese look upon the Japanese just as they do upon Europeans. There is no possibility of an Asiatic combination under the leadership of Japan. That's all bally rot." Mr. Okura grew quite slangy as he warmed up to his subject.

"Japan has lost nothing of her picturesqueness, of her artistic ideals about which Whistler and Arnold wrote. She has adopted the best of your European civilizations."

"Will she become Christian?" "Yes, but a modernized form of Christianity. Now, in my family, my father is a Christian, my mother is a Buddhist, and me, I'm Shinto. Japan is the one nation in the world where there is perfect religious freedom. A child is not influenced in his youth to adopt any religion. When he becomes of age, when he reaches the age of 21, he can adopt whatever religion he pleases."

Mr. Okura will remain in Montreal for several days, and will then go direct to New York. His trip is purely one of pleasure. He will return in a few weeks' time to England.

SLEEP CURE FOR JADED MEN

Swedish Doctor Puts Them in a Comatose State for Weeks by Suggestion

Stockholm, April 19.—Dr. Otto Wetterstrand, the eminent authority on therapeutics, has inaugurated what is termed as the "sleep cure," for those suffering from mental depression due to overwork and kindred causes.

His method is to induce prolonged sleep—even to three or four weeks in succession. Dr. Wetterstrand has already treated over 3,000 cases. The tired, worried man reclines in an easy chair; he does others doing the same; he listens as they do to a quiet, forcible expansion of the cure from the doctor, who afterwards speaks to him individually in a subdued undertone, suggesting the benefit his particular malady will give. After a few days of such preliminary treatment the patient goes willingly to bed and to sleep, roused occasionally to a half conscious state to eat and be tended. No unauthorized person is allowed to enter the room; the sleeper is put enrapport with a sympathetic nurse, and receives the necessary "suggestions" as to eating, etc., from the doctor himself. "The remarkable results," says a great French physician, "which Wetterstrand has had will considerably extend the limits of suggestive therapy."

The deeper the sleep the quicker the cure, and unlike that produced by hypnotic drugs, it is as invigorating as natural sleep, and allows nature an equal chance of repairing organic and functional disorders.

TUNNEL UNDER STRAIT

Prince Edward Island Determined to Have Improved Communications

Charlottetown, P.E.I., April 19.—A mass meeting of Islanders to hear the report of the delegates to Ottawa was held in Market Hall, and fully endorsed their work for a tunnel under the straits. Nearly all of the members of the Legislature were present. Father Burke spoke eloquently for fifty minutes, describing the course pursued at Ottawa and elsewhere and advocating strongly the tunnel as the only solution of the communication difficulty. He pointed to the blessings it would bring to the island generally, and entirely carried the meeting with him. He said the whole of Canada was more than sympathetic and the Islanders had only to be true to themselves and the tunnel must come.

McCready, McQuarrie and Hon. Mr. Read followed in the same strain. The thanks of the Islanders, moved by Hon. Mr. Simpson, and seconded by Hon. Mr. McKinnon, was enthusiastically tendered the delegates. The Island Legislature the last session passed unanimously a memorial based on that of the delegates, demanding a tunnel as the only satisfactory completion of the terms of the union. A new steamer was asked for to be used pending the construction of the tunnel. The Island is now thoroughly aroused and united.

TO CANADIAN INVESTORS

Thomas Patterson & Co. Have a Fine Copper Proposition.

Fifty dollars invested in Granite Mountain Mining Company's stock paid the purchaser $34,500, besides several thousand dollars in dividends. One hundred dollars invested in Boston and Montana Mining stock paid the purchaser $44,000, besides several thousand dollars in dividends. A few dollars invested in shares of the Butte Copper Mining & Smelting Company stock, will not only insure you big returns in dividends, but a handsome profit in an increased value of the stock. Our mine is not a prospect but a copper mine which has produced $150,000 in profits in the last three years.

For the purpose of buying adjoining ground we have placed on the market 50,000 shares of our treasury stock. This stock is fully paid and non-assessable. Par value $1.00 per share. We will sell any part or all of this lot at 90 cents a share; no certificate issued for less than 100 shares. Send us your order for what stock you want and we will reserve it for you, pending your investigation of our company; and when you have received our prospectus and satisfied yourself that the investment is a good one, you can send us the money and we will issue the stock, or have the stock sent through any bank you may designate. BETTER THAN GOLDFIELDS NEVADA

The East Pacific Mining Co.

OF HELENA, MONTANA

OFFERS FIFTY THOUSAND SHARES of its Treasury Stock for sale at

$1.50 PER SHARE

All the money received from the sale of this stock will be used to place larger and improved machinery at the mines; to install an electric power line; and install a large compressor and hoist capable of sinking the property at least one thousand feet deeper. When these improvements and betterments are made the cost of operating the mine will be reduced one-half, and good dividends be continuous and certain.

CONCENTRTOR PURCHASED

We have just purchased a concentrator, and we will begin erecting same immediately, and expect to start same by May 10th. Dividends will commence about the first of July.

We are much gratified at the number of orders we have received in the last two weeks from letters we have sent to different parties throughout the country, and from present indications all of our first issue of stock will be subscribed for inside of thirty days.

The mines are located twenty miles east of Helena, Montana, and have been worked for a number of years, but after closing down for two years were started up again July, 1904. Up to March 1st, 1905, these mines have produced $1,320,898 03, leaving a net profit of $570,346 85. In the month of November, 1904, we encountered some very high grade ore below the lowest level, which assays as follows:—

No. 1 Assay.	Gold ounces.	Silver ounces.	Value.
West of winze, intermediate drift	3685.60	1197,	$74,406.2
No. 2 Assay.
Immediate below No. 4 Tunnel	3851.20	1388.80	77,829.50

In January we pulverized 112 pounds of rich ore, which gave us an average taken from four assays of 885 38 oz. gold and 254 38 oz. silver, with a gold scales caught on screen worth $577 00 per ton, making a total valuation of this ore worth $17,551 74 per ton. This 112 pounds brought us $944 00.

ORE RESERVES

Consist of over 23,000 tons of second class concentrating ore mined and placed upon the different dumps with a gross valuation of $350,000.00 according to measurement, and concentrating and assay tests. Besides there is in the old stopes of the mine over 10,000 tons of concentrating ore with a value of $100,000, and a block of ground in the mine, 600 feet by 134 feet, averaging from six inches to three feet in width, worth over $150,000, and new ore is being placed in sight daily.

With these facts and figures it is asked why any of the stock of this company should be offered for sale at any price. The reason is this: The company desires to spend $75,000 without interfering with the workings of this mine to install improved machinery and develop the mine to a further depth of 1500 feet.

Now is your time to invest in a good paying proposition that will last from ten to fifteen years and pay from two to five cents per share per month during that time. We ask everyone who reads this advertisement to come and visit the property, or make any investigation that they desire. The officers of the company are R. A. Bell, Mining Operator, fifteen years, President; A. L. Smith, Vice-President National Bank of Montana, Treasurer; Wm H. Dickinson, Cashier National Bank of Montana, Secretary. Marconi Wins Patent Decision

The United States Circuit Court in a sweeping decision has declared that Marconi's patents prohibit others from using the vital and essential parts of all wireless telegraph systems, viz. The elevated conductors with ground connections. Marconi says that Wireless Telegraphy is impossible without these essentials. Permanent injunction and judgment for an accounting and costs has issued against the defendant company under that decision.

Remember the record of the Bell Telephone, how all other telephonic inventions were declared infringements and were compelled to pay tribute to Bell and finally to surrender to Bell and be swallowed up by him.

History Repeats Itself

WHAT WIRELESS IS WHY IT WORKS

(This is the fourth and last chapter covering the very interesting subject of wireless telegraphy.)

Synopsis of Preceding Chapters—The first chapter showed that wireless telegraphy was made possible through Nature's gift of electricity in the air. It was then necessary for the inventive genius of man to control the direction of the force. The instruments which have been invented and perfected by Marconi and which made it possible to control this subtle power so that it does his bidding, are described. This is further explained by taking a sensible message and following it through the various steps from the sender to the receiver.

CHAPTER IV.

In the preceding chapters, we have learned that wireless telegraphy is exceedingly simple in theory and practice, because it involves nothing but basic principles and natural forces in almost unaltered form.

If we were on the top of a ten-story building and wished to get some worthless object down to the ground, we would not put it on our shoulder and carry it down, but would simply throw it over the edge of the roof and gravity would do the rest. It is likewise superfluous to use wires for the transmission of electric currents if nature has provided something which makes it possible to accomplish the same work without them. It requires no gift of prophecy to foresee that wires will be discarded just as printing presses worked by hand and sailing vessels for fast trips have been put aside.

Although Fulton gave us a steamboat which we now look upon as a very crude affair, and Howe constructed a cumbersome sewing machine, we cannot but be thankful for what they did. Suppose the ocean greyhound and the modern sewing machine had been perfected within a decade after their invention, it is impossible to imagine what other perfected and highly developed products would now be at our command. In the Marconi system the developments already parallel those of the steamship and sewing machine, which have required from fifty to one hundred years of mechanical experimenting. In other words, Marconi has given us a perfected wireless telegraph within less than ten years of the time when he became convinced that his theories were borne out by facts. It would be the height of absurdity to assume that he has attained the limit of possible development. One cannot but marvel that he should have accomplished so much in so short a time.

A realization that wireless telegraphy is based upon a simple, free-given force of Nature makes a deep study of the science immensely interesting. One cannot refrain from entering the realms of fancy and wondering what will become of the telephone and telegraph wires, the cables and the instruments which are adapted to their use. The future of shipping, of all forms of communication, and, in fact, of every detail of our daily life in times of peace and war may be forced to pass through a stage of complete change because of the simple discovery of the possibility of sending messages from point to point without any visible connection between them. We have at our command a newer, simpler and better means of applying electricity to the transmission of messages than we ever had before. There is nothing more deserving of your serious thought than this latest product of science—wireless telegraphy.

MARVELOUS CANADIAN EXPANSION

Few residents of Canada fully realise the tremendous expansion which their own country is enjoying. In all lines of industry there is progress, and the last three or four years have seen a commercial growth far beyond the predictions of leading Canadian authorities.

The best evidence of this growth is shown in connection with the railroads and steamships and their allied interests. The Grand Trunk system is to be extended into a transcontinental line, in order to meet the demands of the central and far west, and other transcontinental roads are projected. The records of shipping show a steady increase in volume. The exports and imports are increasing so that they now total over $100,000,000 per annum. The rate of interest is on a par with that of any nation in the world. The interior of the country is becoming more and more densely populated, and a vast tract of fertile soil is rapidly being brought under cultivation. The report of the C. P. R. records over 30,000 acres of land sold to settlers west of Winnipeg. The four leading railroads of Canada weekly return an increase of earnings over a similar period in any previous year. Growth and development are to be expected in any new country, but the Canadian record stands almost alone for the rapidity with which this important progress has been made.

All this has been accomplished

WITHOUT A CANADIAN CABLE

linking this country to a European point. This may seem unimportant, but when one realises that over $3,000,000 PER YEAR IS SPENT BY CANADIAN CITIZENS for cable messages, and, when it is further realised that this great expenditure passes into the receipt column of cable companies owned in the United States or Europe, the situation assumes a different aspect. Why should this great sum of money go as tribute to outsiders? OUGHT IT NOT TO REMAIN IN CANADA FOR REDISTRIBUTION in the country where it is expended and where it may be TURNED TO FURTHER PROFIT? It is surprising that this tremendous branch of industry is not served by a company owned and operated in Canada.

The Marconi Wireless Telegraph Co. of Canada, Ltd.

will supply this deficiency by the middle of the coming summer. It will TRANSMIT MESSAGES ACROSS THE ATLANTIC and it will do more, for it will also TRANSMIT MESSAGES TO ANY AND ALL SHIPS CROSSING THAT GREAT OCEAN. Signor Marconi is now busily engaged in installing the Apparatus at the Glace Bay station which will for ever replace any needed cable service.

The great growth in every other line is being paralleled by the rapid development of the Marconi system. The increase in shipping is greatly benefitted by the added safety, due to the Marconi stations installed along the Atlantic waterways, which have made shipping in those waters free of former terrors.

The Marconi system CAN HANDLE MESSAGES MORE CHEAPLY THAN THE CABLE. Under present conditions, the cost of a cablegram is further increased by the cost of telegraphing it from a Canadian point to the nearest cable station in the United States. The Canadian Marconi station will practically monopolize the industry of transatlantic messages. It will do so because, when a given company can equal its competitors in the quality of service and can underbid them in the charge therefor, it inevitably gets all the business that is offered.

This is but one of MANY SOURCES OF INCOME for the Canadian Marconi Company. The transatlantic system is but one of the many remunerative Canadian opportunities under the Marconi erected patents. The shrewdest business men in Canada have recognised what this means, and have placed themselves in a position to SHARE THE PROFITS which this great enterprise is going to enjoy. They have become stockholders of The Marconi Wireless Telegraph Company of Canada, and we have yet to find any one of them who has kept track of the rapid development of the company and who is dissatisfied with its future outlook. The stock is now selling at $5 PER SHARE, and subscriptions will be accepted in any quantity from one share to two hundred shares. The time to invest in this great enterprise is NOT WHEN IT HAS BEEN FULLY DEVELOPED and has reached a stationary stage. By that time the price of its stock will have so advanced that you can buy but one share for the same money with which you may now purchase hundreds of shares. On the same basis, the dividends will net you only about five per cent. on your investment instead of the FIFTY PER CENT. OR MORE PER YEAR which should be the return if you buy the stock at present prices. We therefore reiterate that sound and conservative judgment should urge you to make a purchase before the price of the stock has advanced, and when there is still an allotment which may be obtained at $5 per share. That means that YOU SHOULD IMMEDIATELY INVEST whatever funds you have in what promises to be a rival of the great Bell Telephone which has long since

The Twentieth Century Mining & Power Co.

LIMITED

Own a monopoly of the water right privileges in the Thunder Mountain mining district, State of Idaho, U.S.A.; seven water rights in all; one developed and in use. The property of the Company consists of over 1600 acres with plenty of timber for building and mining purposes. A saw mill fully equipped and in operation, a 10-stamp mill now on its way from the R. R. Station to the property, and 40 additional stamps to be purchased at once and installed during the coming summer. This is the largest and most favorably situated property in the district. Some of the tunnels have been driven over 400 ft., cross-cutting many dikes, demonstrating that we have an inexhaustible body of ore. The ore bodies are sampled by an assayer every 10 ft., and assays run from 40c. to $200 per ton. The ore is free milling, and can be mined and milled for about $1.00 per ton.

This Company has had a phenomenal growth, and "The Thunder Mountain Prospector," published at Roosevelt, Idaho, where the property is located, states that this Company is three times as large as any other Company operating in the district. 30 men at work on the property. Over $60,000 worth of stock sold within the last 90 days. Only 100,000 shares more to be sold at 50c. per share. You cannot afford to miss this opportunity; investigate at once.

The Catarrhozone Dry Air Treatment

THE ONLY RATIONAL, SURE CURE FOR CATARRH AND DISEASES OF THE NOSE, THROAT AND LUNGS.

The only natural cure for catarrh is the dry air treatment which effects startling cures without resorting to drugs, dangerous snuffs and cocaine mixtures.

Catarrhozone kills the catarrh germs, soothes and heals the sore mucous membrane, clears the air passages of the head, throat, cures chronic catarrh that has resisted all other treatments.

The reason why Catarrhozone cures is because it really gets at the cause of the disease. No matter how remote or long standing your catarrh may be you can place perfect faith in Ferrozone. It is Nature's Cure composed of the most healing balsamic antiseptics known to medical science Read this following:

MR. L. MURPHY, well known in West Medford, Mass., writes; "Catarrhozone cured my catarrh, after a score of doctors failed. I used to hawk and spit, my nose was continually stuffed up, and often I was sick at my stomach. Catarrhozone has removed every trace of catarrh from my system."

MISS EMMA PETERS, Highland Grove, N.S., writes; "I am more than pleased with the results from Catarrhozone. It cured me of the worst kind of nose and throat catarrh. Other friends using Catarrhozone are greatly pleased with it and agree that it is the only sure remedy for catarrh they ever used."

Mr. LAWRENCE KENNEDY, of West New Annan, says; "For three years I suffered from catarrh and throat trouble. I tried many remedies but they were of no avail. I got no relief till I tried Catarrhozone. Too much cannot be said of so valuable a medicine. I shall always recommend Catarrhozone to anyone troubled with catarrh; it is a positive cure."

MR. W. W. BEACH, of Chipman, Ont., who suffered for years from systematic catarrh says; "Catarrhozone is the best remedy I have ever used for catarrh and I have used a lot of them. Catarrhozone was exactly suited to my case."

No intelligent person can doubt the merit of Catarrhozone which receives more praise from Medical Journals, doctors and the public than any other remedy; it is certain to cure every type of catarrh, lung and throat trouble. Two months' treatment, $1.00; sample size 25c. At druggists or by mail from N. C. Polson & Co., Hartford, Conn., U.S., and Kingston, Ont. Refuse a substitute for Catarrhozone.

MR. TANDY'S ADDRESS

Rev. W. R. Tandy Gives a Most Interesting Lenten Address

A large congregation attended the regular Wednesday evening Lenten service last night at St. Johns, when an able and eloquent sermon was preached by the curate, Rev. W. R. Tandy, who took as his text, St. John xiv., 27, "Peace I leave with you. My peace I give unto you; not as the world giveth give I unto you. Let not your heart be troubled, neither let it be afraid."

At the conclusion of the service, the "Story of the Cross" was sung.

Rev. Mr. Spencer, who it was announced would preach, was unavoidably absent.

Police Court

OFFICIALS

Chief of Police, G.I. Hunt
Magistrate, D.W. Dunlop

Little doing at yesterdays Police Court. A case, in which Mr. Bradburn charged one Dunsford, with interfering with an officer whilst engaged in serving a landlord's warrant was withdrawn.

Yesterday afternoon a young Englishman, well dressed and of prepossessing appearance was gathered in by P.C. Stewart. This scion of Great Britain had tested too freely our Canadian liquid refreshments, with the usual result, the test proved that alcohol will get there every time if one tarries too long with it.

He, whilst under the influence, jumped, in sport, on a local delivery waggon, and fell from the extra high seat, striking the iron shod rail board with his neck. Had the collision met his head, there would certainly have been one less in Peterborough's census returns for next year. The police held the young man for his own sake, to give him a chance to sober up.

AN EXTRA TRAIN

C. P. R. To Increase Train Service Between Toronto and Havelock.

It is learned on good authority that the C. P. R., with their characteristic energy, will, in a few days, put on an extra train service, thus giving Peterborough a distinct advantage.

A local will leave Toronto about 2 o'clock in the morning and reach here at 10.30, going through to Havelock. Returning the train will leave Havelock and pass through Peterborough at 1.15 in the afternoon. The through train which now steams out of Toronto at 9 o'clock in the morning, will reach here at 11 o'clock instead of 11.35, stopping only at Burketon and Peterborough. The through express from the east, reaching Peterborough at 5.12 each afternoon, will likely pass through half an hour earlier each day by reason of fewer stops.

A PLEASANT EVENT.

Mr. T. J. Tilley Presented with a Handsome Silver Syrup Service.

As noted in former issues of this journal, Mr. T. J. Tilley, late of the Bell Telephone staff here, has been promoted to the managership of the Lindsay Exchange.

He goes to Lindsay next week, and justly deserves the promotion. He had charge of the construction department for this district, and was well known here.

A very pleasing recognition of Mr. and Mrs. Tilley's popularity among their old friends in Peterborough was established on Wednesday evening when, at their residence, 213 Park street, about twenty friends gathered to pay their respects, and to make them a presentation on the eve of their departure for Lindsay.

Mr. P. Kerr made a brief speech, expressing regret at the departure of Mr. Tilley, and wishing him success in his new appointment. On behalf of those present he presented Mr. and Mrs. Tilley with a silver syrup service, a pitcher and tray, which was very handsome.

Mr. Tilley made a suitable reply, thanking his friends for their kind remembrance.

The remainder of the evening was spent in games, etc, and all were unanimous in their belief that Wednesday night was one of the most pleasant evenings they had spent in a long time.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

A mother's love starts a man or woman on the right path. The right remedy at the right time finds a mother for the ordeal. Motherhood is often looked forward to with feelings of great dread by most women. At such a time when she is nervous, dyspeptic, irritable and in need of a uterine tonic—something which will calm the nervous system through the special organs, and a strength builder, she will find Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription just what is needed. Here is a medicine that has stood the test of a third of a century with approval, in that time it has sold more largely than any other remedy put up specially for woman's weaknesses. It is guaranteed by the proprietors not to contain a particle of alcohol—which could only do harm to a sensitive system.

The World's Dispensary Medical Association, of Buffalo, N. Y., proprietors of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, offer a $500 reward for women who cannot be cured of Leucorrhea, Female Weakness, Prolapsus, or Falling of Womb. All they ask is a fair and reasonable trial of their means of cure.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure constipation, biliousness and headache.

RUSSIAN FLEET ORDERED TO LEAVE KAMRAH BAY

Czar Bows to Pressure and Relieves France of a Very Awkward Diplomatic Predicament... Japan Has Won a Notable Victory.

Japan has won a notable diplomatic victory. After a week of protest which gradually grew into a condition of severe tension between Japan, England, France and Russia, the Czar has sent a peremptory order to Admiral Rojestvensky to leave French territorial waters. Thus the danger of a spreading of the war area by Japan appealing to Great Britain to aid her as against Russia and France is dispelled for the time being. Now the Russian fleet must put to sea, and face the issue of battle wherever and when ever the Japanese choose to attack. There is, of course, a possibility that Rojestvensky may seek fresh refuge of the Philippines, but President Roosevelt is not so busy killing bears in Colorado to neglect his duty as a neutral, so that the Russians' stay in any American port in the far east would be brief, if they risked the visit at all. Thus the clash of the fleets is brought nearer.

Paris, April 23.—A semi-official telegram from St. Petersburg says that Emperor Nicholas has ordered Admiral Rojestvensky's squadron to leave French territorial waters.

St. Petersburg, April 23.—No reply is expected from Vice-Admiral Rojestvensky for several days relative to the instructions to him to respect the neutrality of French waters. Admiral Wirenius stated last night that Rojestvensky's telegram announcing his arrival at Kamranh Bay took four days in transmission. Admiral Wirenius added that he had no idea of the present whereabouts of Rojestvensky, but that he believed he had left Kamranh Bay.

A RICH PROPERTY

Safe Investment That Will Pay Large Returns.

We Have a Gold Mine on the "Great Mother Lode" in Tuolumne County, California, not a prospect but a proven mine, we have more than 10,000 feet of underground work done, consisting of Tunnels, Shafts, Drifts, Winzes and Upraises. We have a very large amount of good milling ore blocked out that can be measured up like measuring up a cord of wood. We have a modern Twenty Stamp Mill completed. Will have electric power in June, then the mine will become a steady producer.

Our capital stock is small—only 1,500,000 shares par value $1.00 each. We have developed and proven such large bodies of ore that we do not believe they can be mined out in 100 years, and we want to increase our mill to One Hundred Stamps at the earliest possible date, and in order to raise the money quickly to hasten the enlargement of the mill we have decided to sell 100,000 shares of stock at 50c. per share.

While the present development and equipment of the mines this stock is well worth par value, and as an investment it is as safe as the stock of any Bank, Trust or Railroad Company in the world—safe as a Government Bond and should pay large returns on the par value.

We have spent a large amount of money to date developing and equipping this property, and no salaries have been paid to any of the officers, none will be paid until the mine is a steady dividend payer, then only the Superintendent in charge at the mine and the Secretary for the time he works will draw salaries.

This mine when equipped properly will rank with the large producing large mines of the State.

We want to interest some party or parties to take this stock and would like to have them select a representative to go with us to the mines, so that we may prove they are better than we have told you they are. To the parties taking this stock we will give a place on the Directorate so they may always be in the closest touch with what is going on. EDITOR BROWNE

Of The Rockford Morning Star.

"About seven years ago I ceased drinking coffee to give your Postum a trial.

"I had suffered acutely from various forms of indigestion and my stomach had become so disordered as to repel almost ever sort of substantial food. My general health was bad. At close intervals I would suffer severe attacks which confined me in bed for a week or more. Soon after changing from coffee to Postum the indigestion abated, and in a short time ceased entirely. I have continued the daily use of your excellent Food Coffee and assure you most cordially that I am indebted to you for the relief it has brought me.

"Wishing you a continued success, I am

Yours very truly,
J. Stanley Browne,
Managing Editor."

Of course, when a man's health shows he can stand coffee without trouble, let him drink it, but most highly organized brain-workers simply cannot.

The drugs natural to the coffee berry affect the stomach and other organs and thence to the complex nervous system, throwing it out of balance and producing disorders in various parts of the body. Keep up this daily poisoning and serious disease is sure to supervene. So when man or woman finds that coffee is a smooth but deadly enemy and health is of any value at all, there is but one road—quit.

It is easy to find out if coffee be the cause of the troubles, for 15 left off 10 days and Postum be used in its place and the sick and diseased conditions begin to disappear, the proof is unanswerable.

Postum is not good if made by short boiling. It must be boiled full 15 minutes when the crisp coffee flavor and the food elements are brought out of the grains and the beverage is ready to fulfil its mission of palatable comfort and renewing the cells and nerve centres broken down by coffee. There's a reason.

EAST PETERBOROUGH

Commissioners Met Wednesday and Granted Licenses

All of those who held licenses last year, in East Peterborough, are now wearing the smile that won't come off, as they are granted renewals. The commissioners met in their Water street office Thursday morning and considered the applications for licenses in the East Riding.

Those present were Messrs. Knox, Rose and Smithson, and the applications for renewal were as follows:

Terrence Smith, Norwood, granted.
Michael Kennedy, Keene, granted.
Mrs. M E. Morgan, Stony Lake, granted.
Fred Morgan, Warsaw, granted.
W. Dineen, Havelock, granted.
T. Heffernan, Westwood, granted.
C. Armstrong, Havelock, granted.
H. W. Darcey, Burleigh Falls, granted.
E. J. King, Norwood, granted.
Wm. Thompson, Mt. Julian, granted.
M. McNicholl, Havelock, granted.

A petition signed by 83 ratepayers of Douro Township was presented, asking that W. Brooks be granted a license in the Township of Douro, and setting forth that in their opinion Mr. Brooks is a fit and proper person to be licensed, and that the premises in which he proposes to conduct the hotel are suitable for that purpose, and that it will not be an annoyance to the public generally.

Mr. R. M. Denniston was present representing Mr. Brooks, and supported the petition.

At noon when the commissioners adjourned for lunch, the application had not been disposed of

The Brooks license case was discussed after lunch and it was decided to lay it over for further consideration.

SPRING ASSIZES

Cases to be Disposed of When the Assizes Open To-morrow

Next Tuesday the Spring Assizes open here, with Justice Anglin presiding. It speaks well for Peterboroughs morality that there are only two criminal cases to be heard.

The cases will be as follows:

CRIMINAL CASES.

King vs. Guiseppi Gilleonardo, charged with attempting to stab Chas. Butcher and John Montgomery. D. O'Connell for defence.

King vs. F. H. McGuire, for obtaining money by false pretences. W. D. Kerr, counsel for the defendant; D. H. Preston, K.C., of Napanee, for the Crown in both cases.

JURY CASES.

Doble vs. Peterborough Canoe Co, Limited. — The plaintiff, Louis B. Doble, is a bench hand, and claims damages of $5,000 and costs of the action, on account of injuries received while operating a planing machine, while in the employ of the defendants, on Sept. 30, 1904. The said machine, the plaintiff claims, was in a defective condition and unsafe to use, and while engaged upon it he sustained the loss of his right hand, and claims damages because of serious bodily pain, loss of time and wages, and because permanently incapacitated from following his occupation. The defendants deny the statements of plaintiff, that the accident was caused by their negligence or by the negligence of any person in their employ. Plaintiff's solicitors, DuVernet, Jones, Roes and Ardagh, Toronto; defendant's solicitors, Denniston, Peck, Kerr and Stevenson.

Talbot vs. Hall. — The plaintiff, Edith Talbot, seeks to recover damages to the amount of $10,000 and costs from defendants, Richard Hall and Samuel Dickson Hall, on account of injuries sustained by her by the falling of an elevator in defendants place of business on July 6th, 1904, which it is claimed was due to the defective condition, either by reason of negligence on the part of the defendants or of persons in their employ. The defendants specifically deny all charges of negligence.

O'Connell for plaintiff; Hall and Hayes for defendants.

Delaire vs. Hall. — The plaintiff, Agnes Delaire, claims damages of $1,500, and the costs of the action, from the defendants, Richard Hall and Samuel D. Hall, for severe personal injuries received by the falling of an elevator in their place of business on July 6th, 1904.

O'Connell for plaintiff; Hall and Hayes for defendants.

Keogh vs. Brady. — The plaintiff, Lucius R. Keogh, of the city of Hamilton, commercial traveller, claims $3132.56, and interest thereon, from August 8, 1904, until judgment, from Edwin E. Brady, trading under the name style and firm of W. F. Dever & Co., stock-brokers, on account of financial damages sustained by a breach of contract between plaintiff and defendant regarding the purchase of wheat. Defendant denies entering into a contract as stated in plaintiff's statement of claim, and enters a counter claim for the sum of $17.50 and costs of the action. Curry & Egre, defendant's solicitors; D. O'Connell for plaintiff.

Ritchie vs. Peterborough Canoe Company.—The plaintiff, Thomas J. Ritchie, claims damages of $1,000 and costs of action, in compensation for injuries sustained while engaged at a shaping machine, while in the employ of the defendants, which he alleges was caused by the absence of a guard and by its defective condition, in violation of the factories' act. Defendants deny that accident was caused by negligence, and might have been avoided by reasonable care on the part of the plaintiff.

Denniston, Peck, Kerr and Stevenson, solicitors for defendants; R. F. McWilliams, solicitor for plaintiff.

NON-JURY CASES.

Darnley vs. Cornell. — The plaintiff, William Charles Darnley, claims the sum of $400.00 and interest thereon from the 24th December, 1899, till judgment, from defendant, Frederick J. Cornell, on account of non-fulfillment of the specifications of an indenture, made on December 24, 1899, in which defendant agreed to pay plaintiff the sum of $400, in annual installments of $200, of which he has only received one payment. Defendant denies that he entered into an agreement. Daniel O'Connell, solicitor for the plaintiff; Hugh O'Leary, solicitor for the defendant.

SATURDAY'S MARKET

A Well Attended and Fully Supplied Market on Saturday.

The farming community were out in strong force in town on Saturday, which resulted in a large market. Hay was very plentiful, more loads being offered than on any one day for many months. On the inside market butter and eggs were the principle articles and there were plenty of both of them. Butter sold at from 20 to 22 cents, eggs opened at 14 and 15 cents but soon dropped to 13, as there was too many on the market to keep the price at the high figure. Chickens sold at 35c. each.

In the outside market there was considerable maple syrup selling at $1.40 per gallon. Some lamb was also in evidence and went at 6 and 8 cents. Potatoes brought 70 and 75 cents per bag.

WESTWARD HO!

Mr. Harry Wills and Family to Leave for the West.

Peterborough is shortly to lose an estimable family, and once again the great Canadian Northwest will be the gainer. Mr Harry Wills will leave on May 3rd to participate in the operation of a large ranch near Calgary, on which Mr. Ezra Good, with whom he was associated in the coal business here is now located. It is understood that the entire family will leave Peterborough on May 3rd. Mr. Albert Wills who has been a member of the staff in the S. and R. Department of the C. G. E. Co., severed his connection on Thursday evening last. Great regret will be occasioned by the departure of these citizens and many hearty well-wishes for success will accompany them to their new home.

CONTRACTS AWARDED

Separate School Building Tenders Awarded.

The tenders for the erection of the new Separate School building, which were opened by the Special Committee on Tuesday night, were submitted to the Board on Thursday night when the contracts for the stone, brick and carpenter work, were let.

The successful tenderers, which were the lowest in each case, were;

J. E. Hayes, stone work, $2,775.50.
J. F. Hayes, brick work, $3,700.
Carvell & Houlihan, carpenter work, $6,956.

This brings the cost of the building, for these three classes of work, up to $13,431.50.

The total cost of the building is estimated by the architect to go to about $21,000 now, and the other work for which tenders have not yet been asked, in that of painting and glazing, iron and steel work, heating, plastering, plumbing and steamfitting, and sheet metal.

Tenders for the work will not be called for at least a week yet.

Engineering Magazine

The Engineering Magazine for May is marked by peculiar timeliness of interest. The opening article, by Mr. A. W. Robinson, treats of the machinery available for the excavation of the Panama Canal, taking the several sections of the work separately and pointing out the types of apparatus and the methods of working most suitable to the conditions, and the difference between the results to be expected on the Isthmus and those secured in generally similar work elsewhere. Another huge engineering undertaking, just completed, is described in the finely illustrated account of the Simplon Tunnel; by Mr. Leon Monete, while a third matter of much current interest is treated in the description (also handsomely illustrated) which Mr. E. W. Parker gives of the Government coal-testing station at St. Louis and the results of their examinations of a large number of American coals.

Mr. R. Mathot describes the suction gas producer, destined to increase the convenience and economy of small gasoline installations; the many engravings add much to the interest of his article. Mr. A. W. Henn explains in full, with fac-simile reproductions of the cards, books, etc., the stores-room system of his company; Mr. R. M. Neilson discusses the increase of steam-engine efficiency secured by the use of the condenser; Mr. H. S. Knowlton makes a very instructive analysis of central-station costs and revenues, and Mr. A. W. Burt describes the cost-keeping methods of various successful contractors on outside work, with exact copies of their forms, sheets, etc. The Review of the Engineering Press and the Engineering Index are unusually full this month.—The Engineering Magazine, New York

INTERESTING CEREMONY

Y. W. C. A. FORMALLY DEDICATED YESTERDAY AFTERNOON

The Beautiful Edifice Crowded to the Doors by Those Deeply Interested in the New Y.W.C.A.

Yesterday afternoon a ceremony that has long been looked for was enacted in the beautiful new building of the Y.W.C.A. viz., the formal dedication. Long before the appointed time for the ceremony, immense crowds of people, among whom the fair sex predominated began to assemble, and by the time named for the ceremony arrived, scores of people were unable to obtain entrance. The event was marked by greatest enthusiasm among all present.

The Protestant clergy of all denominations with the exception of two or three from whom letters of regret were read, participated in this very interesting ceremony.

THE DEDICATION.

The formal proceedings of the meeting were begun by Mrs. (Dr.) Scott, who delivered a short address, but one that showed evidence of deep interest in the future of the Y.W.C.A.; Miss Scott then called upon the Dominion Secretary, of the Y.W.C.A., Miss Little. The Secretary delivered a well timed and appropriate congratulatory speech, in which she complimented the local Y.W.C.A. on the splendid edifice which their earnest endeavor and well applied energy had assured for the women of Peterborough.

Miss Lough, the local Secretary next made a short address. Rev. J. C. Davidson, President of the local association made a few remarks, in which the noble efforts of the local Y.W.C.A. and their new home formed the leading feature.

Rev. Mr. Jolliffe then offered up earnest prayer for the success of the association. Rev. Mr. Scott then read the lesson. Next Rev. Drs. Torrance and Crowther gave most appropriate addresses.

Letters of regret of their inability to be present from Rev. Mr. Major, Rev. Mr. Langfeldt and Rev. Mr. Lewis were read.

Rev. J. C. Davidson, Rector of St. John's, and President of the Peterborough Y.W.C.A., formally dedicated the building.

WANTED A WIFE

Mr. Geo. Spinks in Search of a Missing Spouse.

Mr. George Spinks, a resident of Havelock, was in town Saturday, on a search for his wife, who it is said, left her family on Thursday and departed with a six months' old baby. It appears that the woman drove to Norwood and came to Peterborough on the 5.12 C.P.R. train. It was learned from a reliable authority that she drove to the Protestant Home, where she was refused admittance. The Children's Shelter was next tried, but with no better success. The woman then hired a local liveryman to drive to the home of some friends of her's three miles below Baillieboro, where she was charitably received.

Spinks managed to locate her on Saturday, and by the aid of a local expressman was able to trace her movements. Here he drove down to where she is staying, expecting to be able to induce her to return to the family circle. He gave no explanation of his wife's sudden departure.

EASTER SUNDAY

Fine Weather and Fine Clothes Marked Yesterday's Memory.

Yesterday's golden sunshine and, possibly, those long coveted bonnets and spring apparel brought out immense crowds of gaily dressed people to all the churches in town. A visitor from New York, who is quite a cosmopolital, yesterday morning remarked to The Times that in no city or town, had he ever seen better dressed crowds of people, or more apparent symptoms of universal prosperity than were in evidence yesterday morning on our principal streets. Every church in town had its full quota, St. John's, St. Paul's and St. Peter's churches drew the largest attendance. The floral decorations in St. John's were very beautiful and exhibited great taste and a result of much intelligent labor.

St. Peter's cathedral was full to the doors at the morning. The collection was very heavy, as is customary at Easter tide in this church. The altar decorations were very beautiful.

In the afternoon troops of children and not a few adults wended their ways towards the nearby woods in search of wild flowers; they, for the most part however, failed to find many, as the season is not yet advanced sufficiently for much growth. A few hepaticas were found, but the dog-tooth violets and trilliums are not yet in flower.

THE AUTONOMY BILL

Hon. Robert Accuses Sir Wilfrid of Bad Faith

Winnipeg, April 19.—Interviewed by the Roblin Government newspapers yesterday, Hon. Robert Rogers said he had noticed The Free Press made the statement that the Province is bound to the schools settlement contract of 1897 by good faith and honor. "Let me ask if Sir Wilfrid Laurier was not equally bound by good faith and honor on his side, and, if so, let me then ask The Free Press to explain why he did not keep in good faith and honor his part of the contract.

"Was Sir Wilfrid keeping this contract in good faith and in honor when he sent his accredited representative, Mr. Russell, to Rome, representing himself and the Liberal party, to assure his holiness the Pope, through Cardinal Rampolla, that this contract was only the beginning of justice? Let me again ask if this was the understanding with which Mr. Sifton signed this settlement on behalf of this Province, and also if it was the understanding with Mr. Greenway and his Government when they ratified the same?

"Clearly Sir Wilfrid and his Government, by their conduct and action, have violated not only the spirit but the letter of the contract, and in so doing, so far as they are concerned, have entirely relieved Manitoba of any obligations of good faith or honor in respect to the settlement as it was understood."

TRAFALGAR

Great Issues at Stake in Conflict Between Togo and Rojestvensky

One hundred years ago, lacking just six months, was fought the battle of Trafalgar, and since then there has been no sea fight which will compare either in the size of the fighting fleets or in the importance of the issues at stake, with the one which the world is now expecting between Togo and Rojestvensky.

Lord Nelson fought with twenty-seven ships against the allies' larger fleet of thirty-three ships. Togo is expected to have some forty vessels, against a possible fifty under Rojestvensky. Then, as now, the rival fleets included fighting machines of as fine a type as in their respective days had ever been afloat.

Lord Nelson's fleet was manned with experienced sailors of fighting blood, and his vessels were fit and ready for action. Admiral Villeneuve, commanding the allies, went into action with officers and men downhearted and with many of his ships in bad condition. From what we know of Rojestvensky's fleet the similarity here is easy to trace.

At stake then was the command of the sea. France lost it and never recovered it, though it is true Napoleon, in a style almost Russian, passed off for the moment as insignificant "the loss of a few ships at sea." At stake now is also the command of the sea. Russia is making her last throw. If she loses she will lose beyond repair. Japan risks not only sea power, but the fruits of all her victories on land.

Napoleon then was at the height of his career, winning some of the greatest of his victories on land. Here a difference between the condition of the belligerents then and now appears. Russia is in the midst of her defeats. Napoleon did not feel the force of his loss of sea power for years to come. If Russia loses in the coming fight she will know at once that all is lost.

When Togo and Rojestvensky have met and the victory is won we may see other similarities with Trafalgar, but enough are evident now to emphasize the fact that a day of memorable things is approaching.

SEALED TENDERS addressed to the undersigned, and endorsed "Tender for Additions and alterations, Drill hall, Toronto, Ont.," will be received at this office until Friday, April 28, 1905, inclusively, for the execution of sundry works of addition and alteration at the Drill Hall, Toronto, Ont., according to plans and specifications to be seen at the offices of Mr. S. G. Curry, Architect, Toronto, Ont., and at the Department of Public Works, Ottawa.

Tenders will not be considered unless made on the printed form supplied, and signed with the actual signatures of tenderers.

An accepted cheque on a chartered bank, payable to the order of the Honourable the Minister of Public Works, equal to ten per cent. (10 p.c.) of the amount of the tender, must accompany each tender. NORWOOD'S FIRE

Electric Light Plant Destroyed at Norwood--Loss $8,000

The 21st April was Bad Friday for the Village of Norwood. The fire-swept steel electric light plant owned by Mr. Douglas P. Harrison were completely wiped out by fire. The fire is supposed to have originated in the sawdust used for fuel, which it is thought was set on fire by a spark. Owing to a light wind prevailing, the flames spread rapidly, and soon were beyond control of the limited fire fighting equipment of the village. About 400 cords of good wood were also destroyed.

The loss to Mr. Harrison will be very heavy, it has been estimated at $8,000, and unfortunately there was no insurance on either the buildings or plant. The town will be without light, as far as electricity is concerned, and this in itself will be a great inconvenience, since practically all the business houses, and a great many of the residences were dependent upon the electric light for their illumination.

The fire came at a particularly bad time of year, and it will materially interfere with Norwood's summer trade in visitors.

A BULGARIAN BARGAIN

Horse and Wagon Brings $22 on the Market Square.

The Market square, Saturday morning, was not a place in which white kid shoes and trained skirts were suitable, in short, there was mud and water, and lots of them, covering the whole square. Notwithstanding the bad walking, quite a crowd of amused spectators stood for nearly an hour watching a party of foreigners from Sofia, Bulgaria, trying to dispose of an animated hat-rack and a junk-pile. The outfit, although not inartly described, as above, was really the remnant of what was once a horse, which on close inspection was discovered to be still alive, and a venerable vehicle, which was probably centuries since, a wagon. The main, and most in evidence, portion of the seller's raiment was a large and much bedraggled pink silk piano cover, ornamented with gold braid, tied round his neck; his coat was an old befrogged smoking jacket, whilst his not-to-go-out-withoutabjes were of a highly colored checkerboard. Another of the party had a blue silkpiano cloth round his neck. The only lady in the party was dressed in colors—colors that would make a Turner's landscape look like an ink spot. The seeming owner of the horse, engaged Mr. Chas. Stapleton to act as auctioneer, and Charlie earned his money, earned it well. The bidding came to a standstill when about $18 or $20 was reached for both the bones and junk. Here the crafty delegate from Sofia, began to bid it up between themselves, until they raised the price to $22. Unfortunately the unappreciative townspeople and farmers would not go another 50 cents higher, leaving the horse and wagon bought in by the crowd trying to sell. Again and again Mr. Stapleton tried to get a final sale started with the final result of the Bulgarian bid of $22, not being raised. Someone in the crowd suggested that Rosinanti be put through his paces and exhibit his gait and style; this was done, and four old bone-shaker hobbled about the square, dragging the junk behind him with difficulty, on three legs, one being disabled and returned to the selling place. Still no purchaser. Finally the Bulgarians drove off with their outfit, having paid the auctioneer. When the limit of $22 was reached, by their own in-bid, the foreigners would make frantic appeals to the crowd to "bid her up, she a fine mare, fine wagon!" but the horse and junk found no purchaser. The brilliant and grotesque apparel of these Gypsies suggested a possible acquaintance with some one's clothes line.

ITALIAN STRIKE FAILS

Railway Service Carried on Without the Slightest Disturbance

Rome, April 21.—The strike is a complete failure. The railroad service is carried on throughout the country without the slightest disturbance. The Mayor of Florence is opening subscriptions for the men who have gone on strike.

DIPHTHERIA CASE

A Suspected Case of Diphtheria at 371 Bethune Street

On Saturday morning the police were called up by Dr. McNulty, and advised that there was a case, under his observation and treatment, which looked suspiciously like diphtheria. A family, by name Harbor, living at 371 Bethune street, on Saturday morning called in the professional services of Dr. McNulty, as one of the children was sick. The doctor went as soon as possible and found that the child a girl, was seriously ill; in fact she died within half an hour after his arrival, the parents having delayed too long in procuring medical assistance. He immediately communicated with the medical health officer, who pronounced the case as that of diphtheria. The house has been placarded.

Y. W. C. A. Formal Opening

Tuesday, April 25th at 8 p.m. Hon. J. R. Stratton will preside, and the following will take part in the program:—Misses. Roger, Davies, Gumpricht, Kendry and Moore, also Messrs. Morrison, Markle and Jolliffe. The Y. M.C.A. orchestra under the leadership of Mr. Griffin Jones, will be in attendance. Refreshments will be served and the guests will be shown through the entire building. Admission 25 cents.

—Some remarkably fine beef cattle are coming over the market scales. Recently B. White and Son purchased from R. E. McKee, two calves, 7 months old, and weighing together 1,220 pounds. This is a remarkable weight for young animals, and butchers in town will have some choice veal for their stalls. The calves, thus conveyed, have been secured by W. Kemp, Westlake & Fleetwood and J. T. and R. C. Breund for Easter.

IS THE KAISER BENT ON MISCHIEF

He Seems Determined to Humiliate the French Nation

THE ATTITUDE OF ROUVIER

Under Circumstances France Would Do Well not to Quarrel With Japan

Paris, April 24.—Premier Rouvier's speech in the French Chamber has intensified the uneasiness in England lest a collision of French and German policies in Morocco should lead to warlike developments.

"It is useless to ignore the fact," said an ambassador of a great power to a correspondent, "that matter in North-West Africa are taking a disquieting course. Either France or Germany must give way if Europe is to be spared another nerve-racking imbroglio.

"Rouvier's remarks show us a mind deeply disturbed. The Prime Minister is plainly of opinion that Germany is bent on humiliating France. A more dangerous feeling could not exist in that country. The very abjectness of Rouvier's invitation to Germany to ask for any explanations of its desires is highly ominous. It is a short step from a frame of mind like this to a mood of passionate belligerency. It is a happy circumstance that England is standing firmly with France. Any yielding on England's part would draw Germany on to acts which the French would not endure. If Germany imagines it can overbear France in this matter without coming to the sharpest possible conflict with England, it is hugging a delusion. One would say at once that the Kaiser intended to keep within safe bounds were it not that Chancellor Von Bulow stated some months ago that when a great nation committed itself to a certain policy it must be ready to follow up that policy at all costs."

"It looks as if Germany has approached very near to committing itself to a policy in Morocco in which France will not acquiesce, and which England regards with profound displeasure.

"Under these circumstances the sooner France disabuses the minds of the Japanese that it is aiding Rojestvensky in the waters of French Indo-China the better it will be for the French position. If the Germans could induce France to offend the Japanese and at the same time alienate the English, the allies of the Japanese, there is scarcely anything the Berlin Government would not sacrifice to that end."

DEDICATORY SERVICE

Judge Weller Presented St. John's Church with Handsome Carved Oak Lectern and Miss Fair Presented an Oak Prayer Desk to St. Johns

At five o'clock on Saturday afternoon, a very interesting service was held in St. John's church. Rev. J. C. Davidson, the Rector, assisted by the Rev. W. R. Tandy, Curate, conducted the services, which were short. During this, the regular Lenten service, special forms of prayer were used, consistent with the occasion which was the presentation of a handsome hand carved oak lectern, presented by His Honor, Judge Weller, to the sacred edifice, in memory of his late wife. The lectern is of a substantial, yet graceful form, taking the shape of an eagle, standing erect, with outstretched wings. It bears a brass plate suitably inscribed. This presentation, apart from the graceful token of memory on the part of its donor, is a piece of furniture particularly acceptable and adapted to the church and a handsome piece of church furnishing.

This lectern has passed through quite an historical experience, having been aboard the S.S. Parisian which sank in Halifax harbor a few weeks ago. It escaped from its immersion in the salt water without the slightest injury or mark, and was rescued by divers employed by the underwriters. It was with great difficulty and at much expense for telegraphic enquiries brought to its destination in time for Easter.

Another presentation also enriched St. John's handsome interior at this service. It consisted in a very rich appearing article of church furniture, a solid oak prayer desk, presented by Miss Eileen Fair, daughter of Mr. Robert Fair. The desk is of massive build and presents a most handsome appearance. It has a brass plate attached, suitably engraved with the purpose of the gift and the givers name. This desk was presented by Miss Fair as a thank-offering for her recent recovery from illness, and is the first thank-offering ever given to this church.

The church, being beautifully decorated for the Easter service, was a scene of floral and artistic decorative beauty. A remarked, and remarkable feature of the decorations, was the unique embellishment of the pulpit. This was one of the most beautiful and artistically finished pieces of floral decorations ever seen in Peterborough, and was done under the supervision and plans of Mr. A. A. Hollingshead.

After the regular service and special prayers were concluded and the Rector had formally dedicated the beautiful articles presented, he brought the meeting to a close by substituting an address in place of the sermon.

—Mr. Ernest A. Lawson, a deaf mute, left for Belleville this morning to visit his two sisters in the Deaf and Dumb Institute there.

KUROPATKIN

The Government of the Czar may yet make a hero of Kuropatkin. The disfavor at St. Petersburg could hardly have been manifested more brutally than by the manner of Linevitche's promotion to command in Manchuria. And disfavor of St. Petersburg is apt to make any man popular throughout the rest of the world.

Being cast off, without a word of thanks or praise for his efforts, like the worn-out military horse, will win the deposed general the sympathy even of those who think indifferently of his military achievements. Fair-minded men will not reach a verdict in Kuropatkin's case until it is known to what extent he had a free hand and therefore was entirely responsible for the misfortunes of the campaign. Responsibility is commensurate only with authority.

When Kuropatkin accepted the command of the armies he did it only after he had been promised that his former position of Minister of War would remain vacant. He wanted no interference from the bureaucrats.

He hardly reached Siberia, however, before the Grand Dukes had secured the appointment of Sakharoff as Minister. Then came the interference of Alexieff and the orders from St. Petersburg, forcing Kuropatkin, time after time, to accept battle when his own judgment did not approve it.

Vafangow, Liao-Yang, the Shakhe River and Mukden were all fought, it appears, against Kuropatkin's wish. If he had pursued his own policy, as forecasted when he took the command, of retiring before the Japanese until he had become strong enough to fight them on terms that suited him, Russia would undoubtedly now have vastly better military prospects for this year, even though her lines were far further to the north than they are.

Kuropatkin is returning to St. Petersburg with his once great military reputation wrecked. And yet, if all the truth were known, he possibly deserves glorious credit as a savior of armies that were inevitably destined to defeat. The great blunder, the supreme incompetency, which no subordinate's genius could remedy, may have to be charged to the higher authorities at St. Petersburg, who began a war for which they were not prepared.

Kuropatkin, as Minister of War, had been against war with Japan. He knew that Russia was not ready. He knew the ease with which Japan could put overwhelming forces into the field at short notice. He was far better informed concerning Russia's strength in the Far East than were other men in high positions who had been deceived by the assurances of Viceroy Alexieff.

Time has vindicated Kuropatkin in his view. If he said some boastful things on the way to the East about dictating terms of peace at Tokio, who can deny that he had a right to whistle to keep his courage up? Kuropatkin has met defeat and humiliation. But it is only Russia herself that has met disgrace.

TRAFALGAR

One hundred years ago, lacking just six months, was fought the battle of Trafalgar, and since then there has been no sea fight which will compare either in the size of the fighting fleets or in the importance of the issues at stake, with the one which the world is now expecting between Togo and Rojestvensky.

Lord Nelson fought with twenty-seven ships against the allies' larger fleet of thirty-three ships. Togo is expected to have some forty vessels, against a possible fifty under Rojestvensky. Then, as now, the rival fleets included fighting machines of as fine a type as in their respective days had ever been afloat.

Lord Nelson's fleet was manned with experienced sailors of fighting blood, and his vessels were fit and ready for action. Admiral Villeneuve, commanding the allies, went into action with officers and men demoralized and with many of his ships in bad condition. From what we know of Rojestvensky's fleet the similarity here is easy to trace.

At stake then was the command of the sea. France lost it and never recovered it, though it is true Napoleon, in a style almost Russian, passed off for the moment as insignificant "the loss of a few ships at sea." At stake now is also the command of the sea. Russia is making her last throw. If she loses she will lose beyond repair. Japan risks not only sea power, but the fruits of all her victories on land.

Napoleon then was at the height of his career, winning some of the greatest of his victories on land. Here a difference between the condition of the belligerents then and now appears. Russia is in the midst of her defeats. Napoleon did not feel the force of his loss of sea power for years to come. If Russia loses in the coming fight she will know at once that all is lost.

When Togo and Rojestvensky have met and the victory is won we may see other similarities with Trafalgar, but enough are evident now to emphasize the fact that a day of memorable things is approaching.

A FALSE MOVE

The Municipal Association has asked the Legislature to amend the law so that municipalities shall not be responsible for damages caused through defective roads and bridges. It is to be hoped that the Government will refuse to make the change, says the Hamilton Spectator. We think that cities the towns should be exempt from liability for damages for accidents caused by icy sidewalks; but to give immunity to municipalities against liability for damages caused by defective roads would be to put a premium on bad roads. In a great many municipalities it is the dread of damages and costs that induces the councils to vote money for road and bridge repairs, and if that dread were removed these councils would never expend another dollar on their roads. It is only right and just that each municipality should make its roads and bridges safe to all who use them. That is one of the principal reasons for the incorporation of municipalities. We think show the Legislature the foolishness that a very little consideration will of the proposition.

THE AUTONOMY BILL

Hon. Robert Accuses Sir Wilfrid of Bad Faith

Winnipeg, April 19.—Interviewed by the Roblin Government newspapers yesterday, Hon. Robert Rogers said he had noticed The Free Press made the statement that the Province is bound to the schools settlement contract of 1897 by good faith and honor. "Let me ask if Sir Wilfrid Laurier was not equally bound by good faith and honor on his side, and, if so, let me then ask The Free Press to explain why he did not keep in good faith and honor his part of the contract.

"Was Sir Wilfrid keeping this contract in good faith and in honor when he sent his accredited representative, Mr. Russell, to Rome, representing himself and the Liberal party, to assure his holiness the Pope, through Cardinal Rampolla, that this contract was only the beginning of justice? Let me again ask if this was the understanding with which Mr. Sifton signed this settlement on behalf of this Province, and also if it was the understanding with Mr. Greenway and his Government when they ratified the same?

"Clearly Sir Wilfrid and his Government, by their conduct and action, have violated not only the spirit but the letter of the contract, and in so doing, so far as they are concerned, have entirely relieved Manitoba of any obligations of good faith or honor in respect to the settlement as it was understood."

Performance

Not Promises

There is all the difference in the world between expectation and realization. There is the same difference between promise and performance. In the former case you form your own opinion, and if it is in error, you have none but yourself to blame. In the latter case, you take some one's word or promise for what is to be done, and you place your confidence in their end their judgment. Failure in such a case is a double disappointment, for you have not reaped an expected reward, and your faith in your adviser is shaken.

The history of the wireless telegraph companies reveals that they fall in two classes—THOSE THAT PROMISE and THOSE THAT PERFORM.

The Marconi Companies have never foretold what they are GOING TO DO, but have steadfastly GONE ABOUT THEIR WORK, and when they had ACCOMPLISHED SOMETHING, have made a simple announcement of the fact and have gone on with the next step. Had you rather HEAR PROMISES OF FUTURE SUCCESS or SEE TANGIBLE RESULTS from day to day? MARCONI and his associates have AVOIDED PROMISES and have never made statements which did more than ANNOUNCE his latest ACHIEVEMENT or PERFORMANCE. These performances have succeeded each other with such rapidity that hardly a week passes without some important advance being heralded. THE

(Tel. Co. of Canada Ltd.)

is governed by the same conservatism as the American and English Marconi Companies. It has not made futile PROMISES OF WHAT IT WAS GOING TO DO. IT WAS TOO BUSY IN DOING THINGS. It DOES ITS WORK and never even announces one ACCOMPLISHMENT until it is well on its way to the next ATTAINMENT. DOES NOT SUCH A POLICY APPEAL TO THE CONSERVATIVE INVESTOR? Few details of the tremendous progress made in connection with the installation of the highly successful stations along the Gulf of St. Lawrence were made public until the Commander of the Canadian Marine Service gave his report to the Deputy Commissioner of Fisheries late in the fall. The report showed that the perfect working of each station had been known since midsummer.

The Canadian Company has already completed a net work of successful stations along the St. Lawrence Gulf and there are on Canadian soil thirteen stations already in operation. The Company has already been authorized to build four more stations at prominent points during the coming summer. The transatlantic station at Cape Breton is nearly finished on its new site. The apparatus for installation at that point is constructed and on its way to Cape Breton, where Mr. Marconi is on hand to per onally over-see the installation and the successful opening of this great service. These are not promises—they are performances. Compare what Marconi has DONE with what others PROMISE TO DO. Ask yourself a simple question: "If they can do so, why don't they?" The answer suggests itself. Can you not foresee the great future this Company has before it? Do you not wish to become a sharer in the success which is at its door? You can do so by becoming a stockholder in the Company. You can purchase any amount of stock from one share to two hundred shares at $5 per share. The time to invest is now, before the stock undergoes its certain rise.

HOMESTEAD REGULATIONS

Any even numbered section of Dominion lands in Manitoba or the North-west Territories, excepting 8 and 26, which has not been homesteaded, or reserved to provide wood lots for settlers, or for other purposes, may be homesteaded upon by any person who is the sole head of a family, or any m le over 18 years of age, to the extent of one-quarter section of 160 acres more or less.

ENTRY

Entry may be made personally at the local land office for the district in which the land to be taken is situate, or if the homesteader desires, he may, on application to the Minister of the Interior, Ottawa; the Commissioner of Immigration Winnipeg, or the local agent for the district in which the land is situate, receive authority for some one to make entry for him. A fee of $10 is charged for a homestead entry.

HOMESTEAD DUTIES

A settler who has been granted an entry for a homestead is required by the provisions of the Dominion Lands Act, and the amendments thereto, to perform the conditions connected therewith, under one of the following plans:

[1] At least six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each year during the term of three years. It is the practice of the Department to require a settler to bring 15 acres under cultivation, but if he prefers he may substitute stock; and 20 head of cattle, to be actually his own property, with buildings for their accommodation, will be accepted instead of the cultivation

[2] If the father (or mother, if the father is deceased), of any person who is eligible to make a homestead entry under the provisions of this Act, resides upon a farm in the vicinity of the land entered for by such person as a homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence prior to obtaining patent may be satisfied by such person residing with the father or mother.

[3] If a settler was entitled to and has obtained entry for a second homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence prior to obtaining patent may be satisfied by residence upon the first homestead, if the second homestead is in the vicinity of the first homestead.

[4] If the settler has his permanent residence upon farming land owned by him in the vicinity of his homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence may be satisfied by residence upon the said land.

The term "vicinity" used above is meant to indicate the same township, or an adjoining or cornering township.

A settler who avails himself of the provisions of clauses [2], [3] or [4] must cultivate 30 acres of his homestead, or substitute 20 head of stock, with buildings for their accommodation, and have besides 80 acres substantially fenced.

The privilege of a second entry is restricted by law to those settlers only who completed the duties upon their first homesteads to entitle them to patent on or before the 2nd of June, 1889.

Every homesteader who fails to comply with the requirements of the homestead law is liable to have his entry cancelled and the land may again be thrown open for entry.

APPLICATION FOR PATENT

Should be made at the end of three years, before the Local Agent, Sub-Agent or the Homestead Inspector. Before making application for patent the settler must give six months notice in writing to the Commissioner of Dominion Lands at Ottawa of his intention to do so.

INFORMATION

Newly arrived immigrants will receive, at the Immigration Office in Winnipeg, or at any Dominion Lands Office in Manitoba or the North-west Territories, information as to the lands that are open for entry, and from the officers in charge, free of expense, advice and assistance in securing lands to suit them. Full information respecting the land, timber, coal and mineral laws, as well as respecting Dominion Lands in the Railway Belt in British Columbia, may be obtained upon application to the Secretary of the Department of the Interior, Ottawa; the Commissioner of Immigration, Winnipeg, Manitoba, or to any of the Dominion Lands Agents in Manitoba or the North-west Territories.

W. W. CORY,
Deputy Minister of the Interior.

N. B.—In addition to Free Grant Lands, to which the Regulations above stated refer, thousands of acres of most desirable lands are available for lease or purchase from railroad and other corporations nd private firms in Western Canada.

—THE—

Richmond & Drummond Fire Insurance Comp'y

Authorized Capital - - - $500,000

AMOUNT OF EACH SHARE $100.00

This Company has been incorporated under a Dominion charter, and will transact business throughout the Dominion of Canada, being operated in connection with the Richmond, Drummond & Yamaska Fire Insurance Company, which has been established over a quarter of a century.

The remarkably rapid growth of business along all lines, which we are witnessing in the Dominion, is producing each year the demand for greater insurance facilities, and at the present time it is unquestionable that there is both room and need for a new stock company. That fire business during the last few years has not been profitable in Canada has been due mainly to the inadequacy of the rates obtained. These have now been largely increased and put upon a footing promising, with efficient management, a good return upon the capital invested.

It is the intention in conducting the business to follow the system of writing moderate lines over a wide territory, thereby avoiding the risk of large conflagrations, a plan which has been proved by long experience to be the safest and most profitable in its results.

The Company will be under the same management as the "Richmond, Drummond & Yamaska Mutual," and will thereby be put in a position to organize and establish agencies at a minimum of expense, thus avoiding to a large extent the heavy preliminary expenses to be faced by new companies. It is anticipated that during the early years of the company's existence a large amount of business will be written, at an expense ratio no greater than that shown by established concerns.

The Board of Directors comprises the following gentlemen:—

C. C. Cleveland, Esq., Danville, Que., of J. L. Goodhue & Co., manufacturers leather belting, Director Royal Paper Mills Co.

E. W. Tobin, Esq., M.P., Bromptonville, Que., merchant and lumber dealer. Director Brompton Pulp & Paper Co.

S. W. Jeeckes, Esq., Sherbrooke, Que., President of Jeeckes Machine Co.

M. G. Cromble, Esq., Kingsbury, Que., of Williamson & Cromble, lumber exporters.

C. Blouin, Esq., M.L.A., Levis, Que., of J. B. Blouin & Son, boot and shoe manufacturers.

C. N. Lyster, Esq., Kirkdale, Que., farmer and live stock exporter.

S. McMorine, Esq., Richmond, Que., of McMorine Bros., dry goods merchants.

Hon. Wm. Mitchell, Drummondville, Que., Senator, President Drummond Lumber Company.

F. Pretontaine, Esq., South Durham, Que., President Richmond, Drummond & Yamaska Mutual Fire Insurance Company.

J. C. McCaig, Esq., Richmond, Que., Manager, Richmond.

It is intended to begin operations with a subscribed capital of $250,000, 25 per cent. paid up. A further call of 5 per cent. will be made annually for the next three years, making 40 per cent. in all, or $100,000 cash capital.

$150,000 of above amount is now offered for public subscription, as above, in any amount from 1 share up.

The Directors reserve the right to reduce any application of more than ten shares.

Prospectus, with full particulars, and forms of application for stock, may be obtained from any of the Directors, or from

J. C. McCAIG, ESQ., Richmond, Que. or RICHMOND & TEMPLETON, Room 16, Victoria Arcade Bldgs., Toronto.

WE INVITE YOU, MR. INVESTOR

To join with us in the development of our magnificent acreage in Clear Creek County, Colorado, and to share in the profits that will accrue from this great gold mining enterprise. We are now doing the most careful development work and any shot may open ore. By joining with us now you get stock in an honestly managed, legitimate mining company that has all the ear marks of a dividend payer.

TO HELP US OPEN ORE

And insure the early completion of the tunnel we offer a small block of full paid, non-assessable stock on the monthly payment plan, payable 10 per cent. with subscription, and 10 per cent. a month for 9 months, or for cash at prices that will yield handsome returns.

THIS IS NOT A PROSPECT, BUT A PROVEN MINE

We invite the most rigid investigation. Our capitalization is $1,000,000, par value of shares $1.00 each; $600,000 is treasury stock. The company owns outright, free from debt, 2 full fixed mining claims of 5 acres each, two mill sites of 5 acres each, the sunflower placer of 20 acres and the Ora tunnel site 2,000 feet long on Breckenridge mountain, in Upper Union Mining District, Clear Creek County, near the Town of Empire, in one of the richest sections of Colorado. The tunnel is now in a distance of 200 feet and rapid progress is being made under the direction of Mr. Charles H. Morris, a mining engineer of 20 years' standing in Colorado.

Send for engineer's report and free literature. We want you to investigate this enterprise. Address

THE MASTER SPECIALISTS OF AMERICA

We know the diseases and weaknesses of men like an open book. We have been curing them for 30 years. We have given our lives to it, and thousands upon thousands of men restored to Vigorous Vitality are today living monuments to the skill, knowledge and success of Drs. Kennedy & Kergan. We never hold out false hopes, we never undertake a case we cannot cure. We have made so thorough a study of all the diseases of men—of Varicocele, Stricture, Blood Poisons, Hydrocele, Nervous Debility, Paralysis, Bladder, Urinary and Kidney Diseases, General Weakness, Loss of Vitality, and have cured so many thousands of cases that if there is a cure for YOUR disease you will find it here. When we undertake a case there is no such thing as failure. We charge nothing for consultation and our knowledge, skill and experience are at your service. We will explain to you How and Why We Can Cure You; why the diseases of men require the knowledge and skill of Master Specialists. We do not require to experiment with your case as we know from experience in treating thousands of cases exactly what to prescribe for your symptoms. Don't be discouraged if you have treated without success with Quacks, Fakirs, Electric Belts, Free Trials, etc. You must get cured—and Doctors alone can cure you. Our New Method System of treatment has stood the test for 25 years—why should it fail in your case. Should your case prove incurable you need not pay us a dollar. THE BALTIC SQUADRON

Still Guessing as to the Where Abouts of the Russian Fleet

Tokio, April 20.—There is practically official information for the statement that the Russian battleship and cruiser fleet on Sunday night departed north-east from Callao Bay and probably is anchored south of the Triton Islands in the Paracels group, awaiting the arrival of the Jioutil squadron. The intelligence department of the admiralty could obtain no news in touch with the Russian ships since their departure from Madagascar, announces that the battleships, under command of Rojestvensky, sailed from the Bay of Callao shortly after dark on Sunday night on a course due east.

After leaving Kamranh Bay on Friday, where all the ships of the fleet were coaled, the Russian commander went to Port Callao to take on provisions, perhaps, to kill time in order to meet the squadron, which sailed eleven days ago. Rosejtvensky ought to meet the ships it is somewhere between Triton Island and the Bombay shoals, assuming that the course of the Russians will be toward the Phillippine Islands and that Rojestvensky will prefer to take that route on his way to Formosa.

The first attack on the Russians probably will be northeast of the suggests that this sea fight is not more than twenty-four hours away. Admiral Uriuse squadron was in Subig Bay Monday night, and it is believed he is sixteen ships strong, including seven cruisers, the remainder being torpedo boat destroyers. They comm nd the route east of the Paracels Islands toward Formosa and undoubtedly are looking for Rojestvensky's squadron.

St. Peterasburg, April 20.—The admiralty claims to be as much in the dark as the public regarding the plans of the admiral. The main question now agitating the naval officials is whether Rojestvensky will elect to proceed northward through the Straits of Formosa or bear off into the Pacific through Bashi Channel, south of the Island of Formosa or Balingtang Channel, north of the Island of Luzon.

The conviction is growing stronger that the Japanese heavy division is concentrating close to the shores of Japan, and it is also believed that Admiral Togo will decline to give battle in the open sea.

This is what the admiralty officials hope for, as they sincerely believe Rojestvensky would have more than an even chance if the two squadrons lined up in an open fight.

The admiralty has no confirmation of the reported cutting of the cable connecting Formosa with the Chinese mainland at Feochow.

JAP ARMIES WON'T SUFFER.

Yinkow, April 18, via Tientsin, April 20.—Few transports are now arriving at Newchwang. This contrast with the rush of traffic since the opening of the Liao River indicates that precautions are being taken against possible interference by the Russian Pacific squadron.

Vast accumulations of stores have already been made along the Japanese lines of communication, assuring full supplies to the armies in the field, even if the transport service is interrupted.

TORONTO AND THE C. P. R.

Denied That Queen City Will Presently be Placed on Main Line

Montreal, April 21.—At the head office of the C.P.R. here, it is denied that Toronto will, on the completion of the line to Sudbury, be actually placed on the main line between Montreal and the west in the sense that trains will run from Montreal through Toronto to the west.

The distance which would thus be added to the main line as it exists at present would militate against such a change. The people of Toronto will of course, be given a better and a quicker service between the former points, and the concentration will be much better maintained. The new line will cut off sixty miles of the space traversed by the G.T.R., over which the C.P.R. now has running rights for one of its cars, which is subsequently attached to the train for the west. A similar arrangement will be continued by the C.P.R., with the difference that the train hauling the car will belong to the company and that faster time and closer connections will be made. Toronto will then, to all intents and purposes, have advantages similar to Montreal in its relation to the main line.

ZEMSTVOS FOR POLAND

Governor of Warsaw Calls Representatives to Arrange Details

London, April 21.—The St. Petersburg correspondent of the Times says that the Zemstvo system will be extended to the ten Polish and nine Western provinces. It is reported that M. Maximovich, Governor-General of Warsaw, has summoned a number of representative Poles to act as a consultative body regarding the details. This confirms the statement that the Government intends to make the Zemstvos the basis of an electoral system.

A RARE OPPORTUNITY

To obtain a gilt edge investment in a great gold mining enterprise, developing a rich mineral area in an undeveloped mineral empire in Northwestern Colorado.

OFFERING OF 150,000 SHARES OF TREASURY STOCK OF THE

UNITED STATES GOLD CORPORATION

For the purpose of carrying out plans necessary to place the property on a dividend basis

The Board of Directors of the United States Gold Corporation estimate that the business of this company can be placed upon a paying and dividend basis, by the completion of the Klondyke tunnel a distance of 700 feet and by the construction of a modern concentration mill of not less than twenty five tons capacity per day on the property for the treatment of the great bodies of low grade ore, now awaiting treatment. To provide means for the execution of these plans, the Directors of this Company now offer for sale One Hundred and Fifty Thousand shares of Treasury Stock at the nominal price of 15 cents per share for cash.

For the information of investors the Company make the following statement of what a certificate of its stock represents.

Assets and Financial Condition of the United States Gold Corporation

PROPERTIES OF COMPANY

Careful estimates made by the officers and scientific and practical mill men prove to the satisfaction of this company, that the proceeds from the present treasury stock offering will place the property on a paying basis and the further sale of treasury stock will be withdrawn from the market, leaving a treasury reserve fund of over 600,000 shares.

This great enterprise has passed the prospect stage and upon the completion of our tunnel about June 1st, 1905 the energies of the Company will be entirely devoted to production shipment and treatment of its vast tonnage of ore developed through the Klondyke tunnel estimated at 1000 tons per day.

The officers of this Company court rigid investigation by prospective investors of its properties and management.

Persons desiring stock should mail their application to the United States Gold Corporation at Boulder, Colorado, together with draft for amount of shares desired at 15c. per share, for which a certificate of stock will be issued and sent subscriber by return mail. Do not delay sending application as treasury stock will be taken off the market after this offering is subscribed.

Marconi Wins Patent Decision

The United States Circuit Court in a sweeping decision has declared that Marconi's patents prohibit others from using the vital and essential parts of all wireless telegraph systems, viz. The elevated conductors with ground connections. Marconi says that Wireless Telegraphy is impossible without these essentials. Permanent injunction and judgment for an accounting and costs has issued against the defendant company under that decision.

Remember the record of the Bell Telephone, how all other telephonic inventions were declared infringements and were compelled to pay tribute to Bell and finally to surrender to Bell and be swallowed up by him.

History Repeats Itself

WHAT WIRELESS IS WHY IT WORKS

(This is the fourth and last chapter covering the very interesting subject of wireless telegraphy.)

Synopsis of Preceding Chapters—The first chapter showed that wireless telegraphy was made possible through Nature's gift of electricity in the air. It was only necessary for the inventive genius of man to control the direction of this force. The instruments which have been invented and perfected by Marconi and which made it possible to control this subtle power so that it does his bidding, are described. This is further explained by taking a specific message and following through the various steps from the sender to the receiver.

CHAPTER IV.

In the preceding chapters, we have learned that wireless telegraphy is exceedingly simple in theory and practice, because it involves nothing but basic principles and natural forces in almost unaltered form.

If we were on the top of a ten-story building and wished to get some worthless object down to the ground, we would not put it on our shoulder and carry it down, but would simply throw it over the edge of the roof and gravity would do the rest. It is likewise superfluous to use wires for the transmission of electric currents if nature has provided something which makes it possible to accomplish the same work without them. It requires no gift of prophecy to foresee that wires will be discarded just as printing presses worked by hand and sailing vessels for fast trips have been put aside.

Although Fulton gave us a steamboat which we now look upon as a very crude affair, and Howe constructed a cumbersome sewing machine, we cannot but be thankful for what they did. Suppose the ocean greyhound and the modern sewing machine had been perfected within a decade after their invention, it is impossible to imagine what other perfected and highly developed products would now be at our command. In the Marconi system the developments already parallel those of the steamship and sewing machine, which have required from fifty to one hundred years of mechanical experimenting. In other words, Marconi has given us a perfected wireless telegraph within less than ten years of the time when he became convinced that his theories were borne out by facts. It would be the height of absurdity to assume that he has attained the limit of possible development. One cannot but marvel that he should have accomplished so much in so short a time.

A realization that wireless telegraphy is based upon a simple, free-given force of Nature makes a deep study of the science immensely interesting. One cannot refrain from entering the realms of fancy and wondering what will become of the telephone and telegraph wires, the cables and the instruments which are adapted to their use. The future of shipping, of all forms of communication, and, in fact, of every detail of our daily life in times of peace and war may be forced to pass through a stage of complete change because of the simple discovery of the possibility of sending messages from point to point without any visible connection between them. We have at our command a newer, simpler and better means of applying electricity to the transmission of messages than we ever had before. There is nothing more deserving of your serious thought than this latest product of science—wireless telegraphy.

MARVELOUS CANADIAN EXPANSION

New residents of Canada fully realize the tremendous expansion which their own country is enjoying. In all lines of industry there is progress, and the last three or four years have seen a commercial growth far beyond the predictions of leading Canadian authorities.

The best evidence of this growth is shown in connection with the railroads and steamships and their allied interests. The Grand Trunk system is to be extended into a transcontinental line, in order to meet the demands of the central and far west, and other transcontinental roads are projected. The records of shipping show a steady increase in volume. The exports and imports are increasing so that they now total over $100,000,000 per annum. The rate of interest is on a par with that of any nation in the world. The interior of the country is becoming more and more densely populated, and a vast tract of fertile soil is rapidly being brought under cultivation. The report of the C. P. R. records over 38,000 acres of land sold to settlers west of Winnipeg. The four leading railroads of Canada weekly return an increase of earnings over a similar period in any previous year. Growth and development are to be expected in any new country, but the Canadian record stands almost alone for the rapidity with which this important progress has been made.

All this has been accomplished

WITHOUT A CANADIAN CABLE

linking this country to a European point. This may seem unimportant, but when one realizes that over $3,000,000 PER YEAR IS SPENT BY CANADIAN CITIZENS for cable messages, and, when it is further realized that this great expenditure passes into the receipt column of cable companies owned in the United States or Europe, the situation assumes a different aspect. Why should this great sum of money go as tribute to outsiders? OUGHT IT NOT TO REMAIN IN CANADA FOR REDISTRIBUTION in the country where it is expended and where it may be TURNED TO FURTHER PROFIT? It is surprising that this tremendous branch of industry is not served by a company owned and operated in Canada.

The Marconi Wireless Telegraph Co. of Canada, Ltd.

will supply this deficiency by the middle of the coming summer. It will TRANSMIT MESSAGES ACROSS THE ATLANTIC and it will do more, for it will also TRANSMIT MESSAGES TO ANY AND ALL SHIPS CROSSING THAT GREAT OCEAN. Signor Marconi is now busily engaged in installing the Apparatus at the Glace Bay station which will for ever replace any needed cable service.

The great growth in every other line is being paralleled by the rapid development of the Marconi system. The increase in shipping is greatly benefitted by the added safety, due to the Marconi stations installed along the Atlantic waterways, which have made shipping in those waters free of former terrors.

The Marconi system CAN HANDLE MESSAGES MORE CHEAPLY THAN THE CABLE. Under present conditions, the cost of a cablegram is further increased by the cost of telegraphing it from a Canadian point to the nearest cable station in the United States. The Canadian Marconi station will practically monopolize the industry of transatlantic messages. It will do so because, when a given company can equal its competitors in the quality of service and can underbid them in the charge therefor, it inevitably gets all the business that is offered.

This is but one of MANY SOURCES OF INCOME for the Canadian Marconi Company. The transatlantic system is but one of the many remunerative Canadian opportunities under the Marconi erected patents. The shrewdest business men in Canada have recognized what this means, and have placed themselves in a position to SHARE THE PROFITS which this great enterprise is going to enjoy. They have become stockholders of The Marconi Wireless Telegraph Company of Canada, and we have yet to find any one of them who has kept track of the rapid development of the company and who is dissatisfied with its future outlook. The stock is now selling at $5 PER SHARE, and subscriptions will be accepted in any quantity from one share to two hundred shares. The time to invest in this great enterprise is, NOT WHEN IT HAS BEEN FULLY DEVELOPED and has reached a stationary stage. By that time the price of its stock will have so advanced that you can buy but one share for the same money with which you may now purchase hundreds of shares. On the same basis, the dividends will net you only about five per cent. on your investment instead of the FIFTY PER CENT. OR MORE PER YEAR which should be the return if you buy the stock at present prices. We therefore reiterate that sound and conservative judgment should urge you to make a purchase before the price of the stock has advanced, and when there is still an allotment which may be obtained at $5 per share. That means that YOU SHOULD IMMEDIATELY INVEST whatever funds you have in what promises to be a rival of the great Bell Telephone which has long since

Or it may even exceed the brilliant record of that famous corporation.

Own a monopoly of the water right privileges in the Thunder Mountain mining district, State of Idaho, U.S.A.; seven water rights in all; one developed and in use. The property of the Company consists of over 1400 acres, with plenty of timber for building and mining purposes, a saw mill fully equipped and in operation, a 10-stamp mill now on its way from the R. R. Station to the property, and 40 additional stamps to be purchased at once and installed during the coming summer. This is the largest and most favorably situated property in the district. Some of the tunnels have been driven over 600 ft., cross-cutting many dikes, demonstrating that we have an inexhaustible body of ore. The ore bodies are sampled by an assayer every 10 ft., and assays run from 40c. to $600 per ton. The ore is free milling, and can be mined and milled for about $1.00 per ton.

This Company has had a phenomenal growth, and "The Thunder Mountain Prospector," published at Roosevelt, Idaho, where the property is located, states that this Company is three times as large as any other Company operating in the district. 30 men at work on the property. Catarrh Leads to Consumption he Experience of a Lady in Sydne Who was Cured of Consump ion by Inhaling Catarrhozone — This Case Should Ware Others.

"The beginning of my trouble was cold, just a simple cold," writes Mrs. A. V. Thorburn, of Sydney, "I neglected this cold and then I got catarrh. When it became troublesome I took some medicine but it didn't help me. I began to cough a great deal and then consulted a doctor. I was horrified to find I must have had tubercular irritation in my lungs for a year or more. A friend strongly urged me to use Catarrhozone. I conferred with my doctor and he thought that lots of fresh air and the frequent use of Catarrhozone would be the proper treatment. I used to cough for at least half an hour in the morning but after using Catarrhozone a few days my cough was much easier. The irritation gradually left my throat and I commenced to get better. I kept up the Catarrhozone treatment and inhaled the medicated air five minutes every hour. I believe this was the means of saving my disease, for I got quite well again in a few months. I have since advised other sufferers from catarrh and lung trouble to use Catarrhozone, and in each case good results were obtained. I attribute my recovery entirely to Catarrhozone, which I can honestly recommend in the strongest way."

The foregoing experience should convince everybody of the evil of allowing colds to develop. To neglect catarrh is even worse. Carry a Catarrhozone inhaler in your pocket and use it occasionally. It prevents colds, permanently cures every type of catarrh, and is known to be the only remedy that actually kills the germs of consumption.

Catarrhozone is used by all intelligent physicians and is endorsed by thousands of doctors, because it can be relied upon to absolutely cure catarrh, bronchitis, throat and lung trouble. Catarrhozone is simplest, surest and best remedy. Two months' treatment guaranteed to cure. Price $1.00, trial size 25c. at druggists or N. C. Polson & Co., Kingston, Ont., U.S.A., and Kingston, Ont. Refuse a substitute for Catarrhozone and insist on getting it when you ask for Catarrhozone.
